A meeting of the directors of the Smith, North Monaghan, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society was held in Lakefield on Thursday last, Mr. John Garbutt in the chair. After considerable discussion it was resolved that $50 of a guarantee fund be granted to the Central Exhibition, if held in Peterborough, the members of our society to have the privilege of exhibiting free of charge. It was also decided that the townships society should hold its annual fall show as usual, though some were in favor of not doing so.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

The school examination was held as announced, on Thursday last, and was well attended, the room being crowded with visitors. In addition to the regular classes there were recitations, songs, etc., after which Mr. Galvin was appointed to the chair. After making a brief address he announced that a presentation was to be made to Mr. Shearer, the headmaster, by the pupils of the school. The present consisted of a beautiful gold watch chain, valued at $40. Master M. McWilliams presented the chain, while Master D Eyncourt Strickland read the following

ADDRESS:

Mr. A. Shearer, Head Master Lakefield Public School:

DEAR TEACHER,—We, on the close of your long and successful term of headmastership of the Lakefield Public School, cannot allow this, to us, painful occasion to pass without expressing our sincere and heartfelt regret at the loss we are about to sustain in your resignation of the position you have occupied with such credit to yourself, universal satisfaction to the school, and to the whole community.

We felt it keenly when we first became aware of your intention, and, now that it is about to become a reality, our sorrow is much increased. Your abilities as a teacher, the warm interest you have taken in our advancement, the sympathy you have extended to us in our difficulties, the kindness with which you have maintained strict discipline, and the courteous manner in which you have always treated us, cannot but make us realize that we are about to lose, not only an able and faithful teacher, but a warm friend.

We shall endeavor to reward you by imitating your irreproachable walk in life, and by not forgetting the principles of truth, honesty and integrity.

Will you kindly accept this chain as a souvenir. We ask you to keep it as a token of the high esteem in which you are held by us as a teacher and friend—to wear it as a memento of the friendship, which we feel exists between us, and to remember that there are many links connecting your name with pleasant memories of the past, and which we hope may be more lasting than the links in the tribute presented.

We separate, but though we may not hear your voice in this school room, nor see your genial face in our streets, yet we will ever treasure your many words of warning and your many deeds of kindness.

The sincere wish of your pupils is that He, who so richly endowed you with so many excellent gifts of head and heart, may restore your health, and that you may be long spared to your most cherished calling.

Mr. Shearer in reply, said:

Dear pupils, I wish to tender you my sincere thanks for the kind address, accompanied by the valuable gift, with which you have presented me, and to assure you that I will ever keep them as a remembrance of the many happy associations I have had with you in Lakefield. I did not expect a present from you, as I have done no more than my duty, and, in fact, have frequently come far short of doing what I should have done for your advancement, both morally and intellectually; but I trust I have been in some measure successful, and that our intercourse has been mutually beneficial. When I look back over the eight and a half years during which I have been your teacher I can bring to remembrance many acts of mine that would have been much better left undone, many words spoken that I would gladly recall had I the power to do so; but, at the same time I am pleased to find that nothing of a serious nature has ever occurred to form any estrangement between us.

We are about to part, but though severed ever so far I hope the links to which you have so beautifully referred in your address may form a chain of friendship that will continue to bind us together during life, and may our lives be such that, when we stand away on the shores of time, sweet memories of good deeds done in the past may come to cheer us in our declining years, and when we have passed over the river of death, may we meet in that better land where the friendship begun on earth, may have a happy re-union.

I owe a debt of gratitude not only to you, my pupils, and those here assembled, but to the board of trustees and all the remaining residents of Lakefield, for the upright, kind and generous treatment that has ever been accorded to me; and on resigning the charge with which I have been entrusted, I carry away with me a deep respect for the intelligent people of Lakefield, and a grateful remembrance of the pleasant sojourn I have had among you.

I again thank you most heartily for your valuable present, and also for the kind allusions, with regard to my health and future prosperity, contained in your address, and assure you that I prize them very highly as they come from you whose esteem and regard I am proud to possess.

Both pupils and parents seemed to feel deeply the departure about to take place. After the presentation had been made, short addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Johnston, Allen and Clake, Mr. Garbutt, chairman of the board of trustees, and others. Mr. Shearer, who has been Headmaster for over eight years, has been a most successful teacher in every respect. He seems to possess the ability, tact, energy and the government which are essential to success in the profession of teaching. During his whole term there has been perfect harmony in the working of the school. The pupils have always taken a good standing at the Entrance and Third Class Teachers examinations. There is a feeling of universal regret, not only in the school but throughout the community, at his departure, and he carries with him the esteem and good wishes of all who know him. As has been mentioned before, he purposes taking a rest for the benefit of his health. We may mention that Mr. Shearer was also the recipient of several valuable and useful gifts from individual members of his class.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

VESTRY MEETING.

The annual vestry meeting of Christ's church, Norwood, was held on Easter Monday. The Rev. J. W. McCleary, Incumbent, presided. Mr. J. A. Butterfield was elected secretary. Mr. McCleary re-appointed Mr. W. G. Patterson his warden, and on motion, Mr. William Elliott was re-elected warden for the congregation. Mr. Geo. E. Gillespie, of Toronto, and Mr. Butterfield, were re-elected delegates to the Synod. It was moved by Mr. Butterfield, seconded by Mr. Patterson, and resolved,—"That we, the congregation of Christ's church, Norwood, in vestry assembled, having seen in the public papers an account of the death of the beloved wife of Geo. E. Gillespie, Esq., one of our representatives in the Synod of Toronto, for several years past, desire to express our sincere sympathy with him in this, his hour of affliction, and pray that the Holy Spirit, the Comforter, may be with him to sustain and comfort him under his severe trial; and that the Secretary is hereby instructed to forward to him a copy of this resolution." The Treasurer reported an increase of $21.86 in the Sunday collections over past year. The building committee reported that the contract for the completion of the tower of the church had been let to Mr. Jas. Cummings. The Rev. Mr. McCleary and Mr. Patterson were appointed a committee to collect the amount already subscribed, and to solicit further subscriptions towards the tower fund. The meeting then adjourned.

AID FOR IRELAND.

Miss Jane McKelvey, of this village, has been circulating a subscription list in this neighbourhood to aid her distressed countrymen of unhappy Ireland. It is very gratifying to notice that her praiseworthy efforts have been rewarded by a liberal subscription from all classes of our people.

CHANGED HANDS.

Mr. S. J. Griffin has sold his valuable property on Peterborough street, composed of a fine two-storey brick building, several small structures, sheds and building lot, to Mr. T. Murphy, of Asphodel, for $2,000—a remarkably good bargain for the purchaser. The main building has always been used as a store and dwelling. It is now rented to, and will shortly be occupied by a tinsmith from Port Perry, who has already removed a portion of his merchandise to the shop.

FATAL OCCURRENCE.

Charley Hendron, a young son of Mr. George Hendron, of this village, died after a short illness on Thursday last. A few days before, the boy, with a number of others, was coasting down the school yard hill, when he was violently thrown against a post at the bottom, and received internal injuries of such a nature that death briefly put an end to his sufferings. The family of the deceased have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad and untimely bereavement.

FITTING UP.

Mr. M. McGregor, of the the McGregor Hotel, here, is now "putting his house in order," and making such radical changes in his house as to almost metamorphose the old premises. The main rooms down stairs, under the tasteful hand of Mr. Ralph Carton, of Peterborough, are receiving fresh and brilliant coats of paint, and the ceilings frescoed in bright and beautiful colours, the ornamentations and designs being of a very high order, and highly creditable to the skilful workmanship of Mr. Carton, who certainly has spared no pains to give both tone and character to this class of work. Mac, if he is making the "spondulix," is certainly not sparing it on improvements in connection with his business.

SAD ACCIDENT IN BELMONT.

On Monday morning, as Mr. J. Pacey, of Belmont, was drawing a load of ties past his house, his little son about four years old, attempted to get on the load, but failed, and unfortunately fell in front of the sleigh, which passed over the boy's leg, tearing the flesh, and almost wrenching the limb from the knee socket. Medical aid was obtained as soon as possible. It is thought the leg will have to be amputated.

Of Interest to Agricultural Societies.

A case of considerable interest to Agriculttral Societies was recently decided in the Owen Sound Division Court. At the fall exhibition of the North Riding Society, a prize was offered for a pair of fast walking horses, "not shown in any other class." Mr. Daniel Cameron, of Sydenham, entered a pair of horses, one of which had been shown as a brood mare; but through the protest of Mr. James Cochrane, who was also exhibiting, the judges ruled out Mr. Cameron's horses and awarded the prize to Mr. Cochrane. The directors, however, subsequently decided that Mr. Cameron was entitled to the prize. and Mr. Cochrane sued for it. The judge held that the "not shown in any other class" referred to the pair of horses, and that even if it referred to one of the pair, there was a special provision that brood mares could be shown in other classes. He also held that Mr. Cochrane would have forfeited the prize by the rule of the society which prevents an exhibitor interfering with the judges. Mr. Cochrane was therefore non-suited.

Journalistic Philanthropists.

From the twelfth annual report of the Ontario Institution for the Education and Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb, we notice that there are 85 newspapers sent to the institution on the "dead head" principle. The level-headed principal says he feels sometimes that it is too much to expect publishers to send "dead-head" papers to the institution, and that he would be glad to subscribe for, and pay for them, if he had an appropriation for that purpose. It is a little singular that only newspaper publishers should be possessed of the philanthropy to supply eleemosynary contributions to an institution, otherwise supported at the public expense. It would be certainly more unusual, but no more unreasonable, to have butchers sending in a slice of corned beef every week, unaccompanied with the usual formality of a bill, or the baker to make helelominal despatches of a dead-head bun, or any other tradesman to act in a similarly insane manner. If they did so, theywould speedily be told that their contributions were not wanted—the institution was not supported by charity. Yet strange to say, that highly favored individual, the newspaper man, has no bar placed to the exercise of his generosity. And yet, though it will not be generally believed, newspapers cost money to the publishers.

Woman Suffrage.

There is considerable agitation in Toronto over the question of female suffrage. It is claimed that women, who own property in their own right, are as much entitled to vote as men, similarly situated in reference to this world's goods. But any woman who has property in her own right and possesses the most charming characteristics of her sex—an admiration for the lords of creation—can have little difficulty in finding a husband who will share the responsibility with her, and be willing to do the voting. It is derogatory to the dignity and delicacy of the sex that a woman should besmirch her modesty by mixing in the turbulent arena of politics. Politics and petticoats are entirely incongruous. Besides, giving woman the franchise would be fixing a dangerous precedent. If the right to vote is conceded the sex, they cannot be denied access to parliament. And, just fancy what a parliament composed of women would be! The country could never stand the expense. Our present House of Commons is composed of men, and they have been at work six weeks and have done little else than talk. And compared with women for talking powers the he-politician is nowhere. The present cost of legislation is about half a dollar an hour and, with a female parliament the country would be bankrupt the first session. Besides, no government could stand twenty-four hours. With the delightful contrariety of her nature, every hon. lady would be in Opposition. Again, there could be no reports taken of the speeches. The whole House would be talking at once, and a special lunatic asylum would have to be built for the Speakers, who would, from time to time, be driven insane by trying to keep order. But there is little danger of the ladies, as a general thing, asking for the gift of the ballot. The true woman will not seek to step out of her sphere; and her sphere in the domestic and the social. Woman is only to be revered when womanly; when she becomes anything else, she loses the charm that compels the universal homage of mankind.

Editorial Notes.

THE Toronto Telegram thinks the Mail is making a fool of itself, by its violent language. The Telegram may be honest in its opinion, but it is robbing nature of a good deal of the credit due her.

FROM present appearances, the assurance in the Speech from the Throne in reference to the revision of the franchise, is another of Sir John's buncombe election promises. It is probable that the matter will be quietly overlooked, and not come up this session.

THE new bills, issued by the National banks of the United States, under their new charters, were issued on Sunday. The charters of three hundred banks expired in February last and were renewed, and the question of the legality of the new Sunday issue of bills is brought up.

SIR A. T. GALT'S resignation of his post at London was announced by Sir John Macdonald in the Commons on Monday. Rumor says the reason is that he used his influence to assist the Grand Trunk in getting the Great Western, and for this the Pacific Syndicate demanded his head. It has been reported for some time that Senator Macpherson was to be his successor as High Commissioner, and probably this will be verified in the spring, till which time Sir Alexander Galt has consented to act.

THE Hamilton Times thus concisely tells how it works:—"A man in Hamilton owns a foundry; a man in Wentworth county owns a farm; a man in Pictou owns a coal mine. To make the Hamilton man buy coal from the Pictou man, the former is fined 60 cents for every ton of coal he buys from a nearer and cheaper market in Pennsylvania. To make the Pictou man buy flour from the Wentworth man, the former is fined 50 cents for every barrel of flour he buys from the nearer and cheaper market in Boston."

IN New York a cigar maker, enjoying the highest protection of any class in the United States, gets only $7 per week, while a bricklayer, who has no "protection" whatever, gets $4 per day. But, then, "protection" is not in the interests of the laboring classes, but in those of the capitalist and monopolist. If a Government put a specific duty on every immigrant, coming into the country, there might be some chance of the laborer being protected. But taxing an immigrant wouldn't enrich any monopolist, whose unrighteous gains would come handy at election times.

O'Dynamite Rossa is a great rascal. He claims to have planned the dynamite explosion in London, and now chuckles over the prospective success of securing contributions to the fund for the liberation of Ireland. He thinks the evidence of "meaning business," furnished by the attempt to blow up the London Government offices, will make poor deluded Irishmen and Irish girls contribute liberally, and that the receipts from this source, combined with the profits of selling vile whiskey, which is his business, will soon make him rich enough to retire. The Irish servant girls in the United States have been robbed, in the name of Ireland, of an immense amount of money, not one cent of which has been legitimately expended in the interests of Irish liberation.

A PLEA FOR A COUNTY POOR-HOUSE.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

As there has been considerable discussion, both in the County Council and elsewhere, about the erection of a poor-house in the county, I think a statement of the following case of two poor, destitute creatures will show the necessity of some place of refuge for the destitute poor in the county. Peter Whytock and his wife, two poor destitute creatures over eighty years of age, have been wandering about from house to house, glad to find a night's lodging with any one that would take them in, until about the middle of January, when they came to Mr. John Grady's, nearly perished. The day was cold and stormy, the roads badly drifted, and they had been struggling through the snow drifts until they were perfectly exhausted. The next day he came to me to see what was to be done with them. We tried all we could to get a house for them, but could not succeed. We then went up to Peterborough to try and get them into the Protestant Home. The ladies were willing enough to take them in providing they were paid for. We agreed to pay them three dollars per week, and gave them $40 to keep them until the 1st of May. We said if they were turned out then they would not perish by the wayside. We then went amongst the neighbors, and soon raised the $40 and about $20 more to get them some clothes. Indeed we found everyone to whom we applied, with a few exceptions, willing to give us something. But poor Mrs. Whytock will need no more clothes nor anything else. She died in the Home on the 14th February, after she had been there only about three weeks. Her death, I believe, was caused by the hardships she endured wandering from house to house.

[Brooklyn Eagle]

AN EX-CONSUL'S STORY.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

A late United States Consul at one of the English inland ports, who is now a private resident of New York, relates the following interesting story. He objects, for private reasons, to having his name published, but authorizes the writer to substantiate his statement, and, if necessary, to refer to him, in his private capacity, any person seeking such reference. Deferringto his wishes, I hereby present the statement in almost the exact language in which he gave it to me.

C. M. FARMER

1695 Third avenue, New York.

"On my last voyage home from England, some three years ago, in one of our Cunard steamers, I noticed one morning, after a few days out of port, a young man hobbling about on the upper deck, supported by crutches and seeming to move with extreme difficulty and no little pain. He was well dressed and of exceedingly handsome countenance, but his limbs were somewhat emaciated and his face very sallow and bore the traces of a long suffering. As he seemed to have no attendant or companion, he at once attracted my sympathies, and I went up to him as he leaned against the taffrail, looking out on the foaming track which the steamer was making."

"Excuse me my young friend" I said, touching him gently on the shoulder, 'you appear to be an invalid and hardly able or strong enough to trust yourself unattended on an ocean voyage; but if you require any assistance I am a robust and healthy man and shall be glad to help you."

"You are very kind,' he replied, in a weak voice, 'but I require no present aid beyond my crutches, which enable me to pass from my stateroom up here to get the benefit of the sunshine and the sea breeze."

"You have been a great sufferer, no doubt,' I said, 'and I judge that you have been afflicted with that most troublesome disease—rheumatism; whose prevalence and intensity seem to be on an alarming increase both in England and America."

"You are right," he answered; "I have been its victim for more than a year, and after failing to find relief from medical skill have lately tried the Springs of Carlsbad and Vichy. But they have done me no good, and I am now on my return home to Missouri to die, I suppose. I shall be content if life is spared me to reach my mother's presence. She is a widow and I am her only child."

"There was a pathos in this speech which affected me profoundly and awakened in me a deeper sympathy than I had felt before. I had no words to answer him, and stood silently beside him watching the snowy wake of the ship. While thus standing my thoughts reverted to a child, a ten-year old boy, of a neighbor of mine residing near my consulate residence who had been cured of a stubborn case of rheumatism by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, and I remembered that the steward of the ship had told me the day before that he had cured himself of a very severe attack of the gout in New York just before his last voyage by the use of the same remedy. I at once left my young friend and went below to find the steward. I not only found him off duty but discovered that he had a bottle of the Oil in his locker, which he had carried across the ocean in case of another attack. He readily parted with it on my representation, and, hurrying up again, I soon persuaded the young man to allow me to take him to his berth and apply the remedy. After doing so I covered him up snugly in bed and requested him not to get up until I should see him again. That evening I returned to his stateroom and found him sleeping peacefully and breathing gently. I roused him and inquired how he felt. 'Like a new man,' he answered, with a grateful smile. 'I feel no pain and am able to stretch my limbs without difficulty. I think I'll get up.' 'No don't get up to-night,' I said, 'but let me rub you again with the Oil, and in the morning you will be much better able to go above.' 'All right,' he said, laughing. I then applied the Oil again, rubbing his knees, ankles and arms thoroughly, until he said he felt as if he had a mustard poultice all over his body. I then left him. The next morning when I went up on deck for a breezy promenade, according to my custom, I found my patient waiting for me with a smiling face, and without his crutches, although he limped in his movements, but without pain. I don't think I ever felt so happy in my life. To make a long story short, I attended him closely during the rest of our voyage some four days—applying the Oil every night, and guarding him against too much exposure to the fresh and damp spring breezes, and on landing at New York, he was able, without assistance, to mount the hotel omnibus and go to the Astor house. I called on him two days later, and found him actually engaged in packing his trunk, preparatory to starting West for his home, that evening. With a bright and grateful smile he welcomed me, and pointing to a little box, carefully done up in thick brown paper, which stood upon the table, he said: 'My good friend can you guess what that is?' "A present for your sweetheart," I answered. 'No,' he laughed—'that is a dozen bottles of St. Jacobs Oil which I have just purchased from Hudnut, the druggist across the way, and I am taking them home to show my good mother what has saved her son's life and restored him to her in health. And with it, I would like to carry you along also, to show her the face of him, without whom, I should probably never have tried it. If you should ever visit the little village of Nedalia, in Missouri, Charlie Townsend and his mother will welcome you to their lithome, with hearts full of gratitude, and they will show you a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil enshrined in a silver and gold casket, which we shall keep as a parlor ornament as well as memento of our meeting on the Cunard steamer."

"We parted, after an hour's pleasant chat with mutual good-will and esteem, and a few weeks afterward I received a letter from him telling me he was in perfect health, and containing many graceful expressions of his affectionate regards.

A Blessing in Disguise.

No one would suppose that the introduction into a family of a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor would be the means of restoring peace and prosperity. Corns are painful, and the constant consciousness of this upon even the best natured, produces nervous depression, ill-temper, recklessness leading to a desire to spend their time away from the bosom of their family. In order to avoid the evils above mentioned always keep a bottle of Putnam's Corn Extractor on hand. Sold everywhere. N.C. POLSON & Co., Kingston, Proprietors.

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR, Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly,
JOHN McDONALD.

OPS, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR,—I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth, the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they had ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

TUESDAY MARCH 13th.

After several petitions had been presented in the Commons and on the order for the consideration of Sir John's notice respecting the liquor traffic bill being called, Sir John Macdonald meekly remarked that he had intended to proceed with the order, but by some inadvertence copies of the judgment in the case of Russell v. the Queen, which were ordered to be printed, had not been distributed amongst the members. He would therefore ask to have the question postponed till a future day.

Mr. Leonard Tilley's bill to amend the act relating to banks and banking was read a second time.

Mr. Cameron's bill to amend the criminal law was read a second time.

WEDNESDAY.

After routine, Mr. Wilson introduced a bill respecting criminal law.

THE GRAND TRUNK.

In answer to a question, Sir Charles Tupper said that the Grand Trunk had made the returns required under section 30 of the railway act, but they were unsigned, others made under section 20 relating to freight were duly signed.

MILITARY COLLEGE.

Hon. Mr. Caron said the subject of filling up vacancies in "A" and "B" Batteries, Quebec with graduates of the Royal Military College, Kingston, was under consideration.

After notices of motions, etc, the House adjourned.

NOTE.—The Budget is not yet in sight.

THURSDAY.

Mr. Charlton's bill for the making of seduction under promise of marriage, seduction of a pupil by a teacher, or inveigling a girl into a house of ill-fame, a criminal offence, punishable by two years in the penitentiary, was opposed by the Premier, and the bill was so amended as to make it useless for its object.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

A bill for punishing cruelty to all animals except mankind was referred to a special committee.

The Premier gave notice that he would move for the house to adjourn from Wednesday, over the easter holidays.

NOTE.—The Budget has not yet been sighted.

FRIDAY.

After routine, Mr. Blake introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Election act of 1874. He explained that the bill was merely to amend paragraph 109 of the act, so that any person, no matter who he may be, or how much he is worth, may sue for the fine that paragraph imposes.

Mr. Robertson introduced a bill to amend and consolidate the act for the more speedy trial of persons accused of felonies and misdemeanors in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba.

SIR JOHN'S TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

Sir John Macdonald's motion of which he had given notice, regarding proposed temperance legislation then came up for the consideration of the House.

Sir John then moved that the paragraph in the Speech from the throne promising legislation, and which reads as follows, be referred to a select committee composed of 17 members;—"I am advised that the judgment of the Lords of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council delivered last June on the appeal of Russell v. The Queen: goes to show that in order to prevent the unrestrained sale of intoxicating liquors, and for that purpose to regulate the granting of shop, saloon, and tavern licenses, legislation by the Dominion Parliament will be necessary. Your earnest consideration of this important subject is desired."

Mr. Casgrain raised a point of order, but the Speaker ruled it out, and put the motion. No explanation was offered, only Sir John coming back in his seat declared the motion carried.

The Speaker was about to declare the resolution adopted when Mr. Blake, rising, asked, "Are there no reasons to be given for adopting the resolution?" Sir John Macdonald, thus called upon, made a speech occupying about three minutes. The reason for passing the resolution, he thought, would be sufficiently plain by the paragraph of the Speech. By that paragraph it appeared that the Crown had been advised that legislation on this subject was necessary, and in the Address in reply to the Speech from Throne His Excellency was assured that the matter would have the earnest attention of the House. This method of referring a matter to a special committee was deemed the best means of achieving the result aimed at.

Mr. Blake followed. The Premier's course in this case he characterized as without precedent in Canada, and almost without precedent in England, and said the supporters of the Government must have felt disappointed when they found it was their leader's intention to ask the House to vote without advancing a single argument in support of his resolution. He commented also on the brevity of Sir John in the debate on the Address. Having said he had long been of opinion that the Provincial Legislatures had no power to regulate the liquor traffic, these could have been no new revelation made to him in the decision by the Privy Council. That decision was given in June. Of course he would not except the Government to do anything up to the 20th, but after that they might very easily have taken some steps to prepare legislation. Some law was, according to the Premier necessary in order to prevent unrestricted traffic in liquor, but not a single step was taken till now, in the sixth week of the session, it was proposed to appoint a committee to do between now and the close of the session what the Government had been unable to even begin, though having months at their disposal. In making this admission he contended that the Government convicted themselves of grave neglect of duty. He contrasted the statement of Sir John in his Speech on the Address to the effect that the legislation in reference to licenses was forced on the Government and the threat made by the Premier at Yorkville against Mr. Mowat, and at the great Tory Convention at Toronto by Sir John respecting bringing about legislation on the matter. Mr. Blake concluded his remarks by pointing out that so far as the practical work of preparing legislation was concerned, if the constitution was as the Premier pretended, the Cabinet ought to be able to do the work, for they not only had among them fairminded men, but they had a representative of temperance in Sir Leonard Tilley, and of the benevolent association of licensed victuallers in Mr. Carling. At this point the argument was interrupted by the Speaker leaving the chair and the House rising for excess.

The debate was resumed after recess. Upon a division the resolution was carried by 111 to 63, the Government's majority being 48. Messrs. Ross (Middlesex), Blake, Burpee, (St. John), Laurier, Casgrain, and Robertson (Shelburne), who were nominated by Sir John Macdonald as members of the committee, refused to act, and the premier was forced to give notice of resolution appointing Tory members in their stead.

MONDAY.

ORANGE INCORPORATION.

The first motion made in the House of Commons was presented by Mr. White, of Hastings, to introduce a bill to incorporate the Loyal Orange Association of British America. Cries of "Lost" greeted the motion as soon as it was read, which were mingled with shouts of "Carried." When the Speaker put the motion the Speaker decided in favour of the yeas, and the bill was read a first time. On the question being put when the bill should be read a second time, voices on both sides cried "To-morrow." Mr. White moved formally that the bill be read a second time to-morrow. In amendment to this Mr. Coursol moved the six months' hoist, which was met with conflicting cries of "Carried," "Lost," "Call in the members." The debate lasted an hour and a half, and was lively without being heated. The lead was taken by Mr. John White of Hastings, who moved for the second reading of the bill to-morrow. As was expected, the French members, irrespective of party, attempted to burke the measure, their opinion of it being voiced by Mr. Coursol of Montreal East, who proposed the six months' hoist. The proposal to treat the bill in this discourteous and summary manner aroused the ire of its supporters on both sides of the house.

The debate was practically closed by Mr. Mackenzie Bowell, who was dubbed by Mr. Ives "Our representative of the battle of the Boyne in the government." Speaking exclusively for himself, the honorable gentleman asked for a fair and courteous treatment of the measure without touching its provisions at that stage. When the bill came up for its second reading he would be prepared to explain and uphold the fundamental principles and constitutions of the Orange order, if such were necessary.

The amendment for the six months' hoist was lost by a vote of 94 to 89, a narrow majority of five.

The remainder of the day was devoted to clearing off the order paper and several bills were advanced a stage.

Amongst other papers moved for, were those moved for by Mr. Casey, with reference to the selection of Regina as the capital of the Northwest Territories. He said the site was a bad one and that the Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. Dewdney, was interested in land speculations.

The Premier admitted that Mr. Dewdney owned the land on which the police barracks was built.

Mr. Casey's motion passed.

Sir John Macdonald announced that the estimates would be brought down on Tuesday or Wednesday.

[The above report was crowded out of last issue]

TUESDAY.

After routine Mr. Mulock withdrew his Railway Amendment Act, Sir Charles Tupper having promised to introduce a measure embodying the member for North York's bill, which was that no amalgamation of competing railways can take place without the sanction of the Governor-in-Council.

Government orders having precedence, the House went into Committee on the Finance Minister's Banking Amendment Act. The discussion was on the clause affecting private bankers. Sir Leonard Tilley assented to an Opposition amendment to the effect that these parties be allowed to continue to trade under the name of a banking house, company, agency, or institution, provided they add the words "not incorporated" to the title of the firm. Other amendments made were immaterial. The bill was reported and stands for a third reading.

The Government were not prepared to proceed with their other business, and Mr. Charlton's bill for the punishment of adultery, seduction, and like offences was taken up.

Mr. Charlton moved that the House go into Committee to restore the seduction clauses. Messrs. Charlton, M C. Cameron and Foster supported the motion, making a strong appeal in its favor on the ground of morality and justice. Mr. Robertson, of Hamilton, was the only member who raised his voice against it, using the arguments advanced by the Premier on the second reading of the bill. The motion was carried by 91 to 73, and the clause was reinserted accordingly.

Mr. Hector Cameron offered an amendment that there must be corroborative evidence of the act of seduction, but Mr. Charlton complained that this would practically render the bill inoperative. As several members were not prepared to discuss this new proposal, the debate was adjourned, Mr. Thos White having the floor.

Wife beating next engaged the attention of the House. The bill introduced by Mr. Wood, of Brockville, provides that the court may order a man convicted of this offence to be flogged as well as imprisoned. The bill was read a second time and referred to a Special Committee.

Several returns were ordered and the House adjourned at 5:45.

WEDNESDAY.

The Finance Minister submitted the estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1884, to the Commons to-day. The total appropriation is placed at $45,504,145, of which $29,961,989 is chargeable to consolidated revenue fund, and $15,542,156 to capital account. The total appropriation last year was $54,877,264, of which $28,073,796 was chargeable to consolidated fund, and $26,803,467 to capital account. This shows a total decrease in the estimates this year as compared with last year of $9,373,118, the falling off being, as will be seen, on capital account. There is an increase of $1,196.193 in the amount chargeable to consolidated fund. The principal items in this increase are $129,979 for civil government, $189,380 for immigration and quarantine, $265,715 for public works and buildings, $163,100 for fisheries, $667,394 for railways and canals, and $219,410 for the post office. Among the increases under head of public works are $200,000 towards a new building for the department of the interior opposite the eastern block, $7,800 for alterations, renewals, etc., to the Dominion buildings at Toronto, $125,000 for post office and custom house at Hamilton, $117,500 additional for harbor improvements at Toronto, $26,000 additional for Collingwood harbor, 17,000 for telegraph lines in Manitoba and Northwest, and $18,500 for telgraph lines in British Columbia. Under the head of mail subsidies there is $48,000 equally divided for steam communication between Canada and Antwerp and Canada and Germany. The appropriation for Toronto observatory is increased from $4,800 to $5,250. With a view of making the steamboat inspection more thorough and satisfactory, the grant for this purpose is raised from $15,000 to $22,000. The estimates will afford members food for reflection during the Easter recess.

The business of the House was unimportant to-day.

On motion of Mr. Charlton the bill respecting the Temporalities Fund of the Church of Scotland in Canada was withdrawn, the beneficiaries having failed to arrive at a satisfactory agreement.

Messrs. Blake and Mackenzie complained of the unusually long adjournment for Easter, till Wednesday, 28th instant.

Mr. Irvine (Carleton, N. B.) proposed an amendment to fix the weight of a bushel of oats at 32 pounds and a bushel of timothy seed at 45 pounds, arguing that our standard should be similar to that of the United States.

Messrs. Costigan, Pickard, and Sproule opposed the motion on the ground that a farmer was practically paid for weight and not for measure. The motion was lost.

Mr. Blake in moving for a statement of persons entering Manitoba by rail each month of the last calendar year, said he had moved for similar returns last year, but they had not been brought down.

Mr. Pope said this information would be found in his report, which would be brought down in a few days.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock until Wednesday.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 29, 1883.

The Orange Bill.

It is hard to determine whether Orangemen now feel greater contempt or greater indignation at the course pursued by Sir John A. Macdonald in reference to the above Bill. For years the question has been one of burning interest to Orangemen, and many members of that order have declared that they seceded from the Reform party owing to its action towards incorporation, and on this account alone. Now, since Sir John has shown his hand and has repaid with base ingratitude their prolonged strife in his behalf, Conservative Orangemen are beginning to resent his traitorous conduct, and are now asking themselves whether they shall submit to be used as cat's paws by means of which the Premier may pluck the sweets of office out of the political fire, or whether they shall act and vote as men as conscientious honorable men, loving their country first and order next, and support that party which has always taken a straightforward course towards them.

Session after session, the Orange bill was brought forward by Conservative members before the Mowat administration, and the bill was rejected, not because the Hon. Mr. Mowat had personal antipathy for the measure, but for the simple and honest reason that the Dominion Government had jurisdiction in the matter—that the Orange order was scattered throughout the whole Dominion, and one act of the Legislature at Ottawa could grant to all the Orangemen of the Dominion that which they had long required and demanded.

Then it was, that the whole Tory press, with one accord, bewailed the sorrows of the Orange body, and many a crocodile tear trickled down the hypocritical cheeks of Tory speakers.

In contradistinction to the Hon. Mr. Mowat's course, what was Sir John's? Was it honorable, or was it that of a political trickster? He has continually boasted that Orangemen supported him, and he would stand by them. Long since he promised that body incorporation. Orangemen now see what a hollow mockery his loudest pretensions were, and how utterly transparent and specious has become, his loud mouthed boasting in their behalf. The Orange question did special duty last June, and in the last local elections, the same old horse was trotted out to do its work.

If the leader of the Government desired it, now would be the time to fulfil his solemn promises. It is now or never, as long as he holds the reins of power.

Let us carefully scan his course. The bill was introduced by a private member, Mr. White, of Hastings, and not as a Government bill. The Hon. Mr. Bowell, a member of the cabinet, being asked whether he spoke on behalf of himself of the Orange body or of the Government said:—"For myself, on my own responsibility and for nobody else." The bill was read a first time.

It was the same Mr. White who moved formally that the bill be read a second time. In amendment, Mr. Coursol, a Government supporter, moved the six month's hoist, a very unusual proceeding, as the bill had not been printed and the motion of Mr. Coursol was very sharp and uncourteous.

A vote was taken on the amendment which was lost by five votes.

It is now clear that the bill will be defeated by 30 or 40 of a majority. Although Sir John pledged himself to obtain Orange incorporation, although he has used the Orange bill as a trump card, although he staked his honor and integrity on its consummation, he has allowed the measure to be introduced by a private member, he has refused to make it a government bill, he has virtually said:—If mere empty, specious promises will satisfy the Orange body, they shall be satisfied. Sir John has dodged his duty, he has shirked his responsibility and has acted perfidiously to those who stood by him, even through the mire into which his course has led them.

The Spring Exodus.

We do not wish to withhold from the N. P. anything that is properly its due. Even by courtesy allowing, according to the claims of the Tory organs, that the prosperity of the country is due to the fiscal arrangements of the Government, yet the N. P. has to answer the charge that it has not done what its promoters and supporters claimed for it. It has not caused our home manufacturers to supply the demand of the country—the importations are on the increase; it has not, as most explicitly assured to us, increased the price of farmers' produce, and it has not made the people of the country so contented and prosperous, as to remove the temptations to emigrate to the United States. With the approach of spring the exodus to Uncle Sam's dominions begins, and the way the season opens, gives promise of a large exodus to a foreign country. The London Free Press records the departure of twenty farmers from St. Thomas for Dakota, and in our own county there is an initial instance of the N. P. failing to satisfy the requirements of Canadians. A farmer of Smith township, accompanied by seven sons, and taking with him about $10,000 in money and stock, started on Wednesday for Michigan, one of the United States. These are only, it may be urged, isolated examples, but they seem to us to be "specimen bricks" of a very decided character. These facts show that those parties, and the thousands likely to follow them, have not been convinced that the N. P. has been successful in fulfilling its vaunt of "Canada for Canadians." They have yielded to the very strongest of argument, the argument of self-interest, which supplies logic that, professional politicians will find it hard to overcome.

Think Twice!

A private letter from a gentleman who has been for some years a resident of the Northwest doesn't give a very flattering account of the state of things in Winnipeg just now. He says: "Although I have not lost faith in the country, I don't thing the present a good time for any one to come here. Business is very dull and has been getting worse for some time. Many of the hotel men and merchants are pretty shaky. Money is very tight; of course the opening of spring with the arrival of a few thousand immigrants will make things all right, but at present everyone in Winnipeg is hard up—except the lawyers." In view of these facts, it would be well for the farmers of Ontario to hesitate before breaking up comfortable agricultural establishments and, in their haste to get rich, joining the stream of Northwest wayfarers. The farmer, who is comfortably situated in Ontario, and making a good living, cannot better himself by going to the Northwest. We do not wish to disparage the country, but we do object to the bone and sinew of Ontario being used to populate a country that is no better than this. A farmer may remove to the Northwest and ultimately become possessed of a competence; if he exercise the same energy, endure the same privations, for the sake of economy, at home as he will do in the Northwest, there is no doubt that he would be much better off in Ontario than in the Northwest, in an equal space of time. Persons, who, in any line of life, are doing well in Ontario, should think twice before exchanging a certainty for an uncertainty. The Northwest is all very well for the landless millions or the pauper labour of the old world, whose estates are at the worst, with no prospect of amendment, but fairly prosperous Ontarians should lay to heart the advice of Dickens to travellers: "Stay where you are happy."

Be sure and see Turnbull's grand display of Millinery and Mantles on Wednesday and Thursday 4th and 5th April.

The "Mail's" Maliciousness.

The coarse censoriousness of the Mail, and its senseless and virulent abuse of political opponents, distinguishes Sir John's personal organ, as the most unscrupulous and shameless sheet published in Canada. A new instance is furnished by a recent issue. Commenting on Mr. Blake's speech on the Pacific Railway, the organ says that Mr. Blake rose "in all his empty pompousness" and sat down "amid the bewildered applause of a dull-witted collection of semi-informed partisans." "But the Grits were dull of intellect; they cheered." Going on a little further it calls Mr. Blake "a precious hypocrite, a most consummate impostor, and a most thoroughly exploded charlatan." On the 13th Mr. Blake is referred to again as a "false friend," "traitor," "impertinent," uncouth," and "ill-mannered." We do not refer to this matter by way of complaint, but merely to give our readers an idea, of what journalistic depravity is capable. Such language can only recoil on the cause it is intended to serve. Its condemnation goes with it. No politician, however extreme or rabid, who possesses the faintest scintilla of a gentleman's feelings, will hesitate a moment, to repudiate, as an expression of his political sentiments, the vulgar abuse, visited on Mr. Blake. As a politician, Mr. Blake is a proper subject of adverse criticism, but his course and actions may be dealt with in language which would not, if applied to even a prize fighter, provoke indignation and resentment. Reading the Mail's polished periods in reference to Mr. Blake, one is inclined to wonder if the Mr. Blake, alluded to, is the cultured and honored gentleman, who fills the following positions of trust and honor: Chancellor of the University of Toronto, elected by the graduates—of all shades of politics; head of the Law Society, by election of the Benchers; Chancellor of the Diocese of Toronto. These marks of confidence in Mr. Blake's ripe scholarship, irreproachable personal record, give the lie to the organ's venomous vituperation, which is not only an insult to the Hon. gentleman himself, but to all those, who have delighted to honor Mr. Blake by placing him in such positions of trust and responsibility as we have indicated.

Editorial Notes.

THE sweet buy and buy has become a thing of the past to the Tory missionaries—the by-election was held last October in Muskoka, and the buy-election week before last.

THE new Land Act gives the Dominion Government power to abolish pre-emptions at their discretion, and omits the provisions for the encouragement of tree culture.

LAST Saturday morning Mr. Meredith, accompanied by Mr. Boultbee arrived in Ottawa. They were joined by Messrs. H. H. Smith, John Shields, A. Evanturel and other Tory wire-pullers. A lengthy interview was held with Sir John Macdonald, and no doubt the details of the capture of Algoma by the Dominion Government decided on.

IT is to be hoped that the sleep of the Review scribe will not longer be haunted by the restless spectres of unappointed license commissioners, those for West Peterborough having been appointed. The vacant registrarship may still pose as a respectably strong nightmare, and continue to harrow the soul of our contemporary.

THE announcement of Sir Charles Tupper's retirement from the Ministry was quickly followed by the complete restoration to health of Mr. Chapleau. Sir Charles' furniture has, it is said, been shipped to England, and his resignation is expected immediately after he has made his explanations on the progress of the Canada Pacific Railway, in the House of Commons.

THE Dominion Parliament has been in session six weeks and not a single Government measure has been passed. Yet there are members with sufficient "cheek" to circulate a round robin asking that the sessional indemnity be increased from $1,000 to $1,500. It would be more becoming if they would petition to indemnify the country in some way. The expense of "legislation," so called, has been thus far about $200,000.

THE leading organs of the Tory party, says an exchange, have never lost a single opportunity to attack in the most partizan and unreasoning fashion the working of the Agricultural College at Guelph. The Guelph Herald once belonged to this class of critics, but its opinion of the institution has entirely changed, and none are in a better position to know. Here is the opinion of the Herald now: "It is well known that the Guelph Herald has in former years been a most severe critic of the management in the early days of the college, but for some time an entirely different state of affairs has existed there, and there is no use in trying to bring into ridicule an established institution of the Province, even if it be under Grit control. We believe the college to be as well managed as institutions of a similar kind are elsewhere, and we take it to be the duty of those who have the power, to uphold the authorities in enforcing proper discipline.

ACCIDENT TO THE QUEEN.

HER MAJESTY'S POPULARITY MANIFEST.

The injuries received by the Queen on Saturday by slipping upon the stairs of the palace at Windsor now turns out to be more serious than at first supposed. After the accident the Queen took a ride and on returning and attempting to leave the carriage she found she was unable to do so, and her attendants had to carry her to her room. The physicians found the knee badly swollen and inflamed. The queen is constantly attended by a full corps of royal physicians. There was much uneasiness throughout the city concerning the condition of her Majesty. Crowds stand about the bulletin places, eagerly watching and asking the news. The street at many places were blocked with laboring people, who knocked off work in their anxiety to keep informed. It is not believed by those having access to authentic information that the queen's injuries are absolutely dangerous in themselves, but it is the universal fear, owing to her advanced age and the somewhat delicate condition of her health for some time past, dangerous complications may arise. The crowd surrounding a bulletin was so great that those in the rear could not make it out. A strong voiced man mounted a pile of paving stones and cried out the intelligence. When the man motioned to make the first utterance the entire crowd, almost exclusively composed of workmen, uncovered and were still. The bulletin produced most evident depression.

The queen's physicians authorize the statement that her Majesty is in no danger.

DYNAMITE DASTARDS.

Attempt to Blow up Government Offices in London, England.

Last Thursday night every part of Westminster, the Abbey, the House of Parliament, the great structures of public officers, clubs and dwelling houses, were violently shaken by an explosion. The detonation was followed by a crash of glass falling from thousands of windows. That Charles street is unfrequented at night partly explains the extraordinary fact that no lives were lost. It is stated that dynamite was placed on a window sill inside the balustrade where the fuse when burning would be as concealed from the view of persons passing. The great balustrade was obliterated. The massive masonry was rent into fragments, and the pavement was shattered and ground to powder. The wooden structure opposite was blown into splinters. Inside the Government offices there remained nothing but splintered wood and broken plaster—walls burst asunder. The doors in the King street police station were burst in by the blast of air, and the detachment present was prostrated. Broken timbers and masses of stone were sent flying into King street. The people crossing Parliament street were knocked down. A hansom and horse was flung across the sidewalk against the front of Whitehall Club, in which the great plate glass windows were driven in a shower into the rooms. Everywhere the greatest consternation prevailed. People poured out of the houses, broken glass cracking under their feet. In the House of Commons the alarm was general among the members. They left immediately. The lobby was emptied and the people rushed into Westminster Hall. Thousands flocked from all parts towards Westminster.

It is believed the explosion was caused by dynamite, and that a deliberate attempt was made to blow up the Government offices.

BROUGHT UP IN THE HOUSE.

The explosion being the subject of consideration in the House of Commons, Sir William Harcourt said he did not think it would be right to say anything about the matter until an official enquiry had been made. He has heard that an attempt to blow up the Times office had been made, but no injury was done.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP THE "TIMES" OFFICE

The explosion was heard two or three miles. A canister containing explosive material was found behind the Times office with, it is rumoured, a lighted fuse attached. The police are investigating. The officials think the explosion was caused by gunpowder or dynamite. The officers of the gas company declare they can find no evidence that it was caused by gas. The force of the explosion shot large portions of masonry across the street.

FENIAN'S WORK.

The explosion was undoubtedly the work of Fenians. The adjacent streets are filled with myriads of fragments of glass, and heavy plate glass is lying in heaps on the ground. A stone weighing 200 pounds was projected against the King street police station, making a hole the size of a man's head.

It is want of judgment to allow prejudice to prevent one from trying this remedy. The writer has seen many such, who, being persuaded, were surprised and gratified at the results. Try a 10-cent sample 13-tf

AKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—As the school supplies question is still causing a good deal of unpleasant feeling in this village, and, as Mr. J. J. Bird has misrepresented, and still persists in misrepresenting me on this question, and that, too, with a boldness that I have seldom met with in the course of my life, I feel that it is my duty though an unpleasant one—to explain the tactics employed by Mr. Bird in bringing me into this now somewhat important matter; and then, just how far he has acted the part of a gentleman to-wards me. A few days after Dr. Caldwell's first letter appeared in your columns I was sitting in Mr. R. Graham's business, and on going out, he asked me to call into his shop before going home. In the course of a few minutes I called in and requested, when Mr. Bird came forward and said that Dr. Caldwell had denied the accuracy of his (Mr. Bird's) letter which had appeared in your columns the previous week, and he (showing me the letter) asked me if it was correct. Seeing that I stood between two men with whom I had always been on the most friendly terms, and desiring to bring about a better understanding between them I wished to avoid the appearance of taking on the one side or the other, so answered Mr. Bird's question, by saying that he had charged the Dr. too strongly. Mr. Bird looked disappointed, and said that he had been told by several others that he was correct. I reminded him that "hearsay" could not be depended on, to which Mr. Bird agreed that I could not as a rule, but added, that his informants brought him what he charged the Dr. with, very direct from the Board. Finally Mr. Bird said that he did not know that he should ever write anything more on the subject; that he knew that the probabilities were that he would not. I remarked that I very much disapproved of that course, and pointed out that the thrust at the Dr. was a severe one, and that Dr. Caldwell had written a very courteous letter in reply, not even containing the slightest unkind word towards him, and that I thought it was a favorable time to close, and I went home feeling that I had heard the last of it. But, sir, imagine my surprise when I saw in the next issue of the EXAMINER Mr. Bird's second letter, which, in the same spirit as his first, repeating the same charges contained therein, and also stating that he had permission to use my name as to the accuracy of his charges. I was now fairly into the mêlée. Dr. Caldwell felt aggrieved at Mr. Bird justly so, too. I wrote a short letter which appeared in the EXAMINER the last instant that I trusted would be all right with the Dr., and also to give a reminder to Mr. Bird that he might not at least fall into the same error himself again. But, Sir, again imagine my surprise, when Mr. Bird's 3rd letter appeared, containing the following: "I have proved that they were made by the Secretary of Messrs. Galvin, Sanders and Manour. Mr. Galvin in his letter is rather annoyed that I used his name, still he does not, nor can he, deny having said to me that the remarks were unjust." Surely the above reaches the climax of cool impudence. What a genial man, as well as "honourable trustworthy," I must be in the eyes of Mr. Bird when I am only "rather annoyed" when an offence, strongly partaking of the nature of forgery, is committed against me. Yes, Mr. Editor, I can deny, and do deny, that Dr. Caldwell made the remarks that he is charged with by Mr. Bird, and I further say that Dr. Caldwell's statements of what took place at the December and January meetings of the Board is correct, and I do flatly deny ever making any such statement charged with by this paragon of perfection.

If the School Board treated Mr. Bird unfairly as a tenderer why did he not criticise it sharply—like all other public bodies, a little wholesome criticism occasionally might do it good—instead of adopting the cut-throat policy of attacking an individual member, and then making his colleagues witness against him whether they are willing or not? Such a course can only be productive of evil, and, if persisted in, will have a tendency to make every honorable man withdraw from the Board.

Now, Sir, if I am found on the side of Dr. Caldwell in this controversy, it is not because I think he needs my assistance, for he is a gentleman well qualified to defend himself. It is because of the persistent misrepresentation and unwarrantable liberty that Mr. Bird has taken with me, a liberty that I will allow no man living to take with impunity; and, when any other member of the Board is placed in a similar position to the one that Dr. Caldwell now occupies, I will be found just where I am found to-day. I feel, Mr. Editor, that I have occupied far too much of your valuable space already, but permit me to say in conclusion, that I have never written a letter with greater reluctance in my life, and I hope that a very long time may elapse before I am again called upon to engage in anything so unpleasant. I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,
G. J. GALVIN.

YELLOW AS A GUINEA. The complexion, in a case of unchecked liver complaint, culminating in jaundice, is literally "as yellow as a guinea. It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act, is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this symptom there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache, impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitants of liver complaint are completely removed by the use of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers, humours, female weakness jaundice and lumbago. It tones the stomach, rouses the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. High professional sanction has been accorded to it; and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidence. Price $1.00. Sample Bottle. 10 cents. Ask for Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A GREAT REVELATION.

SYNOPSIS OF A LECTURE DELIVERED BY DR. SELWYN STANLEY BEFORE THE METROPOLITAN SCIENTIFIC ASSOCIATION OF LONDON.

"The free and independent thought of this age accepts statements only where they are proven to be truth, while the developments of mental power seem equally great in every other department of life. The valuable inventions of the day are counted by thousands. The increase of scientific study is universal. The spirit of inquiry in all fields is so marked as to cause comment on every side while people seem investigating and advancing in every direction which can help them morally, mentally or physically. This is specially true of the human body and everything which concerns it, and the truths which the people have found, even in the last fifty years, are simply marvelous. How really ignorant some cultured and supposable scientific people were only a few years ago, as compared with the present day, may be better understood from a few

ILLUSTRATIVE FACTS.

"A prominent American writer prepared an elaborate essay to prove that steamships could never cross the Atlantic and his pamphlet was issued just in time to be carried by the first steamer that came to England. People once believed that the heart was the seat of life and health. It is now known that this organ is only a pump, simply keeping in motion what other and more important organs of the body have created and transformed. It was once supposed that if a person felt a pain in the back, the liver was deranged; if a pain came in the lower chest the lungs were affected and consumption was near. It is now known that a pain in the back indicates diseased kidneys, while troubles in the lower chest arise from a disordered liver and not imperfect lungs. A severe pain in the head was once thought to come from some partial derangement of the brain; it is now known that troubles in other parts of the body and away from the head, cause headaches and that only by removing the cause can the pain be cured. It is a matter of that General Washington was bled to death. His last illness was slight, and caused principally by weariness. A physician was called who bled him copiously. Strange to say, the patient became no better! Another doctor was called, who again took away a large amount of the vital fluid. Thus in succession four physicians drew away the life of a great man who was intended by nature for an old age, and who prematuerly died—murdered by malpractice—bled to death. That was the age of medical bleeding!"

PRIVATE HISTORY

The speaker then graphically described another period which came upon the people, in which they assigned the origin of all diseases to the stomach, and after showing the falsity of this theory, and that the kidneys and liver were the causes of disease, and that many people are suffering from kidney and liver troubles to-day who do not know it, but who should know it and attend to them at once, continued:

"Let us look at this matter a little more closely. The human body is the most perfect and yet the most delicate of all created things. It is capable of the greatest results and it is liable to the greatest disorders. The slightest causes sometime seem to throw its delicate machinery out of order while the most simple and common-sense care restores and keeps them in perfect condition. When it is remembered that the amount of happiness or misery we are to have in this world is dependent upon a perfect body, is it not strange that simple precautions and care are not exercised? This is one of the most vital questions of life. People may avoid it for the present, but there is certain to come a time in every one's experience when it must be faced.

"And here pardon me for relating a little personal experiece. In the year 1870, I found myself losing both in strength and health. I was unaccountably tired, my appetite was fickle, my head troubled me at times and occasionally pains would shoot through different portions of my body. I could assign no cause for this decline, but it continued, until finally I called to my aid two prominent physicians. After treating me for some time they declared I was suffering from Bright's disease of the kidneys, and that they could do nothing more for me. At this time I was so weak I could not raise my head from the pillow and I

FAINTED REPEATEDLY.

My heart beat so rapidly it was with difficult I could sleep. My lungs were also badly involved. I could retain nothing upon my stomach, while the most intense pains in my back and bowels caused me to long for breath as a relief. It was at this critical juncture that a physical longing which I felt (and which I most firmly believe was an inspiration) caused me to send for the leaves of a plant I had once known in medicial practice. After great difficulty I at last secured them and began their use in the form of tea. I noticed a lessening of the pain at once; I began to mend rapidly; in five weeks I was able to be about, and in two months I became perfectly well and have so continued to this day. It was only natural that such a result should have caused me to investigate most thoroughly. I carefully examined fields in medicine never before explored. I sought the cause of physical order and disorder, happiness and pain, and I found the kidneys and liver to be governors, whose motions regulate the entire system.

After describing at length the offices of the kidneys and liver, and their important part in life, the doctor went on to say.

"Having found this great truth. I saw clearly the cause of my recovery. The simple vegetable leaf I had used was a food and restorer to my well nigh exhausted kidneys and liver. It had come to them when their life was nearly gone and by its simple, yet powerful influence, had purified, strengthened and restored them and saved me from death. Realizing the great benefit which a knowledge of this truth would give to the world I began in a modest way to treat those afflicted and in every case I found the same.

HAPPY RESULTS

which I had experienced. Not only this, but many who were not conscious of any physical trouble, but who at my suggestion, began the use of the remedy which had saved my life, found their health steadily improving and their strength continually increasing. So universal, where used, was this true, that I determined the entire world should share in its results, and I therefore placed the formula for its preparation in the hands of Mr. H. H. Warner, a gentleman whom it cured of a severe kidney disease, and who, by reason of his personal worth, high standing and liberality, has become known and popular to the entire world This gentleman at once began the manufacture of the remedy on a most extensive scale, and to-day, Warner's Safe Cure, the pure remedy that saved my life, is known and used in all parts of the world and can be found on the shelves of every drug store.

"I am aware a prejudice exist towards proprietary medicines, and that such prejudice is too often well founded, but the value of a pure remedy is no less because it is a proprietary medicine. A justifiable prejudice exists toward quack doctors, but is it right that this prejudice should extend towards all the doctors who are earnestly and intelligently trying to do their duty? Because Warner's Safe Cure saved my life before it became a proprietary medicine, is it reasonable to suppose that it will not cure others and keep still more from sickness now that it is sold with a government stamp on the wrapper? Such a theory would be childish."

The doctor then paid some high compliments to modern science, and closed his lecture as follows:

"How to restore the health when broken and how to keep the body perfect and free from disease must ever be man's highest study. That one of the greatest revelations of the present day has been made in ascertaining the true seat of health to be in the kidneys and liver all scientists now admit, and I can but feel that the discovery which I have been permitted to make, and which I have described to you, is destined to prove the greatest, best and most reliable friend to those who suffer and long for happiness, as well as to those who desire to keep the joys they now possess."

FELICIA.

A SHORT LOVE STORY.

Young Mrs. Hardon felt it incumbent upon her to speak to her brother.

On the strength of six months of married life, she arrogated to herself the function of keeping a watchful eye on all his dealings with her own sex, and this afternoon, when she had met him at Brighton Station, the fact that he had carefully deposited a fellow-traveller in a fly before even turning to shake hands with her, had naturally aroused her suspicions.

"Who was your companion down, Frank?" she inquired, as soon as they had reached her pleasant rooms, and were sitting over the five o'clock tea-table.

Frank Neville, a tall, finely-built young man, of about seven-and-twenty, rose from his seat, and leaned against the mantel-piece as he answered with a laugh:

"I must say, Loo, you don't beat about the bush when you are inquisitively inclined. Suppose I say I don't know?"

"But I see you do," persisted Mrs. Hardon.

"Not exactly," he replied. "She is a Miss Dale, and after travelling all the way from Victoria with her, I made her acquaintance at Preston Park, where she discovered that she had either lost or accidentally come without her purse. Some one had taken her ticket for her and apparently forgotten to give her either that or the purse. The guard began to be rather insolent, and I could'nt well avoid paying for her to shut him up. I also heard that she had come to Brighton to nurse a sister just recovering from a long illness at school, and that is all I know about her. I should think now, Loo, it would be an excellent thing if you would call and take her out for a drive occasionally—a girl of that age is sure to get out of sorts if she is left to mope in a sick-room all day.

"Mrs. Hardon's face had all along expressed a prudent disapproval of his conduct, but at his last suggestion swift alarm and amazement raised her eyebrows and opened her lids wide.

"My dear boy, where do you get your extraordinary notions from," she exclaimed, dropping her handscreen and throwing herself back in her chair. "Will you kindly make clear to me what possible business it is of mine to look after the health and spirits of a girl who is a complete stranger to me, and practically to you, merely because it has fallen to her share to nurse an invalid sister?"

"Oh, pooh, Loo!" returned her brother more euphoniously than courteously. "Don't excite yourself. I can answer for her being a lady; you couldn't do better than make her acquaintance."

"I dare say you are right, dear; but I confess that I prefer to make my friends in a rather less casual fashion.

"Very well," observed Neville, shrugging his shoulders, "I put it in your way to do a kindly action, and you turn Pharisee and decline. I have no more to say.

Mrs. Hardon deftly turned the conversation, but she had noted with real concern his unusual resentment, his curt words, and impatient gesture. A few days passed without any further reference being made to his fellow-traveller; then, one morning on the pier, he drew her attention to a girl in a bath chair, accompanied by her sister.

"That is the Miss Dale I came down with," he said, with a shade of pride in his voice, as though that fact alone conferred distinction on him.

The sisters were at some little distance, and Mrs. Hardon, while only replying to his remark by a careless "Indeed!" was able, without rudeness, to take careful stock of them both. The invalid was a pretty, mischievous-looking child of fourteen or fifteen, but there certainly was a singularly charming air about the elder one. She was simply yet gracefully dressed, and the clear-tinted, delicately chiselled face, spoiled by no painful adjacency of unbecoming color, seemed stamped by candor, sweetness, and refinement. Mrs. Hardon was seized by a desire to make the acquaintance she had so recently scouted, and the discovery that the lady in charge of the girls was her own old schoolmistress rendered it easy for her to obtain an introduction. She crossed over to the quiet little group, and soon Neville was blissfully occupied in making small talk to Miss Dale, and noting fresh ways in which she was different and superior to any girl he had ever met before. Everything about her was exquisite—he face her voice, her dress, and, above all, her manner, which, for all its ease and unconsciousness, was just appreciably distant, as became a lady, to his thinking.

After this meeting the acquaintance made rapid progress, and was watched over by two sisters with eager curiosity and interest.

"Felicia, what do you think of Mr. Nevill?" inquired Lily Dale of her sister one evening, taking an invalid's liberty of speech.

Felicia hesitated a moment, then answered without embarrassment:

"I like him. He is not clever, I dare say; but there is something very straightforward about him."

"You like him," repeated Lily, screwing up her eyes and looking intensely knowing; "anything more, Fay?"

"If you were not still a bit of an invalid, I should answer that very impertinent question by a good scolding," said Felecia, laying her hand lightly over the child's lips. "As it is, I will pass it over, on the condition that you do not trangress again."

Lily sighed. Confidences were so delicious she wished her sister would not be so chary of them.

In truth, Felicia could not have given the question any very definite answer had she wished to. The daughter of an eminent lawyer whose delight was to gather in his drawing-room men of note in every calling, she had been accustomed from her childhood to society of exceptionally high intellectual level, and Neville could not fail to compare unfavorably with many rising men in her father's circle of friends. On the other hand, the chords of her woman's admiration for manly physique and vigor, and of her woman's responsiveness to sincere, honestly manifested love, were both struck by Neville, whose best qualities were his simplicity, pluck, and power of devotion.

If he had only waited he might have been spared many troubled hours, but he was not sagacious enough to bide his time, and when the last day of his stay at Brighton arrived, he blurted out a declaration of love, which was met by a gentle rebuke and refusal.

However, he was not so cast down as the circumstances might have warranted, for he saw that his error had been chiefly one of over-precipitation, and determined to try again later on. He crossed over to Ireland to pay a promised visit to a Mr. Stedall, and soon afterward both the Dales and the Hardons returned to town for Christmas.

Felicia did not forget her love-episode at Brighton, for doubt is as persistent as hope, and it was constantly borne in upon her that she had made a mistake.

One quiet Sunday the terrible report spread like wildfire over London of an assassination in Ireland. "Murder of Mr. Neville!" roared the newspaper criers up and down the reverberating streets. "Gallant struggle of Mr. Frank Stedall with the murderer!"

Felicia Dale was sitting with her mother and Lily when she heard the horrible words. A cry of udden anguish burst from her blanched lips, and she fell forward in her chair, covering her face with her hands.

Mrs. Dale looked at her daughter in astonishment, but Lily understood in a moment, and hastily whispered an explanation to her mother, who, in great anxiety, led Felicia up stairs to her own room.

The shock had been a terrible one, and and all night long the girl lay, not restless or sobbing, but in a deathly stupor, conscious of nothing but that she loved Neville, and that for some indistinct, awful reason, nothing but pain could ever come of her love.

Next morning Lily came rushing into the darkened room with a morning paper in her hand, and then, as Felicia neither spoke nor moved, the quick-hearted child flung her arms round her sister's neck and cried, with happy tears in her eyes.

"Fay, darling, don't be miserable, it is all right; the first telegrams jumbled up the names. It is Mr. Stedall who is killed, and Mr. Neville who struggled with the murderer. He is only badly hurt, not killed."

Life and color returned rapidly to Felecia's face, and she sat up to read for herself the corrected account, in which Neville was praised to the skies for his capture of the murderer at the imminent risk of his own life. The girl gave open vent to her happiness, too thankful at this moment to show any false shame at the remembrance of her betrayal of feeling before her mother and Lily, with whom she knew her secret would be safe.

"Lily, if he had been killed, I could not have borne it," she whispered, breaking into a sob of relief."

It was about a fortnight after this that Neville, with his arm in a sling, and a great scar on his forehead, entered his sister's pretty drawing room in Kensington. She welcomed him with a great demonstration of pride in his prowess, and delight in his safety, and then began nervously:—

"Frank, you know I hadn't asked you to my musical party next Tuesday, because I expected the Dales, and—I thought you would rather not meet Miss Dale. But now that you are the hero of the hour, your absence would be so commented on that I hope you will come. Would you find it very awkward?"

"My dear Loo," replied her brother, "I was coming anyhow; don't flatter yourself I should have stayed away merely because I wasn't invited. Besides, you are quite out of it in supposing that I have the least reluctance to meet Miss Dale; there is nothing I am more anxious to do."

"Really, dear boy!" exclaimed Mrs. Hardon delighted, "that is an immense relief to me. You see I couldn't well put off Miss Dale, because she has promised to sing; and I didn't know what to do."

Neville assured her it was all right, and waited impatiently for Tuesday evening.

At last it arrived, and at last Mr. and Mrs Dale, and the Misses Dale were announced. Frank saw only one of the group—Felicia, far more beautiful than he had ever dreamed her, in her evening dress, with a brilliant light in her dark eyes, and a flush upon her cheek, occasioned, had he only known it, by his presence.

For the moment he had no more than the chance of exchanging a hasty greeting with her, for everyone who arrived was anxious to congratulate him him on his recent exploit; and he could not without brusquerie, fail to respond cordially to the many expressions of good-will."

Presently Felicia was called upon to sing, and there was a general hush, for such a voice as hers was not to be heard every day.

Never in her life had she felt so nervous, so incapable of steadying the coming and going of her breath, yet never had she sung with more effect, for the just perceptible tremor in the pure contralto voice lent it even more sweetness and pathos than it always possessed, and made exquisitely perfsct her rendering of the sweet old English ballad she had chosen.

Immediately the song was over Neville seized his opportunity and led her out of the room, on the pretext of procuring her an ice. But when they reached the hall he suggested that it was pleasantly cool there—should they wait and listen to the next song?

Felicia inclined her head in assent, and then, as she leaned back in a convenient recess, Neville had his say. I need not repeat either his words or hers in answer; but when, later on in the evening, after an unconscionably long absence, they returned to the drawing room, Lily's remonstrances and inquisitive glances were met by a triumphant whisper from Neville:

"Don't you interfere with Felicia any more: she has put herself into my hands for good and always."

A CLOSE CALL.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM A HORRIBLE DEATH.

An accident which in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred would have resulted in instant death, occurred on Thursday morning to a young son of Mr. J. Lewis, of Yarmouth, Ont., and wonderful to relate, without instantly fatal consequences. The little fellow, who is aged about eight or nine years, was feeding the cattle from the top of a straw stack, when he slipped and fell to the ground, striking on the fork which he was holding. One of the prongs enteded his body between the eighth and ninth ribs of the left side, and passing upwards, came out beneath the collar bone on the right side without severely injuring any vital organ. The cold steel was, with difficulty, withdrawn from the poor lad, and Dr. Van Buskirk immediately sent for. When he arrived, expecting to find the boy dead or dying, he was surprised to find him conscious and not suffering nearly so much as might be imagined. The doctor considers it little less then a miracle that death was not instantaneous, but has now great hopes of saving his patient's life. On leaving the boy last evening, the plucky little fellow said he thought he would be able to go to school to-day.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

MANHOOD
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.
☞ Price in a sealed envelope, on 6c. or two postage stamps.
The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Reports of the Spring Assizes, Easter Vestries, and a large amount of local matter are literally crushed out of this impression.

License Commissioners.

Messrs. John McClelland, Thomas Dolan and Robert Graham, have been appointed License Commissioners for the West Riding license district.

To Correspondents.

A letter from Mr. T. J. Bird, in reference to the Lakefield "School Supplies," was received too near the hour of going to press to secure insertion this issue. It will appear in our next.

For the Spring.

Messrs. Foot and McWhinnie are now receiving their stock of boots and shoes for the Spring trade. They respectfully invite an inspection and feel satisfied in leaving the public to judge for themselves and render their verdict as to quality and price.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending March 10th, 1883, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $4,651.78; freight, $8,513.44; total, $13,165.22 as compared with $18,026.32 for the corresponding week of 1882, being a decrease of $4,861.10: and the aggregate traffic to date is $139,756.65, being an increase of $4,718.11 over 1882.

Easter Meats.

Our local butchers, excelled themselves on Easter Saturday. Particularly excellent were the displays by Messrs. W. Dencon, H. C. Winch, R. Wainwright and J. Howden. The beef from the slaughter of the yoke of steers purchased by the latter from Mr. Moore of Smith, and which took first prize for two years in the two counties, against all comers, was particularly sought after and praised.

Prompt Action.

Mrs. Madden, widow of the late Mr. John Madden, has received from the Treasurer of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters, a cheque for $1,000, being the amount of the endowment, secured by virtue of her late husband's membership of the Order. The following letter explains Mrs. Madden's feelings in reference to the matter:

MR. F. J. JAMESON, Chief Ranger, Court Peterborough, No. 89, C.O.F.

DEAR SIR,—Accept my sincere thanks for the very prompt payment by the Treasurer of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters, through you to me, of the sum of one thousand dollars, being amount of endowment due me on the death of my late husband. I wish also to express through this medium, my grateful thanks to the members of Court Peterborough for their many acts of kindness to me during my late husband's prolonged illness, and also to acknowledge the receipt from them of thirty dollars (funeral benefit) paid me since his decease.

Wishing the Order that prosperity which deserves,

I remain, yours sincerely,
MARIA MADDEN.

Business on Wheels.

Passing Lockhart & Chowen's carriage works, our reporter, attracted by the hum, entered and found that the business boom was moving on wheels. Owing to the reputation for first-class quality, enjoyed by their work, the firm has received, and partly filled, orders from Manitoba, consisting of farm wagons for the following gentlemen: Geo. Hilliard, one; D. W. Dumble, one; Mr. S. Roseborough, Smith, two; Mr. Jno. Bailey, Emily, one; Samuel H. Jackson, Emily, one; Mr. Wm. J. Jackson, Emily, one; Mr. Hawthorne, Dummer, one; and one for Mr. Joseph Walton, for Dakota. These are all farm wagons, with extra broad tires, and are furnished with racks, etc., all to be ready by the 1st of April. In all other departments the firm is thronged with business. They have set twenty sets of tires already this season, and they are rebuilding, in first-class style, Mr. Harry Drake's hack, with new spring gear. Besides, they have on hand, ready, a lot of the Dexter and Eureka gears. White's patent side bar gear, and also their own gear. The firm is kept busy, not only with Manitoba orders, but orders from the surrounding country and town. Their premises are filled with a large amount of thoroughly-seasoned, first-class material, and everything goes to show that Lockhart & Chowen are worthy of their reputation of turning out first-class work with first-class material. Call and see.

THE McINTYRE TRAGEDY.

A Former Resident of Otonabee Slaughtered.

The Murder of Archibald McIntyre in Lexington, California—His Brave but Unavailing Struggle—Dropped dead with rifle in Hand—Confession of the Murderer.

A few days ago Mr. Thomas Thompson of Otonabee, received a letter from California, containing the startling intelligence of the cold blooded murder of Mr. Archibald McIntyre, a former resident of Otonabee, and son of Mr. Peter McIntyre of that township. The murdered man, who was about 38 years of age, left here for California about fourteen years ago. "He made it his home" with an old bachelor and on the 11th of March, the old man was found outside of his cottage, dead, with two bullets in his head, and the remains of Archibald McIntyre were found lying in the ruins of the house, which, after the double murder had been fired. The body was found lying across his rifle which deceased, as the confession of the murder shows, was trying to use, when he dropped a corpse.

FURTHER.

The confession of Showers, one of the murderers, shows that the latter visited the cottage where McIntyre was lodging, and, calling out the proprietor, one of the two assassins, murdered the old man on his refusing to tell where his money was, and then entered the cottage where McIntyre was struggling with his confederate and deliberately placed a revolver to McIntyre's body, fired and rushed from the place. The latter rose seized his rifle but before he could use it dropped a corpse. Mr. Thompson has started for the scene of the murder.

Successful Social.

One of the most successful socials of the season, for the benefit of the the Charlotte Street Methodist church—was held at the residence of Mr. A. L. Davis, on Tuesday night. The attendance was large, enough to fill the spacious house and the guests highly appreciated the unstinted hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, as well as the rare musical and intellectual entertainment, of which the following is the programme: Duet, Misses Shaw and Walsh; song, Mr. Morris; duet, Misses Shaw; trio, Messrs Best, Sanderson and Lech; duet, Mr. and Mrs. Heathfield; song, "No Sir," Miss Walsh; duet, Misses Johnston; quartette, Misses Walsh and Shaw and Messrs Holden and Morris; recitation, Mr. Chilton; song, Mr. Elliott; duet, Misses Best and Lech. Mr. Heathfield furnished music at intervals. The marked social success of the entertainment, received a fitting complement in the financial out-come, which amounted to $55.

A Famous Fountain Pen.

Any one accustomed to constant writing knows the annoyance arising from the constant necessity of dipping the pen in ink, and the worse annoyance of pens rapidly wearing out. The "Livermore Stylographic Pen" is a fountain Pen of the most improved and convenient style, and obviates these disadvantages. A brother editor of the Chibago Advance says:—"A fountain pen that always writes and never "leaks," that makes a fair, plain line, and never blackens the fingers, and that, once filled, can be used for days without change, avoiding all the bother and interruption of reaching over to the inkstand for a fresh dip every two minutes, that can be carried in the pocket, and is as handy for use and as neat as a lead pencil, and that writes on any paper however thin or soft; such a pen is worth having. And such a pen is the "Livermore Stylographic Pen." This we know from personal use.

To the Publishers and Editors

Many Newspapers and Magazines have been established in the United States and Canada within the last two years, the names of which do not appear in any Newspaper Directory or Catologue. The publishers and editors of such are invited to send copies and a full description of their respective publications to the Editor of Hubbard's Newspaper and Bank Directory of the World, New Haven, Conn., U. S. A., that they may be properly catalogued and described in the forthcoming edition of that work for 1883.

OBITUARY.

DANIEL O'DONOHUE.

In the demise of this venerable pioneer, Ennismore loses one of its oldest and most respected residents. Deceased was born in the County Kerry, Ireland, in 1803, and, consequently, was 81 years of age when death removed him, which event took place on Wednesday, March 21st. He leaves behind him a widow, seven years his junior, and seven children, the survivors of a family roll of eight sons and two daughters. His living children are all married, and, in the familiar language of the world, "doing well." Mr. O'Donohue was one of the pioneer residents of his adopted township, a pious and devout member of the Roman Catholic Church, and took a deep interest in all that concerned her prosperity, as he did in fact, in all that tended to promote the moral and material welfare of his fellow citizens.

JAMES B. McEWEN.

On Saturday last, March 24th, the body of James B. McEwen, who died at Bridgenorth on the preceding Thursday, was laid at rest. Deceased was born near Stirling, Scotland, in 1798, and was therefore in his 85th year at the time of his death. He came to Canada early in the year 1832, and settled on a "wild bush farm," four miles north of Peterborough, on what is now known as the Communication Road. By tireless energy and industrious toil, he replaced the virgin forest with cultivated fields and made a home on which he lived till within the last three years. Deceased was a light in the world, an elder and member of St Paul's Presbyterian Church, and a regular attendant on its ministrations, till disease and death made his seat forever vacant. He was also a zealous temperance advocate and a far-seeing advocate of the free school system, when such advocacy was unpopular and unappreciated. In politics he was a pronounced Reformer. His last illness was brief, health and strength, remaining till within a few days of the last. Though the closing hours of his life, were hours of pain, he bore them without murmur, as an expression of God's will. He leaves behind him a widow, two sons and four daughters, and the memory of an upright life, and a name revered by all who knew him.

RICHARD WINCH.

On Wednesday, this well known and highly respected former resident of Peterborough, passed from earth at Cobourg, where he has lived the past 23 years. His funeral took place on Good Friday and the attendance testified to the respect paid to the memory of an upright and pious "old English gentleman." Mr. Winch, who was 75 years old at the time of his death, was born at Maidenhead, England, near Windsor, in 1808. On his arrival in Canada, he spent a few years at Cobourg, then removed to Peterborough where he lived about 25 years till 1860—when he returned to Cobourg. He was one of the earliest citizens of Peterborough. He built the stone structure on Simcoe street, now known as the Phelan Hotel, at a time when there was not a brick building on George street. Here Mr. Winch carried on a butcher business and occupied part of the building as a dwelling. The remainder was occupied by the Bank of Toronto and the Post Office. Mr. Winch accumulated a considerable property, which he lost through his unfortunate kindness of endorsing negotiable paper. Notwithstanding that the result of years of industry was thus swept away, Mr. Winch never murmured but bore his losses with christian fortitude. He was a zealous and active member of the Methodist Church, reflecting in his daily walk the christian consistency of his character. He was most active in promoting the good of his fellow men, holding religious meetings in different parts of the surrounding country, not blessed with stated ministrations. His last illness was of only about ten days duration, and was a sort of apoplectic seizure. He bore his sufferings with true christian fortitude and resignation, and was cheered to the last by the comforts of religion, the last words he spoke on earth before his disease deprived him of his speech, being "Praise the Lord!" Thus he died, as he had lived, in full hope of a blissful immortality.

THOS. DUMBLE.

The Cobourg World has the following in reference to the late Mr. Dumble, father of D. W. Dumble, Esq., Police Magistrate:—

"Mr. Dumble was a native of Cornwall, England, but left his birth-place while yet a young man, to engage on the Ordnance Survey of Ireland, in which country he was employed for upwards of twenty years, and where, with two exceptions, his children were born. In 1845 he came to Canada, and was engaged for some years in the Lower Provinces, in surveying the N. Eastern boundary line, and subsequently on the prelminary surveys of the Intercolonial Railway.

About thirty-six years ago, Mr. Dumble settled in Cobourg, his family having preceded him a few years. During all this time he has led an active life, and was engaged in surveying and constructing many of our Country roads and bridges.

For many years Mr. Dumble was a member of the Town Council; and for the past 20 years, a Commissioner of the Town Trust, being chairman of the Board at the time of his death. In the discharge of these duties he ever manifested zeal and vigilance in conserving the best interests of our town. Even to the last, affairs of the Commission, of which he was peculiarly cognizant, engaged his attention. Few of our citizens have done more for Cobourg, and we can safely affirm that none had its interests more at heart.

Mr. Dumble passed away last Friday evening, at the ripe old age of eighty-three, without pain or suffering, and kindly cared for in his last moments by his children, who deplore his loss. He was an honest man, who, though he carried on public works in these Counties to the extent of nearly half a million of dollars, yet so dealt with all that he never sued anybody, nor was sued by any. Outspoken and plain in his words, he was sometimes a little sharp in his condemnation of what appeared not too square with his sense of right. Yet, withal, his known integrity ever secured him esteem and respect. His disinterested labors in beautifying the town by extensive tree-planting, his labors in beautifying and directing the affairs of the Union Cemetery, of the Company of which he was the President, and his long service in the direction of the affairs of the town, secured for him a place in the grateful remembrance of his fellow-townsman. This was evidenced by the large number who, in one of the most severe storms of the winter, turned out on the occasion of the funeral to render to his remains their last tribute of respect.

We shall see his familiar face no more; but the memory of the good man will not soon pass away.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Regular Alleged Meeting.

A Warm and Wordy Pow-wow—A Long and Unimportant Session—The Town Fathers Set Up their Carriage.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday night. Present,—Messrs. Cahill, McNaughton, Kelly, Paterson, Yelland, Douglass, Rutherford, Menzies and Denne.

On motion, Mr. Menzies, in the absence of the Mayor, took the chair.

A motion to dispense with the reading of the minutes was carried, and Mr. McNaughton demanding the yeas and nays, they were taken as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Cahill, Kelly, Paterson, Douglass—4.

NAYS—Messrs. Rutherford, Denne and McNaughton—3.

COMMUNICATIONS

were read:

From Jos. Valois, asking remission of taxes.—Referred to Charity Committee.

From James Johnson, asking remission of taxes.—Referred to Finance Committee.

From J. Fraser, asking for the usual grant to the Band.—Referred to Finance Committee.

From D. Turcotte, asking remission of statute labor tax.—Granted.

From Mrs. McCabe, asking remission of taxes—Referred to Charity Committee.

An account of T. McGrath, $7.12, repairs to old town hall, was referred to the Town Trust Commissioners.

FINANCE COMMITTE.

Mr. Paterson, chairman, reported, recommending the payment of the following accounts:—R. Pidgeon, $1.00; Geo. Stethem, $9.30; J. Whyte & Co., $2.10.

Report adopted.

MARKET COMMITTEE.

Mr. Denne, in absence of the chairman, read the report of the Market Committee, which stated that the tender of Mr. John Doherty for the lease of the market tolls had been accepted, at the same terms as last year.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Mr. Rutherford, chairman, reported;

That, in accordance with instructions received, the committee had taken steps to get at the amount required for the erection of stable, loft, and bedroom for man; and also, tenders for furnishing team and driver for drawing engine to fires, team also to be kept otherwise employed, for the term of one year.

That the committee, therefore, recommend that the tender of Patrick McNamara, the less amount, in all amounting to $590, be accepted for the erection of the buildings.

That for furnishing team and driver for one year, the tender of Terence Smith be accepted at the full sum of $775, the contract to specify all his duties.

Mr. Rutherford in moving the adoption of the report, seconded by Mr. Denne, made some explanations respecting the course of the negotiations.

Mr. Paterson asked what had been the expense of corporation teaming heretofore?

The Clerk replied that it cost $1,400 last year.

Mr. Rutherford continued, stating that the team could be used on streets in summer and clearing snow in winter.

Mr. McNaughton was in favor of having the team used for drawing the engine alone. He objected to local work, such as watering George street, being done by a general tax.

Mr. Hartley thought we couldn't afford to keep a team for fire purposes alone.

Mr. Cahill enquired if the Council had power to put a building on the site proposed.

Mr. McNaughton said that Mr. Stevenson, one of the Town Trust Commissioners, said that the Council should build no stable on the lot.

Mr. Douglass favored the town purchasing a team of its own.

Mr. Cahill urged the importance of considering the matter of building the the much needed lock-up, at the same time. He favored the securing of the Ontario Bank property and building a woman's market and these buildings together.

Mr. Douglass pointed out that the team could always be depended on at night when it was most required.

Mr. Yelland favored hiring a team the first year at least.

Mr. Kelly thought it better for the town to buy a team.

Mr. Cahill said the question of providing premises for a Council Chamber should be considered along with the present question.

Mr. Rutherford said it had been in contemplation to consider the purchase of the lot now occupied by the old Ontario Bank buildings as a site for Council Chamber and other necessary offices.

Mr. Denne supported the project and held that it would be a wise economy, and one that the condition of the town demanded.

Mr. Cahill moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. McNaughton, that the matter be left over till the next meeting of the Council. He thought no interest would suffer by the delay, while valuable information might be elicited.

The motion to adopt the report was declared carried, and the yeas and nays, demanded by Mr. McNaughton, were taken as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Paterson, Rutherford, Kelly, Yelland, Douglass and Denne—6.

NAYS.—Messrs. Cahill, McNaughton, Hartley—3.

CHARITY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Kelly, in the absence of the chairman, presented the report of the Charity Committee, which recommended that the petitions of Mary Brown and Mary Collins, for remission of taxes be granted, and that the accounts of E. McKiever, $6.34, and R. Wainwright, $3.10, be paid.

Report, except the item referring to Mary Collins, adopted on the following division:

YEAS.—Messrs. Cahill, McNaughton, Kelly, Douglass, Hartley—5.

NAYS.—Messrs. Paterson, Rutherford, Denne and Yelland—4.

TREE PLANTING.

A communication was read from Mr. E. B. Edwards, respecting the Act for planting trees, and suggesting that the Council advertise by tender for trees to be used by the citizens, who could thus secure cheaper trees. It was important that immediate action be taken, so that the drawback provided by the Act could be sooner received.

An account of J. Brook's, $2.20, was ordered to be paid.

A communication of Dr. Fife, recommending J. Campbell for charity was referred to the Charity Committee.

STREET LUMBER.

On motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Hartley, the Street Committee was authorized to advertise for tenders for the supply of lumber required for the streets.

TAX LEGISLATION.

A by-law was passed authorizing the addition of 5 per cent. to the 5 per cent. imposed by the former by-law to all taxes not paid by the 31st of March, and directing the Collector to return his roll by the 14th of April.

There was a great deal of "talk" in the Committee of the Whole, relevant and irrelevant, and an amendment by Mr. Cahill to extend the time so as to make March 31st the 14th of April, and the latter date May 1st, was lost on the following division:

YEAS.—Messrs. Cahill, Kelley, McNaughton, Douglas—4.

NAYS.—Messrs. Paterson, Rutherford, Yelland, Denne and Hartley—5.

The by-law was read a third time and passed.

PRINTING.

Mr. Rutherford, in moving a resolution authorizing the advertising for tenders for doing the printing required by the town, said it was the only fair way, and the Council should adopt it. They were not afraid of the newspapers.

Mr. Cahill, in moving an amendment, said the printing be given out on the same plan as last year; it had been satisfactory, and no one could say that an exorbitant price was paid. He believed in the printer, as well as the printer's devil, getting a fair day's wage for a fair day's work. He said the newspapers sent their reporters here and printed the proceedings free of charge, and some consideration should be felt under the circumstances, and the printers should not be cut down to non-paying prices. He thought it would be in the interest of the town to adhere to the old plan.

Mr. Douglass thought that the prices were more likely to be "cut up" than "cut down" by the plan proposed.

There was considerable discussion on the matter, the speaking being on the co-operative plan—several talking at once—and the amendment was declared carried.

After some talk about street repairs, the Council adjourned amidst great disorder. The adjournment as, nearly as could, in the confusion, be arrived at, was for one month.

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

Campbellford.

The Board of Education have chosen Mr. Ludlow, of Paris, as the headmaster in the place of Mr. Campbell, resigned.

The "Mum" social given by the young men of the C. M. Church, last Friday night, stands without a parallel in the history of socials in Campbellford. There were 900 persons present, and the total receipts amounted to $135.

Omemee.

The Northwest exodus has set in.

Several of the business men have been complaining lately over the want of a bank in Omemee.

The usual annual missionary meeting, in connection with the Presbyterian church in this place, was dispensed with and a collection was taken up for that purpose on Sunday, March 4th. The collection in the three appointments amounted to over $100.

Norwood.

The Register says that Messrs. W. E. Roxburgh and Thos. Rork, who have the contract for suplying twenty-five miles of the Ontario and Quebec railway with ties, report 50,000, out of 70,000 required, as having been delivered along their section.

They have appropriate names for the officers of the Norwood band. The president is a Harper, and the secretary another Harper—J. W.

Millbrook.

It is expected that 400 will start on the Millbrook excursion train to the Northwest next Tuesday.

A fire at Millbrook on Wednesday morning destroyed the premises occupied by the Misses Johnston as a toy store, with the entire contents. No insurance. The building was owned by Mr. Thomas Medd.

Messrs. W. M. Fair, W. H. Armstrong and Mr. J. Porter, have purchased some improved thoroughbred horses, a Stallion, Enterprise, for $2,700; two mares, for $1,000 and $600. Mr. Fair purposes turning his farm into a Stock Raising Farm.

Cobourg.

A meterological station has been established at Victoria Uuniversity.

One of the hotel keepers, in taking up the old netting behind the bar recently, found enough money underneath it to buy a new one.

A grand ball was given under the auspices of the Catholic Association of Cobourg, in the Phœnix Hall, on Easter Monday evening, March 26th.

The reading room of the Cobourg Y. M.C.A. is nearly completed, and will be one of the neatest and most comfortable in the province.

The Sentinel-Star understands Mr. Crossen has received an order from the Credit Valley Railway Co. to build a number of passenger coaches, which for elegance and handsome finish will compare with anything that has been accomplished in car building in this or any other country.

Hastings.

The Star says that a meeting of the ratepayers of the village was held on Friday night to confer with Mr. W. Perry, representing Messrs. R. H. Buchanan & Co., of Montreal, in reference to suitable fire appliances for the village. Mr. Perry's proposal was, that the corporation should purchase a site, with the necessary hydraulic power, for the pump house, erect the building and put in a forty-horse power turbine wheel. This being done, Mr. Perry, for the sum of $3,100 would put in a No. 3 rotary pump—making connection with the wheel—lay 600 feet of 4½ inch cast iron pipe in the bed of the race, and extending westward, erect and connect with the main, four hydrants, provide 2,000 feet of 2½ inch canvas hose, two hose carts, the necessary couplings, wrenches, nozzles, &c., and do all the excavating required. Mr. Perry guarantees to throw an 1½ stream over any building in the village, distant 2,000 feet from either hydrant. Considerable interest was manifest at the meeting, and Messrs. John Peters, J. H. Scriver, T. Hurley, R. Steele, John Walsh and John Coughlin were appointed a committee to select a site, and learn from the Messrs. Fowlds the probable cost of the land and the power required, and report to the Reeve, who will call another meeting to consider the matter.

Port Hope.

Tenders are invited for the Port Hope post office.

The Council has wisely decided to consolidate the town by-laws.

The rite of confirmation was administered by Bishop Sweatman in the local Anglican churches on Sunday.

The choice of chief constable seems to be between applicants from Ottawa and Hamilton. There is every indication of the assistant being a local man.

Two new cars are in process of construction at the railway shops. One is a baggage car, and the other a combination baggage and smoking car.

Mr. Jno. Knowlson, of Lindsay, the owner of the Knowlson Block, Walton street, has taken unto himself another partner for life, although he has passed the age of three-score-and-ten.

A young swell who stood high in the confidence of a respectable family in town, was entrusted with three thousand dollars by the mother to deposit in a bank to her credit. Instead of doing so he pocketed the money. Word has lately been received that he has absconded with his booty, and has escaped the penitentiary for the nonce, on account of other delinquincies as well.

The Trinity College School cricket club held its annual meeting last Friday. The club has been re-inforced this year by a first-class cricketer, so that the prospects for this year are bright. The "Eton of Canada" is what the Mail dubs the school.

Bobcaygeon.

Dr. Bonnell has now passed all danger, and is steadily gaining strength. His hearing is still defective, but hopes are entertained of its ultimate recovery.

Mr. Clarke and his surveying party made a thorough survey of the old dam, and it is understood that on the instructions of the department, made the necessary plans for the new dam. This work is much needed and will give employment to a number of hands.

For some time a party of surveyors under the charge of Mr. Clarke have been engaged in surveying and chaining and sounding and thodoliting and trigonometring and generally going on all along the shores of the lakes from Fenelon to Buckhorn. It was in connection with the Trent Valley Canal improvements, and a very fine map of this section of the waters will be the result of their labours.

The Independent thus cheerfully meanders over the subject of measles:—"Since last week the measles has spread to that extent that the village is now one large measle. The streets, which under ordinary circumstances are almost alive with children, are almost desolate. The children are certeinly a great trouble, an awful worry, a dreadful annoyance; but, heavens! what a barren waste is life without them. They catch on the sleighs, and almost curdle one's blood by the happy, joyous way they play near the horses' hoofs, and the brink of eternity. They change signs, and all manner of deviltry is fun to them. But what of it? life without the youngsters is an aimless existence, is useless, is a story untold, is a blank. Ah, by the way, our sign still gives the lustre of its name to the barber shop. Drat the young imps. What a blessing the measles have got a good hold of them."

Lindsay.

In spite of the unfavorable weather building operations are going on, and a large number of jobs are awaiting favorable weather.

The Post asserts that the matter of forming a canoe club is again talked of. Possibly it may end in talk, but it hopes not. There is material enough in town among our young men to form a good active club. And the boys, too. The boys would be among the most active men in the lot.

A little less of the country store style would make the following item and warning found in the Post unnecessary:—"Drivers of horses should understand that awning posts are not hitching posts, nor to be used as such. A team tied to the awning in front of Mr. J. Kennedy's shop backed out and took the supports of the awning with them. The operation will be repeated at the expense of plate-glass before the lesson is thoroughly learned.

About the heaviest express parcel yet handled in this section, says the Post, was that received on Monday consigned to the paper mill company. It was a new wrought iron shaft to replace one broken in the mill a short time ago. The shaft weighed 900 lbs., and was made at New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, it being impossible to get the forging at a nearer point unless ordered from the Buffalo shops, and that would, of course, have been a violation of the ethics of the immortal N. P.

The Warder:—Willie, a young son, aged 14 years, of Mr. D. S. Carmichael, of the Lindsay paper mill, has been missing since the 9th inst., and so far his parents have been unable to obtain any information of his whereabouts. He is described as being of a light complexion, bright and intelligent, and a boy who is likely to be able to make his way in the world. The latest information that could be obtained of him was that on the morning of the day referred to he was noticed at the Midland depot a few minutes before the Midland train left for Port Hope, but whether he left on the train or not, cannot be determined. Any one who can give any information concerning his whereabouts will confer a favor by leaving it at this office or writing to Mr. Carmichael to the Lindsay post office. Any of our exchanges who can also give any information regarding him will also confer a favor. A description of the lad will be found in our advertising columns. It is very probable he has gone east to Valleyfield or Kingston, where his parents resided, and will either seek work in the cotton mills or on some of the St. Lawrence steamers.

An accident took place lately on one of the railways by the axle of the tender giving way and obstructing the road for some hours. A lady inquired of a fellow passenger the cause of the delay. He gravely replied, 'Madam, it was occasioned by what is often attended by dangerous consequences—the sudden breaking of a tender attatchment.' The lady looked serious, and was silent.

Death of John Desinault.

A Prisoner sent from Lakefield Dies in Peterborough Jail The Inquest —The Verdict.

Last Sunday morning at 1:25, John Desinault, a prisoner, received his discharge at the hands of death. As is customary, an inquest was held to inquire by what means deceased came to an end. Dr. R. W. Bell, Coroner, empanelled a jury, and the inquest began in the south corridor, on Monday at ten o'clock. The facts as developed by the evidence of Messrs. James McWilliams, jailor; H. Nesbitt, turnkey; Dr. Kincaid, jail surgeon; and Benj. Reynolds, a prisoner, are these:—On Thursday last Constable Shields, of Lakefield, delivered to the jailor a prisoner, John Desinault, a Frenchman, who had been committed for being drunk, having fallen into the river and nearly perished. The constable informed the jailor that the prisoner had fallen on the bridge at Lakefield and cut and bruised his face, and, going to the river to wash, had fallen in. On his arrival at the jail, the shivering man's sodden clothing, which he had worn during the nine miles down from Lakefield, was changed for dry prison clothing. The man was unable to stand, and the jailor despatched a messenger for the jail surgeon, who came in the evening. The poor prisoner was absolutely paralyzed from cold, and in spite of the exertions of Dr. Kincaid, who gave him the same attention he would a patient outside the jail, the patient died on Sunday morning at 1-25 o'clock.. Dr. Kincaid, when he considered the case beyond his power, called in Dr. Bingham in consultation, who concurred in the treatment pursued toward the prisoner. Dr. Kincaid considered that the deceased came to his death from the effects of the fall and by being brought from Lakefield to town on a cold day in wet clothing. He condemned the latter act in vigorous and indignant terms. He believed that if prisoner had had dry clothing put on at Lakefield, and been kept warm till reaction from the shock of the immersion set in, he might have been living to-day. The surgeon further expressed the opinion that the wounds on the prisoner's person could not all have been caused by a simple fall. The testimony given all agreed that the unfortunate man had had as good treatment as it was possible to give him, under the circumstances.

VERDICT,

Finding," that John Desinault died on Saturday morning, April 1st, 1883, in the common gaol, of the county of Peterborough: that his death was caused from injuries received by falling and from falling in the river, while suffering from the effects of intoxicating liquor, and remaining in his wet clothes several hours under exposure to cold, thereby producing shock. We are further of the opinion that the hotel-keepers, to whom application was made for his admission to their houses, as also the authorities of Lakefield, under whose notice he came, for subjecting him to exposure, entailed in driving him from Lakefield to Peterborough, a distance of nine miles, without changing his wet clothes, on a cold day, when the evidence shows that he had dry ones in his possession, are guilty of violating the laws of ordinary humanity, and thereby deserving of censure.

Railway Workshops.

The Ottawa Free Press states that it "has ascertained for a certainty that the Midland Railway Company are negotiating for fifteen acres of land on the west side of Bank street as a site for the workshops. The Company have through their agent approached a large land owner of this city and made an offer, which has not yet, however, been accepted." Would it not be well for the Mayor and Council to take steps to secure these shops for Peterborough? It seems that with the present position of the town regarding the Midland Railway, its head office being here, etc., that they would be able by a little thought and action to present inducements that the Company would not be inclined to resist. The importance of the object and the vast advantage which the town would derive from the presence of the workshops, certainly render the attempt worth making. Every citizen, would, we are sure, endorse any reasonable action, to secure this end, which the Council might see fit to take. And now is the time to do whatever is to be done in the matter.

From the experience of the past winter in regard to snow on our sidewalks, it is evident that the "boss" lunatic would be the one who would start a snow shovel factory, and depend on home patronage. He would be the most "left" man in the world.

On Monday a vicious dog attacked a young man named Peter R. Root, on George street, and fastening his fangs in the tail of his coat, retained a large fragment of cloth as a souvenir of his assault. Dogs should be tagged, and owners would then be responsible for their ravages; and if unregistered, they would make good targets for police pistol practice.

The Kingston Whig says that a young woman in Peterborough, thinks she is heiress to the $50,000 per year, said to have been left to a Kingstonian. Who is the lucky lass? There must be some mistake. If such a young lady were here, there are dozens of marriageable young men who would have found her within twenty-four hours, and have wanted to marry her—for love, of course.

OBITUARY.

A sad gloom has been cast over our village by the sudden and untimely death of Mrs. Wm. H. Stephenson, a life-long and much respected resident of Norwood. Though ailing for a fortnight or so, none, not even her medical attendants, thought her illness would result fatally, and up to the day of her death her friends, as well as her physicians, were quite hopeful of her recovery. On Friday afternoon, however, she sank rapidly, and, surrounded by her husband, her sons and daughters, as well as a large circle of relatives, peacefully expired about 8 o'clock on that evening. Her funeral took place on Monday afternoon, and was attended by a very large concourse of sympathizing friends from the district for many miles distant. The shops, as well as other business places, in the village were closed, as a mark of respect to the deceased, while the funeral ceremonies were being performed. Mr. Stephenson and family have the heart-felt sympathy of all classes of people of our village and community in the loss of an affectionate wife and loving mother. Deceased was only in her 43rd year.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

A magistrates' court, composed of Messrs. John Breckenridge, H. Drain and Thos. Rork, J. P's., was held here on Saturday afternoon last, when Mrs. Newall, of Asphodel, was arraigned for shooting at her husband, Samuel Newall, with intent to do bodily harm. Several witnesses were examined and proved the indictment. Samuel Newall, junior, testified that his father and mother had altercations at times, and on Tuesday last he saw his father standing in the door of their house, with an axe in his hand and a stick over his shoulder, and as he was going through the door saw his mother raise a pistol and fire at him, the ball lodging in the door above his head. This evidence was corroborated by the daughter, Matilda Newall. The magistrates, after a short consultation, committed the prisoner to jail to await her trial for the offence at the next competent court.

The Shorthand Profession.

The Shorthand profession, rapidly increasing in numbers and importance, is represented by two Associations; one called the Canadian Shorthand Writers' Association, and the other, the Canadian Shorthand Society. There has been a discussion going on for some time in regard to the amalgamation of these two organizations, and in Bengough's Cosmopolitan Shorthand Writer for March, we find a full report of the discussion which took place in Ottawa, at a large and representative meeting of the profession. The Canadian Shorthand Society was organized last summer, and will receive as guests, on the 16th and 17th August next, the International Congress of Shorthand Writers, for the United States and Canada. This meeting will be by far the largest and most important that has ever been held in Canada, the number of stenographers to be present being estimated at between three and four hundred.

Indigestion and Divorce.

It has been asserted that half of the divorces of the day are due to the fact, that the integrity of the husband's digestive organs are not properly maintained by the presiding genius of the kitchen. Though this may be an exaggeration, there can be no doubt that domestic happiness and the success of a matrimonial enterprise, depends very largely upon the domestic conditions which a wife makes, or neglects to make for her husband. A home that is made attractive by tidiness and good pancakes, will be much more likely to retain the presence of the husband at home, and restrain him from passing his evenings abroad, amidst the unwholesome attractiveness and surroundings of very thinly veneered vice. The beginning of many an estrangement, that has led to separation, divorce or life-long misery, can be traced to the husband coming home to a badly cooked dinner. Reproach begot recrimination "the little rift within the lute" led, by degrees, to the complete collapse of the instrument. The women of Canada are the best cooks and housekeepers in the world, and the consequence, or at least the fact, is, that divorces are as scarce as white blackbirds. The Yankee women of the New England States are noted for their disinclination to domestic "drudgery" and the low status of their cooking capacities, and, we find divorces there as common as marriages. Whether the consequences in the two cases compared, are due to the causes hinted at, cannot be positively asserted. But it cannot be denied that happiness and harmony, and "hubby" and "my darling," cannot exist in a house where the biscuits come on the table, consisting of a circumference of carbon surrounding a centre of lukewarm dough; or the beefsteak an indurated, indigestable, uneatable, tasteless, blackened libel on meat. But in that home, where the husband entering, can drop his hat and gloves where he pleases and no "looks"; where the biscuit is cooked sea foam; where the beefsteak, juicy, red and steaming, sends up an odor that smites him in the pit of the stomach—there is an Elysium: there husband and wife are turtle doves in perpetuity, and a divorce could no more find a place there, than Noah's dove a footing the first fortnight of the freshet.

Tree Planting.

Considering the importance of replacing our forests, whose rapid disappearance has a great and detrimental effect upon the rainfall of the country, and consequently upon its agricultural operations, "The Ontario Tree Planting Act" is a most timely and judicious piece of legislation. The general features of the Act may be gathered from the following summary of its chief provisions. Section four does not apply to any city, town, or incorporated village, unless the council shall pass a by-law making it applicable. Section four is as follows:

Any person owning land adjacent to any highway or to any public street, lane, alley, place or square in this province, may plant trees on the portion thereof contiguous to his land; but no tree shall be so planted that the same is or may become a nuisance in the highway or other public thoroughfare, or obstruct the fair and reasonable use of the same.

Any owner of a farm or lot of land may, with the consent of the owner or owners of adjoining lands, plant trees on the boundary lines of his farm or lot.

Every such tree so planted on any such highway, street, lane, alley, place, or square, shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the lands adjacent to such highway, street, lane, alley, place or square, and nearest to such tree: and every such tree so planted on a boundary line aforesaid shall be deemed to be the common property of the owners of the adjoining farms or lots.

Every tree now growing on either side of any highway in the province shall upon, from and after the passing of this Act be deemed to be the property of the owner of the land adjacent to such highway, and nearest to such tree, shrub, or sapling.

Section five enacts that the council of any municipality may pass a by-law for paying out of municipal funds a bonus or premium not exceeding twenty-five cents for each and every ash, basswood, beech, birch, butternut, cedar, cherry, chestnut, elm, hickory, maple, oak, pine sassafras, spruce, walnut, or whitewood tree, which shall, under the provisions of this Act, be planted within such municipality on any highway or on any boundary line of farms as aforesaid, or within six feet of such boundary.

An inspector of trees has to be appointed to certify to the trees, and printed copies of the by-law of the council have to be posted through the municipality.

Section six gives the duties of the inspector. There must not be less than thirty feet between the trees.

Section seven and eight provides for the recouping to the municipality by the Government of half the amount paid, under authority of section five, the refund to be made on the certificate of the inspector.

Section nine; imposes penalties for fastening animals to the trees or in any way injuring them; the fine is not to exceed $25 and costs, or thirty days.

The township of Hope, just south of us, is the first to take advantage of the Act, and it is to be hoped that their example will be generally followed in this county. A general compliance with the facilities afforded by the Act will result in beautifying our highways at a hardly appreciable expense. The tree-lined highways will break the force of the howling winds, that in winter sweep this country. A medical gentleman in an address before the Forestry Congress held at Montreal last August, says that a "windy climate is a climate of shivers, colds and consumption. Therefore, I say the more trees the less wind, and the more trees the more health." The subject is one in favor of which there can be much said, but it admits of no argument the advantage is all on the side of tree planting. Now is the time for municipalities to take the matter in hand. With prompt action, all arrangements can be completed in time for spring planting.

Editorial Notes.

The death of John Brown, the Queen's Highland gillie, removes a faithful servant, whose fame is world-wide. The fact that he could worry himself into illness over the accident to his mistress is sufficient to distinguish him from the ordinary run of servants.

Mention is made of a new kind of horse-shoe, composed of three thicknesses of cowhide compressed into a steel mould and subjected to a chemical preparation. Said to last longer than the common shoe, weighs only one-fourth as much, requires no caulks, and is very elastic.

The majority of the popular vote in the late election was not on the side of the Tory candidates. The Liberal majorities amount to 10,563, and the Tory majorities 7,390, giving the Reformers a popular majority of upwards of 3,000 votes.

The telephone is a wonderful invention. The distance through which conversation could be carried on by means of this instrument, has been constantly increased with the improvements made until one thousand miles were covered. This feat was recently accomplished by experiments made in New York and Chicago. It certainly suggests the possibility of talking across the Atlantic Ocean at no distant day.

Reports, from parties competent to give a reliable opinion, agree that the winter wheat will come well through the heavy covering of encrusted snow that has hidden it so long. While the snow has not smothered the fall wheat, it has protected it from the alternate thawings and freezings, that have so much effect in winter-killing wheat and lifting clover. April may prove a little dangerous, but it is said that the wheat is now in good condition, green and healthy.

An exchange remarks that we are told the boom is over. Some of us felt very little of it, and can only speak of its termination by hearsay. Protection was proclaimed in 1878. The next was a very bad year. The boom came in 1880, and lasted three years. These were grand years for millionaires and railway men. Why should the boom ever cease? Our Government has a specific against hard times, and should see that they come again no more. Twenty-five per cent, we are assured, was what cured them last time. Why not give the poor country another dose of twenty-five per cent?

The vote of the Quarterly Boards of the Methodist Church of Canada on the question of Methodist Union, shows that 614 Boards have adopted the Basis of Union, and 81 Boards have declared against it, while 10 of the Boards are evenly divided. The analysis of the total vote is as follows:—Toronto Conference, 211 yeas, 16 nays, 3 ties: London Conference, 207 yeas, 22 nays, 1 tie; Montreal Conference, 107 yeas, 27 nays, 4 ties; Nova Scotia Conference, 37 yeas, 12 nays, 1 tie; New Brunswick Conference, 48 yeas, 2 nays, 1 tie: Newfoundland Conference, 4 yeas, 2 nays.

In reference to the late elections, Bystander, the clever monograph written and published by Mr. Goldwin Smith, remarks:—"The Ontario election was a dominion battle fought on a local field: the whole artillery of Ottawa was brought into play, and the fire told heavily on the result. * * The position of the Opposition was weak, for no disclaimers could dissipate the impression, that on the boundary question, its course was controlled, through the head of its party at Ottawa, by French jealousy of the British Province. * * Every party government having a number of retainers to feed and of interests to propitiate, must accumulate in its course, a certain amount of disappointment and disaffection. * * Ten is a working majority in a house of 88; English governments have been carried on with majorities far less in proportion.

THE LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLY QUESTION.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—My excuse for again occupying your valuable space, is not because there is any necessity to offer further proof of my statements, made in previous communications, but owing to the fact that Dr. Caldwell, as a last resort, like a drowning man catching at a straw, after all other means of maintaining his reputation as a strictly upright and perfectly unselfish individual, has failed, has descended to the mean and dishonorable act of trying to injure my business character by suggestive insinuations, in regard to my previous transactions with the Lakefield School Board.

He says he has discovered a "singular error," in the past accounts which he desires the public to believe, was wilfully fraudulent on my part. I may be allowed to state for the information of the public, that in rendering my account to the L. S. B. last year an error of $3.30 was made in my favor, which was not observed by the Board, but subsequently by myself, which I immediately rectified. Dr. C. failed to discover that error but now that his ire is raised against me, he sets himself to work to ferret out discreparcies in my former accounts in order to gratify his spiteful nature. I have, as above stated, detected and rectified one error in those accounts. If the Board can show me any others in which I have unintentionally deprived them of their just rights in my dealings with them, I am ready and willing to make ample restitution. But I will require more than the unsupported statement of Dr. C. to convince me that such an error has occurred.

Dr. C. still maintains that his brother's tender was the lower, notwithstanding the facts to the contrary, and is still harping about the value of the paper. The paper furnished by me was considered by the Board, both in quality and price, entirely suitable for the purpose required. So, his prattle about cheaper and inferior paper, has no bearing on the question. For Dr. C.'s edification I will give the amount of supplies furnished to the Board for the year 1882, which are as follows:—Ink, 7½ gallons; crayons, 12 boxes; foolscap paper, 1½ reams. By applying my tender to those amounts the aggregate cost would be $6.30, those of his brother, $6.71, leaving mine 41 cents, or a trifle over 6 per cent., the lower. With this assistance I hope he will be able to understand this simple mathematical problem. I have never maintained that the amount in consideration was of material interest to me; but the principle involved, the injustice done me, and the selfish motive that actuated the committal of such injustice form the only grounds of my complaint. As he considers that there is but a trifling amount of profit in the supplies, and for such a trifle, he would make himself so officiously partial, what would he not do for a substantial consideration?

He maintains that the testimony in his favor is equal to that in mine, which is logically incorrect. He asks me to state whether the testators in his favor are not as reliable as in mine. I have no desire to make any comparison between them, individually; but the testimony itself is different. Although he has said that Messrs. Wilson and Gordon have stated that he did not make the "remarks" attributed to him; but, in point of fact, the most they could say was that they did not hear him make them, where, on the other hand, I have the distinct statement that the "remarks" were made. So the evidence, although equal in number, is of an entirely different nature: that on his side being only negative, while that in my favor is positive. Dr. C., or any other member of the Board, might make many statements that would not be remembered by any one present, but when statements were made, and positively noted by several reliable individuals, then there can be no question as to their authenticity.

He repeatedly says that he refrained from voting upon one previous occasion, to my advantage. I have taken the trouble to ascertain the truth of this declared favor. I find the fact of the matter is, that before declining to vote in this particular instance, all the members of the Board had intimated how they were going to vote, the chairman voting in my favor, and as he had a second vote, and declared his intention of using it, the result would have been the same had he voted, as he well knew at the time. In the last instance he claims the credit of not voting, but declared his intention, had it come to a vote, to vote; but as there was no voting on the question, consequently he did not vote. So the public will see what a great favor he conferred on me by all this "refraining from voting."

He is anxious about my misconduct to Mr. Galvin. Would it not be more becoming in him to show some anxiety concerning his misconduct to me? I asked Mr. G. as to the truth of those "remarks." I am prepared to take my oath, if necessary, that Mr. G. stated to me that the following "remarks," which I have attributed to Dr. C., were substantially correct, viz: "That his brother could furnish same if desired to do so by the Board;" and, further, if it came to the point, he (Mr. G.) was willing to stand by the truth. At the time that he made those statements to me I had such confidence in his integrity that I deemed it not necessary to have witnesses to prove statements made to me. Not so with Dr. C. He declares he is prepared to prove that Mr. G. made certain statements, which go to prove at least a doubt in his mind that Mr. G. would not stand by his own statements. I am quite willing to allow the public to determine whether I was justified in accepting Mr. G.'s statements as trustworthy or not.

In conclusion, I will say that I have kept to the points at issue throughout this discussion. I was dealt unjustly with by the Lakefield Public School Board, and blame Dr. C. chiefly for receiving such injustice. My reason for so blaming him is the "remarks" he made at the time.

I have now done with this controversy. Dr. Caldwell may continue to to seek sympathy through the public press, but any further quibbling with facts, or abusive and slanderous communications, such as his last, will be treated by me, in the future, with contemptuous indifference. I am, Sir,

Yours respectfully,
T. J. BIRD.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

Five cattle were stolen from the barns of Mr. Tippett, South Monaghan, a few nights ago.

Mr. T. M. Williamson, South Monaghan, went out to his stables the other night to see if things were all right, and was surprised to find the door open and one of his horses bridled. As he came out of the house it is supposed that he frightened the thieves.

SUPPER TO MR. ROBERT FAIR. Last Tuesday evening, at Centreville, Mr. Fair, now of the firm of Fair & VanEvery, Port Hope, was honored by a supper given him by his friends at Atkinson's hotel. The affair was a great success. Over fifty were present, which number would have been largely augmented had it not been for the impassable state of the roads. Mr. Fair is the retiring clerk of South Monaghan Township, and has been long and favourably known in his business connection in that township. Amongst those present were Wm. Rutherford, Reeve of the township; John Lightfoot and L. Byers, Councillors; E. B. Edwards, Peterboro'; J. W. Curry, Millbrook; H. Waddell and T. M. Willan. Letters of regret were read from Mr. Wadsworth, manager Toronto Bank, and Mr. VanEvery. The usual toasts were drunk, interspersed with songs by J. W. Curry, S. Bell and G. Berry. One toast caused considerable amusement, viz:—"The mercantile and manufacturing interests, including cheese." This was responded to by Mr. Willan. Eulogistic references to the "Guest of the evening" were the order. Mr. Fair has a right to feel flattered by the evidence of esteem in which he is held. The company broke up at an early hour, after a thoroughly enjoyable evening. Port Hope Times.

On motion, the Auditor's Report was received and adopted, and the Clerk authorized to procure 200 printed copies of the same for distribution among the ratepayers. Charles Griffin was appointed Pathmaster on beat number nine instead of Alex Brodie. On motion, the Reeve was instructed to draw orders on the Treasurer in favor of the parties named as follows: Peter Hamilton for road scraper for Thomas Nichol's road beat, $6.75; Dennistoun Bros. & Hall, $3.00; W. P. Chase and James Hicks, as auditors, each $2.00; G. Oliver attending land sale for taxes, $6,00. TRUSTWORTHY TESTIMONY

"PROMINENT ENGLISH OPINIONS UPON AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT OF GREAT VALUE TO EVERY READER.

The day for pretenders has passed. Men are judged by what they can do, not by what they say they can do. The reading public of to-day is too discriminating to be long deceived by the spurious. If an article have merit it will become popular; if it is unworthy it will sink into oblivion. For years the people of England and America have put to the severest tests a compound regarding which most ambitious claims have been made. Under such ordeals as it has been subjected to, nearly every known preparation would have failed, but this one did not. In England and the United States to-day, it is the most widely known and popular of all public preparations. In verification of which note the following:

In September last, one of the English forresters of India returned to London, Eng., utterly broken down and debarred from further service by reason of what the examining physicians pronounced incurable kidney disorders, and dropsy. He was comparatively a young man, and felt depressed over the situation. Incidentally learning, however, of the power of Warner's Safe Cure, which has attracted so much attention of late, he began its use. Within three months he was thoroughly restored to health, passed medical examination as a sound man and is to-day discharging his duties as well as ever in the trying climate of India!

J. D. Henry, Esq., a near neighbor of the late Thomas Carlyle, Chelsea, S. W., London, Eng., became very much emaciated from long continued kidney and liver disorders, the treatment he had sought from the vast medical authorities working only temporary results. He then began the use of Warner's Safe Cure, and in May 15th last, declared "I am now feeling physically a new creature. A friend of mine to whom I recommended the Safe Cure for kidney, liver and various diseases, also speaks of it in the highest terms."

R. S. Sowerby, Helensburg N. B., was obliged to relinquish his professional duties because of a severe kidney and liver complaint. After using a dozen bottles of Warner's Safe Cure he says: "I am to-day better than I have been for twenty years and I cheerfully recommend the Safe Cure to all who are suffering from these diseases."

Mr. William Jones, 16 Wellington street, Camborne, Eng., says that he was thoroughly treated in St. Bartholomew's hospital, London, Eng., for urinary disorders and weakness. He used Warner's Safe Cure and he says: "I am like a new man." It cured him of indigestion, troubles of the bowels, excessive urination and nervous prostration. He adds: "I was taking various medicines for over two years from the best doctors, and all in vain, but after taking Warner's Safe Cure for only four weeks, I was brought from death to life."

Mrs. E. Game, 125 Broad street, London, W. Eng., suffered for years from female weakness, skin eruptions and impure blood, but after using Warner's Safe Cure, she says: "My health is better than it has been for years."

H. F. West, Esq., 16 Burton Crescent, W. C., London, from his own experience "strongly recommends Warner's Safe Cure to all persons suffering from kidney and liver complaints, as the best remedy known."

Mr. Henry Maxted, 1 Pennsbury Private Road, Wadsworth Road, London, Eng., was cured by Warner's Safe Cure of enlarged liver which produced numbness in his left leg, with a dead heavy feeling and dizziness on the right side of his head. "I have recommended it," he says, "to several of my friends, most of whom have derived great benefit from it."

Mr. W. Clarkson, Hartington, Villas, Spital, Chesterfield, Eng., used Warner's Safe Cure for liver complaint, dyspepsia, flatulence, vomiting of bile, and mental depression. January 15, 1883, he writes: "After using the eighth bottle I feel better than for many years. It is an invaluable medicine."

Mr. J. Hiscock, station master, Taff Vale railway, Navigation station, was cured of abcess of the kidney, calculus or stone, discharge of pus, etc., by thirteen bottles of Warner's Safe Cure. "I had long and faithfully tried some of the ablest medical men in South Wales, in vain, one of them remarking that medical science has failed to find a remedy for confirmed kidney disease. The Safe Cure dissolved and brought away about two ounces of stone. I can never praise the Safe Cure too highly."

Mr. Robert Patten, New Delaval, Eng., was much overcome by severe inflammation of the bladder. "I had to urinate about every five or ten minutes with great pain and suffering. My water was full of matter and blood. Both kidneys and liver were affected, and in addition I had a bad cough and heart trouble, (all presumably the secondary effect of the kidney and bladder.) He says that after curing his bladder, kidney and liver trouble by Warner's Safe Cure, his "cough and palpitation are quite gone."

William Simpson, Esq., Daughty Mill, Kirkcaldy, N. B., suffered for years from Bright's disease of the kidneys and consequent dropsy. His body was dreadfully swollen. His appetite was fickle, he was full of rheumatic pains, his urine burned in passing and was full of mucous and brick dust sediment; his pulse was weak, his heart was irregular in its action, his breathing was very much impaired, in short he had all the painful symptoms of that dreadful disorder. He spent 17 weeks in the Royal Infirmary, of Edinburgh, under the skill of the best physicians who, having exhausted all agencies at their command, discharged him "as incurable." He says: "I passed water every hour, day and night, having great pain while doing so. It was nearly white as milk, with albumen, and when it stood for an hour, the deposit was a quarter of an inch thick in the bottom of the vessel." When in this desperate condition, he began to use Warner's Safe Cure—the only known specific for Bright's disease of the kidneys. "I have used twelve bottles," he says, and his health is so restored that he adds: "I bless the day when I read that Bright's disease was curable and for so little cost."

The following persons of quality in London and other parts of England, are a few of the thousands who have used and have commended Warner's Safe Cure, the great specific for kidney, liver, urinary, female and brights diseases:

Hon. Freeman H. Morse, 8 Park Villas East, Richmond.

Captain F. L. Norton, Glingall Villa, Lee Road, Blackheath, Kent.

Hon. S. B. Packard, 14 Alexandra Drive, Liverpool.

Hon. A. D. Shaw, United States Consul, Manchester.

The Rev. C. G. Squirrel, Stretton-under-Fosse, Rugby.

Such testimonials, from such unquestionable sources prove the value of this remedy, which is sold in every drug store, beyond the shadow of a doubt. They prove that it is the greatest of all modern medicines for these terrible kidney and liver diseases. What it has done for one it will unquestionably do for others, and as such it commends itself most warmly to public confidence.

MANVERS.

Farewell Address and Presentation.

On Wednesday last Mr. and Mrs. Gillis started for Dakota, and a number of their friends and neighbors took advantage of the opportunity, to present them with the following complimentary address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Gillis:

DEAR FRIENDS,—It is with feelings of regret that we are met here to-night for the purpose of bidding you farewell, as you are about to leave our country in the hope of finding a better home in the great Northwest. Of course, you will meet many warm friends there ready to welcome you, but none, we venture to say, who will be more true to you than those you leave behind in the township of Manvers. There are ties that never can be broken, and those that were near and dear to you once you will not find there—

"Alas! poor hearts, those tones no more
Greet you on this earthly shore:
He is singing, with the blest,
God's sweet hymns of peace and rest."

And now, kind friends, this may be the last time that we will all be together again on this earth, and as a parting token we present to you, Mr. Gillis, this writing desk, and to your worthy partner this album trusting that when you are far away, you will not forget your Manvers friends; and, at the same time, we feel confident we are presenting the best wishes of all your acquaintances for your future prosperity and the happiness of all the members of your family, and that they may grow in grace and abound in every good work.

It, no doubt, seems hard to say good-bye, but nevertheless it must be said as long as we live in this probationary state; but it will not be long before our probation will be ended, and there will be no more farewells.

"We may meet in yonder city
Where the towers of crystal shine;
There its walls are all of jasper,
Built by workmanship Divine.

Signed on behalf of your many friends in Manvers.

GEORGE STAR,
GEORGE WARD.

Manvers, March 16, 1883.

Mr. Gillis made the following reply to the address:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your presents and address, I am almost at a loss what to say. You will, however, permit me to say I thank you, on behalf of myself, Mrs. Gillis and my father, for your beautiful presents. We shall always look upon them as a souvenir of the past, and good will towards us. During the long period we have been amongst you, we believe we have made many friends, and, I make bold to say, that we leave not behind us one single enemy. It is not altogether the value of the presents which we prize so highly, but rather the spirit with which they are given.

Although we are about to remove to the neighbouring republic, it is not our intention to take up our permanent abode there. We intend to return, God willing, to live and die under that great and glorious old flag which every true Briton, every true Canadian, loves to look up to with so much honor and pride.

We thank you heartily for your expressions of regard for our future welfare, and, if at any time, any of you choose to visit us or reside among us, we shall be proud to extend to you that generous and loving hospitality—humble as it may be—which becomes old friends of Manvers. In bidding you adieu, it may be that we shall never all be permitted to meet together again; and, if He who rules the universe, should see fit to order it otherwise, we hope and trust we shall be found standing around the throne, where parting is no more.

A FATAL COAL STOVE.

A FAMILY ASPHIXIATED.

A day or two ago, Alex. Allen, of McNabb street, Hamilton a signalman on the G.W.R. got his arm broken. Subsequently, Hamilton his fifteen-year-old son got his hand smashed at the cotton mill. Friday morning the little seven-year-old girl came down stairs and found her mother and brother dead and her father dying. They were asphyxiated with coal gas from a self feeder stove. There were six of the family, from three years of age up to fifteen. Four young children sleeping up stairs escaped. It is thought the father will not live.

BLEEDING FROM THE LUNGS.

Mr. O. J. Dods of Maple Hill, P.Q., took a severe cold which settled on his chest and brought on bleeding of the lungs. He bled freely and grew so low that his physician gave him up. A good Samaritan brought him some of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam and he continued its use until he got entirely well. In this manner more than any other has the value of this perfect remedy for coughs and cold and all manner of throat and lung diseases, became so widely and favorably known. It is valuable in congestion of the lungs.

A Secret.

The secret of beauty lies in pure blood and good health. Burdock Blood Bitters is the grand key that unlocks all the secretions. It cures all Scrofulous Diseases, acts on the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Skin and Bowels, and brings the bloom of health to the pallid cheek. 14-2t

Remarkable and True.

Alonze Howe, of Tweed, was cured of a fever sore of thirty-five years' duration, by six bottles of Budock Blood Bitters. He had suffered terribly, and tried many remedies in vain. He considers Burdock Blood Bitters a marvellous medicine. 14-2t

A Hearty Recommendation.

Jacob A. Empey, of Cannamore, states that he has taken Burdock Blood Bitters with great benefit in lingering complaint, and adds that he would gladly recommend it to all. 14-2t

A NEW PRINCIPLE.—The principle upon which Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor act is entirely new. It does not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separates it from the under layer, removes the direct pressure from the part, and at once effects a radical cure without any pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet skeptical of treatment, try it, and by the completeness of the cure, they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others. N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Proprietors.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.—The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter Chapped Hands Chilblains, Corns, and all skin Eruptions, and Positively cures Piles. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By Taylor & McDonald. 44 tf

Nothing can supply the place of a beautiful silky head of natural hair. It is infinitely more comfortable than switches, and other preparations on the hair of unknown foreigners. Hair may be retained beautified, and actually restored by the use of Cingalese Hair Renewer. Sold at 50 cents per bottle by all Druggists. 11-8t.

The worst Scrofulous Sores, the most indolent Tumor, and the most foul Ulcer known, may be cured by the combined use of Burdock Blood Bitters and Burdock Healing Ointment. Ask your druggist for these infallible remedies. 14-2t

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 5, 1883.

More Consistency.

Our good contemporary, the Review, indulges in merriment over the discovery of a mare's nest, in a letter published in the Port Hope Guide, respecting the Muskoka election. The Guide's correspondent, while in the main striking the truth, was palpably astray as to the part taken in the election by Mr. John Boyd, and yet this paragraph, which charges this gentleman with working to secure Mr. Bettes' defeat, and which our contemporary knows to be misleading and untrue, is the very one on which it founds a homily on improper influence by the Mowat Administration. That the Review should, in the face of facts, and with a consciousness of guilt on behalf of its party, presume to mention improper influences in connection with the above election is the sublimity of cheek. If the EXAMINER wanted to use the tu quoque argument, we might inquire if it was unadulterated patriotism that led the Mayor of this town to neglect his duties and ply his vocation of organizer-general of the Tory party and bull-doze the electors into voting for the Tory candidate? Whether it was in discharge of the regular duties of his position that a local Dominion official spent a week in missionary work in Muskoka? Would another prominent Tory politician ordinarily make a trip to Muskoka "to see the country" with six feet of snow on the ground, and feel so ashamed of his land hunt, that he would distribute lying fly-sheets under the name of "McIntyre"? Did these gentlemen really buy cattle, or was "cattle" a term in keeping with the Mail's polished style, used to denote the free and independent electors of the unorganized district? The tactics employed in this contest were without doubt the acme of political rascality. Yet, the editor of the Review, reasoning from premises he knows to be false, tries to fix a charge of corruption on the Local Government. As a sample of consistency the action referred to is in keeping with the role of the editor that scattered through Ennismore, last June, fly-sheets lauding John O'Donoghue to the skies, and denounced him as a Fenian in 1874. Our contemporary, when there is crooked work to be done, is always equal to the occasion.

The Railway Commission.

Mr. Dalton McCarthy is not a sordid soul. He seeks no ordinary dollars and cents as a quid pro quo. His ambition would be satisfied with a railway-commissionership. For the last two sessions he has been trying to squeeze a measure through Parliament to constitute a court for dealing with railways. As proposed this court is to consist of a lawyer—Mr. McCarthy—a railway man, and a man of common sense, which latter is the redeeming feature of an otherwise unnecessary, and to railways, vexatious measure. It is impossible to estimate what benefit railways have been in the development of almost every commercial and industrial interest in the country, and the extinction of our railway system would mean a retrogression of half a century. And Mr. McCarthy's bill, in its working would have an effect, different only in degree. Railways would be hampered in their working by having their management made subject to the supervision of incompetent and inexperienced men, without representative responsibility, and no great public benefit, commensurate with the repression of railway enterprise, and the expense of the commission, would follow. Mr. McCarthy, as a protectionist, affects to believe in fostering and encouraging native industries, yet his proposed commission will tend to embarrass the most important and indispensable industries of the country. The action of the commission would necessarily be arbitrary for the circumstances, and interests of different railway lines, vary so widely that the supervision could not be reduced to any rule applicable to all alike. The fact that the business men of the country of every class, as a rule, and whose interests are directly affected by railways, are alarmed at the proposal, and uniting to secure the defeat of the bill is a most practical condemnation of it. Mr. Dalton McCarthy's view of the matter with a snug and profitable berth in prospect, is one thing, and the view of those whose vested rights are threatened is another.

Trent Valley Canal.

It is to be feared that the Trent Valley Canal will not be completed in 1893; the lumber that was ordered while the late local elections were pending by a quasi contractor at Buckhorn, to build sheds, has not yet been delivered, and will greatly delay the undertaking. The action of the Government shows that there is no real intention to proceed with the work as though they meant to have it completed. True, last session the sum of $246,000 was placed in the estimates, and contracts ostensibly let "for the construction of locks and the improvement of navigation between Lakefield and Balsam Lake. One would have thought that this year, with a gigantic surplus on hand, wrung from the people's pockets, that a bona fide appropriation would be made to show that there was an intention of completing the work. But instead of that there is simply a re-vote of the appropriation. Patching dams and slides at Buckhorn and Burleigh and Fenelon Falls won't constitute the Trent Valley Canal. If the Government was in earnest, would so much time be lost and fooled away? The canal scheme is practicable. We want the canal; but it will never be built as long as its construction is trusted to Government promises. Whatever expenditure there has been on the scheme is properly chargeable to capital (political) account, and this is the explanation of all the delay and all the trifling with this important work.

Don't fail to see Hall, Innes & Co's exhibit of Spring Millinery on Tuesday and Wednesday, 10th and 11th April.

Keeping a Good Thing.

When the Tories have found a good thing, they not only make a note of it, but stick to it. Doubtless they have felt the beneficial effects, in a party sense, of the contributions of contractors to Conservative election funds, and they are bound not to give up so valuable an aid. On the third reading of Mr. Casgrain's Anti-Corruption Bill, in the House of Commons, the Tory majority voted down, with electric promptitude, the clause making it an offence for a Government contractor to subscribe to a corruption fund. The clause provided for imprisonment for the offence, and, we suppose the Tories, with their proverbial patriotism, not wishing to see the operations on Government works brought to a standstill by the imprisonment of Government contractors, loyally voted against the clause. Beside, it might "play the deuce" with the fund which enables the Tories to petition, so prodigally, against the return of Reform members-elect of the Local Legislature, and might cripple the party in purchasing a seat if the courts should declare it void. It is interesting to note that our local representatives are still loyal to the principles of corruption; Mr. Hilliard recorded his vote against the clause, and Mr. Burnham's name does not appear on the division list.

Dr. Tupper's Retirement.

It is settled that Dr. Tupper, Minister of Railways and Canals, is to retire from the Dominion Cabinet. The reason given by his friends is that he needs "rest," and it is rumoured that he is to "rest" in England at a salary of $15,000 per year, as the successor of Sir A. T. Galt. But probably the real reason of his retiring from the Cabinet is because he is ambitious, and he has refused to "fling away the ambition" to supplant Sir John, as leader of the Tory party, and, so, Sir John has transplanted him. But there may be another reason for his retirement. Sir John, in a speech at Clifton, denied that he had ever been guilty of an unclean or disreputable political act; he had always been pure, and insisted on his ministers being so too. He said:

"If ever there had been a suspicion, or a doubt, or a charge to the contrary—and sometimes there had been charges—he had investigated the matter to the bottom, and sometimes they might have seen that Ministers had disappeared from his Government."

Sir Charles Tupper, whose reputation for political purity is not of the highest or most unselfish nature, is about to "disappear from his (Sir John's) Government." Is the natural inference sufficient to account for Sir Charles Tupper's retirement? With all his faults Dr. Tupper is an able man, and Sir John will not easily find a man to fill the shoes of his Minister of Railways, but at the same time, it is consolatory to reflect that Dr. Tupper's retirement will not diminish to any alarming extent the sum total of political morality in Canada.

Editorial Notes.

WOULD the Review kindly use its influence with the central corruption committee of the Tory party, if it can be done without breach of confidence, to induce it to favor the public with the instructions that enabled the assessor of North Monaghan to get the "thing down" so exceedingly "fine" that the property of Mr. Alex. Robertson, a good Reformer, was assessed at $198.00? It may be remarked, though of course it could have no connection with the assessment, that the amount lacks two dollars of making a Reform vote.

How is this for the evening reprint of a journal, the organ of a party, which has asserted that with the N.P. hard times would come again no more? The Evening News, an evening reprint of the Toronto Mail, says:

"The number of failures among the business houses of Canada's commercial centres indicates a very alarming state of trade. The News has been pointing out the trouble for weeks past, and though the commercial agencies have been exceedingly reticent, no effort has been spared to conceal the real state of affairs, failure after failure among wholesale houses has given warning of the approaching storm. The crisis is not generally expected till next fall and the following spring, but there is every reason to believe that the first flow of the tidal wave is already upon us."

The Mail, Review, and other Tory journals are weeping over the fact that the Peterborough registrarship is still vacant, but they have a funeral of their own to attend to. The collectorship of customs at Napanee has been vacant nearly a year. Lennox has half an interest in Sir John as a representative, and therefore to these organs there is nothing wrong in keeping this office "dangling" before the electors about four times as long as the registry office has been without an appointee. In the Napanee case it is not improbable that the Premier contemplates resigning his half interest in Lennox, and thinks the collectorship will be equal to a whole government contractor in the event of a new election.

PERSONAL.

Mr. G. S. Ostrom, a former resident and business man of Peterborough, and now representing a Chicago firm, is in town for a visit.

Rev. E. P. Hammond, the evangelist, who visited Peterborough in the winter of 1881, has joined forces with Rev. T. Dewitt Talmage in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mr. James W. Fisher, of Bailliboro, is to be congratulated on having passed the "final" at the late examination at the Veterinary College, in Toronto, and securing with credit his degree of V. S.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Edward Crevier, of the firm of Crevier & Paquin, has passed a most successful examination at the Montreal Veterinary College. He captured no less than five prizes. We give our congratulations.

Mr. Orin. Dixon, Peterborough's own ventriloquist, returned home from his professional winter tour on Tuesday night. He is in excellent health, and has had a most successful season. He will remain in town a fortnight, and then depart to fulfil an engagement with P. T. Barnum, at a greatly increased salary.

Mr. John Crerar, M. A., whose many friends in Peterborough, THE EXAMINER included, will be pleased to hear of his success, was recently elected Mayor of Minnedosa, North West Territories, by acclamation. Mr. Crerar, is a gentleman of excellent ability and we are sure he is, in every way, fitted to fulfil the responsibilities of his new position. He has already represented the county in the legislature, and this last tribute to his worth and ability, is one which honors, both the givers and the recipient.

The many friends of Dr. Hourigan in the county of Peterborough, will regret to learn of his intention of leaving our town. We understand that he has received much encouragement to enter into the practice of his profession at Zilwawkee, Michigan. The doctor is an old Peterborough boy, who distinguished himself as a pupil in our Collegiate Institute, and who added much credit to our school by his success in the university of Toronto, and by his unusually brilliant career as a medical student in Queen's University, Kingston, from which latter institution he graduated with great distinction. For several years he has been a trustee of the R. C. Separate School in our town, the duties of which position he fulfilled with benefit to his trust and credit to himself. During stay in Peterborough he gained the esteem of his professional brethren for his genuine worth and his unassuming manner. The sick who had the good fortune to receive his attention as a physician, have always had reason to speak in the highest terms of praise of his ability and skill. We wish the doctor all the prosperity in his new home which his skill and learning entitle him to.

Sir Leonard's Budget Speech!

Mr. Paterson's Brilliant Reply.

In his Budget speech delivered last Friday, Sir Leonard Tilley said that the total revenue for the current year would be about $34,850,000, and the ordinary expenditure about $28,000,000, leaving a surplus of $6,000,000. Owing to the proposed reduction in Customs and Excise duties, he estimates that the country will lose about $1,500,000, of revenue next year, and that for the fiscal year, 1883-84, the revenue will be $33,350,000, and the expenditure 30,350,000, leaving an estimated surplus of 3,000,000. The duty on imported tobacco has been reduced from 25c, to 20c, and the excise duty on tobacco manufactured in Canada from imported leaf, is reduced from 20c. to 12c. per pound. The excise duty on tobacco manufactured from native grown leaf is reduced to two cents. The duty on cigars is to be increased. The demand of the manufacturers of agricultural implements, that the monopoly of Manitoba and the North-West market shall be secured to them, is to be acceded to, and the duty upon agricultural implements, specific and ad valorem, has been increased to thirty-five per cent. An effort is to be made to force the manufacture of iron in Canada, and a bounty of $1 50 is to be paid for the next three years upon every ton of pig iron produced in Canada.

MR. PATTERSON'S REPLY.

Mr. Paterson of Brant, on rising to reply was heartly applauded by the Opposition. After a few words of introduction he went on to speak of the expenditure of the Finance Minister. He said he knew, and the House and the country knew, that there had been a great increase of expenditure during the past year. Sir Leonard Tilley had, therefore, found it necessary to make many explanations, and to say a great deal in justification of that increase. He (Mr. Paterson) admitted that in some cases he was not altogether unsuccessful in showing that the increase of the expenditure had been followed by corresponding increase of revenue. Money spent in improving railways and canals, and making them more effective, was money well invested, but in reading the elaborate explanations of the Finance Minister, plain people were apt to get bewildered. They could not see why it was necessary to explain away figures taken from public documents. They wanted statements that they could examine themselves and draw their own conclusions from without the aid of a member of the Government. It would be his duty, Mr. Paterson said, to furnish them with those figures and statements. He would apply to them the rules of criticism used by members of the Government when they were in Opposition. The circumstances were the same under both Governments, and what was a justification now was a justification then. He would use the figures supplied him by the official documents

INCREASED EXPENDITURES.

The men now in power had, from 1867 to 1874, increased expenditures from $13,000,000 to $23,000,000, while their successors had increased the expenditure in the five years of their administration from $23,000,000 to $24,000,000, or something more than $1,000,000. The same explanation would be applicable, and the same circumstances were in operation, then as now. The present Government had, in their five years of power, increased the expenditure from $24,000,000 to, taking the estimates before the House, $30,259,000, or an increase of over $6,000,000 in the ordinary expenses of Government. This expenditure the members of the present Government when in Opposition declared was as much under the control of the Administration as their own household expenses. Mr. Mackenzie found this controlable expenditure $8,324,000, and he, by rigid economy reduced it to $8,941,340. In 1878 the present Government had found the controlable expenditure at this figure, and had increased it already to $10,073,015, which was an increase of over $3,000,000. These, Mr. Paterson averred, were figures which no one could go behind, nor could any one dispute their accuracy. He then went on to show that there was a large increase in every department of the Government, giving the figures. In the item of Contingencies, the present Government had spent thousands where their predecessors had spent hundreds. He instanced the increase in the Militia Department. In the article of cab hire alone the Ministers had spent $506, which, he said, was an exceedingly bad example to the force. When speaking of the increase for emigration he reminded his hearers of the boast that had been made, when the Syndicate bargain was under discussion, that the new company would expend large sums in settling their lands, and would thus take upon themselves part of the expense of the Emigration Department; but, if he was rightly informed, the Canada Pacific Railway Company had not spent a single dollar to aid emigration to the Northwest, and the legitimate conclusion was that a huge part of the money asked for by the Government for the Emigration Department was for the purpose of assisting syndicates. The cost of the Indian Department the Government had greatly increased. This, if properly expended, was justifiable, for it was of the greatest importance to have the Indians contented and peaceable. In the Customs administration he noted the increase of $59,729, which he was not prepared to say was not fairly justified, for the Minister of Customs had proven his ability to keep within the lines he marked out for others better than any other Minister. The same could not be said of Excise, however, for although there was no more revenue to be collected, and no more work to be done, there was an increase of $77,316 in the cost of carrying on the Department, or one-third more than the previous year. Now that the Ontario elections were over he trusted that the Minister of Inland revenue would devote his attention to reducing that expenditure. As for increases in the Post-office Department, he admitted that, with a rapidly opening country to overtake with postal facilities, there was some justification for the Finance Minister's plea in favor of that increase.

THE WORKING OF THE TARIFF.

As to the result of the working of the tariff as between Great Britain and the United States, for which the Finance Minister claimed credit, he said that the Minister, by taking certain years, had made out an apparent case for himself. He suggested that, instead of going back for 5 years, they should compare last year with this year, and they would see that the Finance Minister's conclusions were not carried out. He quoted the trade returns to show that while in 1881 Canada imported from Great Britain about $50,000,000 worth, in 1882 she imported from the other country only $43,000,000, a decrease of $7,000,000. From the United States, in 1882, Canada imported forty-eight millions as against thirty six millions in 1881, an increase of eleven millions; and while, in the same time, the duties charged on British goods had been increased from 15 to 20 per cent, those on American goods had remained at 15 per cent. Sir Leonard Tilley interrupted at this point, to press upon Mr. Paterson the necessity of comparing with 1878, but Mr. Paterson intimated that that had nothing to do with the point under discussion. If it was any comfort to the Finance Minister, speaking for himself, he would say that he had never attached importance to the question where the importations came from. He recognized that, while we borrowed from England, while her flag floated over us, and while her army and navy were ready to guard us, there were sentimental reasons for desiring to maintain trade with her, but trade was not guided altogether by sentimental considerations. He recognized the greatness of the United States and the value to Canada of trade with that nation, seeing that Americans took 48 millions of our products, sending gold, or as good as gold, in return.

THE BALANCE OF TRADE.

The speaker expressed sympathy for Sir Leonard Tilley in his effort to deal with the balance of the trade, because it was quite evident that he felt himself to be in a place too tight for him. Two years ago, the Government having for one year succeeded in getting exports more than imports, Sir Leonard Tilley had glorified the achievement, and no doubt at his direction, the Commissioner of Customs had introduced the statement of the fact into his report. Next year, however, the balance was the other way and the Commissioner mentioned this fact very gingerly. Now, however, that the case was hopelessly the other way the Commissioner forgot to mention it at all. (Cheers and laughter.) He quoted from a speech of Sir Leonard Tilley at the Conservative Convention, November 24th, 1881, in Toronto, where he glorified the Government for securing what he called a favourable balance of trade, and declared that when imports exceeded exports, poverty stared us in the face. This year he noticed that Sir Leonard Tilley tried to smooth matters over by saying that in the last four years the balance was only $8,000,000 against us, but going behind so rapidly as we were, according to the Finance Minister himself, poverty was staring us in the face. He quoted trade figures showing that there had been always, except one year, this "balance of trade" against us, and referring to the case of England to show that the mere fact of a balance of imports over exports could not be proof that the nation was growing poorer. He went on to show that there was an actual reduction of the exports of Canadian goods. Everything bore an appearance which would compel members to have a retraction of Sir Leonard Tilley's former utterances before they could accept his statement of to-day, that never was the Dominion in a more prosperous condition than now. Referring to Sir Leonard Tilley's attempt to explain away this matter by referring to the receipts of the ports and for shipping, he pointed out that if this was true now, it was none the less true in 1879. If the imports were of a nature to be used in developing resources, and so making more money, it would not be fair to count the cost of them as part of the adverse balance of trade, but he regretted that the Finance Minister had claimed credit for the fact that a large portion of increased imports were clothing and other goods to be used or consumed, and adding nothing to the permanent wealth of the country. He next took up Sir Leonard Tilley's pretence that the prosperity of the country was due to the N. P. He admitted gladly that Ontario at least, from which he (Mr. Paterson) came, and about which he knew the most, was in a prosperous condition. He had hoped that Sir Leonard Tilley would depart a little from their policy of the last few years of boasting of the present prosperity as their own production. He referred to the statement in the sessions special, from the throne giving thanks to the giver of all good for our prosperity, and noticed that the very Ministers who had put those words into the mouth of the Governor-General seemed, as soon as they spoke in the House of Commons, to be wholly bent on arrogating to themselves all the credit some part of which they had before been willing to concede to Providence. This year even the formal acknowledgment to the giver of all good seemed to be denied, and the Finance Minister came forward and asked the people to bow to Him as their sole benefactor.

CAUSES OF PROSPERITY.

As proof that the country was prosperous, and that prosperity extended to the working classes, the Finance Minister had quoted the increased deposits in the savings banks, but, for his own part, he could not see that these figures should be accepted as conclusive proof of that fact. In proof of how misleading these figures might be, he quoted returns for several years, to show that the deposits in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island, had been equal to those in Ontario and Quebec, with four times their population. He thought it surely would not be contended that the workingmen in the Maritime Provinces were four times as prosperous as their brethern in the west. He noticed that when beaten in fair argument and compelled to abandon their contention that the prosperity had resulted from the National Policy members on the Government side turned away with a knowing and self-satisfied smile, because, as one of them had said the National Policy and good times were co-incident. This statement he entirely denied, and accepting Sir Leonard Tilley's idea of stocks as a fair indication of prosperity, he pointed out that one year after the Mackenzie Government was beaten, and months after the National Policy was introduced, there had been a decided fall in the price of stocks from the prices of the year before. Among the cases he quoted were: Commerce, from 113½, on 12th September, 1778, to 112½ on 11th September, 1879; Montreal from 170½ to 160; Canada Permanent from 181 to 172. As to the statement that the credit of Canada had advanced 12 per cent., as shown by the increased sale of her bonds, he quoted reports to show that the United States bonds in the same time had advanced 20 per cent. He attributed the rise in Canadian stocks to a glutted money market in England, and to the fact that Canadians were known as men jealous of their public credit, and willing as well as able, to pay their debts. Financially Sir Leonard Tilley had been able to point to diminished importation, but now records showed a decided falling off of Canadian manufactured goods. On this point he read a series of tables to show that the export of books had fallen off 21½ per cent., as compared with the last year of Mackenzie's Administration; brass and manufactures of the same, 221 per cent.; carpets, 63 per cent.; cottons, 51 per cent.; and other goods in proportion. If, as Sir Leonard Tilley claimed, prosperity was dependent upon the increase of exports of manufactured goods, surely the theory that poverty stared us in the face must be applicable in this case. Going on to account for the prosperity, he showed by figures that the exports of the natural products had increased from $80,000,000 to $90,000,000. The aggregate of increase, for three years, being no less than $30,000,000, and he thought it required no prophet, or financial genius, to see that prosperity must follow such an influx of gold. Lumber had, in the last three years, brought some twenty-six millions of dollars more into the country than in the previous three years. The Finance Minister could not claim that he caused the demand for lumber to be briaker, or its price higher in the markets of Great Britain and the United States. Animals and their produce had for the same period brought about seventeen millions more into the country than in the same period of years in the time of depression. The Finance Minister would not assert that it was owing to the benign influence which he exercised, that more butter and cheese were produced in Canada since the establishment of the National Policy, than for the three years before that event. The value of the export of agricultural produce had increased by more than $15,000,000, and the Finance Minister could not say that he caused the rain to fall, and the sun to to shine, and the earth to yield its increase during these years; nor was it owing to his influence that the lands of the Old Country were deluged and its growing crops destroyed, thus making a demand for the produce of Canadian farms on the other side of the Atlantic. The Finance Minister had said last year that the increase of exports had not been the cause of the increased prosperity of the Dominion, and made some elaborate, but delusive, calculation to prove that assertion; but it was impossible that sixty millions of dollars could come into the country, more than for a similar period in the years previous, without greatly increasing the purchasing power of the people. It was folly to say that the country was not richer when the export of lumber had increased and fields had produced more abundantly than in former years.

THE FINANCE MINISTER'S CLAIMS.

The Finance Minister laid claims to giving enhanced value to the produce of the farm. Wheat was high that did it —and animals had increased in value. It was his work. Allowing all this was the case, and giving him all the power he claimed to exercise, how was it that he went to sleep during the the past summer and allowed the prices of farm produce to go down? Wheat fell, barley went down, the price of butter and cheese were lowered. Sir Leonard Tilley was derelict in his duty when he allowed prices to go down in this way, as he had the power to keep them up. The price of lumber, too, had gone down, owing, no doubt to the carelessness of the Finance Minister. He had arrogated to himself the power of keeping up prices, and of giving markets to farmers and lumberers, and when the one went down and the others were closed, the blame should be laid at his door. It was boasted that the National Policy would give a home market to Canadian commodities of all kinds, particularly to perishable articles of farm produce, but the result had been that Canadian farmers had been obliged to go to a foreign market to dispose of more of his surplus produce than ever he did before. There had been an increase of export of beef, pork, cattle, sheep, butter, cheese, and eggs, during the last three years—farmers had even to go abroad for a market for their chickens, their green fruit, and their potatoes. This showed that the home market had not been created according to promise. Farmers had not, Mr. Patterson contended, been benefitted by the home market, for the price of wheat and flour, in the Maritime Provinces, for these articles were lower than in the foreign market.

THE SURPLUS.

With regard to the surplus, Mr. Paterson quoted the saying of Sir Charles Tupper when Mr. Mackenzie had a surplus of $500,000, that the Government had no right to have a surplus, and if it had it should get rid of it as soon as possible, by lightening the taxes, on the people. The Minister of Finance, too, has promised that when the surplus has increased to an aggregate of $3,000,000, he would only be too glad to relieve the people of taxation. But there had been not $3,000,000, but $10,000,000, of a surplus during the last four years, and still the grinding system of taxation was kept up. There was no easing of the burden on the necessaries of life. Here was a paltry reduction, half of which was in taxation. He would let the supporters of the Government judge between Sir Charles Tupper on the matter of the surplus and the Minister of Finance. He would, however, given Sir Leonard Tilley credit for doing his best to make the expenditure of the country keep pace with his grinding taxation. But he must not expect to get credit for being an exact calculator or for having been able to see the results of his own policy. He has made a mistake with regard to the tax-producing power of his tariff which, if applied to the revenue of Great Britain would be equal to £8,200,000. What would be thought of a British Chancellor of the Exchequer who would make so gross a miscalculation? This money was not furnished by the Government. If they paid it they might claim some credit for generosity, but they put their hands in the pocket of the producers of the Dominion, and had taken it from them. It was easy for them, backed by the power of an Act of Parliament, to do this, but the time might come when they would not be able to take such immense sums from the people.

THE NOTE OF WARNING

The note of warning had already been sounded. Financial papers had hindered people from overloading, and even one of the organs of the Government, the Montreal Gazette, had said that danger was at hand, and that the cycle of commercial depression would be certain to come, and that, perhaps, before long. He was surprised at the editor of the Gazette, showing his infidelity to the Finance Minister. He should remember that he loved to shield the Dominion from harm, and that, although depression might come to every country in the civilized world, it could not, as long as he existed, visit the Dominion of Canada; but it was just possible that the evil days might come in spite of the protecting care of the Finance Minister. When the day of distress comes, Liberals would have the satisfaction of seeing the principles they had advocated proven to be right, and though the Minister of Finance might have a majority at his back in the House, he would know that the people of the country who had trusted him were aware of his shallowness and of the quackery by which he had proposed to cure the ills of the body politic. This, he insisted, was not a question of protection and free trade, and he had not discussed it as such. It never could be such, for even under the Mackenzie régime protection was granted to the manufacturers under a tariff for revenue purposes, and while under that far-sighted policy and by the encouragement and assistance given to them to show goods at great world's fairs, manufactories had been established and were prospering, so that their goods were known in all parts of the world. As soon as the present Government came into power the exports of the manufactures began to decline, and in three years fell off $2,500,000. He noticed the boast of the Finance Minister that he had a majority of two to one at his back, but thought that might have been spared, in view of the fact that the Minister had been one of the chiefs of a plot by which he and his followers had succeeded in so cutting and carving constituencies in Ontario as to enable them to have their own nominees elected. He proudly declared that those in opposition would rather remain forever a small body on the left of the Speaker, than obtain power through the success of a conspiracy.

Mr. White (Cardwell) was the next speaker. He opened with the remark that Mr. Paterson seemed to have occupied himself in answering the budget speeches of the last year and the year before, rather than that of this year. He contended also that the Government did not owe its majority to Gerrymandering, because the majority had been secured in Provinces not affected by the Gerrymander, where some of the great chiefs of the gentlemen on the left of the Speaker were defeated. He detended the increase in the expenditure on the ground that the proportion of increase was smaller than the proportion of the cost of collecting the revenue; while under the Mackenzie Government, he held, not only had revenue decreased but the cost of collection had increased in a very large proportion. He elaborated this point at some length, and dwelt upon the increase of imports of raw material, as showing that factories were busy. The sugar question was dealt with at some length, and a large mass of figures quoted to show that, not only had the manufacture of this article been transferred to Canada, but the cost of sugar to the consumer was not enhanced by the duty. He moved the adjournment of the debate.

The House adjourned at 1:20.

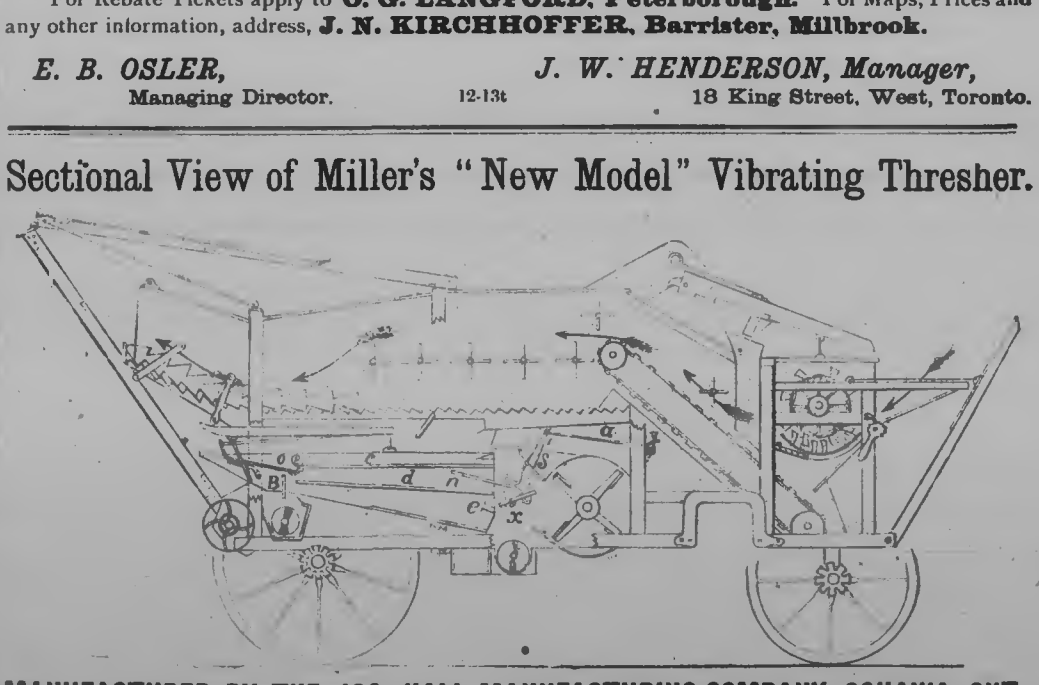
Sectional View of Miller's "New Model" Vibrating Thresher.



MANUFACTURED BY THE JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, OSHAWA, ONT.

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

Descriptive Circulars, giving full information, sent free to all applicants.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Joe. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly
JOHN McDONALD.

ORR, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR, I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they had ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament First Session.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28.

The House of Commons resumed the session after the Easter holidays this afternoon about 3.30 o'clock.

Sir Charles Tupper moved to introduce a bill to make a verbal alteration in the bill creating the department of Railways and Canals.

Mr. Ross (Middlesex) moved a resolution declaring it desirable, as near the close of each financial year as possible, to publish a digest of the departmental reports. In support of the motion he pointed that the reports were got out at great expense, the trade and navigation returns, costing as much as $2.50 per volume. Some reports he characterized as well prepared, while others were not so well arranged. One of the great difficulties was the bulk of the present volumes and the large mass of details they contained.

Mr. Bowell said there was no doubt that if the information was compiled in the way suggested it would be of great service, but he questioned very much whether it could be done at a reasonable expense.

Sir Leonard Tilley stated that the Government had had some communication with the head of the statistical department in England regarding the expense of establishing a bureau of statistics. It would cause considerable expense, but the Government had not given up the project of establishing such a bureau, which he thought would be better than Mr. Ross' proposition, as it would enable returns to be given quarterly or even monthly.

In view of the statement made by the Minister, Mr. Ross expressed himself willing to withdraw the motion.

Mr. Casgrain moved that the House go into committee on the bill to prevent fraud in the letting of public contracts.—Carried.

In committee,

Mr. Ross moved that the bill be amended by inserting the clause rejected by the special committe, that Government contractors shall not spend money to assist elections.

Of course the motion was lost by the usual Government majority, Mr. Hilliard voting with the majority in favor of electoral corruption. Mr. Burnham's name does not appear in the division list.

THURSDAY.

In the Commons to-day after routine a bill in reference to criminal procedure came up for consideration. The bill makes changes in the law of evidence, permitting in cases of misdemeanor, the wife to give evidence in favor of the husband, as well as other changes. The bill was read a second time and its third reading fixed for Friday.

Mr. Shakespere moved a resolution, declaring it expedient to enact a law restricting the prevention of an influx of Chinese. The undesirability of the Chinese as citizens was shown and, on motion the debate was adjourned.

The report of the Department of the Interior, as well as several returns, was presented and the House adjourned.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

The report of the Department of the Interior asserts that the condition of the population under the jurisdiction of the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Territories is highly satisfactory. The following is a summary of the business of the Dominion Land Agencies:

	Acres. 1882.	Acres. 1881.
Homesteads	1,181,652	438,707
Pre-emptions	904,211	283,647
Sales	613,282	355,165
Total	2,699,145	1,057,519
	1881.	1882.
Homestead fees	$ 28,330	$ 72,930
Pre-emption fees	16,855	54,499
Cash on account of land sales	176,566	1,347,935
Timber, mining and grazing receipts	44,504	85,984
Registration and other fees	1,639	2,227
Scrip and county warrants	84,097	54,791
Total	$352,000	$1,618,366

Compared with the receipts for 1881, this shows an increase for 1882 of $1,266,366, and if to this increase be added the sum of $547,711 derived in 1882 from the sales of colonization lands, and the sum of $5,780 derived from miscellaneous sources, the total increase of receipts in 1882 over 1881 is $1,819,857. The total income for 1882 is $2,171,857. Three million acres have been granted to colonization companies under the regulations of December, 1881. The income from which, amounting to $547,711 up to the 31st December last, consisted of the first instalment of 40 cents per acre due on the purchase of odd-numbered sections within the respective tracts to be colonized by the several companies to whom grants were made.

FRIDAY.

After routine, the Finance Minister, Sir Leonard Tilley, made his financial statement. A condensed summary of the Budget Speech, as well as of the brilliant reply thereto by Mr. Paterson, of Brant, appears in another part of this issue.

MONDAY.

OTTAWA, April 2. After routine in the Commons to-day, Mr. Curran introduced a bill to provide for the distribution of the assets of insolvent traders. The bill was read a first time.

On the third reading of the bill to incorporate the reverend Oblat Fathers of the North West, Mr. Blake proposed an amendment that ten years after the corporation should have acquired any property, they should not be permitted to hold any more than was required for their own use. The motion was carried and the amendment was inserted in the bill, which then passed the third reading.

An amendment was moved in the Credit Foncier Franco-Canadien bill, that the corporation be not permitted to charge a higher rate of interest than 8 per cent., including the cost of administration. A division took place on Mr. Auger's motion for the six months' hoist, but instead of the measure being elevated the motion itself was floored by a vote of 35 for and 144 against.

The other private bills were put through, and at six o'clock the house rose for recess.

There was considerable speculation today as to the fate of the Orange incorporation bill. It was on the orders for the second reading, but the feeling was general that it would be jumped. Its turn came shortly after the House resumed after dinner, but Mr. John White, of Hastings, its promoter, said that it might stand, and it stood accordingly. The time of its next appearance on the order paper is Wednesday.

On the second reading of the act respecting the Northern railway, received from the Senate, Mr. Blake protested against a provision which he alleged would give the directors absolute and unprecedented power to ex-appropriate whatever lands they might want for their use.

The Minister of Railways promised to give the matter his attention in the railway committee, to which the measure was referred.

Sir Leonard Tilley, replying to Mr. Whalan, said it was not the intention of the Government to reduce or repeal the duty on land plaster imported from the United States for fertilizing purposes.

As yet no understanding has been reached that Sir Charles Tupper is to succeed Sir Alexander Galt, at least the first minister jocularly announced in the House that no offer had been made to his honorable friend.

A large number of notices were passed, nearly all being of only local interest. One by Mr. Blake was for copies of despatches on the subject of Canadian and provincial laws as to the imposition of restrictions on the sale of intoxicating drinks, etc., and another by Mr. Somerville (Brant) for a return of the expenses, etc., incurred by several members of the Government and any other person or persons sent to England or elsewhere on behalf of the Government from December 16, 1880, to the present date.

The House adjourned at 10.30.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Thursday last a Frenchman, by the name of Desinault, who had been drinking and wandering about the streets, was taken out of the mill race, where he had gone to wash or get a drink, by Messrs. Crawford and D. Smith, His face was covered with blood and bruised. His wounds were dressed, and, as he did not seem capable of taking care of himself, he was taken before Mr. Hull, J. P., and committed to gaol. The unfortunate man, it seems, has since died in the gaol.

Three weeks of unexpected business activity we've had, and in the very teeth of unpropitious weather—that is, weather not suited as we would like to have it—for the Spring Ordered Clothing Trade. To tell the truth, it's been a race for weeks past between trade and the goods, and the goods have only just caught up at that. But about

STYLE, QUALITY and PRICE are the points to be looked at by the intelligent purchaser of Clothing. Well, look at what we offer. GARMENTS MORE ELEGANTLY DESIGNED and BETTER FINISHED, ARE NOT TO BE FOUND—or rather bought. The Style, the Fit, the Finish are custom—and a high grade custom at that.

Our work carries about with it every tasteful device of Shaping, Trimming and Finish to please our customers. We desire it to be understood that we are serving the public—not a part of the public—but the public. In the matter of Stock, our goods range from popular goods at popular prices, through every stage of excellence, to the finest. In the points of general value

CAN'T BE SURPASSED. The goods are all your fancy can make them, and more.

Consider the moderate prices we ask for our work and we think we've fairly established the fact that our Clothing Department is a fairly proper place to come to, if you need anything it can supply.

Suppose it is a trifle early to buy, look in. That makes us all the gladder to see the lookers. We regard every looker as a possible buyer, as a probable buyer, as all but a certain buyer, and welcome him accordingly. We submit the above.

HIS LORDSHIP'S ADDRESS.

His Lordship briefly addressed the Grand Jury and remarked that there was only one charge of a criminal nature that could be laid before them. There was, however, one case of aggravated assault, on which the accused was on bail. This was the third assize on the present circuit at which he had been gratified with so exceptional evidence of the absence of crime in the community. The case to be brought before them was one that arose from a disturbance amongst railway men, and it was not a serious one. The cause of the freedom from crime he had noted might be found in the more prosperous condition of the people---better wages and more employment, or it might be attributable to the fact that our educational system was beginning to exercise its effect. Alluding to the duty of examining the jail his Lordship dismissed them to their duties.

CIVIL BUSINESS.

PETERBOROUGH VS. VICTORIA. This was an action brought by the corporation of the county of Peterborough against that of Victoria to restrain the latter from giving effect to by-laws making Peterborough responsible for half the cost of an alleged boundary bridge at Kinmount, in the county of Victoria. Victoria rebuilt the bridge and passed a by-law authorizing the appointment of an arbitrator to decide as to the liability which Peterborough questioned. In case of refusal by the latter it was within the competence of Victoria to apply to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, to name an arbitrator and thus force an arbitration on Peterborough, and this suit was brought to settle the question of the liability of this county in the premises.

Evidence was given by Mr. Thos. O. Bolger, P.L.S., Belleville, from a survey made by himself, to show that the bridge was wholly in the county of Victoria, and that the township of Galway proper did not touch the Burnt River at any point.

Mr. M. Sanderson, ex-Warden of Peterborough, also gave evidence confirming the former, and also Mr. J. E. Belcher, who assisted Mr. Bolger on the survey. There was also other evidence given on behalf of the plaintiffs, and the defendants called several witnesses. The counsel for both sides addressed the court, who tried the case without a jury, and judgment was reserved.

Messrs. Dennistoun & Hall, and Mr. Osler, Q.C., Hamilton, for the plaintiffs; Mr. Hudspeth, Q.C., for defendants.

The Grand Jury presented a true bill in the case of Montgomery, charged with aggravated assault, but the case, owing to the absence of Crown witnesses, was postponed to the June sessions, and the accused was admitted to bail.

The Grand Jury also presented their report, speaking highly of the efficient manner in which the jail was managed, etc., after which they were discharged.

OTTOSEN VS. SPROULE.—This was an action for damages, through alleged malpractice. The case was heard at the Fall Assizes last October, and the trial resulted in a non-suit. A new trial was granted.

The evidence for the prosecution was substantially the same as submitted at the former trial. The medical evidence, in general, endorsed the treatment given by the defendant under the circumstances, and agreed that the result of the fracture might have resulted without mal-practice. The chief evidence for the defence was that of defendant himself, Dr. Fraser, Dr. Fife, Dr. Hamilton, of Port Hope, and several non-professional witnesses.

After able addresses by the counsel, in which Mr. Dumble placed his case strongly before the jury, his Lordship delivered his charge and submitted the following questions to which, after over two hours deliberation, the jury gave the appended answers:

Did the plaintiff employ the defendant to cure the plaintiff's leg, or only properly to treat it, and did the defendant accept such employment to cure or to properly treat the leg?

Answer.—To properly treat the leg.

Did the defendant treat the plaintiff with proper skill, care and attendance, or did he negligently and unskillfully treat the plaintiff?

A.—Fairly under the circumstances.

Has the leg of the plaiptiff become shortened and crooked by reason of the injury he sustained?

A.—Yes.

Did the plaintiff or those of his family about him, without the defendant's consent, remove the splints, or otherwise interfere with the defendant's treatment of the plaintiff?

A.—We believe they did.

What was the cause of the shortening and crookedness of the plaintiff's leg? was it the natural and ordinary result of fair and proper treatment of an injury of that kind? or was it from neglect or unskillful treatment of the defendant? or was it from the removal of the splints by the plaintiff or those about him, that is if they, or any of them, did remove the splints?

A.—We believe in consequence of the splints being removed prematurely, the leg became crooked.

And if you find for the plaintiff, what damages will you allow?

A.—No damages.

Basing his decision on these answers, his lordship gave judgment for defendant, with costs.

Messrs. Sawers and Blackstock (Toronto) for plaintiff; Mr. Dumble for defendant.

COCHRANE VS. BOUCHER et al. Action brought against the executors of Mr. D. G. Hatton to recover damages for the seizure of goods under the alleged forfeiture of a chattel mortgage by the conveyance or removal of goods, secured by the mortgage. Verdict for plaintiff and $275. Mr. Peck for plaintiff; Messrs. N. D. and H. T. Beck (Toronto) for defendants.

HAMILTON PROVIDENT LOAN SOCIETY VS. DUMBLE et al.—Action to recover value of goods seized by bailiff, and claimed by plaintiff under chattel mortgage. Verdict for defendants. Mr. Muir (Hamilton) for plaintiffs; Messrs. D. W. Dumble and H. T. Beck (Toronto) for defendants.

HAMILTON PROVIDENT AND LOAN SOCIETY VS. CAMPBELL.—Interpleader issue. Plaintiffs claimed crops growing on Cochrane's land under mortgage to the plaintiffs, which crops had been seized by the Sheriff. Judgment for plaintiffs, with a point of law reserved, to be submitted to the full Court. Mr. Muir for plaintiffs; Mr. Dumble for defendants.

THE LAST CURLING CONTEST.

Peterborough Closes the Record of the Season by Beating "Crack" Curlers.

The close of the curling season was signalized by a victory for Peterborough over Lindsay on Thursday last. The club of the latter town, by their exceptional success at the Montreal carnival and their close match with the Granites, of Toronto, have made them opponents not to be trifled with. The match game was played at the Riverside Rink, here. The ice was in good condition as far as keenness was concerned, but was objectionable in other respects. The struggle was a very close one. Twenty-five ends were played, and at the 15th, when adjournment was made for luncheon, the score stood a tie. But ultimately, the pluck and playing of Peterborough triumphed, and the victory was won by a majority of two. There were four rinks. In the Peterborough rinks Messrs. T. P. Attrill and Melville Miller wielded the besom as skips, and Messrs J. D. Flavelle and McMurtry performed the like service for Lindsay. The following is the score:

EASTER VESTRIES.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The annual Easter vestry meeting of St. John's Church was held in the chapel on Monday evening, the 26th of March. Rev. J. W. R. Beck, rector, presided, and Mr. F. E. Bell acted as vestry clerk. There was a good representative attendance. After the usual routine the following delegates to the Synod were appointed: Messrs. A.P. Poussette, Dr. Burnham, and J. E. Belcher. The sidesmen of last year were re-elected, excepting Dr. Geo. Burnham, whose place is supplied by Mr. James English. The sidesmen therefore consist of Messrs C. H. Sheffield, W. E. Sherwood, W. English, F. J. Jameson, F E. Bell and James English. Mr. A. P. Poussette was elected the parishioners' churchwarden, and the rector appointed Dr. Geo. Burnham as his churchwarden. Messrs. N. D. Beck and W. E. Sherwood were appointed auditors. Owing to the illness of Mr. Poussette the consideration of further important business was deferred to the adjourned meeting, which will be held at the chapel on Monday evening, April 30th, at 7.30 o'clock.

"The Only one in America."

The International Throat and Lung Institute, Toronto and Montreal, is positively the only one in America where diseases of the air passages alone are treated. Cold inhalations are used through the Spirometer, an instrument or inhaler invented by Dr. M. Souvielle of Paris, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, with proper dietetic, hygienic and constitutional treatment suitable to each case. Thousands of cases of Catarrh, Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrhal Deafness and Consumption have been cured at this institute during the last few years. NO GUESSWORK TURNS OUT WELL.

Philadelphia Correspondence.

The difference between positive knowledge and blind experimenting is nowhere more quickly exhibited than in the treatment of stock. Thousands of horses, more or less valuable, are annually lost to their owners and to extended and good service because of "guesswork" in endeavoring to cure them of their ailments. If a man wants to build a barn, the very best material is his choice, and it must be worked in; but if the same man has a sick horse, anything is good enough for the animal. At least this is so in too many cases. There is no guesswork tolerated in any business, pursuit, or project that is worth following; and why "guessing" should be allowed in the medication and treatment of stock is something we cannot divine. However, there is a limit to all things, and there must be too this. So we thought, mentally in reviewing the experience of some of our acquaintances. In conspicious contrast to their empirical plans and methods stands the following narration of the way a thoughtful, clear headed and experienced horseman manages when any of his stock becomes sick or receives injuries. It clearly demonstrates that he is no friend of guesswork. He has used what he speaks of, and "speaks whereof he knows."

"I am satisfied that St. Jacobs Oil is the best horse liniment in the market."

The above remark was made to the writer a day or two since by Mr. A. W. Terry, the well-known proprietor of the large, livery, sales and boarding stables, Nos. 214 and 216 Queen street, in Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. Terry has been established in the livery stable business on Queen street for many years, and everybody in the old district of Southwark is familiar with the establishment. Many of the most prominent citizens of the lower section of the city, including the leading physicians, such as Dr. E. C. Kamerly, the ex-select Councilman, board their horses at Mr. Terry's stables. He has been associated with horses all his life, and is considered an authority on anything connected with horse flesh.

I found Mr. Terry sitting in front of his stables, watching the work of an employee, who was cleaning a waggon; and, knowing him, I sat down, with the double purpose of resting myself after a long walk, and having a little "horse talk." I have been paying some attention to horse matters recently, a neighbor and relative of mine owning a span of splendid animals. I sometimes ride behind; and, as my relative is a firm believer in St. Jacobs Oil as a superior horse liniment, and frequently uses that remedy, I felt desirous of comparing his opinion with others who are fully posted in such matters. Therefore I said to Mr. Terry, soon after we commenced talking:

"Terry, do you think St. Jacobs Oil is a good horse liniment?"

His answer to my direct question is given at the commencement of this article. Wishing something more than a general endorsement of the Great German Remedy, I said:

"When and in what cases have you used St. Jacobs Oil on horses, and for what ailments?"

"Mr. Terry answered: "I have used it several times, and always with good effect. The last time I used St. Jacobs Oil, was on a bay horse of my own. He had a very bad shoulder; what we call a 'nick in the shoulder;' it was very sore, and I was afraid at first that I would not be able to use that horse for some time. I have had horses affected that way before, and could cure them, but not as readily as I can now, since St. Jacobs Oil came about. In this case I commenced using St. Jacobs Oil as soon as I discovered the horse's complaint, and the first application did good. I continued the Oil for a short time, and the horse got well quicker than I ever knew a horse to recover, which was affected the same way. That Oil is very strong and acts so quickly. I have had two or three other horses recently suffering with various complaints and St. Jacobs Oil relieved them, and now I am just about to try it on a horse that came in to-day with a bad sprain and swelling. I bought three bottles of St. Jacobs Oil not long since, and I have enough of it left to cure the sprain and swelling on the horse that came in to-day. That Oil cures quick, and I would not like to be without it."

In reply to a question, Mr. Terry remarked: "I did not buy the bottles of St. Jacobs Oil originally to use as a horse liniment. I had the rheumatism very badly in both of my feet, and I got the Oil for that. I soon cured the rheumatism and had nearly a bottle full left, and it was about that time I heard St. Jacobs Oil was a good liniment for horses. I used what I had on hand on a disabled horse, as I told you, and it worked so well that I shall always use it for horses. I have a fresh bottle here now (stepping into his office and showing one,) and that horse's sprain and swelling will be well before I have used it all up."

I said: "Well you certainly give St. Jacobs Oil a pretty good personal endorsement."

He replied: "I don't want to puff up any particular remedy or anybody's medicine, but if I find anything that is good or useful I am willing to say so. If you are interested in horse liniments, I can only say St. Jacobs Oil is a good one, the best I know of, and I don't mind saying so. You tell that relative of yours to try St. Jacobs Oil, if either of his horses gets injured, and I guess he will not regret it."

I remarked: "Not long since I stepped in at Campbell's livery stable, on Wharton street, near seventh, and Mr. Campbell's son, who runs the stable, also spoke very highly of St. Jacobs Oil as a good liniment for horses."

Mr. Terry replied: "The Campbell's understand their business, and what they say about St. Jacobs Oil or any other liniment is worth listening to.—New York Spirit of the Times.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, as something ...ous was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF PRICE, GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed off on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

...ears, Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings can be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as proven by the correspondents love to call her. She personally devotes to her work, which is the outcome of a life study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special story of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not ill purposes. I have personally investigated it and satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. It says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

For sale by druggists only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as an abundant testimonial will show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

"I must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

A young man, who was invited by his mother to lug up a hod of coal from the cellar, offered an amendment, striking out himself and substituting therefor his father, stating at his reasons that he had just returned from a seven days vacation, and that it was a well known proposition, laid down by Greenleaf's arithmetic, that seven days makes one week. The arithmetic was overwhelmingly voted down, and the original motion prevailed by a solid vote on both sides of the house.

AT ALL SEASONS, but particularly during the winter, persons whose lungs and chest are weak should take precaution against a cough or cold, as the breathing organs if naturally feeble speedily succumb to its ravages. In spite of sanitary precautions, however, coughs are very apt to fasten themselves upon weak lungs. In such a case ordinary prudence dictates the prompt use of a reliable specific. The ordinary cough remedies are too often inefficient. The best substitute for them is the highly sanctioned, long recognized remedy, Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of lime and soda. As is well known the action of Cod Liver Oil is particularly marked in lung, rheumatic and strumous diseases. In this preparation it is characterized by peculiar purity. The phosohorus in the hypophosphites furnishes a vital element of the blood, brain, and nervous tissues, and the lime and soda supply their strengthening properties to the bones of which they are natural constituents. This emulsion promotes expectoration, enabling the bronchiæ to throw of the irritating mucus which obstructs and distresses them; renders the vitiated secretions healthy and heals the lungs. This remedy has also been used with the most beneficent effects in cases of scrofula. As it is exceedingly dangerous to permit a cough to gain headway, the early use of the medicine is urged upon those whose throat or lungs are affected. Look for the fac-simile of our signature on he packages and the firm's name blown on the bottles.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, on 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

The Spring Exhibition.

The directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society have decided to hold a Spring Exhibition in Peterborough for stallions and bulls. The date has been fixed for Saturday, April twenty-eighth.

Beat This, Who Can!

Messrs. W. Brownscombe, Levi Payne, W. Yelland, John Beckell, Fred Payne, and W. Norris, while out still-fishing in Stony Lake last week, caught six maskinonge and one salmon. Five of the six maskinonge weighed 100 pounds, the six bringing down the scales at 113 pounds. Who can beat this?

Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending March 17th, 1883, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $4,312.81; freight, $8,324.05; total, $12,636.86 as compared with $10,305.27 for the corresponding week of 1882, being a decrease of $3,668.42; and the aggregate traffic to date is $15,239.50, being an increase of $1,049.69 over 1882.

Northwest Ho!

The exodus is making perilous draughts on the bone and sinew of this county. Mr. Thomas Stenton, of Smith, has about completed arrangements for removal to Michigan. He is accompanied by seven sons, and takes with him about $10,000 in money and stock. The excuse he makes for his expatriation is laconically given in his own words, thus: "All owing to the N.P."

Firemen's Demonstration.

The Fire Brigade, having received an invitation to attend the Firemen's demonstration at Cobourg on the 24th, the matter was considered at the regular monthly meeting on Monday night. The members were in favor of accepting the hospitality of their Cobourg confreres, but could not definitely decide. The Fire Brigade Band are negotiating in reference to an excursion, to be run to Niagara Falls on the 24th, and, as the firemen could not go to Cobourg without their band, the matter could not be settled by the former, till the band had made, or failed to make, arrangements for their excursion.

The McIntyre Murder.

The receipt of California papers, with details of the murder in California of a son of Mr. Peter McIntyre, of Otonabee, shows that the account in our last issue was correct. A melancholy sequel to the tragedy is the death of the mother of the murdered man, which took place in Otonabee on Friday morning last. It is plain that the receipt of the dreadful news, hastened the lady's death, for though she has been in bad health for some time; since her son's death she sank rapidly, and to the last her mind was running on the tragic events, for her last word was the name of the man—Renowden at whose house her son was murdered. The deceased lady was about 57 years of age.

Good Advice Gratis.

As the winter season is taking its leave I would impress upon the minds of my numerous customers the necessity of having their furs repaired before stowing them away, or not later than the first of October. As the fur trade is more peculiar than any other trade, dependent, not only on the whims of climate, but on the changing of styles as well, the season of only a couple of months demands entirely the attention of ordered goods, and mending of furs becomes an impossibility without incurring great loss. The increasing trade has made it necessary to introduce a fur sawing machine, hitherto only used by wholesale manufacturing houses, but as the stock of furs, has been well cleared out, the busy season for manufacturing new stock has begun. Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of of Canada for the week ending March 24th, 1883, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $4,322.66; freight, $9,059.88: total, $13,382.54 as compared with $20,233.38 for the correaponding week of 1882, being a decrease of $6,850.84: and the aggregate traffic to date is $165,776.04, being a decrease of $5,081.15 over 1882.

Hymeneal.

Our hearty congratulations are tendered on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. James Byrne, marble dealer, to Miss Maggie Dobbin, youngest daughter of Mr. John Dobbin, North Monaghan. The hymeneal knot was adjusted by Rev. John Shaw, at the residence of the bride's father, on Wednesday night, March 28th. We give the newly-wedded our most cordial wishes for happiness, prosperity and all the blessings incident to a fortunate matrimonial union.

Fenelon Falls Pulp Works.

Mr. John R. Scott, managing director of the Napanee Mills, Paper Mills Company, was in town on Friday, and informs us that the company are pushing the erection of their chemical pulp mills at Fenelon Falls. The building will be 60 x 150 feet and 24 feet high, with auxiliary buildings such as boiler house, etc. They will burn their own quick lime, of which they will use about 2000 bushels per month. The works will use about 7000 cords of wood per yea including the refuse of the saw mills for fuel. Much of the raw material is already laid down, and the works will be pushed in the spring, and be in operation about September. They will employ forty adult hands, and run night and day.

The Central Exhibition.

There will be no Central Exhibition held here this year. At a meeting, held on Saturday last, of the directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society, it transpired that the East Peterborough, Smith, Ennismore, Lakefield and North Monaghan societies, and the Peterborough Horticultural Society had agreed to contribute to the guarantee fund, and that, though no official intimation had been received, the Otonabee and South Monaghan societies would not make a grant. Victoria and Durham had only granted half the required amount. Therefore, the directors of the West Riding Society, feeling too large a share of the financial responsibility would be left on them, decided not to go on with the Central Exhibition.

Felo-de-se by Fire.

Last Thursday afternoon Policeman Pidgeon arrested Alexander Fraser for an infraction of the town by-law—being intoxicated—and placed him in the dungeon. Shortly after, Mr. James English noticed smoke coming from the cells, and gave the alarm. Investigation showed that Fraser had piled his clothing in the corner of the cell and fired it with matches, which he had managed to secrete from the constable. The fire was at once put out, and twenty-four dollars were found in a pocket of Fraser's coat, which was partially burned. Fraser said he wanted to burn the——, (meaning the constable) who had put him in there. The would-be suicide was arraigned at the police court and committed to jail to stand his trial for arson. He was brought before Judge Dennistoun on Monday, and elected to be tried by the judge, and his trial is going on to-day.

Determined to Donate.

Last Sunday an occasional worshipper in one of our churches did not allow generosity to be repressed by his neglect of having secured, on Saturday night, a smooth five cent piece with a hole in it, for the contribution plate on Sunday. When the solicitor of ecclesiastical tribute, with the meek and deprecatory look of such officials, presented the plate to the changeless christian, the latter astonished the gleaner by handing him a fifty cent piece and asking for forty-five cents in change. The non-plussed plate pusher, seeing that his assistant on the other side of the church was getting ahead of him, humbly whispered the bankable-fund brother, that he would give him credit for the intended donation, and went his way colicky with accumulated and repressed laughter.

Commander Cheyne's Lectures.

The managers of the Mechanics Institute are plainly doing their full share, in furnishing our citizens with entertainment and amusement of a wholesome and high class type. They have completed arrangements with Commander Cheyne, R. N., F. R. G. S., to deliver a course of two lectures in Bradburn's Opera House, on the evenings of April 12th and 13th. The subject the first night—Thursday will be "Egypt and the War," and on the second night, "The Great Search for Sir John Franklin." The lecturer was prominently connected with three expeditions that set forth in search of Sir John Franklin. His lectures will be richly illustrated, and replete with information, extremely entertaining, and have been warmly endorsed by savants and the press. Tickets, single lecture, 25 cents; reserved, 50 cents. For the two lectures, 40 cents; reserved seats 75 cents. Seats secured at Mr. Menzie's bookstore.

THE LACROSSE LADS.

Hold their Annual Meeting—Elect their Officers and Organize for the Season—The Gildersleeve Cup Captured "for Keeps."

On Monday evening the annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club was held at the St. James' (Crevier's) hotel, Brock street. The meeting was a most gratifying success in every respect. There were over 40 members present, and the esprit du corps and enthusiasm manifest, gave augury of the operations in connection with this live sport, being prosecuted the coming season with unusual vigor. The review of the past season was, both financially, and in the way of success in competitive matches, very satisfactory. After other business, the officers for the current year were elected as follows:

Honorary President R.A. Morrow, (re-elected).
President—H. LeBrun, (re-elected).
Vice-President—J. Hackett.
2nd. Vice-President—R. H. Fortye.
Secy.-Treas.—A. Yelland, (re-elected).
Field Captain—W. A. Sanderson, (re-elected).
Committee—C. Rutherford, W. Rudkins and M. McDonald.

Strong as the Club was before, it was reinforced on Monday night by the addition of twenty-five new members. It is the intention to begin practice at the earliest possible day. It may be believed that the boys won't let the grass grow under their feet in this respect, for they now hold the Gildersleeve cup, which they have to hold this summer only, to make themselves owners of it for good. We believe the boys are "the stuff" to retain the championship of Central Ontario.

Gentlemen, Are You Bald?

If so call at Phelan's Hotel next Thursday and Friday, April 12th and 13th, and see Mr. Dorenwend, of the Paris Hair Work, 105 Yonge Street, Toronto, who will show you Goods that will suit you all. We are told that he has Pieces for the top of your heads that are so well excavated as regards Workmanship, and made so like, that the closest observer would not possibly detect anything false. Don't miss the opportunity to see him as he will be here for two days only.

Plate Glass Broken.

On Tuesday night, about midnight, some larking roysterers, whose condition prevented their being served with oysters, broke the plate glass window in Mr. John Craig's Fruit and Confectionery store. It is hardly possible that the break could have been made, except intentionally. Several persons were inside at the time getting refreshments, and the crash startled them sharply. There seems to be an epidemic in the breaking of plate glass. There are no less than six plates broken in different establishments on George street, hardly one of which can be said to be the result of pure accident.

Easter Vestry of St. Luke's.

The regular business meeting of the congregation of St. Luke's, Ashburnham, was held on the 26th March, in the school room. The attendance was not large, but the members present made up for their lack of numbers, by unanimity and enthusiasm. The Incumbent, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, occupied the chair. The report of the Churchwardens showed the financial affairs of the church to be in a prosperous condition, warranting an addition of $200 to the Incumbent's salary. Messrs. G. C. Rogers and E. A. Peck were appointed auditors. The Incumbent nominated Mr. Burnham, M.P., as churchwarden, for the eighth time, and Mr. H. T. Strickland was made the people's churchwarden, and Messrs. Canning and H. C. Rogers were named assistant churchwardens. The sidesmen elected were Messrs. G. C. Rogers, A. Dawson, A. Ingram and Charles Crowe. The Incumbent deferred the reading of his usual report, in reference to his work in the parish, till 9th July next, the seventh anniversary of the parish.

Oddfellows Celebration.

The members of Peterborough and Otonabee lodges in town have combined for the purpose of celebrating in a manner befitting the importance of the occasion, the 64th Anniversary of the establishment of the order in America, which falls on April 26th. As far as decided on, the programme will consist of a reunion, to be held in the rooms of Otonabee Lodge, Cluxton's Block, they being the most commodious. Those present will be Oddfellows and their invited friends, which will make the number of the company about three hundred. The entertainment will be of a social, literary and musical character. Freeman's Quadrille Band will be present and tea and coffee will be served during the evening. There is material in the members of both lodges, equal to making the celebration a splendid success. On, either the Sunday before or the Sunday after the 26th of April, as will be decided hereafter, Rev. John Shaw will preach an Oddfellow sermon in the George Street Methodist Church. The well known ability of the reverend gentleman, is a guarantee, that the discourse will be well worth hearing.

Since the above was in form we learn that the Oddfellows will attend divine service in a body on Sunday, the 22nd inst.

Additional local matter on the inside pages.

PREPARE FOR SPRING.—After a long, severe winter the system needs cleansing of impurities. Nature must be assisted to recuperate, the Liver must act, all surplus bile and impurities be carried off. Zopessa acts as a gentle purgative. The results of a few doses are most surprising. Ask your druggist for a 10 cent sample, and try Zopessa, the most powerful remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, and Biliousness ever introduced in this country. 13-tf

SPRING MILLINERY OPENINGS.
A MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY.

Beautiful Bonnets and Handsome Hats Burst into Bloom—Show-Rooms Showered with a Delicate Deluge of Delightful Designs—Feathers and Flowers, Buckles and Brocades, Pompons and Plumes, Rosettes and Ribbons, and a Long List of Loveliness to to the end of the Chapter.

In the Spring a young girl's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of bonnet
With rosettes of narrow ribbons and with little buckles on it.—A. (fter) Tennyson.

Marbles, hand organs, crows and robins are generally accepted as fair indications of the advent of spring, but a knot of ladies clustered together in front of a millinery shop window, and admiring the display, is evidence that admits of no dispute. And, whether spring is here or not, if the goods are on hand, there will they be gathered together. The enterprise of our millinery establishments, has seldom been expressed by finer displays of finer goods than those to which several of them invited an interested public last Wednesday and Thursday. Any lady, though she aspired to figure in the front rank of the tip top of the haut ton; either as to beauty of material, elegance of design or delicacy of decorative detail, need not go out of Peterborough, to secure the realization of her most exaggerated ideal in the way of a hat, bonnet or mantle. Coming to forms of feminine headgear, the prevailing shape of bonnets, is the "Peek-a-boo," which will be popular. "Fishwife," "Gazelle," "Langtry," "Cornet," "Jersey Lily," etc. The hats are inclined to be large and of irregular shapes—crushed straw, as well as crushed strawberry. The prevailing trimming and decoration will be ribbons, many, narrow, bunched in rosettes, with plumes pompons, and tips plain and shaded, and flowers. The latter will be larger than ever, and wreaths will be much worn. A very pretty use for moss rosebuds is shown in facing bonnets. Very small metallic buckles will take the place of pins, and will be freely used. The fashionable colors are crushed strawberry, terra cotta, and cadet blue. The first will not likely be popular; it is a dead, cold, bleached shade, something like that of an underdone red brick. The terra cotta, on the contrary, is different, and presents a rather rich appearance.

The popular mantle materials are Ottoman and brocaded silk, satin de Lyons, etc.

MISS DELANEY.

This millinery establishment was thronged with sightseers on Wednesday and Thursday last, who were well repaid for their visit within the shop. On every side there was a veritable wilderness of artistic beauty. Gasaliers, hidden by gorgeous swathings of flowers; besides an immense show case, a monster magazine of millinery bloom, flowers, ribbons, laces, satins, plumes of every shade, wreaths pompons, and all the beautiful frivolities, that, under the milliners' deft fingers, go to the completion of a fashionable hat, hat shapes and bonnet shapes in all the fashionable styles, and all the stylish shades, in endless variety, came within the scope of a minute's survey. Miss Deleney has fortunately secured a milliner from the city of Ottawa, Miss Luke, whose training in catering for the exacting requirements of the fashionable coterie, surrounding the Vice-regal court, is a guarantee that her knowledge of her business must be of the highest order. In her mantle department, Miss Delaney is especially complete. Her staff is first class, her materials of the best and most fashionable quality. She has a particularly large stock of mantle goods with sash trimmings to match. There is also shown a handsome stock of embroidered and braided costumes in different shades.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER.

The beautiful show rooms of Munro & Alexander never presented a finer appearance. The rooms were beautifully decorated with tastefully disposed samples of millinery material—in all the shades that fashion's decrees demand. A striking adornment was the bloom-wrought emblem of good luck, an immense floral horseshoe, suspended over a large pier glass. Flowers are to be much worn this year, and this firm has a stock to correspond with the immense number of untrimmed shapes, awaiting the order of customers, to be transformed after the sample hats, that are so profusely displayed, as well as a full supply of all the other requisite trimmings in plumes, ribbons, laces, etc., etc. The mantle department is especially supplied with materials, and presided over by a mantle maker, whose faculty of fitting the female form divine has become proverbial. Her mantles are claimed to be a fit, not an approximation. The firm's stock of dress goods is very complete, and a most extensive stock of gloves and hosiery present strong claims to customers desiring to make advantageous purchases in these lines. Munro & Alexander are indeed well equipped for the season's trade.

J. C. TURNBULL.

If Mr. Turnbull were asked to make a finer millinery display than that which greeted the delighted vision of his fair visitors last Thursday, his well known energy, enterprise and good taste and judgment in the selection of goods, would shrink from the task. His fine show room in the rear of the shop proper, was gorgeous with a large display of beautiful hats and bonnets, the finished exponents of the skill and taste of the accomplished staff of milliners, employed under the superintendence of Miss Irons. With first-class millinery artistes, with a complete stock of latest shapes, and a beautiful supply of flowers, plumes, ribbons, etc., all in the most stylish shades, (which were disposed to excellent advantage in every part of the rooms), the beautiful result achieved is not to be wondered at. Mr. Turnbull makes a specialty of his mantle department, which is presided over by a cutter and fitter who is "equalled by few, excelled by none." The supply of first class variety and quality of materials is extensive, and such has been the success of these two departments, that within the last year the staff of hands has been doubled. In dress goods, dress silks in all the stylish shades and staples, the stock of Mr. Turnbull is complete. His fine stock of kid gloves, imported directly from France, is well worth inspection.

WM. FAIRWEATHER & CO.

This firm is to be congratulated on the success of their spring millinery opening. With their beautiful display of artistically trimmed hats and bonnets, no other result could be expected. Conspicuous among these are the lovely sample hats brought from Paris; and Miss Elliott has been strikingly successful in profiting by these samples of the unrivalled taste of the French modiste in such matters. There is a wealth of rich and fashionable trimming material shown, possessing the characteristics as to shape, material, color, quality, etc., required by the latest fashion. The mantle department, is also attractively complete, comprising full lines of all the newest materials in Ottoman cord, brocaded silk, gros grain, etc., etc. A dressmaking department also adds to the completeness of the claims of the firm to supply anything that the dress demands or their fair customers covet.

HALL, INNES & CO.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the millinery rooms of this long established and substantial firm were thronged with ladies, intent on admiration of the rich and elegant stock of millinery on display. The rooms, as well as the staircases leading thereto, were richly and elaborately decorated with lace curtains, lambrequins, etc., samples of the stock kept for sale. There was also elaborate displays of the splendid stock of millinery trimmings, disposed most effectively about the room. The trimmed bonnets and hats were well worthy of the cordial admiration they elicited from visitors, and a guarantee that a hat or bonnet, ordered from Hall, Innes & Co. will be of the best in style, material and finish. In mantles the firm show some really rich and desirable dolmans in Ottoman cord with lace trimmings, made on the premises, from a superb stock of materials, of an excellence in keeping with the reputation of the establishment.

Busy already in the Mantle Department at Turnbull's. Why? Because the Public are realizing that we keep Good Materials and never turn out any Mis-Fits.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A WELL MERITED TESTIMONIAL.

Acting on a resolution, passed by the Lakefield Public School Board, the chairman and secretary of the Board have forwarded the following testimonial to their late Principal, Mr. A. Shearer:—

Mr. A. Shearer, teacher.

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Public School Trustees for the village of Lakefield take this opportunity of your retiring from the principalship, a position which you have so long and so ably occupied, to give expression to their regrets at your departure, and at the same time to their appreciation of your services in the arduous task of conducting the public school of our village during a period of eight years, with so much credit to yourself and advantage to the people and youth of the community. During the long period of your being a teacher amongst us every successive board of trustees found you courteous, kind, industrious and painstaking in your intercourse with them, and in the education of the children placed under your care. Parents are general in their acknowledgement of the amiable traits of your disposition, your unblemished character and industry in promoting the education of their children. Under your management our school has attained a popularity unequalled before, and all admit that the progress of the school has fully met the highest expectations of parents and of successive boards.

The onerous nature of a teacher's calling, and the wear and tear of school work and consequent anxiety, make it a not very desirable profession, and no one need wonder that you desire after so long a period of labor a time for rest, for recreation and recuperation of energy. We regret that circumstances of any kind cause you to resign the relationship that has so long and so happily existed between you and the board and the people as teacher of the children. We assure you that wherever you may go, and whatever sphere of life you may occupy our best wishes will be with you for your health and prosperity, and our earnest prayers will be for your continued happiness.

We ask you to accept this address as a token of our appreciation of your services to us and to our children, and of our esteem for you as a teacher and a citizen, and a gentleman, whom we have long learned to respect.

Given under hands on behalf of said Board the 27th day of March, 1883.
G. J. GALVIN, Chairman,
W. H. CASEMENT, Secy.

Those who desire neat and stylish Millinery at close prices, should visit Turnbull's Show Rooms, which are now open.

A CONTRADICTION.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—In your last issue, I see that Mr. Bird again makes use of my name to give a degree of honesty to his statements made in connection with the School Supply Question. I may just say, once and for all time, that I did not say to Mr. Bird that Dr. Caldwell made use of the words at School Board meeting attributed to him. Mr. Bird will require all the spare time at his command for some time to come, to clear his skirts of the charges made against him.

Yours truly,
G. J. GALVIN.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FAREWELL SUPPER.

On Tuesday of last week, a very pleasant company, composed of the leading gentlemen of Norwood, assembled at McGregor's Hotel, to do honor to Mr. Mr. Samuel J. Griffin, and to give him a farewell token of their esteem for him, on the eve of his departure for his new home in Dakota. Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, the oldest and wealthiest resident present, gracefully presided over the festive board, and materially assisted in imparting joy and pleasure upon the occasion. In proposing the toast "Our Guest," he alluded in eulogistic terms to the honorable, praiseworthy, and impartial manner in which Mr. Griffin had discharged his duties as a public official, and to the determined energy he had always manifested as a citizen, and as a business man, and he hoped his career in the future would be as bright and as prosperous as it had been in the past, and expressed his sorrow that Norwood was losing such an enterprising citizen and painstaking public servant. The frequent "Hear, hear," from his audience clearly evinced that all present echoed the utterances of the speaker. Mr. Griffin briefly responded. He stated that the action of his friends present had taken him completely by surprise, and it caused him to feel that he was parting with many warm friends in Norwood. Private reasons alone had caused him to sever the pleasant ties which had bound him to the prosperous village, but in casting his lot among others he felt that he could look back with sincere pleasure upon the many pleasant associations which had attached him to Norwood. He saw in the not distant future a bright outlook for this village, and he would still take a proud interest in its welfare, and hoped to see its inhabitants continue a happy and prosperous people. Mr. Griffin was enthusiastically applauded on taking his seat. Mr. Lewis, contractor on the Ontario & Quebec Railway, delivered an eloquent address, referring to the unity of the people of Norwood generally, but particularly of the courtesy he had received from Mr. Griffin, in all his business relations with that gentleman. He also interlarded his address by humorous references to several gentlemen present, which were accepted, as they were given with the utmost good will. Several other members of the company also spoke, expressing their good opinion of the guest, and the loss the village sustained in his departure. Mr. Thomas Burke proposed the health of Mrs. S. J. Griffin, a toast which was duly honored, and briefly responded to by Mr. Griffin. After the toast, "Our Host and Hostess," and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" the company broke up, after enjoying a very social evening around the festive board. The good things provided by "mine host" were of the most inviting and substantial kind, and did ample credit to his taste and skill as a caterer, and the manner in which the edibles disappeared, showed too that those he entertained fully appreciated his good qualities as such. Mr. Griffin left, on Monday morning for Dakota.

AT WORK AGAIN.

Mr. Leonard, with a very large staff of hands, has again commenced operations on the bridges near the grist mill for the Ontario and Quebec Railway. He thinks he will have the abutments ready for the ironwork of the two bridges in about two weeks, and, to notice the rapidity with which the large stones are put in position, one would opine that this statement is by no means exaggerated. Much interest is manifested in the work, and quite a number of villagers are daily viewing its progress. All are anxiously wishing for and looking for the advent of the iron horse.

CHANGED HANDS.

Mr. John McMillan has disposed of his frame building, now used by Mr. D. Foster on Peterboro' street, to Mr. Charles Searight, who intends converting the building into a large furniture shop and dwelling. Mr. Searight is certainly to be commended for his enterprising spirit, and it is to be hoped that the venture will prove to him a paying speculation. He pays $7.50 for the building and fifty-five feet of land adjoining.

BAD ROADS.

Our roads are in an unserviceable condition. In some places the snow is still many feet deep, while in other parts the roads are as bare as in the month of May. In fact there is no getting along with either wheeles or runners. The stages, which are compelled to travel their respective routes, have a hard time to reach their destinations.

AN EPIDEMIC

of some kind, or an epizootic, or an influenza, or nasal disease, or anything else you like to call it, prevails here to a frightful extent. Almost everybody you meet is afflicted by this epidemic, and many are suffering severely by this peculiar illness. The disease, whatever it may be, originates from a cold.

MORE NAVVIES.

During the past week a large number of strangers have struck our borough, and from the shattered appearance of not a few with a stick and a bundle upon their shoulders—it is presumed they intend to reinforce the army of navvies already plying their vocation in our vicinity. So far, though indulging in the free use of the intoxicating cup, they have behaved themselves in an orderly manner.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH., JAN. 31, 1879.
GENTLEMAN—Having been afflicted for a number of years with indigestion and general debility, by the advice of my doctor I used Hop Bitters, and must say they afforded me almost instant relief. I am glad to be able to testify in their behalf. THOS. G. KNOX. 14-2t

The Montreal city council is about to hire a staff of stenographers to report their speeches in full for their own exclusive perusal. It is expected to be a costly experimeut to the taxpayers, if the latter tolerate such a misappropriation of funds; but this is not likely.

PREPARE FOR SPRING.—After a long, severe winter the system needs cleansing of impurities. Nature must be assisted to recuperate, the Liver must act, all surplus bile and impurities be carried off. Zopessa acts as a gentle purgative. The results of a few doses are most surprising. Ask your druggist for a 10 cent sample. and try Zopessa, the most powerful remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, and Biliousness ever introduced in this country. 13-tf

PETEBBOROUGH, APRIL 12, 1883.

The Hudson Bay Route.

Prof. Bell, assistant director of the Government Geological survey, furnishes interesting particulars respecting Hudson's Bay and the surrounding country, deduced from a personal experience of six seasons. He says that to the south and southwest of James' Bay, a prolongation of Hudson's Bay, there is a large tract of land suitable for agricultural purposes, and that the wealth of natural resources, in fisheries, minerals and timber, of the Hudson Bay territory is sufficient to attract a large population. Along the rivers entering James' Bay there are large timber limits, abounding in material suitable for export, and which will be valuable when other timber limits are exhausted. In regard to the navigation of the Bay: the latter is open all winter, but the period of navigation, owing to shore ice, would only be about as long as that of the St. Lawrence. The average time of the numerous natural harbours being open is about six months. The importance of the development of a route to Europe by way of Hudson Bay to the Northwest cannot be over-estimated. If this route were opened the immense grain produce of our praiaies could be shipped to Europe the same season it is reaped, and, the shipments being made by water, the carriage could be done so much more cheaply, as compared with railway transit, as to make all the difference between successful and unsuccessful farming in the Northwest. At present, however, the need of such faciliti s is not felt so greatly. The inpour of immigrants makes a home market for the products of the country, but when the surplus of production leaves large amounts of grain for shipment, then the matter will be one of living importance. The development of this route will also afford a considerable relief from the monopoly, which the Pacific Railway Syndicate has the power to use so tremendously for its own advantage. If it becomes a fact, the railway will, a portion of the year at least, be compelled to diminish its rates. But the matter will have to be brought about, it seems, almost entirely by private enterprise. The Dominion Government's interests are so deeply complicated with those of the railway that any matter, of ever so great public utility, can hope for no encouragement so long as it is hostile to the monopolizing privileges of the railway. The Syndicate is a fixed burden on the country, but the Hudson Bay route gives the hope of, at least, partial relief from the tyranny of rates, which the briefest of experience shows that the Syndicate has the power, as well as inclination, to exercise. The public interest demands that the successful opening of the Hudson Bay route, should be made an accomplished fact.

The Crownless Czar.

Alexander III nominally reigns as Czar of all the Russians, but the reign of terror exercised over him by the Nihilists, has led the practically captive monarch to defer from time to time, the formal assumption of his murdered father's crown. The ceremony of coronation has been again postponed, and these frequent changes of date make every fresh announcement of time fixed for the ceremony, sound like a joke. There must be something radically wrong in Russia. The Nihilists are, of course, not very commendable citizens, but they must have some ground for resenting so strongly the withholding of the liberties they demand. In every other kingdom of Europe these sanguinary gentlemen are plotting, but outside of Russia their conspiracies seem to be mere amusement, unattended with any efforts to carry out their plans. But in Russia it is different. The evils the people suffer under there are so great and grievous that action is more demanded than discussion. The Czar may be disposed to follow out to a liberal extent, plans of Reform begun by his father in the liberation of the serfs, but on his succession to the throne he listened to bad advisers, and the chains of tyranny were strengthened and drawn tighter. The people were clamoring for even a small portion of the liberties enjoyed by subjects of constitutional governments; but no hope was held out, and the result is that Russia is in a state of anarchy, and its nominal ruler is mortally afraid to submit to the ceremony that will ratify his succession. The means adopted by the Russian Nihilists to secure reforms are repugnant to every instinct of civilization, yet their failure to secure these reforms from the feelings of justice of their autocratic rulers, excuses, if it does not justify, the excesses of the persons who, from centuries of tyrannical degradation, have had no chance of learning how to agitate for their rights by constitutional means. They have been ruled tyrannically, and, it is not to be wondered at, if they resort to kindred means to assist them in striking off the yoke of oppression.

Editorial Notes.

Mr. McCarthy's Railway Commission Bill has been strangled in committee in the House of Commons.

The Tory party have formally decided, under Sir John Macdonald's directions, to oppose every proposal looking to the promotion of reciprocal trade with the United States.

The Halifax Recorder remarks that the farmer is protected by placing ten per cent. additional on agricultural implements and machinery, five per cent. on his drain tiles, and placing sausage skins on the free list.

No stone is left unturned to increase Mr. Meredith's chances of sitting upon the Treasury benches. Unable to get there by the vote of the people, he will strive to attain his end by contesting the return of every opponent where the slightest hope exists of the protest being sustained.

"Even the heartless Angel of Death seemed affected by sympathy for the beloved philanthropist, Peter Cooper, who died in New York, last Wednesday, aged 92 years, and laid his icy hand so gently on the old man's heart that his last moments on earth were full of a peaceful quiet and perfect freedom from pain.

The latest rumor in connection with the coming reconstruction of the Dominion Cabinet is that the Hon. Frank Smith is soon to retire. Lieut.-Governor Archibald will be appointed to the Senate and taken into the Ministry as second member from Nova Scotia, without a portfolio, and Mr. Dalton McCarthy is to take the vacant Ontario seat.

The Canada Cotton Company's mills at Cornwall cover eleven acres of land and give employment to about 500 operatives. This is a good thing for the operatives and also for the stockholders, who are enabled to revel in prosperity while the people contribute to the support of the institution in the way of taxes. Protection is a fine thing for those few at the expense of the many.

During the last official year of the Mackenzie Government the sum of $180,691 was spent on immigration. Sir John A. Macdonald then asserted that the sum was extravagant—that no money should be spent on immigration. Yet, we find in the estimates of 1883, the sum of $570,487 to be spent for the same purpose. Sir John may claim to be consistent; but it is only consistency of action, as far as the interests of the Syndicate are to be served, by importing immigrants to purchase the railway lands of the latter.

The Imperial Budget for 1883 was presented in the House of Commons on Thursday. The revenue for the past year exceeded the estimate by £4,000,000, and the expenditure was £88,906,000, leaving a surplus of revenue over expenditure of £94,000. The estimated expenditure for the coming year shows a falling off of upwards of £3,000,000, and the revenue is about the same as last year. The public debt was reduced £7,100,000 the past year. Among the recommendations by the Government are the reduction of the income tax and the rate of telegraphic messages and the gradual removal of the duty upon goods made from silver. These reductions will reduce the anticipated surplus to £240,000.

The Orange Sentinel says: "We cannot for a moment conceive it to be possible that the Parliament of Canada will deny to our Association this simple measure of justice, and we look with confidence for the passage of the bill."

Our contemporary's imagination cannot be very active or it would "conceive" how Sir John will "conceive" some plan and carry it out, too, whereby he may evade the responsibility of fulfilling his promise to the Orange body. Sir John as leader of the overwhelmingly major party in the House of Commons, can carry this bill of incorporation, but as long as he sees he can make political capital out of allowing its defeat, so long will he continue to dupe the body that has put faith in his promises.

FOR a young Dominion the Dominion of Canada is going the pace. The following table shows the alarming rate at which the expenditure is increasing. It was, in

1867-68	$13,486,092
1868-69	14,038,081
1869-70	14,345,509
1870-71	15,623,081
1871-72	17,589,462
1872-73	19,174,647
1873-74	23,316,316
1874-75	23,713,071
1875-76	24,488,372
1876-77	23,519,301
1877-78	23,503,158
1878-79	24,455,381
1879-80	24,850,634
1880-81	26,502,564
1881-82	27,067,103
1882-83	(say) 30,000,000
1883-84	(say) 22,000,000

During a season of prosperity the burden of taxation is not so grievous, but when the wave of hard times strikes our shores, then there will be trouble.

THE CATHOLIC VOTE.

A Barefaced Attempt to Buy it Wholesale—How it Failed and Why Sir John's Real Opinions of Catholic Electors.

(From the Hamilton Tribune.)

OTTAWA, April 2.—(Special)—I have just learned the particulars of an attempt which was made in 1879 to capture the Catholic vote for the Opposition in the Ontario elections, which fell through. Mr. Mowat was sustained by a large majority: and the Mail in its chagrin, it will be remembered, abused the Irish Catholic electors as if they were the servants instead of being among the political masters of the politicians. The Tribune, as an independent newspaper, I have no doubt will be glad to get the information as a matter of news, having no love for either faction, and exclaiming with the dying Mercutio, "A plague on both your houses." The facts, as far as I have been able to gather them, are these:—

In 1868 the old Bank of Upper Canada premises on Duke street, Toronto (now the De La Salle Institute), were transferred to the Government of Canada. In 1870 the property was sold to the Christian Brothers for school purposes, one-fifth of the purchase money being paid at the time of sale. The balance was to be paid in annual instalments, with interest at 6 per cent. per annum; but up to the end of 1878 no progress had been made towards a settlement of the transaction. About the month of January, 1879, it appears that his Grace the Archbishop of Toronto, being anxious to have the school relieved of debt, retained Messrs. Foy, Tupper, and Macdonell to arrange with the Dominion Government terms upon which the principal and accrued interest were to be paid off. These facts are proven by the following letter sent by the well known John A. Macdonell, a member of the law firm named, to Sir Charles (then plain "Dr.") Tupper, the retiring Minister of Railways:—

FROM MACDONELL TO SIR CHARLES.

Foy, Tupper, & Macdonell,
Barristers, Solicitors and Attorneys,
Offices Equity Chambers,
Corner Adelaide and Victoria streets.
James J. Foy. J. Stewart Tupper, John A. Macdonell.

TORONTO, Jan. 23, 1879.

(Private.)

"Dear Mr. Tupper,

"The Archbishop of Toronto has asked me to attend to some business for him, and before writing to you officially on the subject I would like to know what your views are: In 1870 the old Bank of Upper Canada premises, which in 1867 were conveyed by the bank to the Queen,' were sold by order of the Minister of Public Works to the brothers of the Christian schools for $8,000 at auction. One-tenth of the purchase money was paid at the time of sale; one-fifth was to have been paid in fifteen days, and the balance in four equal annual instalments, with interest at six per cent.

"Since the day of sale nothing has been done. No portion of the principal or interest has been paid or called for. The Archbishop now wishes to have the matter settled up, and the purchase money paid, and the deed procured from the Government. The old gent. is not without hope that the Government may not claim all the interests on arrears, but he does not care to ask the Government to grant that favour. His object in coming to us, I fancy, was in the hope that we could get him favorable terms, and both in a business and poltial point of view I would like to meet his wishes. It will be a great matter for the office to get the business of the Arch-diocese, and I am most anxious to get his car politically. There is no doubt that he was unfavorable at the last election, believing that the Government would be returned; and the Ontario men conciliate him in every conceivable way, with the view of securing his influence at this coming election. I want to counteract Fraser's influence with him, and if he sees that Foy and I can secure favors at Ottawa for him he is likely to remain neutral at least.

"The way in which I put the application in behalf of the Brothers is that they were perfectly prepared and willing to carry out the agreement entered into at the time of sale, but the Government never enforced it if or gave them an opportunity of doing so, and I would ask for the carrying out of the purchase now on payment of the principal and the interest, which would have been paid had the Government enforced the bargain entered into.

"Would you speak to Sir John about it if you have a chance? He knows the Archbishop and his little peculiarities.

"We will be obliged if you will have the papers in the matter forwarded to us. When we receive them and hear from you we will write to you officially, and instructions can be sent to Foy in proper time to carry through the transaction on such terms as the Government may decide.

"I am acting for the Archbishop,

"Faithfully yours,

(Signed) "J. A. MACDONELL."

No immediate action was taken by Dr. Tupper, but as the Ontario general elections were near at hand, on May 20 he wrote to the following effect:—

SIR CHARLES TUPPER TO J. A. MACDONELL.

Ottawa, May 20th, 1879.

"My Dear Macdonell,

"I have consulted Sir John about that matter of the old Bank of Upper Canada premises, and we have decided to knock off the interest, as you suggest. The case will go to council forthwith, as Sir John says, but little confidence is to be placed in the breed, we shall hold its final settlement in abeyance until after the elections, when it can be passed through. In the meanwhile if you could send Foy here on some kind of business with instructions to also enquire how this particular affair is progressing he will ascertain that it has been referred and recommended by me to Council, which he will naturally report to your client on his return to Toronto."

Two days later the Minister of Public Works presented the following report to the Council:—

"DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS,
"OTTAWA, 22nd May, 1879.

"Memorandum.]

"The undersigned has the honor to report that the property on Duke street, Toronto, known as the old Bank of Upper Canada, deeded to the Government on the 20th August, 1867, in payment on account of the general indebtedness of the Bank to the Government, was under the authority of Orders in Council passed on the 13th September, 1869, and on the 30th August respectively, sold at public auction to Mr. James Stock for $8,400, the terms of payment being one-fifth cash and the remainder in four annual instalments with interest at 6 per cent.

"That the purchase was made by Mr. Stock for and on behalf of the Christian Brothers, who have since the purchase and up to the present time occupied the building for school purposes.

"That no further payment than the fifth cash paid at the time of the purchase has been made by the Christian Brothers, and that until recently no demand had been made to them for payment.

"That the Christian Brothers, through their agents, now represent that they should not be made to pay the interest which, through the inaction of the Government, has accrued on the unpaid instalments of the purchase amount, alleging, moreover, that the premises were a source of loss while occupied by the Government, and that they have not enhanced in value since purchased by them,

"That Mr. J. Samond Smith, who was agent of the Government, and in charge of the premises for some years previous to the purchase, and Mr. E. B. Osler, General Manager of the North of Scotland and Canadian Mortgage Company (limited), of Toronto, have been asked for an estimate of the present value of the property and both have expressed the opinion that, apart from the improvements made to it by the Christian Brothers, the property is not worth any more to-day, or perhaps not as much, as when sold in 1870.

"The undersigned, under all the circumstances of the case, and in view of the charitable use to which the building in question is applied by the Christian Brothers, and seeing that it could not be sold for the price obtained in 1870, would recommend that on condition of the immediate payment of the whole amount of the purchase money by the Christian Brothers, the property be transferred to them without interest.

"Respectfully submitted.

(Signed) "CHAS. TUPPER.
"For Minister of Public Works."

The endorsement on the back of this report to Council shows that it was referred to a committee of the Honourable the Privy Council, and afterwards referred back to the Minister of Public Works All this is easy to understand. It was necessary that the matter should be reported to Council, in order to satisfy Mr. Foy, and its reference back to the Minister of Public Works was merely to secure delay until after it was known how the Catholic vote had been cast at the Ontario general elections. The date of Sir Charles' report to Council is May 22; the Ontario elections were on June 7th, a fortnight latter. Now, mark what follows! The request made on behalf of the Christian Brothers was, according to Sir Charles' own showing, not an unreasonable one; but in the intervening period the Mowat Government was sustained, and about the 9th and 10th of June appeared in the Mail and the Evening News those editorial attacks upon the Irish Catholic electors which now form a part of the electoral history of our Province. On June 27, Dr. Tupper's views had changed, and Messrs. Foy, Tupper & Macdonell had apparently lost all hope of getting "the business of the Arch-diocese," for the following letter was addressed to those gentlemen by the Secretary of the Public Works Department:—

"OTTAWA, June 27, 1879.

"GENTLEMEN,—As agents on behalf of the community of the Christian Brothers of Toronto, who have made application to be relieved from the necessity of paying arrearred interest on the amount of the purchase money from the building, known as the old Bank of Upper Canada, I am directed to convey to you the regret of the Hon. the Minister, that the view taken by the Government as to the necessity of carrying out the terms of the purchase (such purchase having been effected through public auction) has rendered it impossible for them to accede to the representations made to him on behalf of your clients.

"I am, gentlemen,

"Your obedient servant,
"F. BRAUN,
"Secretary.

"Messrs. Foy, Tupper & Macdonell, Barristers, Toronto."

ANOTHER SPECIAL SESSION

Tinkering the License By-law The Lockup Blockade Looking for Lodgings Many Other Minor Matters.

Council met in special session on Monday evening. Present—His Worship in the chair, Messrs. Cahill, McNaughton, Kelly, Paterson, Sawers, Yelland, Rutherford, Menzies, and Hartley.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received from H. C. Winch, in reference to taxes—Referred to Court of Revision.

From Chas. J. Chapman & Co., in reference to a directory they were preparing, and requesting the Council to subscribe for copies.—Referred to Printing Committee.

Accounts were presented (and were referred to appropprpriate committees) from Times' Printing Co., $64.05; Adam Hall, three fire alarm bells, $120; Peterboro' Gas Co., $43.20.

THE BUSINESS.

His Worship said the meeting had been called to consider the license by-law, and while waiting for a deputation, the Council might attend to a few minor matters.

THE LOCKUP.

The matter of a lockup was brought up, and Chief Johnston explained that the lockup was all right, but that the work on the new fire hall stables had destroyed the approaches. The matter was discussed, and

Mr. Paterson moved, seconded by Mr. Menzies, that Messrs. the Mayor, Rutherford, Sawers, Hartley and Menzies be a committee to provide a temporary lockup, to be used till such time as the matter of securing the Toronto Bank premises be decided.

Mr. Cahill thought the committee unnecessary. It was no use thinking of fitting up a lockup in the old town hall, it was impracticable.

Mr. Rutherford agreed with Mr. Cahill, but the motion was adopted.

CHARITY.

Mr. Rutherford spoke of the destitute and unprotected state of the Billings family. The Russell family were also introduced as fit objects of attention, all being sick, and no one being well enough to administer medicine to another.

On motion the case of both families was referred to the Charity Committee with power to act.

LICENSE BY-LAW.

His Worship stated that the license by-law provided that places where liquor is sold should be closed at 7 o'clock. Grocers selling liquors were willing to quit selling at 7 o'clock, but they thought it a hardship to be compelled to close their grocery shops at that time.

Mr. Cahill introduced a by-law to amend the license by-law, which was referred to the Committee of the Whole, Mr. Hartley in the chair.

Mr. Rutherford said the introduction of the by-law, without due notice, was a discourtesy to the Committee on By-laws. He had doubts as to the competency of the Council to pass a by-law, and the Council should be sure they have power to act before the matter went any further, and he would move that the committee rise without further action. The matter should be referred to the License Committee to investigate.

His Worship explained that he had called the meeting at the earnest solicitation of parties concerned. He had no doubt of the power of the Council to pass the by-law.

Mr. Sawers read from the statute, to show that the Council had no right to close premises in question; the Act only forbade selling after seven o'clock on Saturday nights.

Mr. Menzies thought the by-law should be repealed, it was unfair to thus interfere with trade.

Mr. Yelland thought it would be well to shut all shops at seven o'clock on Saturday night.

Mr. McNaughton thought if business men paid their hands on Friday night shopping could be done earlier.

Mr. Rutherford said the Council had power to cause liquors and groceries to be kept separate. He still doubted the power to pass the by-law before the Council now.

Mr. Paterson asked if the commissioners acted on the clause of the old by-law.

His Worship—No, but they feel that they will be compelled to enforce the clause.

Mr. Paterson thought that if the inspector attended to his other duties without enforcing this by-law, he would do well.

Mr. Cahill thought the Council was not exceeding its power.

The by-law received its third reading and was duly passed, the word "shops" having been stricken out of the original by-law, so that the regulation as to closing does not apply to them.

An application of James Fuller, for extension of sidewalk on Chamberlain street, was referred to the Street Committee, with power to act.

On the communication of Dr. Kincaid coming up, stating that Edward Connor was still unfit to work, Mr. Rutherford moved that the grant of $4 per week be discontinued, and Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Sawers, in amendment, that the grant be reduced to $3 per week till next meeting of Council.

Mr. Rutherford withdrew his motion and the amendment passed.

CORPORATION OFFICES.

Mr. Sawers stated the, the lease of the Toronto Bank buildings expired the 1st of next May, and the lease of the present premises expired in another year, and he would therefore move, seconded by Mr. Paterson, that the town should consider the propriety of purchasing the buildings erected on town property on the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, and east of the engine house, and known as the Bank of Toronto Building, for town offices, etc., and that the matter be referred to a special committee composed of Councillors Paterson, Rutherford, Hartley, Douglas and Denne, to report to the Council. The motion was agreed to.

TOWN TRUST COMMISSIONER.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Sawers, that Mr. John Garvey be appointed a Commissioner of the Town Trust in the stead of Mr. Wm. Toole, who was out of town and not likely to return. Mr. G. had large interests in the town and would make a capable commissioner.

Mr. Hartley advised that the matter be allowed to stand as it was likely that Mr. Toole would return to town. The adoption of the resolution would not be respectful to him.

Mr. Menzies also stated that Mr. Toole would return to town in a short time; he had received communications from him to that effect.

Mr. Cahill said that he had no feeling against Mr. Toole; he had forfeited the position by an absence of 12 months, and the office should be filled.

Mr. Rutherford said that Mr. Toole was likely to return and resume business in town.

Mr. Paterson preferred that the matter be left over a short time.

The motion was lost on the following division:

YEAS. Messrs. Cahill, Kelly, Sawers—3.

NAYS.—Messrs. McNaughton, Paterson, Yelland, Rutherford, Menzies and Hartley—6.

Messrs. McDonald Bros. asked that the snow be cleared off the sidewalk at the south end of George street.

Mr. Rutherford said that too much money had been spent in clearing streets.

Mr. McNaughton said that most of the money had been spent in No. 2 Ward.

Mr. Paterson said the expense was due to the rigour of the season.

On motion of Mr. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, it was directed that Mr. Smith, the contractor for drawing the engine, do the work required by the petition.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On motion, the matter of parties asking relief in reference to taxes was referred to the Charity Committee with power to act.

On motion, the License Inspector was instructed to take steps at once to collect all license fees now due.

Council adjourned nine die.

HON. T. N. GIBBS.

Senator Gibbs, who died at Oshawa, at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning, after a brief but severe illness, was an native of Terrebonne, in the Provinces of Quebec, to which place his father, Mr. Thomas Gibbs, emigrated from England in 1819. There, the subject of this sketch was born in 1821, and on the removal of the family to Oshawa in 1832 he took up his abode there with them. In partnership with his brother he established a very large milling and produce business at Oshawa, and he subsequently became connected with the direction of several financial societies, including the Confederation Life Association, the Dominion Telegraph Company, the London and Canadian Loan and Agent Company, the St. Lawrence Bank, and the Standard bank. He made an unsuccessful attempt to enter Parliament for North Ontario in 1854, and succeeded in South Ontario in 1866. He continued to represent the latter in the House of Commons until his defeat in 1874, and was re-elected for it in 1876. After his defeat in 1878 he was raised to the Senate. From June to November, 1873, he was a member of the Cabinet of Sir John Macdonald. Mr. Gibbs was a man of ability and great local influence.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

MARCH WEATHER NOTES.

Although we have not had such heavy snow falls in March as in some years, for instance in 1870, when it fell 2½ feet during the month, still we have received a considerable share of storms, the severest of which was on the 18th and 19th, following a rain storm, when it fell 11 inches, with a piercing north-east wind, the thermomiter never rising above zero during its continuance. Snow fell on 8 days to the depth of 15 54-100 inches; rain fell on 3 days to the depth of 1 34-100 of an inch. The intenseness of the cold can be easily ascertained by learning the low temperature of the month. On 11 mornings the thermometer went below zero, but the steadiest cold dip, not only for the present March but during my experience, commenced on the night of the 18th. At sunrise on the morning of the 19th the thermometer stood 2 degrees below zero, on the 20th at 6 degrees below, on the 21st at 15 degrees below, on the 22nd at 18 degrees below, on the 23rd at 12 degrees below, an the 24th at 6 degrees below, and on the 25th at zero, making a total average temperature for the month of 15° 26-31 at sunrise and sunset, while March of 1881 averaged 22° 19-31, and March of 1882 averaged 25° 1-31. Although mild for a few days after, still, near the latter end of the month, we experienced it again below zero. Crows made their appearance on the 2nd, continuing ever since.

We can give no information regarding our fall wheat owing to the continuance of winter, suffice to say that should old prophet's predictions be true, that plenty of snow means good fall wheat, we have got it this year.

We have a good stringent by-law in this township, but until the Legislature by statute stop cattle from running at large it will be of little use planting shade trees, as they will be liable at any time to be destroyed by cattle straying on the public highways.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Business is very dull.

The ice still holds good in the river.

Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., passed through here a few days ago, looking hale and hearty.

The band was out for practice twice last week. They are progressing favorably.

The skating rink has been closed for the season.

The American House has changed hands, Mr. John McLachlan retiring from business, succeeded by Mr. John Frost, of Roseneath.

Quite a number of teams are still passing to and fro over Rice Lake; as far as heard from no one has been immersed, although the ice in some places is getting thin and bad.

Two of the early pioneers of this township passed away to their reward, and were interred in the Pine Grove cemetery, Keene, during this week. The name of the former being Mr. Robert Nelson, and of the latter, Mr. Peter McFarlane, both gentlemen being highly respected and esteemed by the whole community.

DYNAMITE DOINGS.

The recent arrests in England in connection with the explosions and manufacture of explosive substances has excited the most intense indignation, and impelled the imperial athorities to increased precautions for the safety of public buildings and officials. Numerous arrests have been made within the past three days in London and several districts in Ireland, and the police profess to have secured the principals in the dynamite conspiracy, and one of the men selected to carry out their fiendish designs. It is understood that the plotters contemplated simultaneous explosions at various portions of London and also at Windsor Castle, where Her Majesty is residing. An endeavor to reach some of the Cabinet Ministers was also embraced in the programme. At the examination of several of the prisoners on Saturday the evidence showed that the explosives in their possession were of the most destructive nature. It is rumoured that one of the accused will become approver at the examination on Thursday.

Confidence.

ZOPESA is a certain preventive of malarial troubles, as it keeps the Liver active. It makes Bilious fever impossible. On the same grounds it makes Indigestion impossible and the blood pure.

It is want of judgment to allow prejudice to prevent one from trying this remedy. The writer has seen many such, who, being persuaded, were surprised and gratified at the results. Try a 10-cent sample. 13-tf

By the bill recently passed by the Wisconsin Legislature, prohibiting the employment of children under fourteen in factories, it is estimated that some three thousand children have been thrown out of employment at Milwaukee.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 12, 1883.

Sir John's Surrender.

In view of the shape events have recently taken in reference to the Orange bill the Ottawa Free Press suggests that the motto "No Surrender" be amended by the addition of the words, "except to Quebec Bleus." After promising incorporation Sir John found himself in a pretty bad corner, when the Bleus of Quebec "kicked" so violently against the measure. He appealed to his Quebec followers for their party support, showing them how important it was to him; but they resisted all the honey of his persuasive eloquence and remained firm. It is stated that John White, who has been made the scapegoat of Sir John by having the bill confided to his charge, will, out of deference to the wishes of his leader, either withdraw it or defer its presentation till of necessity it will be hoisted over to the next sesion. If the Orange body's loyalty to Sir John, is stronger than their loyalty to their order, they will overlook the "Chieftains" breach of faith. Nothing is wanted beyond the Premier's attitude on this question to show that he has been prostituting the matter of Orange incorporation to political purposes.

The Schemers.

The Review publishes, with a good deal of display, a special telegram announcing the visit of a deputation to Ottawa in reference to the Trent Valley Canal—with a view of securing a grant during the present session for another section of that water-way. With the representatives of these ridings, Messrs. Hilliard and Burnham, were the following:—Messrs. Carnegie, Smith and Morrow, of Peterborough; Cockburn, East Northumberland; Dundas, of South Victoria; McFarlane (Reeve), Switzer, Howell, Clew, Ganton and Stafford, of Midland; Thompson, of Penetanguishene; Quinn, of Orillia; Rutledge, of Coldwater, and a number of others. It will be observed that there is not a single gentleman of Liberal politics in the deputation—all hide-bound Tories. This lop-sided aspect of the deputation is another proof of the political use to which a scheme, palpably and undeniably in the public interest, is being put. There is little doubt that the deputation was thus composed, lest the presence of a Reformer should interfere with the consideration of the political questions, that would, of necessity, be so intimately connected with, and form the major part of the matter. The cry is losing its political power in the Midland District, and a conference such as that doubtless held last Thursday, was necessary to devise some new form of gulling the electors through the Trent Valley Canal scheme which Tory politicians have made a "scheme" in the more degraded acceptation of the word. But the "scheme" has lost its power to fool.

The Policy of Protest.

From legitimate attacks on the policy of the Mowat Administration, down through the multiform phases of unfair and dishonest attacks, corrupt influence, slander, political lying, undue influence, direct bribery, and all the dishonest endeavors to wield the influence of the Dominion Government, the Tory party has reached the protest dodge to effect the defeat of the Reform Government of Ontario. Knowing the tactics employed by our Tory friends to secure the success of their party, it is not to be wondered, that the return of Tory members elect, occupying in prospective, purchased seats, should be petitioned against. But the protests entered against Reformers are, without doubt, directed from Ottawa. Sir John thinks, and his success in Muskoka justifies his opinion, that, in any constituency, especially with a narrow Reform majority, if, by any means, no matter what, the election can be voided, he will be able to succeed, by tactics and influences that proved effective in Muskoka, in securing the seat for his henchman, Mr. Meredith. What goes to show that Sir John directs what protests to be entered, is the fact that some of the protests are actually entered without the knowledge of the leading Tories in a riding. In proof, the Pembroke Standard, a Conservative paper, makes the following remarks concerning the protest again Mr. Thos. Murray, of North Renfrew:

"This protest took at least the largest portion of the Conservatives here by surprise, and unless there are good grounds—strong personal grounds for this protest—we fail to see why our people cannot be allowed the political peace which is looked forward to between the terms of the usual dissolutions of our parliaments. The Conservative Association of this town has no hand in this to our knowledge, and therefore we claim that Conservatives should not be blamed for the work of one or two who may belong to that party. The first announcement of Mr. Murray's protest was given through the daily papers, and it is now stated that Mr. Murray has been served with the preliminary papers."

To serve the political ends of Sir John, the country is to be kept in a turmoil, and is not allowed to enjoy its "political peace." Thus far, the Conservative protests exceed the Reform by about five to three. The following is the list to date, and more are to follow:

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

Local Spring Sittings of the Chancery Division.

The spring sittings of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice began in the Court House on Friday last, His Lordship, Chancellor Boyd, presiding.

There was a more than usual amount of business, and the bar was well represented, the local members being Messrs. E. B. Edwards, N. D. Beck, R. E. Wood, E. A. Peck, C. W. Sawers, J. F. Dennistoun, E. H. D. Hall, D. W. Dumble and James Henry. There were also present Hon. Sidney Smith, Q.C., Cobourg, F. H. Hilton, Trenton, Charles Moss, Q.C., Z. A. Lash Q.C., and G. T. Blackstock, Toronto, and W. H. Biggar, Belleville.

The first case engaging the attention of the Court was

SMITH VS. MIDLAND RAILWAY COMPANY.—This was was an action of ejectment brought against the Midland Railway Company by the assignor of a purchase at a tax sale, to eject the defendents from the land purchased. The land in question is near the Auburn Mills, in the township of Douro, and is crossed by the railway siding to the mills. Judgment reserved. Hon. Sidney Smith, Q. C., and Z. A. Lash, Q.C., counsel, and Smith & Peck solicitors for plaintiffs Charles Moss, Q.C., counsel, and W. H. Biggar solicitor for defendants.

BLACK VS. STRICKLAND.—The defendants made application to postpone the hearing on account of the absence of a material witness. Application granted, and the case stands till next sitting of the court. G. T. Blackstock, counsel, and C. W. Sawers solicitor for plaintiff; Z. A. Lash, Q. C., counsel, and Dennistoun and Hall, solicitors for defendants.

STETHEM VS ULLYOTT. An action for trespass, which consisted in defendant opening a lumber road across a free grant lot owned by plaintiff in Austruther. The defendant tendered $100 before the suit was begun, and also claimed that the road had not injured but rather benefitted the lot. The injunction to restrain the defendant from using the road was refused and reference was allowed as to damages to the Master, the plaintiff to take the risk as to costs. Charles Moss, Q.C., and Messrs. Poussette & Roger for plaintiff; Messrs. Dumble & Henry for defendant.

FITZGERALD VS. FITZGERALD.—An action to recover possession of land. Mr as W. Fitzgerald had the deed of land he had purchased drawn in the name of his wife. The latter having since died, the plaintiff brings suit to recover possession of the land, which it is claimed was deeded in trust. The defendants claim the deed as absolute. Judgment reserved. Mr. Moss, Q.C., counsel, and Mr. E. B. Edwards solicitor for plaintiff, Messrs. Edmison & Wood, for adult defendant, and Mr. Lash and Messrs. Dennistoun & Hall for minor defendants.

DUNLOP VS. DUNLOP.—An action to recover possession of a plot of land. The father of plaintiff, David Dunlop, made a deed of gift of the land to plaintiff, but a brother, Thos. Dunlop, is in possession. The question in dispute is the validity of the deed. The case is allowed to stand. Mr. Edwards for plaintiff, Mr. Blackstock and Mr. Moore for defendant.

MR. MOWAT AT CLINTON

His Vigorous Speech on the Situation.

The Reformers of Huron recently celebrated their triumph in re-electing their three staunch representatives, by a banquet. Among the guests were Hon. Mr. Mowat, Hon. Mr. Hardy, and others, who gave addresses.

After a few introductory remarks the Premier said, in referring to the present representatives, that while their fidelity to their party and principles could not be questioned, the possibility had been referred to of others not being faithful, but among all the other representatives recently elected to support the Liberal Government he did not know a single one—he did not believe there was a single one—who would not be faithful to his trust. (Cheers). They had not as large a majority this time as they had in the previous contest. They had at the late election exceptional difficulties to contend with—not ordinary difficulties, but special and extraordinary ones.

THE GOVERMENT'S MAJORITY.

The Reformers of Huron had elected their candidates with diminished though adequate majorities, and the country as a whole had not given to the liberal Government so large a majority as before; yet the majority was such as would enable them to carry on the Government with vigor and efficiency. (Enthusiastic cheering.) He next ventured to say that during the next four years the Government would be as vigorously and as efficiently conducted by them as in the past. (Cheers.) Their supporters might not be so numerous as in the former House but they were true and faithful men, and there would be unity in maintaining the good cause. In this unity there would be unfailing strength. He did not know precisely what the majority would be. It was nine now; and this was without counting certain members who were elected by Reform votes, and were to a greater or less extent pledged to support Reform measures and the Reform Government. With such an administrative and legislative record as the Government had, it would have been natural to expect that they should be sustained by a larger and not a smaller majority than before. And if the elections had been allowed to proceed on Provincial issues the country would have been swept by the Reform party; the Opposition would have hardly a corporal's guard. The bye-elections had demonstrated this. The greatest convention ever held in this Province was that of last January, and there was manifested at it a degree of enthusiasm unsurpassed in our political history. How then was it that the Government had a smaller majority then before?

THE INFLUENCES AT WORK.

What where the influence which brought about this result? The explanation was plain. The fight was not with Mr. Meredith and his Provincial supporters, and did not turn on any policy of his or of the Opposition, as compared with our own. What the Reformers of Ontario had to contend with was the whole power and force of the Dominion Government—(cheers)—and of all it could command of money, of patronage, and of personal and party influence. The object of Confederation was to enable every province to manage its own provincial affairs with regard to government and legislation without outside interferences. The general government was to deal solely with matters of general interest to all. It was supposed that by Confederation that object had been secured. But what did they find now? The very reverse. At the late elections the power vested in the Dominion Government of the day by the province for a totally different purpose had been employed against a Provincial Government, which, if left to themselves, the people were going to sustain by an increased majority. Dominion power and influence were employed to limit our legislative rights, destroy our constitutional privileges, and provert the spirit of Confederation and the policy hitherto pursued under it. (Cheers.) The chief means employed against them was the most effective, the most dangerous, and the most indefensible, namely, the free use of money obtained through Dominion influence. There was a most

LAVISH EXPENDITURE OF MONEY

in almost every county and wherever it was thought money was needed or would be useful, It was the common judgment of patriotic men and good men in all lands with elective institutions and there is nothing so bad as bribing the people in order to secure their votes. The Dominion Government have large powers in this direction if they are not deterred by their principles from using them. They knew that the present Dominion Government thought it no harm to employ its powers in that way. The Pacific Railway scandal, which came to light in 1873, showed this, and by their own testimony and their own acts the Government of Sir John Macdonald admitted it. So a bill introduced into the House of Commons during the present session forbidding Dominion contractors to subscribe to election funds was opposed and voted down by John Macdonald and his followers. It was easy enough, where conscience did not interfere, for the contractor's subscriptions to be made good out of the public purse. At the recent general election the central fund of the Reformers were scarcely sufficient to pay for the printing required and for the agent's rooms in Toronto, while the Conservatives on the other hand had no end of money. Dominion contractors went into various constituencies carrying the money bags. They and other agents were found in the constituncies where they were not known, where they did not pretend to have come to address public meetings, and where they must have gone for illegitimate purposes only. Sometimes they were called cattle buyers, sometimes commercial travellers, free with money and free with whiskey. They invented

NEW FORMS OF BRIBERY.

as well as practised old forms, and conducted the whole business in a manner which great astuteness and long practice only could account for. He hoped, and he expected, that in the election trials they would be able to bring many of these things to the light of day. If they should be able to drag out by sufficient legal evidence the misdeeds by which many of our friends have been defeated and the majorities of others reduced he ventured to say that the result would shock the moral sentiment of the country more than the Canadian Pacific Scandal did in 1873—(cheers)—and with a like effect at subsequent elections. Vast timber limits in North-West had, under the peculiar system in vogue at Ottawa been sold without public competition or advertisement to friends of the Dominion Government and their Ontario proteges. The Ontario system for disposing of timber limits was very different. Under the Ontario Government, when limits are to be sold they are first extensively advertised, and the sale is by public competition to the highest bidder, whether he is a political foe or a political friend. The Dominion Government makes its sales secretly for nominal bonuses, and as means of political influence and support. Taking into account the large sum of money which Dominion contractors or intending contractors and others have advanced, but which in effect is ultimately taken from

THE PUBLIC EXCHEQUER.

and adding to these sums the value of the timber limits disposed of for a song. He believed that in order to defeat the Reformers in Ontario at the late election, half a million of public money and public property had been expended or sacrificed. They hoped to be able to establish not a little of this. If they should not, it would be because the witnesses would not stay in the country to be examined, or because they might not be able to get the truth from them. It is unfortunate that in this Province, as everywhere else, there are many poor men or ignorant men who from poverty or ignorance, and others who from sheer want of principle, are purchaseable. He rejoiced to believe—indeed to know—that the great body of people, Reformers and Conservatives, cannot be purchased by money or money's worth. But as there is a large purchaseable element, and considering the means employed and the skill with which the work was managed, it was a wonder that the Reformers came off so well as they did. Then there were false issues placed before the people, who were told these were of overshadowing importance, and so misled into voting against the interests of the Province and good government. But notwithstanding all that the Dominion Government could accomplish by lavish expenditure of money, by bringing to bear upon the contest Dominion, issues and by getting out of the foreground so far as they were able, all Provincial issues, and notwithstanding with the misrepresentation made through their party journals and otherwise, they had failed to accomplish their object; they had failed to put the Provincial Government in a minority, and they were now in consequence. (Loud cheers.) They had done all they thought needful to destroy the Reform party and the Provincial Government. They now think that if they had been a little more lavish in their expenditure they would have accomplished their purpose. (Laughter) In spite of all he had referred to, the verdict of the people had been that Mowat was not to go. (Tremendous cheering.) And is is now as certain as anything of the kind can be that this verdict will hold good for the next four years. By that time he hoped to have as good if not even a better record than that of the past. (Loud and prolonged cheering.)

GNASHING THEIR TEETH

Invitations to the firemen's Demonstration being extended to many other Fire Departments, and full arangements are in progress to ensure success.

Wiliam Butler, formerly a well-known resident of this town and eldest brother of the late John Butler, met his death by suicide in Toronto Bay about a week ago.

On Wednesday evening last, a very pleasant and sociable party sat down to supper in the British Hotel. The occasion was the presentation of prizes to the successful members of Cobourg Battery, and the hospitality was extended by Capt. Dumble.

At the annual election of officers for the Cobourg Fire Department for the ensuing year, held at Victoria Hall on Tuesday evening last, the following were re-elected; H. Barr, Chief Engineer: W. Pazet, 1st Assistant; Frank Carr, Secretary. The only change was the election of Harry Nicholls as 2nd Assistant.

There will be several new buildings erected this season, and many alterations and additions made to old ones.

On Wednsday of this week no fewer than four circulars were posted, announcing the funerals of four old residents of the riding. These were Mr. John McLeod, of Plainville, Mr. Hugh Halligan of Plainville, Mr. John Thomas, Haldimand, and Mrs. Andrew Halladay, of Cobourg. These were all old residents, and were very highly esteemed in their several localities.

BOBCAYGEON.

Mr. Roberts, the village constable, recently appointed, entered upon his duties this morning, Friday.

Mr. T. D. Belcher, Superintendant of the Trent works, is in the village giving instructions for the preparation of the works for the opening of navigation.

At a special meeting of the Council held Thursday night, Capt. Bottum, as Reeve, tendered his resignation. This action was brought about by the Captain having leased the Forest House.

A meeting of the School Board was held on Wednesday evening and the teachers were given permission to close the schools for a week or ten days, on account of the prevalence of measles.

A pair of professional gentlemen, says the Independant, usually found on race courses, visited the village last Friday, and taught some of our innocents a trick or two. They opened out business on the main street, and quickly gathered a crowd, principally farmers, who bit more freely than the villagers. In fact some of them bought ten and fifteen dollars worth of experience. Farmers as a rule are remarkably clever at figuring out forty feet of eighteen inch fire wood to be a cord and a half, but when they undertake to beat a race course gentleman at sleight of hand, then their guileless symplicity is certain to relieve them of their wealth. The wood trick is a good one, so also is the soap trick. Every one to their own line.

LINDSAY.

Dr. Herriman has been appointed town physician of Lindsay at a salary, of $145 per year. There is no doubt the new appointee will earn his salary if his contract includes curing Lindsay newspaper men of the malignant attack of Peterborough-phobia, with which they seem to be afflicted.

Mr. J. Britton, of Britton Bros., has been duly gazetted as an issuer of marriage licenses.

Mr. F. C. Taylor has been gazetted license commissioner for this town, succeeding the late Mr. McKibbon. This is an excellent appointment.

"Sweets to the sweet."—Mr. B. Walkie, gardener, placed on the table of the young man of the Post, last Saturday morning, a fine bunch of asparagus. This is the first of the season, and remarkably early. Who can beat it?

An agent for a Montreal business firm passed through Lindsay a week or two ago, and left with a number of parties post-card order blanks. One of these cards was made use of by some practical joker to order, in the name of a Lindsay merchant, a thumping big invoice of goods. The freight came to hand during the week and the first intimation the merchant had of the state of affairs was the shipping bills being presented for charges of carriage. He at once repudiated the matter and, of course, declined to receive the goods.

The large new sign of Bradburn & Co. sets off one side of the street nicely, and quite takes all the shine out of the shingles displayed opposite.

According to the local sheets the financial affairs of Lindsay are in only a "fairly prosperous" condition.

Harry Dean, son of engine driver Dean, of the Whitby, and who it will be remembered met with a very serious accident in the south last spring, died on Saturday last at his home, Whitby. The young man was well kown in Lindsay, where he had many friends who will hear of his untimely death with regret.

PORT HOPE.

Mr. Geo. Robertson has been appointed telegraph operator at the Midland railway station, Lindsay.

The Van Allen crossed the lake on Monday night loaded with barley, and will return with coal for Wright & Sons.

West Durham holds its county Prohibitory Convention on the 10th of May.

According to the auditors' report of the United counties of Northumberland and Durham, the treasurer had $13,000 in hand at the beginning of the year.

The staff of the Midland Railway machine shops has been increased, by the addition of Jno. Verner, Stratford, boiler maker, and Wm. Siddle, assistant, of the same place. The gentlemen, we notice by the Stratford Times, were made the recipients of addresses and presentations at the hands of their fellow mechanics before leaving for Port Hope.

Port Hope is greatly agitated over the appointment of Mr. John Douglass, formerly of Lindsay, as chief constable. Two or three indignation meetings have been held, the editor of the Guide has been assaulted and badly bruised by Dave Marshall, the late chief, who leads the malcontents in favor of home talent, and the councillors are in a state of trepidation. The trouble is, the Post says that Mr. Douglass is too good for Port Hope.

AN EDITOR ASSAULTED.—In a couple of issues of the Daily Guide, there appeared anonymous letters, which Mr. Marshall, late chief constable, believed were intended to reflect upon his character. After the first appeared, he says he went to Mr. Wilson, of the Guide, and told him he was not now officer of the corporation, and he did not want to be subject to any such newspaper attacks, and did not intend to quietly submit to such. If they were continued he said he would take the law into his own hands. On Tuesday there appeared another of the kind. Mr. Marshall was exasperated, and it was whispered around that he would cuff Mr. Wilson's ears should that gentleman appear on the public streets. On Wednesday morning as Mr. Wilson was standing in the post-office talking to Mr. Holland, Police Magistrate, Mr. Marshall approached him, and after a word or two struck him across the face twice with the back of his hand. At once the blood began to flow freely from Mr. Wilson's nose. In a few minutes the assault was the exciting topic of conversation all through the street. Shortly afterwards Mr. Wilson appeared on the street again, not looking much the worse for wear, except that he was very pale. Mr. Wilson immediately lodged an information against Mr. Marshall before the Police Magistrate for assault. Mr. Marshall was tried before Mr. Holland, Police Magistrate, and Mayor Hugel, with the result that Marshall was fined $20 and costs, the heaviest penalty allowed by the Statute.

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly
JOHN McDONALD.

OPS, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Pacific:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR, -I would ask the privilege of replying to Mr. Bird's communication of last week, on the school supplies, though judging from his closing remarks he is anxious for the last word as well as the first. I shall not, however, at this stage of the correspondence, treat his communication with the silent contempt which he would evidently much more prefer than the criticism which his gross, and apparently wilful, misrepresentations invite. Or it may be that he does not consider his last and most prolonged effort, the "logical" facts demonstrated, with the solution of "mathematical problems," entitled to very much consideration or reply. With regard to the charge that I have tried to injure his "business character," I much regret if that inference is possible from anything I have written; nothing of the kind was intended. I deny that I have ever intentionally insinuated anything against Mr. Bird's character. I here state distinctly, that when I mentioned the error in the ink I did not think, nor have I ever said, that it was intentional; more, from what I have known of Mr. B. for over six years (exclusive of this correspondence), I consider him fully entitled to the confidence of the public in all business matters.—I could say no more than this if Mr. Bird had treated me as a gentleman instead of forgetting common decencies. I am not prepared, notwithstanding all his abuse, to try to injure his or any other man's character over such an absurdedly unimportant matter. And, in connection with the error, I intimated that his "good character" would be of more service to him than any explanation he could make. I am bound to state that with the character he has given me, Mr. B. would never believe that I made such a mistake unintentionally. I stated the fact of his charging for a half gallon of ink and only supplying a quart, for over two years, to show that he was capable of perpetuating a mistake, which he could only explain as such on his word of honor, and that if he expects me to accept that explanation, he should have some regard for my word unless he moves in a higher sphere. A somewhat similar error occurred before. He could not explain how it happened (as he stated to the board), but his word was accepted by the school board without any reflections; but, I presume, there is no honor except with him.

He boasts that he observed an error last year in his account that was not noticed by the board, and that I failed to discover, etc., etc. Well, my version of that is this: An account of Mr. B.'s was presented to the board and paid shortly after I became a member. Exception was taken to the teachers' procuring the class books in the account, without permission from the managing committee. When, in a few months, Mr. B.'s account was again sent in, fault was again found with the teachers getting class books mentioned in the account. Mr. B.'s account was laid over and not paid till this matter was enquired into. I asked the headmaster about the class books, who informed me if there were more class books than the first, the account was wrong. I then asked the secretary for the two accounts. He promised to get them for me, and some time afterwards told me he had them, and that Mr. Bird had found he had made a mistake and the teachers had not been to blame, or something to that effect. But the following correspondence will speak for itself. Attached to a copy of one account is the following:

Mr. Casement:

I think this bill is all right, but cannot state positively, as I keep no account of articles procured for school.

A. SHEARER.

Nov. 29, 1882.

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 12, 1882.

To W. H. Casement, Secretary:

DEAR SIR, I enclosed the accounts you ask for, to the Chairman, which I handed you a few days ago, with explanations. I regret the error.

Yours, etc.,
T. J. BIRD.

To the Lakefield School Board:

DEAR SIRS,—I find by examination of my books that you have been charged twice for some things last account. Cannot account for it only by carelessness in posting the books. I send you copies of both accounts rendered, one on the 1st February, 1882, and the other on Nov. 14th, 1882, by which you can see how it is. Am sorry that this mistake has happened; however, I credit the School account to-day $3.30.

Yours very truly,
T. J. BIRD.

Here, it will be seen, (1st) that the board refused to pay Mr. B.'s account till enquiry was made as to its correctness; (2nd) that Mr. Bird was asked for the accounts, without doubt knowing the object of the request.

If Mr. B. is "logically correct, certainly he is not so morally; and there is no compliment in doing what the law would most surely compel him to do. Is it not somewhat surprising to observe that he is going to wait for the board to make the discovery as to whether he has made any mistake with regard to the ink?

Mr. B. gives a solution of a mathematical problem for my "edification" and "assistance." I would advise him to be more careful before he again assumes to edify and assist in mathematics. His account, which I have, I enclose to you. By the account for 1882, Mr. B.'s tender would be:

7½ gals. ink, 30c	$2 25
12 boxes crayons, 15c	1 80
1 ream foolscap paper	1 50
	$5 55

Mr. Henderson's would be:

7½ gals ink, 25c	$1 87½
12 boxes crayons, 14c	1 68
1 ream paper	2 10
	$5 65½

This leaves 10½ cents in Mr. B.'s favor on a whole year's supply. I stated it would not be 12½ cents, and am correct; and for this small sum we would have the good paper instead of the inferior. Mr. B. may also have blundered over this, but it looks very much as if he had given 1½ reams of paper instead of 1 ream intentionally—please refer to the account itself.

He tries to explain why I refrained from voting at the December meeting, and has found a solution. He says "all" the members had intimated how they were going to vote, etc. This is simply false. The chairman had not intimated that he was going to vote at all. I am prepared to prove this, I believe, by every member of the late board. Mr. Bird has certainly wonderful resources for obtaining information.

Mr. Bird most philosophically proves his testimony to be positive, while mine is negative. The testators in favor of his school boy positiveness, are Messrs. Galvin, Sanders and Dr. Armour. The first has given him a flat denial; the others, as I stated before, both admitted at the March meeting of the board that, if answer to Mr. Wilson's question, I said: "I did not know whether Mr. Henderson had the cheaper paper or not." Thus, every member of the board has testified in my favor, and I can give him four spectators as respectable as his "two." Allow me now to summarize a few of Mr. Bird's errors in this correspondence; if any of them are "suggestive" it is not my fault:

1.—He gives remarks of mine as quotations and then admits "perhaps" that he is not correct.

2.—He tells the public that he has permission to use a name to verify his statements, meets with a denial, but makes no explanation.

3.—He refers to me as saying that I have withstood "severe discourtesy" at his hands.

4.—That I say I paid him an "unmerited great courtesy." Neither of these statements are anywhere to be found in my communications—not even the "meaning."

5.—He boasts of having discovered an error in his own account, before the board, while as a matter of fact, they would not pay it until they were satisfied whether it was correct or not.

6.—He solves a mathematical problem for my edification and assistance. His solution is wrong, as his account in his own hand writing will show.

7.—He says the "most" Mr. Wilson and Mr. Gordon could say was that they did not hear me. This is not true. They both allowed me to use their names in support of my denial, and have stood by their word. Mr. Wilson's letter gives some "positive" evidence on this point.

8.—That the chairman intimated that he intended even to vote at the December meeting, can be disproved by every member of the late board.

9. For the last two and a half years he has furnished the school board a half gallon of ink in a quart bottle, something over once a month. He wont accept my statement that this is so. Has he no source of information for obtaining the facts regarding his own transactions? He seems much better able to define my position than his own.

He has provoked the whole of this discussion to verify some hearsay statements, but when his own honor is attacked he has not a word to say in defense of himself.

With regard to my communications being "slanderous and abusive," we will compare notes. Some of my personal references to him are as follows:—

"I have always considered Mr Bird as a gentleman, as one who stands high in the public esteem, for his cheerful, genial and social qualities."

"I yet hesitate to believe he would have done so in the spirit he has if he had been aware of the facts."

"Should his good character be of more service to him than any explanation he can make," etc., etc.

A few of his personal references to me are as follows:—

He has been done an injustice through my officious partiality and underhand manœuvring.

That he will resent an injustice derived through my unscrupulous efforts.

That I have descended to the mean and dishonorable act, etc., etc.

If I would make myself so officiously partial for a trifle what would I do for a substantial consideration.

In conclusion, I may say the public, so far as I know, apologize for Mr. Bird, by not considering him the author of such unblushing misrepresentations. I am quite disposed to give Mr. B. credit for having more brains and too much common sense, to commit such blunders against himself, and it might have been better to have attributed the articles to some conceited ass, than to have wasted time in replying. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am, dear sir,

Yours truly,
WM. CALDWELL.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

TUESDAY.

The budget debate was resumed this afternoon by Mr. G. W. Ross, who made a clear speech of about an hour and three-quarters duration. He divided the ground of his attack on the Government into two portions, the first being the great increase in the expenditure, which he considered out of all proportion to the wealth and resources of the country, and the second the alleged failure of the national policy. He pointed out that an inspection of the public accounts showed that the useless expenditures were even greater than appeared at a first glance, for a number of items were hidden away under improper heads. As for instance, he said, that the expenditure for immigration contained an item of $1500, travelling expenses of Sir A. T. Galt when he went to the Northwest to look after his interests in the Souris coal fields, and such items as $800 for repairs to a Pullman palace car for the use of the Governor-General on his trip to British Columbia were charged to the Eagle River portion of the Canada Pacific railway. He argued at great length that the tariff had failed in every respect to come up to what those who introduced it, had led the people to expect, and concluded by hoping that Sir Leonard Tilley would live to see the day, which was sure to come, when hard times would show the people that the National Policy was a failure, and they would decide not to perpetuate it.

Mr. Rykert followed on the Government side and spoke till recess, and for about an hour after.

After a short anti-National Policy speech by Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Charlton moved the adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned at a quarter to twelve, after a motion by Sir Leonard Tilley had been passed, to the effect that government business have precedence on Thursdays during the remainder of the session.

WEDNESDAY.

After routine the Finance Minister told the members of the Opposition that it was not the intention of the Government to remove the 10 per cent differential duty on tea imported from the United States.

Cape Breton is demanding more attention at the hands of the Dominion. Mr. Cameron (Inverness) spoke in support of making an appropriation for building 180 miles of railway on the island. He said Prince Edward Island, British Columbia and Manitoba had all been benefitted at the expense of Cape Breton, which in some respects was worse off now than before confederation. The speaker slightly hinted at separation, if satisfaction was not forthcoming.

The question of constitutionality was raised by Mr. Ouimet on Dalton McCarthy's bill respecting carriers by land. He argued that the measure was an encroachment on the civil rights and legislative powers of the provinces, the Dominion having no jurisdiction in cases of private contract. In this connection the hon. gentleman regretted that the constitutionality of federal and provincial legislation was so often questioned in court.

Messrs. Abbott and Girouard spoke to the same effect.

Mr. McCarthy thought that the matter should be regulated by the Dominion as inter-provincial trade was concerned.

The debate was adjourned at the request of the Government.

After recess a debate occurred on a private bill, which is worthy of note. The bill came from Nova Scotia and was opposed by several French members on the ground that it should be dealt with by the Legislature of that Province. This is not the first time this session that the bleus have stuck up for provincial rights in matters of legislation. The measure in question was allowed to stand for further debate.

Mr. Weldon's bill to repeal the duty on promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, passed through committee, one clause being struck out. The bill is a desirable one and will put a stop to evading payment and renewal of notes on the ground that they were not stamped.

The Minister of Marine introduced a resolution declaring it desirable to provide for the examination of masters and mates of steamboats and sailing vessels of 100 tons and upwards, the object being to ascertain whether they are competent to take charge of craft in the particular trade in which they may be engaged. A number of suggestions were made by the Oppositionists, and the resolution was passed. The Hon. Mr. McLean will introduce a measure giving it effect.

The House adjourned at 10.20.

THURSDAY.

In the Commons to-day Mr. Charlton resumed the Budget debate. In referring to the excuse offered by Sir Leonard Tilley, that he had waited till after the revision of the United States tariff had been made, the speaker could not see why the Finance Minister had waited two weeks after that matter had been adjusted. The only possible effect of a tariff was to exact taxes, and therefore taxation could not mean or tend to prosperity. He instanced the United States as an example of the fact that a protection more extreme than our own had not prevented a trade depression much more marked than our own of a few years since. He showed the advantage of Mr. Blake's proposal to throw off the tax on raw materials and thus give the manufacturer genuine protection. He noticed the much vaunted surplus by quoting the figures of the last English budget, showing that the expenditure and income were made to balance within on-tenth of one per cent. This he called financiering far more commendable than Sir Leonard Tilley's having 25 per cent. more revenue than he knew how to use. Sir Leonard Tilley in the course of his budget speech predicted that the people of Canada would continue prosperous for seven years. If they avoided over-trading, reckless extravagance, and if there were no bad harvests the country would continue prosperous. Mr. Charlton hazarded the opinion that these being the only things that could produce hard times it was likely that if the country avoided them hard times would be averted. The tariff being a mere compromise between contending interests was not a fixed, but a changeable arrangement, which must be constantly altered altered. The speaker showed that the burdens of the people had been enormously increased by the tariff, and showed how Sir Leonard had failed to keep his promise of advancing and keeping up by means of his protective policy the price of grain and farm produce. After criticising the financial management of Sir Leonard, which had made the expenditure six and a half per cent., or four times greater than the increase of population, the hon. gentleman concluded a clever address amidst applause.

The House adjourned.

FRIDAY.

Among the motions in the Commons to-day, preliminary to the regular business, were several to remit the charges on private bills which it was desired to withdraw. Mr. Casgrain asked the Speaker whether these motions were passed as a matter of course. This point might be found to be of importance before long. Seeing a look of inquiry on the face of the speaker, Mr. Mackenzie remarked quietly, "He thinks the Orange Bill may be treated that way."

The Budget debate was resumed by Mr. Wiggle in the taxation interest. Mr. McMillan, of Huron, spoke of protection from a farmer's standpoint, showing that that class had been injured by the tariff. Mr. Wood, of New Brunswick, pointed out how the tariff had caused the decadence of the principal industry in his province, the ship-building interest, and had proved hostile to the lumbering interests also.

Several private bills were read a third time, including the bill to amend an Act to incorporate the Missionary Society of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Canada.

The debate on the budget was resumed by Mr. Sproule and Mr. Taylor and Mr. Burns (of Leeds) on behalf of the Government, and by Mr. Sutherland, of Selkirk (Manitoba), who animadverted strongly on the burdensome nature of the taxes on the people.

"A $10,000 Bill."

Not a greenback to sure, but an enormous illustration to advertise a few of the many sterling features in W. W. Cole's New Colossal Shows. $10,000 invested in a single circus poster !—only think—and yet, Louis E. Cooke, advance manager of Cole's Great Shows, has just issued from the Strowbridge Lithograph establishment, of Cincinnati, more than twice the largest illustration the world has ever seen, and four times the largest lithograph ever executed. The original cost of the first copy exceeding $10,000, therefore it has been aptly designated as a "$10,000 Bill." Its dimensions are simply great, being 12 feet high and 100 feet in length, and consists of 100 mammoth sheets of paper. The entire bill is lithographed in six colors, from solid stone impressions, and presents an artistic appearance equal to the most choice chromo. The general design gives an interior view of the leading features in Cole's Colossal Exhibitions, and over 1,500 lifelike characters are presented. Three circus rings appear, side by side, each filled with a number of acts and thrilling scenes. An elevated theater stage, whereon the Russian roller skaters and bicycle experts appear, is also presented. Groups of Arabs, oriental pageants, performing animals of every description, serpents in glass dens, sea monsters in water, daring feats in mid-air, and hundreds of other sights are beautifully pictured. It seems that the entire universe is embodied in this wonderful work of art, yet absolutely nothing not to be seen in Cole's Great Shows has been permitted to enter into the design of the monster panorama of wonder-land, which absorbed the entire time of fifteen artists, designers, engravers and pressmen, for a period of four months. Six cylinder presses were kept running night and day, and the electric light exclusively used to aid the workmen in producing this marvelous masterpiece of lithography —Cincinnati Commercial.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

The Reason Why

the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by M. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. [The Emporia (Kan.) Weekly News.]

ESTABLISHED THE PROOF.

The time has long since passed when men accepted every statement as fact. Away back in the early days of the world before men had acquired the art of lying, it may be that no one questioned the statement of another. That happy condition, if it ever existed, does not now exist. When an assertion is made in these days, men require the proof to be laid before their eyes before accepting it. Hence, any proposition susceptible of proof is easily sustained. This is the reason that the world so readily accepts the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, as the greatest remedy for pain in use. Whenever a proposition is laid down to this effect, the writer has always at his command evidence to sustain it, and he, therefore, experiences no difficulty in convincing. The St. Jacobs Oil is a very popular remedy in Emporia and all through the adjacent country. The druggists here with one voice unite in saying that no one remedy sells as well or gives such general satisfaction.

Mr. Jacob Stotler, one of the proprietors of the News, has used the Great German Remedy for rheumatism, and does not hesitate to pronounce it a genuinely good remedy. It gave him relief.

The reporter also had an interview with Mr. W. F. Hetherington, editor of the Sentinel. Mr. Hetherington said he tried St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism, and found it all that could be asked. He had violent pain in the shoulder and breast, and could not obtain relief until he resorted to the St. Jacobs Oil. The remedy very soon gave him relief and finally caused the pain to entirely disappear. Mr. Hetherington said he was greatly pleased with the action of the Oil, and beleives it a very powerful relievant.

Mr. C. J. Feist, agent of the Adams express company at Emporia, told the writer, while in conversation upon the efficacy of the German remedy, that it was the only thing which would give his wife relief from muscular pain during a very severe and painful illness. It seemed to soothe where all other remedies failed.

Mr. R. C. Dean, a very intelligent printer in the office of the Wichita Beacon, says that St. Jacobs Oil served him a very good turn one night in Washington. Mr. Dean awoke one night with a violent pain in his side. The pain was so sharp that he breathed with difficulty. He could not possibly sleep, and soon became alarmed. Getting up he went to the door of a neighboring lodger and asked if he could do anything to relieve him. The gentleman said he had nothing but a bottle of St Jacobs Oil, which was highly recommended. Mr. Dean said he was ready to try anything that was suggested. He, therefore, applied the great pain-killer and experienced almost instant relief. The second application restored him to a happy condition both physically and mentally, and he went to sleep, and felt none the worse for the painful episode upon arising the next morning.

Mr. T. W. Dill, printer in the Times office at Council Grove, was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil. Mr. Dill deposes that he suffered with rheumatism in his right arm. He took medical advice and swallowed the prescriptions of his physician. Receiving no relief he resolved to seek the good offices of St. Jacobs Oil. He used one bottle of the Great German Remedy, and had the satisfaction of realizing a cure. He spoke highly of the merits of the Oil and expressed great confidence in it.

What is writ is writ. These be facts which no man can gainsay. They evidence the presence of a most valuable curative in Kansas, which is within the reach of all. For 50 cents one may be speedily relieved of an ordinary attack of rheumatism.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF FIT, GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is personally attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed off on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

REMEMBER THE PLACE:—Pengelly's old stand, 3 doors west of Cavanagh's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterborough.

GIVING YOU A HINT!

That's all our space allows us to do. We'd do more, and then fail of doing ourselves fair justice.

Three weeks of unexpected business activity we've had, and in the very teeth of unpropitious weather—that is, weather not suited as we would like to have it—for the Spring Ordered Clothing Trade. To tell the truth, it's been a race for weeks past between trade and the goods, and the goods have only just caught up at that. But about

SPRING CLOTHING!

We haven't every new thing that has been turned out of the factories or imported; nobody has that. But we have all that we think desirable—the most varied and attractive selection we know of.

STYLE, QUALITY and PRICE are the points to be looked at by the intelligent purchaser of Clothing. Well, look at what we offer. GARMENTS MORE ELEGANTLY DESIGNED and BETTER FINISHED, ARE NOT TO BE FOUND—or rather bought. The Style, the Fit, the Finish are custom—and a high grade custom at that.

Our work carries about with it every tasteful device of Shaping, Trimming and Finish to please our customers. We desire it to be understood that we are serving the public—not a part of the public—but the public. In the matter of Stock, our goods range from popular goods at popular prices, through every stage of excellence, to the finest. In the points of general value

OUR ASSORTMENT OF TWEEDS AND SUITING GOODS

CAN'T BE SURPASSED. The goods are all your fancy can make them, and more.

Consider the moderate prices we ask for our work and we think we've fairly established the fact that our Clothing Department is a fairly proper place to come to, if you need anything it can supply.

Suppose it is a trifle early to buy, look in. That makes us all the gladder to see the lookers. We regard every looker as a possible buyer, as a probable buyer, as all but a certain buyer, and welcome him accordingly. We submit the above.

Michael Davitt has written from Kilmainham a vigorous letter to the Young Ireland Society of Glasgow, in which he denounced the dynamite policy, which he says can only have the effect of exasperating the English democracy. The German Socialists have just concluded a three days' secret congress at Copenhagen. Sixty members were present, including several members of the Reichstag, with delegates from Paris and London. The German police believed the congress was being held in Switzerland.

The Supply of Consumed brain substance can only be had from the nutriment in the blood derived from food. The man is a lunatic who uses whiskey, strychnine, or opium to goad him to perform a work in hand when he feels too weak to go through it without stimulants, which supply nothing but increase the consumption of tissue. In Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya we have the only true restoratives of brain waste—the only source of nerve force as found in our food.

There are lively times along the line of the Panama canal works. A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their orginal cause is, however, throughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in its use to cure dyspepsia and the many ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness, it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes, and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney complaints, scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness. &c., &c., Price $1.00. Sample Bottle, 10 cents. Ask for Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

To obviate this pernicious practice we would advise all parties to cut out such advertisements and bring them with them.

To convince you that we have the goods, adopt the above principles and we are sure of your patronage.

Ordination of Priests.

On Sunday morning next at 10.30, the solemn and imposing ceremonies in connection with the ordination of priests, will be performed at St. Peter's Cathedral, here. Messrs. Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending March 31st, 1883, was as follows: Passenger and mails, $6,089.83; freight, $15,221.39; total, $21,311.22, as compared with $20,299.56 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $1,011.66; and the aggregate traffic to date is $187,087.26, being a decrease of $4,789.49 over 1882.

Painful Accident.

On Monday Mr. Thos. Henry Graham, aged 22, son of Mr. Wm. Graham, 4th concession of Smith, was assisting at wood sawing at Mr. James Tindle's, a neighbor, and going in front of the saw, a sliver from the wood was driven forcibly into his left eye. A bystander drew out the sliver, and the internal liquids of the eye ran completely out. Of course the eye is gone. Dr. O'Sullivan attended to his injuries.

A Splendid Hat Store.

A convincing proof of the faith of a live business firm in the future of the town, is the expense to which Messrs. Mill Bros., hatters and furriers, have gone to, to fit up in tip-top style a store for their business. The store is situated on the east side of George street, near Simcoe. The front is supplied with a large 12x8 plate glass, as well as plate glass side lights. The furnishings of the shop are quiet, rich and in good taste. The shelving is finished in black and gold, and presents a very neat and substantial appearance. There are over three hundred linear feet of shelving, and its continuity is handsomely broken by two large English plate glass mirrors. The ceilings are laid with a bright, neat pattern of paper, and gold and blue gasaliers descend from the centre pieces. At the rear a fine arch has been thrown, separating the front shop from a room to be devoted to the display of robes, fur mantles, etc. The shop is to be devoted exclusively to hats and furs, and the firm being connected with a similar business in Kingston, believes that, buying numerous quantities at wholesale, direct from the manufacturers, they can offer better bargains in hats, greater variety and a better stock, than any other establishment in the Midland district. Give them a trial.

Borough Brevities.

Mr. E. J. Hartley has received the elegant championship medal, won by him at Campbellford the 1st of March.

Mr. James Howden received by Midland railway, on Saturday, a fine lot of fat cattle bought in Ontario county.

Wm. Donovan, found guilty of breaking the plate of Mr. John Craig's window last week, at the Police Court, made compensation for the damage and received one month in jail.

Mr. James Stevenson, we understand, offers to sell the town bank the buildings on Simcoe street, east from the Fire Hall to Water street, for $4,500. The offer is worth considering.

Farmers and others desiring a genteel, lucrative agency business, by which $5 to $20 a day can be earned, send address at once, on postal, to H. C. Wilkinson & Co., 195 and 197 Fulton St., New York. 3.26t

Lindsay hopes to have a good lacrosse team this year. We hope their hopes may be realized. We should like them to get skill enough to make the game interesting when they drop down here to try conclusions with the champions of central Ontario.

One would think that, according to the advocates of the N. P., it would be impossible to find a man out of employment—wages are so high that it is something like a misdemeanor to be idle. Yet, a "case" of more than usual interest in the Police Court, will draw an audience of one or two hundred without trouble.

The pestilent potato bug after all has some influence at Toronto. He has succeeded in getting an embargo placed on the indiscriminate sale of Paris Green. The Ontario Gazette officially announces that none but duly qualified chemists and druggists who have paid their renewal registration fee are authorized by the act to sell arsenic and its compounds which includes Paris green.

A Fresh lot of Choice Patterns in Prints to arrive this week at Turnbull's.

PERSONAL.

Mr. W. T. R. Preston, of the Port Hope News, gave us a call on Tuesday.

During the recent spring chancery sittings Chancellor Boyd was the guest of the Caisse House.

Mr. D. W. Dumble was absent this week attending, as counsel, the Cobourg Assizes.

Mr. C. D. Barr, of the Lindsay Post, was in town on Friday, and gave us a friendly call.

We are pleased to notice that Mr. A. P. Poussette appeared in the streets on Tuesday. His many other friends will rejoice to note that he is so far recovered as to be able to drive about town.

We beg to extend our personal, as well as fraternal, sympathy to Mr. Frank Dobbin, of the Lindsay Post, on the occasion of his affliction by the death of his eldest son, a bright boy of six years. The body was interred in the Little Lake Cemetery yesterday.

Mr. S. S. Peck has been appointed to the position of Stipendiary Magistrate for the provisional county of Haliburton. Four years ago Mr. Peck resigned the same office to represent the riding of North Victoria. He has made large sacrifices for the Reform party, and is entitled to the recognition of his services implied in his re-appointment to the office.

In speaking of a deputation to Ottawa on behalf of the Midland harbor, the Free Press says:—"The Midland railway has made Midland, and the prosperity of the place is in these hard times, something wonderful. The delegation is in charge of Mr. A. White, the popular Traffic Manager of the Midland, and they could not be in better hands."

Good and Reliable Goods in Ducks, Denims, and Cottonades, always in Stock at Turnbull's.

WOOD! WOOD!

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—Does it not seem ridiculous the price we have to pay for wood, situated, as we are, in the midst of a wooded country. I thought it bad enough to pay $6.00 for the best of tamarac in Winnipeg, where our people suppose there is no wood. But to pay $5.00 for a jag of a load on the market here seems perfect robbery. This can all be remedied. If the people of the town will join me in a fuel company, I can deliver the wood here to subscribers for $2.50. but I must have the assistance and support of the people to enable me to do it. Those feeling inclined to help will please give me their names. This will not only be a saving to the parties subscribing, but will be a great benefit to the poor. If a railway scheme is mooted here, everybody is willing to tax themselves for a bonus, and compel the poor man to pay for a thing he never receives the slightest benefit out of. By cheapening our fuel we benefit the rich and the poor. Some years ago when I suggested the formation of a fuel company, everybody said it would be a good thing, but there was not one man to give the slightest assistance to establish it: they all said wood is only too dear because there is no snow: they can't have that excuse this year. As soon as I receive a promise of sufficient support, I will submit my scheme for their approval.

Yours truly,
H. CALCUTT.

The Midland Railway of Canada

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The President's Report—The Shareholders and Bondholders Heartily Commend it—The Management Highly Praised—The Affairs of the Road Healthy—A Prosperous Present and Promising Future.

The annual general meeting of the shareholders and bondholders of the Midland Railway of Canada, met in the board room of the Company's Offices here, on Tuesday, April 17th, 1883, at 2 o'clock P. M. The meeting was of more than usual interest, it being the first annual general meeting held since the consolidation of the roads composing the Midland system came into effect, and the result as shewn in the President's report are of a most encouraging character. There was a good attendance, the following gentlemen being present: Messrs.

Geo. A. Cox, President.
H. P. Dwight.	J. D. Edgar.
J. R. Dundas, M.P.	T. Kelso.
Wm. Gooderham.	J. M. Ferris, M.P.P.
F. W. Henshaw.	A. Hugel.
C. S. Vindin.	H. O'Leary.

There were also present, Messrs. H. Read, Secretary; A. White, Traffic Manager; W. B. Ferguson, Superintendent; J. G., Macklin, Engineer; J. F. Jeffers, Auditor; C. H. Crofts, Storekeeper; and Mr. W. T. R. Preston of the Port Hope News, and three representatives of the local press.

Mr. G. A. Cox, president, occupied the chair, and Mr. Wm. Gooderham the vice-president, the vice chair. After routine the President read the following:

FIRST ANNUAL REPORT.

The Consolidation of the Midland, Toronto and Nipissing, Grand Junction, Whitby Port Perry and Lindsay, Toronto and Ottawa, and Victoria Railway Companies, under the name of the Midland Railway of Canada, was consummated on the 1st of April, 1882, under an agreement entered into by the several companies, approved at special general meetings of their respective proprietors, and ratified by an Act of the Ontario Legislature, 45 Victoria, Chapter 67.

The directors appointed under the said agreement, have now the pleasure of submitting their report for the nine months from that date to the 31st of December, 1882.

The gross receipts for the period from the 1st of April to the 31st December, amounted to $872,837.16, (£179,350, 1s. 10d.) while the aggregate earnings of the different lines for the corresponding period of 1881, amounted to $732,353.76 (£150,483, 13s.), shewing an increase of $140,483.40 (£28,866, 8s. 10d.) upon the operations of the first nine months, thus confirming the hopes that were entertained as to the advantages that would accrue from this union of interests; but the full advantages to be derived cannot be realized until the completion of the connecting links between Manilla and Wick, and Omemee and Peterborough, which will place the entire system in direct connection with the city of Toronto, the centre of business for the district served by this line.

It was anticipated that these connections would have been now in operation, but the nature of the work between Peterborough and Omemee (14 miles) has been so exceedingly difficult that the contractors will not be able to complete it before the first of July. The delay in completing this connection is inflicting serious loss upon the Company in preventing a full development of its business and economical working.

The line from Madoc to Bridgewater (10 miles) is completed, as is also the Manilla and Wick line (6½ miles) with the exception of a little ballasting.

The working expenses for the nine months have been $552,975.01 (£113,625), or 63.35% on the gross receipts, as compared with $470,903.36 (£96,760 19s. 7d.), or 64.30% for the corresponding period of 1881. It is reasonable to expect still more satisfactory results when the connecting lines referred to are finished and in operation, and the traffic has been more fully developed.

The net revenue for the period under review amounted to $319,862.15 (£65,725, 1s. 10d.). It has been appropriated as per the revenue statement submitted, and it will be observed that after providing for the full interest obligations of the company, $23,106.55 (£4,747, 18s. 3d.) has been carried forward.

The passenger receipts, including mails and express freight, increased by $86,773.79, and the number of passengers by 52,173, or 20.70 per cent. as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year.

The receipts from freight traffic increased by $55,576.21, or 10.90 per cent. The tonnage increased by 53,445 tons, or 12.31 per cent. The company would have been able to report a still larger increase in the freight earnings, but for the unusually heavy quantities of both lumber and grain that were held over for spring shipment.

The total number of passengers carried was 304,093, against 251,920; and the quantity of freight was 406,300, against 352,855 tons.

The average receipt per passenger was 89c., against 80c.; and per ton of freight $1.38, against $1.33.

The amount charged against capital account was $598,143.33. The principal items were $194,720.69 on account of the construction of the Bridgewater and Perth section; $142,020.39 for improvements replacing iron rails with steel; $129,393.83 for new rolling stock; and $79,617.12 for new sidings and extensions, new stations, new fencing and machinery.

There have been added to the rolling stock during the past year a portion of which has been purchased on deferred payments, 12 locomotives, 4 first-class and 10 second-class passenger coaches, 149 box freight cars, 142 platform cars, 4 postal, express and smoking cars, 4 baggage cars, 13 conductor's vans and 6 stock cars.

There has been a very large increase in the through traffic, via Midland; and the elevators at that point and Port Hope have proved of great advantage. The directors are endeavoring to secure elevator accommodation at Belleville, as they have every reason to anticipate a still further development of the through traffic, and in order to handle it satisfactorily, ample and efficient facilities are indispensable.

The further capital expenditure upon the line, excepting in the matter of rolling stock, required to meet the increasing business will not be large. A short junction connection is wanted at Lindsay, another at Peterborough, and some more ballasting and fencing will have to be done from time to time, but these are not works requiring the expenditure of large sums.

The winter just past has proved one of unusual severity, and your company has suffered from snow and frost, as have all the north and south lines in the country. The traffic prospects are, however, more promising than they have been for years past, and your directors have every reason to anticipate satisfactory results from the operations of the company in the present year.

The directors hope, in future, to be able to publish a full report from the Mechanical Superintendent of the line. Some changes which it has been found necessary to make in the staff of that department, have rendered it difficult to do so on this occasion. The reports of the Engineer and Traffic Manager are appended.

The work of consolidating the staff of the various lines now merged into the Midland has been attended with a good deal of anxiety and difficulty. The various departments of the service are now filled by efficient and experienced officers, devoted to the interests of the corporation.

It was deemed desirable in the interests of the company to secure the co-operation in London of gentlemen of experience and influence, to advise with your directors, and assist in the administration of the company's affairs, acting as a medium of communication between the large number of bond and shareholders resident in Europe, and the board. The directors were fortunate in being able to arrange for the following gentlemen to act as a committee in London, viz:

Sir Henry W. Tyler, M.P., Chairman.
Henry Grissell, Esq., 17 Montague Square, London.
Sir Charles L. Young, Bart., 5 Ashburn Place, Cromwell Road.
Lord Claud John Hamilton, M.P., 23 Lowndes Square, S. W.
Ulick Ralph Burke, Esq., 7 Great Winchester Street, London.
Edward Joseph Halsey, Esq., 77 Cornhill, London.

Mr. E. J. Halsey was appointed secretary to the committee and agent.

Since these appointments were made the directors regret that they have been deprived, by death, of the aid and advice of Mr. Henry Grissell, and it is with deep regret that they have also to record the death of their esteemed co-director, Lewis Ross, Esq., of Port Hope, who had been an active and useful member of the board. He always took a deep interest in the welfare of the company, and for years rendered valuable services to the Midland company before consolidation.

Immediately upon the consolidation of the various companies forming the present Midland Railway, being accomplished, your directors took the necessary steps to place upon the London market an issue of the consolidated bonds of the company. These bonds were satisfactorily disposed of, and as a result of the operation, the following sectional bonds have been taken up and lodged with the trustees, under the consolidated mortgage:

Grand Junction Section Bonds ...	£226,000
Whitby and Victoria Section Bonds.	210,000
Toronto and Ottawa Bonds	174,700

A portion of the £30,000 of deferred certificates of the Midland have also been taken up, and bonds are placed with trustees in London to meet the remainder of this loan.

The board elected in the place of Mr. Ross, E. S. Vindin, Esq., of Port Hope. All the directors, elected by the shareholders, retire at the meeting to be held on the 17th instant. They are eligible and offer themselves for re-election. Their names are:—

Geo. A. Cox,	J. M. Ferris, M.P.P.,
Wm. Gooderham,	F. W. Henshaw,
Robert Jaffray,	J. R. Dundas, M.P.,
H. P. Dwight,	Thomas Kelso,
J. D. Edgar,	E. S. Vindin.

Alderman Carlisle, of Toronto; J. Lingham, Mayor of Belleville; and Hugh O'Leary, Esq., of Lindsay, represent the cities of Toronto and Belleville, and the Town of Lindsay.

On behalf of the board,
GEO. A. COX, President.
Peterborough, April 16th, 1883.

The report was received with evident marks of approval.

PRESIDENT'S COMMENTS.

The president in moving the adoption of the report said:—

GENTLEMEN,—It affords me pleasure to move the adoption of this, the first report of the Directors of the consolidated Midland Railway of Canada.

The report itself, with the accompanying statements and accounts, cover the operations of the company so fully, that it is not necessary that I should say anything more in support of the motion. I may remark, however, that the nine months now under review, have not been altogether free from labour and anxiety. The signing of the consolidation agreement by the various contracting parties did not by any means terminate our duties. The outstanding bonds and securities of the different companies had to be dealt with; the connecting links constructed; the separate managements consolidated; the staff reorganized; better train service provided; new rates and tariffs prepared, and other duties of a more or less responsible nature that have taxed the best efforts of your directors and officers, and it is certainly cause for congratulation that these different matters have been successfully carried through, and that the directors are today enabled to report everything working pleasantly and satisfactorily and to shew the handsome increase of $140,483.40 on the operations of the first nine months. The full year of 1882 shews a gross earning of $1,067,651.60, an increase of $208,428.31 over the aggregate earnings of the different lines for the previous year.

The first three months of the current year, in consequence of the unusual severity of the winter, have been somewhat depressing in their results; notwithstanding that fact we have every reason to anticipate that 1883 will, upon the whole, be a most successful year, and show a largely increased earning over the past year.

The rapidity with which our through grain trade, from Chicago and western points, is being developed, and the important and satisfactory nature of our relations with the Grand Trunk Company, one of the largest and most progressive railway corporations on the continent, are matters of congratulation to the proprietors of the Company, and to the district served by this line, which has all the advantages of a through railway system.

After referring to other matters connected with the railway, Mr. Cox moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. Gooderham said the report just read by the President was extremely satisfactory. The task of the chairman in reconciling the conflicting interests involved in the amalgamation of the lines had been no easy one, and the technical union was a comparatively easy matter compared to bringing the whole system into a good working condition. As vice-president and a director, he was proud of the success and management of the road. He alluded to the low working expenses of the line, which were in gratifying contrast to those of other roads, being about 63 per cent. The low percentage of the Midland working expenses, spoke volumes for the economical and efficient management of the line. The gross earnings also were a very pleasant showing. The consolidation of the roads had been pronounced an experiment that would not pay, but he was sure that the success so far was of the most hopeful and agreeable nature. The hard winter had affected this as all other roads, involving extra expense and decreased patronage and receipts. Yet the year entered on promised well, and if the grant to Midland harbor, which was pretty sure, were made, the business of the Midland would only be limited by its carrying capacity, and a double track would be a speedy necessity. His commendations of the road was not mere empty praise. He had watched its affairs closely and knew whereof he was speaking. He predicted a great future for the Midland Railway. He had great pleasure in seconding the motion.

Mr. Henshaw said that looking at the general result there could be only one opinion that the road under the able management of the President and his staff, had extraordinary success. The President's report spoke for itself. A few years ago the Midland was an obscure, unknown road; now is was one of the best known and most highly spoken of roads in the country, and the names of Messrs. Cox and Gooderham, as connected with it, were worthy of receiving hearty congratulations. The motion was unanimously carried.

OFFICERS APPRECIATED.

Moved by Mr. Dundas, seconded by Mr. Henshaw, that the thanks of the shareholders and bondholders are due to the several officers of the Company for their zeal and assiduity in the discharge of their several offices, and the shareholders and bondholders hereby express their just appreciation of their efforts.

Mr. Dundas, in moving the motion, said that it was not a mere formal vote of thanks, but an honest expression of opinion as to the management of the line under the consolidation. The president was to be congratulated upon the possession of so able and painstaking a staff of officers. He was pleased with the past of the Midland which was only yet in its infancy, and when all its present plans were successfully carried out, the officers and managers would have full scope for the exercise of their abilities. He hoped before long the Midland would be part of a through line.

Mr. Vindin, from personal knowledge fully endorsed what Mr. Dundas had said, and the motion was carried.

Mr. White returned thanks on behalf of the officers.

THANKS TO DIRECTORS.

On motion of Mr. Hugel the thanks of the proprietors of the Company were tendered to the directors for the very efficient manner in which the affairs of the Company have been conducted, and to the highly satisfactory result of the operations of the nine months, as shown by the report and statements submitted to this meeting. And they further wish to place upon record their admiration and satisfaction at the result of the negotiations, successfully carried through, for the amalgamation, under one management of the different companies now forming the Midland Railway of Canada.

Mr. A. Hugel, on behalf of the bondholders, moved the vote of thanks to the directors for the success that had attended their efforts and claimed that the result had justified his predictions; he had, years ago, advocated the fusion of these roads. While Port Hope, as well as other towns, was satisfied as to traffic service, she would like to be represented. The Midland, he added, was the best and most economically managed road in the country, and he predicted a prosperous future. The report of the president was very satisfactory.

Mr. Cox pointed out that though Port Hope was not entitled to a director, yet the act provided that one of them must be a resident. Port Hope had, by reason of her harbor traffic and the workshops, a large share of the benefit of the road. Speaking of workshops, he said they would have soon to be enlarged, and their location would demand attention at no distant day. Regarding his officers, he must express his indebtedness to their earnestness, fidelity and efficiency, of which too much could not be said. He hoped to be able to continue in a course, that both on his own part, and on that of his officers, seems to have met with approval. The motion was carried.

AUDITORS.

Messrs. H. W. Walker and John Burton, of Montreal, were appointed auditors, on motion of Mr. Henshaw, seconded by Mr. Ferris.

The ballot (Messrs. Read and White, scrutineers) resulted in the election of the following

DIRECTORS.

SNOWDEN SPUR LINE.

Mr. Hugel inquired if something could not be done to utilize the Snowden mine spur line?

Mr. Cox replied that the Company had made liberal advances, and he hoped through Perry & Co. there, considerable traffic would be secured.

On motion of Mr. Edgar, seconded by Mr. Dundas, the meeting adjourned till the second Wednesday in May.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors Mr. G. A. Cox was re-elected President and general manager, and Mr. Wm. Gooderham Vice-President.

Sanitary.

At this season of the year it behooves our citizens to look carefully to the sanitary condition of their surroundings. A homily upon the subject, now that balmy spring is upon us is at least seasonable. The winter has been long and severe, and in consequence the accumulation of refuse is greater than ordinary. The health officer will shortly be upon his rounds, and the citizens will be expected to have their cellars and yards presentable on his arrival. We greatly fear there are many who neglect these necessary spring cleanings. It ought to be remembered that most of the diseases looked upon as dangerous to childhood, have there origin in decaying vegetable matter or insufficient drainage. This is certainly the case with diphtheria and typhoid fever. It has been conclusively proved that diphtheria is a product of decayed vegetable matter, which the human system, in certain conditions, is especially liable to be attacked by. How many householders think of this at the time when due precautions against the dread scourge could easily be taken? They store up vegetables in the cellar during the winter season, and when spring comes care little to have the refuse matter removed. Perhaps the cellar is damp, but nothing is done until warm weather sets in; and, presently, an aroma, much stronger than vegetable, directs attention to the subject. It is very well to undertake the annual spring cleaning, removing cobwebs, shaking the carpets, whitening the walls and putting everything up-stairs in ship-shape. In this work ladies seem to delight, as the unfortunate husbands who snatch their meals, now here, now there, for a few unhappy days, can abundantly testify. But it is of far greater importance to undertake the thorough cleansing of yard and cellar, and to this paterfamilias should apply himself heartily. Care for the little ones in the kitchen or the parlor will avail nothing, if rotten heaps of decaying matter are suffered to engender disease under the windows. Let there be a thorough cleansing this spring. Especially in Peterborough, where the system of drainage is so defective, is this essential. But farmers require to give attention to to the matter also. Probably they suffer quite as much through their own neglect as any class in the community. Every house should have some system of drainage, however simple. The cellar should be kept perfectly dry and and scrupulously clean. Yards should be cleansed just as soon as the last vestige of snow is gone. Disinfectants should be employed wherever necessary. Now is the time for this work to be done, and it should be well done. Neglect of these rules may bring on an epidemic. Over 2,000 persons die annually in Ontario of consumption. The greatest cause of this fell disease is said to be damp soil, with bad natural drainage. The mortality in our own province through typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever is about as large as that just named. Most of the diseases are classified as "preventable." Strict precautions in the matter of sewerage and ventilation would certainly reduce the number of cases. Sanitary laws should be studied and, when known, faithfully observed. By doing so, unquestionably, many a life would be saved.

Let our readers not neglect the subject we have alluded to here. Remember, "prevention is better than cure." Knowing this, every householder should see that his cellar and surroundings are well cleansed, and all deleterious matter destroyed, and the health officer should have the support of every citizen in carrying out his important functions.

Adding Robbery to Plunder.

The N. P. is being wounded in the house of its friends. Hon. Peter Mitchell, a former member of the Cabinet, is the latest rebel to the panacea. He asserts that it has not benefitted a single industry in his constituency. But, he is not alone. The Tory journals in the Northwest are "kicking" and the Winnipeg Times, boldly combats and demolishes Sir Leonard Tilley's plan for increasing the duty on agricultural implements. The great taxer asserted that, whereas Yankee manufacturers of agricultural implements were paying larger commissions to their agents than Canadian manufacturers, and Canadian manufacturers were crowded out of the market, he had felt justified and called upon to increase the duty. But, the Times has looked into the matter, and finds the Great Taxer incorrect. The Canadian machine makers pay the highest commissions, and the agents of Canadian machines have an advantage of the Yankee without burdening the buyer with an extra tax, for the increase of tariff wont lead Canadian manufacturers to diminish their prices by any means. But, thanks to the slovenliness induced by the pampering of protection, the farmer in the Northwest greatly prefers the American machine. Our honest contemporary says:—"If the two machines were put on an equal footing as regards price, 100 American would be sold for one Canadian. The trouble with the Canadian manufacturer is that the present tariff has somewhat spoiled him. In 1879 and 1880, his machines were almost as good as the best made by McCormick; but since then he has taken to 'scamping' the work, trusting to the duty to protect him against superior American implements. In the Northwest time is the essence of seeding time and harvest. A badly constructed machine entails grievous loss on the settler when every minute is precious, and last harvest complaints against Canadian-made implements of all kinds came from every quarter. Moreover, the eastern manufacturers are quite unable to supply the demand for this year. In short, leading Winnipeg dealers have been literally compelled, in spite of the larger commissions paid them by the eastern makers, to go to Chicago and Racine for their supplies for the coming season. The duty of 20 and 25 per cent. would have afforded the Canadian maker the amplest protection had his goods been saleable. Thus a steam threshing-machine of twelve horse power costs $1,585 on the cars at Racine, the head-quarters of the J. I. Case Company, and $2,000 when landed at Winnipeg after payment of freight rates and the 25 per cent. duty. A machine of the same power and built on the same principle can be laid down in Winnipeg by the Ontario maker for $1,515—the Ontario maker thus having an advantage of nearly $500 on each machine. But the farmer prefers to buy the Racine machine because of its superior workmanship and material, and because he can rely upon it doing its work and doing it well. Increasing the duty 10 per cent. is simply adding just so much to the farmer's burden's or else forcing him to buy an inferior article from a manufacturer to whom he is already giving a bonus of 25 per cent. on the value of each machine. This may be good for the Ontario manufacturer, but it will not suit the Northwest settler, and to him alone the Government must look for the development of this region."

A Disgraceful Business.

The Hamiton Tribune, an independent journal, contributes, by a letter from an Ottawa correspondent, an astounding chapter to the history of the Tory party. It discloses on the part of Sir Charles Tupper and Sir John Macdonald a hardihood of infamy, which claims equality with the Pacific Scandal, the Onderdonk affair and the Gerrymander bill. The correspondence alluded to, was published in our last issue, and shows the details of an unblushing attempt to bribe with a paltry $4,800, no less a dignitary than the venerable Archbishop of Toronto—to hand over, like so much chattel, the Roman Catholic vote to the Tory party. But of course the attempt failed—"vaulting ambition o'erleaped itself." Naturally the Tory papers deny the truth of the charges, and say some of the letters are forgeries. We heard the same cry in 1873 in reference to the Pacific Scandal; Sir John declared, "these hands are clean," when they were yellow with a contractor's corrupt gold. The consistency of the contents of the damning letters with the characters of the parties involved in the affair, is additional proof for their genuineness. The denial of Mr. J. A. Macdonnell is greatly weakened if not entirely broken, by corroborative evidence. It will be noted that the defenders of the guilty parties in this affair busy themselves less with the denial of the facts, which they are not competent to deny, for they are evidently not in a position to authoritively do so, than with virtuous denunciations of the modes adopted to get at the damaging information of a corrupt compact to influence a general election. With the mode in which the information was obtained the public has little to do, it is the nefarious facts elicited, that challenge the reprobation of every honest man.

It is noticeable that the Tory organs in the matter of the Tupper-Macdonnell letters do not waste their indignation on the corruption and bribery involved in the overtures made by the Government and its friends, and scornfully rejected by the Archbishop, but the crime is all confined to those who obtained the correspondence. Their moralty is shocked, not by the crime, but by its being found out. In their easy ethics it is permissable to lie, bribe and corrupt for the benefit of the Tory party, but don't be found out. It may not be a very commendable action to filch letters, even though they expose political crimes, but the law recognizes the soundness of the practice of setting a thief to catch a thief, and the offence of surreptitiously getting possession of the letters in question is a venial offence compared to the deep disgrace of the infamous plot they expose, yet the Tory organs, utter fierce fulminations against "letter stealers" but not one word of condemnation for the political rascality they have brought to light.

Editorial Notes.

The workingman who pays taxes on almost everything he has to buy, will be cheered with the information that "attar of roses" has been placed on the free list in the last revision of the tariff.

Bystander asks "who can define the principles or objects of Conservatism in Canada?" "We can," replies the Ottawa Free Press: "The principles of Conservatism in Canada are power and patronage, its object to hold on to these by all means, fair or foul."

The Review is piling up figures to show that, the Tories have an electoral majority in the local legislature. The Review's figures are not, like Cæsar's wife, above suspicion. As cast in the recent general election, the Liberal majorities amount to 10,563, and the Tory majorities 7,399, giving the Reformers a popular majority of upwards of 3,000 votes.

The acceptance by Bishop Hellmuth of the appointment of Suffragan to the Bishop of Ripon, England, naturally evokes considerable discussion in church circles as to his probable successor. Of the names already mentioned, that of Rev. Canon Carmichael, of Montreal, seems to meet with most favor. A ripe scholar, an eminent and successful preacher, and a thoroughly good man, moderate but firm in his views, there is no doubt he would adorn the Episcopal office, should he be chosen to fill it. Mr. Carmichael is well known in the diocese of Huron, having been Rector of Clinton some years ago, and frequently visited the diocese since.

One of Sir John Macdonald's ante-election pledges has, like a chicken, come home to roost, and another of a very different color is hastening after it. Under pressure from Mr. John O'Donohoe and his friends he raised that gentleman to the Senate and promised him a portfolio. Under pressure from the Orangemen he kept back the portfolio, took Mr. Frank Smith into his Cabinet instead of Mr. O'Donohoe, and promised to secure the passage of an Orange incorporation bill. The Orange malcontents then fell back into the traces and helped to carry the election. The leading members of the order are now asking for the fulfilment of the pledge about incorporation, and Sir John points in reply to his solid Quebec phalanx as a standing obstacle in the way.

In these days, when so many are fleeing to the Northwest, those intending to emigrate will be interested in what an experienced settler in Manitoba writes: The cultivation of bees will in time direct attention. The rich flora of the prairie, with its boundless variety of petaline food, yields the most delicious honey. Allow me to submit an estimate of the necessary outlay to commence farming with here:

One Yoke of cattle	$200 00
One plough	25 00
One harrow	30 00
Log house	200 00
One waggon	85 00
Cross-cut saw, spades, shovels, axes, rakes, etc	15 00
Provisions for a family of six for seven months	400 00
Total	$955 00

If the settler be in possession of a large stock, a mowing machine and a horse-rake will also be necessary.

The Review, in its anxiety to weaken the damaging evidence of Sir John having been compelled by Quebec Bleus to refuse to ratify the boundary award, questions the fact of Mr. Mousseau having ever made such a speech as the famous St. Jerome utterance. Mr. Mousseau did make the remarks attributed to him, and he was correctly reported and his speech was published in the Montreal Gazette, a journal that cannot be accused of being hostile to the Tory party. The Review toadies to Sir John by trying to relieve him of the odium of having been bulldozed by the Quebec Bleus, in taking a position inimical to the interests of Ontario, a province which he is doubly bound to be true to, since he holds two Ontario seats—Lennox and Carleton—at the same time. In so doing its only way is to deny what cannot honestly be denied.

In the House of Commons last Wednesday the Quebec Tories waxed eloquent on the question of provincial rights. A private bill was opposed because it was a question which was within the jurisdiction of the province of Nova Scotia. These gentlemen are not so scrupulously constitutional when the rights of Ontario are concerned. They are willing to abet Sir John in his interference, not only with the legislative rights of Ontario, but also in his efforts to deprive this province of her territory. What does this apparently independent action of the Quebec Tories mean? They have defied Sir John on the Orange Bill and this is not the first time that they have raised their voice for the maintenance of the rights of the provinces in matters of legislation. Are they beginning to see that Sir John's policy of centralization may possibly prove hostile to the interests of their own province?

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—It was my intention not to bore the public any more with this much worn question; but there are a few glaring misrepresentations in your last issue, some of which invite criticism. Mr. Galvin boldly comes out with a little squib, which reads as follows:

"To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

"DEAR SIR.—In your last issue Mr. Bird again makes use of my name to give a degree of honesty to the statements made in connection with the school supply question. I may just say, once and for all time, that I did not say to Mr. Bird that Dr. Caldwell made use of the words attributed to him. Mr. Bird will require all the spare time at his command, for some time to come, to clear his skirts of the charges made against him.

"Yours truly,
"G. J. GALVIN."

Now, Sir, to show the extent to which Mr. Galvin's honesty goes, throughout this controversy, I am not only prepared to take my oath, as previously stated by me, that Mr. G. did make the statement attributed to him, but that I can still further verify the same, any time Mr. G. is willing, by bringing before him, in private, two reliable gentlemen to prove that he did make those statements. These gentlemen unfortunately were like myself—they were talking to Mr. G. privately, and consequently had no witnesses to the conversation; but, they are willing to give Mr. G. his own words to his own face, any time he sees fit to meet them. I just wish to say that it will take Mr. G. a much longer time to clear his skirts of the ignominy attached to his character, brought on himself by his own voluntary double-dealing, than it will me the shallow charges he refers to.

While I am writing I may as well apply the advice of Dr. C. to himself, to be "more careful" in the future in his solution of the mathematical problem so much referred to. Now, Sir, the final statement of account between myself and the School Board, which they will receive at their next meeting, will prove that my statement that my tender was the lower by 41 cents, or a trifle over 6 per cent. on last year's supply is correct, notwithstanding that Dr. C. has repeatedly tried to prove that it is not so. If he is not prejudicial he will be able, with a little more assistance, to comprehend that I am right and he is wrong with respect to this simple mathematical problem. He says, "his account I enclose to you, etc." Now, that is decidedly untrue, because he has not seen the full account for 1882 for the simple reason that it has not been rendered yet. Perhaps he will yet see, if he is endowed with the common sense I think he is, that I am right and he is wrong.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,
Yours respectfully,
T. J. BIRD.

THE PRINCESS LOUISE.

HER ROYAL HIGHNESS' LIFE IMPERILLED BY FIRE—A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Charleston (South Carolina) News publishes the following correspondence from Bermuda, dated the 28th March:

"It is not generally known here, that the princess Louise's life was imperilled by fire on the night of the 26th inst. The Princess had retired as usual on Monday night, but was awakened about midnight by the presence of suffocating smoke. Once awakened she saw that her apartments were on fire. She aroused the household, and for a time intense excitement prevailed, the servants hurrying to and fro, carrying water to check the fire, and the ladies in waiting, fearing the Princess had received some injury, added to the confusion by occasional hysterical screams. Once the fire was out, and all were satisfied that Her Royal Highness had not sustained the slightest injury save the severe shock occasioned by the discovery of the fire, the house resumed its usual quiet. It is not known how the fire originated, but as the day had been damp and chilly a fire had been kindled in the grate of the Princess's bed chamber, and it is believed that the fireplace was not secure, and in some mysterious way, the fire caught the joist supporting the chamber floor. Invitations for a large dinner party at Englewood on the day following the fire were cancelled, the workmen being called to repair the drawing room ceiling, which had fallen, and other damages, and remove, as far as possible, all traces of the fire."

HALIBURTON.

The Bobcaygeon Independant, commenting on the re-appointment of Mr. S. S. Peck, says:—

"The Provisional County of Haliburton was struck as with a cyclone on Saturday last, by the announcement that his Honour, Judge Whiteside, had resigned his position as county judge and stipendiary magistrate for the county of Haliburton, and that the vacancy so occasioned had been filled by the appointment of S. S. Peck, Esq.

"The first effect, as we have said, was to strike the county, to use a playful metaphor, all of a heap; the second was to cause a very general feeling of satisfaction. In saying this it must not be understood that we are speaking in the least degree disrespectfully of his Honour, Judge Whiteside, a gentleman whose strict integrity, keen sense of honour and conscientious efforts to impartially discharge his duties have entitled him to the highest respect, but the satisfaction was caused by the knowledge that Mr. Peck would be retained in the county, and that his services would still be available in the public interests. There were, indeed, many causes for satisfaction; not the least of them being that Mr. Peck's reputation as a Judge, quick to see every point in the case before him, capacity for weighing evidence, and readiness to arrive at a decision, ranked so high, that it was considered a great public advantage to have him as the head of the several courts of the county. During the period when Mr. Peck held the offices to which he has been re-appointed, his judgments gave the greatest satisfaction, not only to the public, but to the bar, for though Mr. Peck is not specially learned in the law, he has strong common sense, which is the mother of all law, and this, with a full knowledge of the statutes, enabled him to perform the duties of his offices with great acceptability The feeling throughout the county in regard to Mr. Peck's re-appointment is one of very general satisfaction.

"As regards the political portion of the appointment, it is unchallengable. Mr. Peck resigned his position as stipendiary magistrate when he became a candidate for the representation of the county in the Local Legislature. The Parliament to which he was elected having expired, and Mr. Peck having been defeated at the last election, the Government he so faithfully and loyally supported has restored him to the position he held previous to his election. Whatever may be the faults of Mr. Peck, both Grit and Tory in the county of Haliburton admit that, as a judge, he was fearless, impartial and just."

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

NEARLY A FIRE.

On Thursday afternoon last our villagers were alarmed by the ringing of the English Church bell, proclaiming that a fire was occurring within our precincts. Volumes of smoke were seen issuing from the residence of Mr. Jno. Patterson, jr., on King street, indicating that the bell gave no uncertain sound. Speedily a large number of villagers arrived at the burning building, and willing hands and mighty exertions were not wanted to save it from destruction. Their efforts fortunately proved effectual, and speedily stayed the progress of the fiery element, which was confined to one room down stairs, where the fire originated. Fortunately, nature had provided a superabundance of water a few yards distant from the building, which was unsparingly thrown upon the incipient blaze, which was quenched ere it reached the ceiling of the room. The fire was caused by the igniting of some clothing which had been placed upon a chair near the stove to dry, setting fire to the chair, which carried the flame to the wall back of the kitchen stove; and as there was no person in the house at the time, the fire had made considerable headway before discovered. Mr. Patterson's loss will be about $50, as there was a great deal of unnecessary chopping of walls and flooring of the house, and some damage sustained by the removal of his household goods. No insurance.

A RAILWAY SHOCK.

A paragraph published in last week's Globe, announcing that some compromise had been effected between the Pacific Railway and Grand Trunk companies, the result of which would be that "work on the Ontario & Quebec Railway would probably be stopped," struck this borough like a declaration of war. But fortunately the Globe is not infallible, and the information proved to some extent incorrect, as at a meeting of the directors of the O. & Q. R. Company, the president stated distinctly that no arrangement or compromise made by the other two companies would in any way interfere with the construction of the Ontario and Quebec Railway. It is to be hoped that the latter piece of information will act as an emetic for the people of the small village to the south of us, who proved to be troubled with a great deal of bile upon the receipt of the former piece of (to them welcome) information. They evidently hallooed before they got the woods.

A SKEDADDLER.

The assistant teacher of the Norwood High School, one Mr. Phœnix, on Saturday of last week took French leave from his duties here, and forthwith went to Toronto, where he at once accepted a situation in a school there, without giving the headmaster or any of the trustees here any intimation of his intentions. Since, the former has received a letter from the runaway, in which he states that "he hopes the sun rises and sets upon Norwood still, and trusts that the young ladies of Norwood will not suffer for want of his presence, his blandishments and his accomplishments," and further states, "that he is now in the bosom of his family," which fact, it is to be hoped, will also prove consoling to the hearts that are now sorrowing for the handsome little teacher. Though there was not much of Mr. Phœnix as far as his physical attainments were concerned, he certainly was too much for our school board, who omitted, on drawing up his agreement on assuming the duties of his position here, to affix the seal of the board to his papers, an omision which he was by no means slow to take advantage of. At a recent meeting of the board, to take action upon the case, it was decided to correspond with the Minister of Education to see if any step could be taken to punish the little runaway.

PERSONAL.

Mr. H. C. Lumsden, Chief Engineer of the Ontario and Quebec railway, was in our village on Thursday last, and inspected the progress of the railway works in our vicinity. He expressed his approbation of the work as far as proceeded with, and urged upon the contractors to hasten the work as much as was in their power. This will be done, as Messrs. Lewis & Sims, and Mr. McDonnell, intend to largely increase their forces as soon as the weather will permit.

RUNAWAY.

As Mr. D. Macnaughton, of Asphodel, was coming into Norwood on Saturday evening, his horse took fright about a mile from the village and bolted. He was violently thrown from his sulky, and sustained several severe injuries, besides having some of his ribs broken. In this painful and prostrated condition he was compelled to walk to the village, where he had his ailments speedily attended to.

ON THE RISE.

The waters of the river Ouse are on the rise, and threaten to deluge the yards and gardens along its banks. As a great deal of snow is yet to thaw to the north of us, no doubt it will be some time before the waters will assuage; but there is no danger of a flood.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A public meeting was held in the town hall on Friday evening, to take into consideration the providing of further school accommodation; but, as there were only about a baker's dozen of the ratepayers present, no action was taken. The trustees will probably take action themselves and, looking upon the apathy of the ratepayers as indifference in this important matter, will provide the necessary buildings for the increasing wants of our school.

Given up by Doctors.

"It is impossible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That's remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good." 16-2t

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 19, 1883.

The Midland Railway and Peterborough.

The prosperity and growth of the Town of Peterborough are so intimately connected with the progress and perfection of her railway facilities, that it will require no excuse to advert briefly to the facts developed at the annual general meeting of the Midland Railway Company, which was held in the local offices on Tuesday last. The report of the directors is encouraging to those financially interested in the Midland Railway system, as it shows justification of the hopes entertained from the amalgamation of the different roads now composing the system, which came into effect on the 1st of April, 1882. The consolidation under the name of the Midland Railway of Canada, includes the Toronto & Nipissing, the Grand Junction, the Whitby Port Perry & Lindsay, the Victoria, and the Toronto & Ottawa. The directors, appointed under the agreement of amalgamation, in submitting their report for the nine months—from the date of the union to the 31st December, 1882 show that the gross receipts of the road in the time mentioned, amounted to $872,837.16, while the aggregate earnings of the different separate lines, for the corresponding period of 1881, amounted to $732,353.76, an increase of $140,483.40. Thus a very substantial increase of receipts upon the operations of the first nine months of the amalgamated lines, is a matter of congratulation; and when the completion of the connecting links between Manilla and Wick, and Omemee and Peterborough are accomplished, which will place the Midland Railway system in direct communication with Toronto, the business centre of the district served by these lines, it is to be confidently expected that the results will be additionally gratifying. The net revenue for the nine months is over three hundred thousand dollars, leaving, after providing for the full interest obligations of the Company, the sum of over $23,000 to be carried forward. The passenger receipts show an increase of 20.07 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year, and the receipts from freight an increase of 10.90 per cent, Besides, there has been a large outlay for rolling stock, including twelve locomotives and over two hundred and fifty cars of all kinds. The development of through traffic, and the advantages of water connection at Midland, has also been very gratifying, and must be further assisted materially by the success of the efforts made to secure the improvement of the harbor of Midland.

The success, both in realization and prospect of the Midland Railway system, is a matter for congratulation to Peterborough, for the success of one involves that of the other. The commercial progress of Peterborough has advanced pari passu with the developments of the railway business and interests. Before another snowfall. we shall have the realization of our hopes and desires of having railway ingress and egress both east and west. In the completion of the "missing link" we shall be assured of a direct way of communication with the west and with Toronto, the commercial metropolis of Ontario, in addition to those already secured to the other cardinal points of the compass. By virtue of her railway connections, Peterborough is the centre of, and receives the business tribute of a wide area of valuable contributory country, and in commercial importance, manufacturing facilities, population, promise and rate of progress, it is the leading town in Ontario, and outstrips many places with the ambitious title of city, and its future is also so well guaranteed as to amount to almost assurance.

In this connection, it is gratifying to note that G. A. Cox, Esq., was re-elected on Tuesday, president of the Midland Railway of Canada. This gentleman's interests are so closely and materially identified with the welfare of the town, and the promotion of the advantage of the railways, that whatever, as far as he is concerned, contributes to his interest in relation to the one, must react beneficially on the other, and, vice versa, whatever injures the one must prove detrimental to the other. Mr. Cox has shown a most substantial faith in the future of the town, a confidence that shows no sign of becoming weakened. He has invested to a very large extent in real estate in Peterborough, and, with recent investments, he stands on the assessment roll, the proprietary representative of over $200,000 of marketable real estate—perhaps the largest real estate holder in the town. We merely mention these—in one sense purely personal matters, to show that one of the most far seeing and shrewdest business men in Canada, evinces in the most practical and convincing way—by the investment of a large portion of his worldly all in Peterborough, his belief that the town is destined to grow and flourish; and that he is bound, by every tie of interest, by every pecuniary consideration, by every bond of moral sympathy, and by every personal predilection, to do everything in his power to maintain the present high commercial and industrial standing of the town, and to make every medium subject to his control, tributary to its progress.

TERMS STRICTLY CASH.

Cowardly.

Sir John's pretexts for refusing to ratify the boundary award are utterly baseless. The evidence of his French colleagues is before us and proof is conclusive that in order to secure the support of the French Tories he had to sacrifice the dearest rights of his native province. Here is what the Hon. Mr. Mousseau said in his speech at the nomination in Jacques Cartier as reported in the Montreal Gazette, one of the most rabid Conservative papers to be found in that Province:

"You have heard of the great question of the boundary award. It will not be necessary for me to go into all the details of this question. The Government of Mr. Mackenzie had submitted this question to an arbitration, and in 1878 the arbitrators decided that Ontario should obtain an additional extent of boundary of 62,000,000 acres. When we, the Conservatives, arrived in power, we refused to accept this decision, and offered to refer the case to the Privy Council When at St. Jerome, in 1878, with the Hon. Mr. Masson, I laid down the condition on which we held our position as members of the Federal Cabinet, I said: If the Province of Ontario is to acquire an additional territory of 62,000,000 acres more than she was given under the British North America Act the Province of Quebec will have the right to demand an equivalent. It would be impossible for the Province of Quebec to remain in this position if Ontario gained her case, because any improvement in her position must be followed by an equal one in ours. Otherwise the Federal equilibrium would be broken."

The "condition" was "laid down" and Sir John meekly accepted it rather that stand up manfully for the undoubted rights of Ontario.

The Chieftain's Dilemma.

The Chieftain is certainly between two fires. The Quebec Tories refuse to budge an inch on the Orange incorporation question; and now, Mr. John White, the scape goat of Sir John's responsibility in the matter, begins to show that he is in earnest that he is not going to figure any longer as a mere proxy. On Monday the Orange incorporation bill was "called." Mr. White made a startling and unexpected speech. Before he rose, Sir John and Mr. Dalton McCarthy were seen to speak with him in an imploring manner. They evidently wanted him to withdraw the bill, but he shook his head significantly. and would not yield. In his speech he asked the House for a further adjournment of the bill until Monday. "If," said he, "the committee does not come to a conclusion by that time, I warn them that I will push the bill. I will have no further badgering or trouble. I have been badly treated all throughout this matter, and I will not be a party to compromise. If the House will not indulge me, I am ready to go on with the bill now." Last summer, when Orangemen rebelled against O'Donohue being taken into the Cabinet, Sir John yielded, and, in addition, to retain the Orange vote, he promised special legislation in favor of the order. Has he done the first thing to keep his promise? Has he spoken one word in favor of the bill he deputed Mr. John White to introduce? Not at all; nor has a single member of the Government dared to speak a word in its favor. The Ontario Government has been abused for not giving Orange incorporation; what now will be said of Sir John, after being pledged to do so? The Orange party has stuck to Sir John for twenty-five years, but when Sir John is asked to fulfil his promise and give the Orange body legislation, which the Mowat Government has been abused for withholding, he declines to do so, when a nod of his Hyperion curls would, with the majority he has in the House, secure the passage of the bill. Sir John either dares not or will not act. Which? Let his friends answer.

Editorial Notes.

Hon. A. S. Hardy is the acting Minister of Education during Mr. Crook's absence in England.

Five Catholic Liberals were returned at the recent elections, and three of these have been protested against by the Tories. Four Tory Catholics were returned, but none of them have been protested. Comment is unnecessary.

Dr. Day, of New York, in a report to the Board of Health of that city, has noticed the gradual increase in the number of cases of typhoid fever of late, and the impression is that the increase was due to the use of milk from cows that had been given impure water to drink, or that had been mixed with impure water.

Dr. Widdifield, M.P.P., for North York, was banqueted by his friends and supporters at Newmarket on Tuesday evening. Dr. Widdifield has been returned three times in succession for North York, with an increased majority each time. In the last election his was the largest majority in the Province -854. Dr. Widdifield is a popular representative, and he is a useful one as well.

The official returns for Muskoka, give Fauquier 2,278 votes, and Bettes 2,078, making Fauquier's majority 200. In the October election Mr. Bettes polled 1,882 votes, while the Conservative candidate, Mr. Prowse, only polled 1,467. Mr. Bettes' increase is therefore 196, while that of Mr. Faurquier is 811 over Prowse. The increased vote in the unorganized townships where Messrs. Shields, Smith Anderson, Squires and Co., were particularly active is 524 over that of last October.

Mr. Higgins, who has disposed of his interest in the Whitby Chronicle, has been appointed by the Ontario Government special emigration agent to Britain. He is to act in connection with the imperial Tuke Committees in the interest of Ontario. An invitation has been singed by the Mayor of Whitby and prominent citizens, by the Mayor of Oshawa, the Reeve of Pickering, F. W. Glen, M. P., John Dryden, M.P.P., and other leading gentleman, to a banquet to Mr. Higgins, previous to his departure. He conducted the Chronicle creditably for nearly thirty years.

While the farmers of Ontario are congratulating themselves upon the fact that, up till now at all events, the assurances of the spring wheat are all that can be desired, the most doleful accounts come from Great Britain. The leading agricultural journal (the Mark Lane Express) says that in England the past winter has been most disastrous, and the general outlook for the farmer is more gloomy than it has been for years, and that is saying a good deal. Since October last there has been scarcely one week's interval of fair weather, and while the autumn sown wheat has been either washed out of the ground or irremediably damaged, but little opportunity has been afforded for the ordinary operations of the late winter or early spring. In eleven years there has only been one winter with heavier rainfall - 1875-77.

PERSONAL.

Mr. F. C. Taylor, ex-mayor of Lindsay, was in town and made us a call on Wednesday.

We are pleased to notice that Dr. Harvey is sufficiently recovered from his recent severe illness, to be able to be on the streets.

Mr. Ed. Sailsbury, of Cobourg, has become a resident of Peterborough, being in charge of the stationery business of Sailsbury & Co.

We publish elsewhere a notice of the death of the late Mr. Samuel Belcher, C. E., whose visit to Peterborough will be remembered by by the many friends he formed during his stay amongst us.

Mr. James Whittaker. of Fowler, Michigan, was in town during the past week on a visit to friends. He is much pleased with the appearance of Peterborough, and thinks it the smartest town in Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bathgate, whose many friends in town will pleasantly remember them, were, on the occasion of Mr. Bathgate leaving Boston, to take charge of a large woolen factory in Maine, made the recipients of a handfome service of silver by their friends and admirers in the Hub.

SCOTT'S CORNERS.

Destructive Fire.

On Tuesday evening, April 17th the hotel, stables, sheds, etc., of Mr. John Newhall, Scott's Corners, North Monaghan, were destroyed by fire, supposed to have arisen from a pipe carelessly smoked in the stables. All the hay, grain and usual contents of the stables were burned, as well as three good horses one a very fast stepper. In the excitement, Mr. Newhall forgot and left in the house a purse containing $110 in bills, which, of course, were burned. A small portion of the furniture was saved. The loss will fall very severely upon Mr. Newhall, as he had no insurance on his belongings, though the buildings were insured.

Good Trees for Planting.

Nurserymen know what purchasers will not believe, that short, stocky trees are better for an orchard, more likely to live, come quicker into bearing, than tall slender trees, whether apple, peach, pear, plum or cherry. The reason is simply this: Tall trees in the nursery rows for some reason, get the start, overtop and overshadow those that started later: the sap of the tree consequently pushes its growth upward and into the foliage, while the roots are long, slender and few; consequently it does not bear transplanting as well or do as well after being transplanted, as was expected from its fine appearance in the row. Stocky trees, on the contrary, being overshadowed, make a shorter growth, with branches and foliage nearer the ground, with numerous short roots that do not waste their substance in bleeding or by absorption from the soil, that cause the tree to start off in a rapid growth and outstrip its slender rival, and also come quicker into profitable bearing.

Customers from a distance, remember that Mantles can be cut and fitted on shortest notice at Turnbull's.

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

MILLBROOK.

Within the past fortnight over one hundred persons have taken their departure from here for the Northwest.

J. N. Kirchhoffer sailed last week for his native land, where he purposes sojourning for about three months, when he will return, and go to Manitoba, and settle down.

HASTINGS.

Mr. John Steel, jr., lost a very fine horse valued at $150, on Monday last at the railway crossing near Mr. T. Humphries, being run over by a train.

A saw log boom of the Messrs. Fowlis' broke on Saturday. The break was discovered in time to prevent the logs going over the dam.

COBOURG.

Two new passenger cars are about ready for shipment.

There is some talk of a co-operative store being opened in Cobourg.

The first arrival in this harbor this season, is the Paragon, with a cargo of coal for Hargraft & Co.

The Firemen will offer in the neighborhood of $700 in prizes at the 24th of May celebration.

The assessors say that there is not a single dwelling vacant in town. How will this correspond with Port Hope?

The boat house for a life boat is going up, and will soon be finished. It will be an excellent one. When it is completed, the government will send a larger and better boat, and all the appliances necessary for a life saving station.

BOBCAYGEON.

Owing to the resignation of Capt. Bottum, as reeve, the clerk called a meeting for Monday to nominate a successor.

The Council has established two pounds, Mr. John Ritchie will officiate for the south side, and Mr. Collins for the north.

Our lake captains are busily engaged in preparing their crafts for the season. Last year the Eva made her first trip to Bridgenorth on the 13th, and to Lindsay on the 15th.

The Little Bob mill and all its surroundings are beginning to wear an appearance of activity. The mill is in thorough repair, and will continue under the charge of Mr. Wm. Gidley who has managed this extensive operation with such marked success for so many years.

Mr. Jackson Reid, who for some time has conducted the Forest House with much acceptance by the public, retired from business on Wednesday, and Capt. Bottum at the same time assumed the role of "mine host." The Forest House will certainly lose none of its old time reputation under the management of the gallant captain.

CAMPBELLFORD.

This ambitious village is agitating for a park a rather premature agitation one would say.

Campbellford is sending a large deputation of emigrants to the Northwest.

It is very gratifying to hear the farmers speaking so highly of the grand appearance of the grain, which they say never looked better in the locality.

Rev. J. A. Chapman, pastor of the C. M. Church, and Rev. J. A. Kestle, pastor of the Bible Christian Church, thought alike, and acted alike, last week, in choosing the same text, and preaching from it on Sunday. Acts 8, 39.

A very fashionable wedding came off here on Thursday in the R. C. Church, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Father Casey. The bride was Miss M. T. Nealon, youngest daughter of W. Nealon, Esq., of this township. The groom was Mr. John Cleary, merchant of this village. Both being so highly respected, a great assemblage went to the church to congratulate them on the pleasing event. A sumptuous repast was provided at the bride's father's, where a number of friends spent a few hours previous to the departure of the happy couple by the evening train for Ottawa and Montreal to spend their honeymoon.

BELLEVILLE.

A company with a capital of $100,000, of which $60,000 has been subscribed, has been formed at Belleville for the purpose of manufacturing stoves, stove furnishings, grates, heating aparatus, and other light works. Another "tall chimney" – on paper.

Adjutant E. G. Ponton has made application to the Militia Department at Ottawa for the formation of a drill class at the high school, but it appears the request must come from the school board. The practice of the Department has been to allow the formation of such military schools, when the board of Education agree to make proper arrangements for the furnishing of uniforms for the cadets and a room where the clothing and accoutrements can be kept. The Government will then furnish the rifles, belts, etc.

At 2.30 Friday morning as a freight train was going west, about a mile from the Grand Trunk Station, Henry Hicks, brakeman, who was stretching the bell rope, fell between the cars. Four cars and the van passed over him, cutting off his right and and left foot and inflicting other serious injuries, from the effect of which his death is certain. The unfortunate young man is aged 20, and is a resident of Colborne. He had been but a short time on the road.

LINDSAY.

Mr. Robert McCullem, for some years clerk for Gilmour, has purchased Capt. Bottum's steamers and will run them the ensuing season between Lindsay and Bobcaygeon.

The following were elected officers of Lindsay lacrosse club for the season of of 1883: President, J. B. Smith; 1st vice-president, J. J. Berry; 2nd vice-president George Metherell; sec.-treas., E. M. Woolhouse, captain, T. Hickey; committee of management, James Smith, Jas. Pethick, John Kennedy and H. McCallum.

We understand, says the Post, it is contemplated, if sufficient local support is received, to have a grand athletic tournament in Lindsay on the 24th of May next, under the management of Mr. E. W. Johnston of Toronto, the renowned champion athlete. The tournament will comprise wrestling, running, leaping and all out-door games, with gymnastic and acrobatic feats.

— On Wednesday last at Loretto Abbey, Toronto, Miss Anna Twohey, daughter of Mr. Twohey of Ops, and Miss Mahoney, daughter of Mr. P. Mahoney Ops, took upon themselves before Bishop Mahoney the vows and profession of nuns. The former will be known as Sister Eudoxia and the latter as Sister Hildafonse.

Last summer Mr. John Waldon built on his farm in Ops, just north of Lindsay, what is admitted to be one of the finest and most complete barns in the township. Several farmers have been to see it as a model, and all admire its convenient arrangements, and it would be well for those who intend to build to take a look at this barn first. It is 70 x 36 ft. posts, and a shed 30 x 29. The whole has a stone foundation, affording abundant rooms for horses, cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry everything in the most comfortable and convenient shape imaginable.

On Wednesday a through excursion train left Lindsay for the northwest, those going from this county filling one passenger car and taking with them five cars of stock. Among the party were N. McCabe and family, Ops; M. L. Bateman and brother, Mariposa, Mr. Austin and Mr. Pascoe, Haliburton; W. Staples and family Eldon; Joseph and James Hall, Ops; Mr. Moffatt and family George Douglass, Cumbray. The party were ticketed through by Mr. F. C. Taylor, agent Grand Trunk railway here, all seemed pleased with the accommodation and prospect of a speedy and comfortable train.

PORT HOPE.

The Midland railway fireman have a ball on the evening of the 20th.

The salary of Chief of Police, Douglass, has been fixed at $600 and that of Mr. Rankin, assistant, at $350.

Port Hope pays its collector $300 per year.

It is understood that Rev. A. H. Monroe, of Montreal, will be given a call by the congregation of the Baptist church here.

A meeting of Methodist ministers was held here on Tuesday in relation to the Conference that will gather at Peterboro' in June.

The following are the dates of the Spring Fairs for this section:—
Cobourg, Wednesday, 25th April.
Port Hope, Thursday, 26th April.
Newcastle, Saturday, 28th April.
Bowmanville, Tuesday, 1st May.

Mr. David Marshal has been appointed an officer at the Coaticooe, Province of Quebec, Custom House. It is understood that he goes there to become acquainited with the rules of the department, and will remain there about a month, after which he expects to assume charge of a Manitoba appointment.

Mr. J. Atkinson, Asst. Superintendent of the Midland Railway, had a very narrow escape from drowning on Thursday afternoon of last week. He had been using dynamite to clear the channel of the creek from ice that was accumulating, so as to prevent a jam near the railway bridge. While doing so, above Barrett's mills, he slipped off a block of ice and was carried, towards the dam. As he reached there he caught hold of the stop-log and held fast until released. Had he been carried over, with so much ice floating down the creek, he would have had a narrow escape from being drowned.

Naturally.

(Brantford Expositor.)

The organs of the Ottawa Government make a clumsy sort of denial to the correspondence published between Sir Chas. Tupper and Mr. J. A. Macdonnell, the quondam U. E. Club Secretary, relative to the property purchased by the Christian brothers of Toronto. They admit the genuineness of most of the correspondence, but attempt to deny those portions of it reflecting on Archbishop Lynch, and seek to assert that these are forgeries. Coming from such sources we know how much reliance can be placed upon denials of this kind. When men resort to such disreputable conduct they are never at a loss for a denial. We all remember the tone of outraged innocence with which Sir John denied the correspondence relative to the Pacific scandal. He not only denied the truth of Mr. Huntington's charges, but he threatened that gentleman with expulsion from Parliament, asseverating that there was not one word of truth in them and calling upon his followers to vote down the motion made, which they immediately did. Yet we all know to-day that the charges made by Mr. Huntington were true to the very letter, and those who at that time were most loud in their denunciations of what they would do, were Sir John guilty of such conduct, are yet found his most obedient followers. They would never give Sir John their confidence again they said, if he were guilty, yet they have done so, and are to be found as the loudest defenders of his most iniquitous acts. They can now contend in cool blood that Sir John did a very patriotic thing in selling a charter for money to debauch the electorate of this country. So we find the Government through their organs denying the truth of this correspondence which reflects so strongly upon Sir Chas. Tupper and Sir John Macdonald, but it will be quite another thing to convince the people that the denial is worth anything. The attempt even as made by the Mail is so lame that the most common observer can see that it is neither honest nor sincere.

That the Archbishop spurned these corrupt proposals is shown by the result. They sought to punish him to have their revenge by refusing to make the remission of interest which Sir Chas. Tupper declared to be proper under the circumstances. The Roman Catholic population of this province have in many localities long supported Sir John Macdonald and the Tory party. They now know the estimation in which he holds them. They now know how little regard he has for them. He is ready to use them; to climb into power through their assistance, and to kick them out of the way when they have served his purposes. He says in effect to Dr. Tupper: "If you can buy the crowd by remitting the interest on $8,000, do so. They are numerous, and the price is dirt cheap, but I have little confidence in the breed." What an expression of gratitude.

The Hamilton Tribune on Monday last published a most shameful correspondence in which the late secretary of the defunct U. E. Club and the present Minister of Railways figure most prominently, and in which is revealed an unworthy plot to "capture" the political influence of his Grace Archbishop Lynch for the benefit of the Tories in the Ontario elections of June, 1879. The implied insult to his Grace may be passed over in silence as worthy only the source whence it emanated; but the baseness of the plotters, the grovelling motives which influenced them, and the low estimate they placed upon others immeasurably above them in the sense of moral rectitude, deserve the fullest exposure and the severest condemnation — Toronto Tribune, (Catholic).

Catching the Colt.

With forehead star and silver tail.
And three white feet to match.
The gay, half-broken sorrel colt,
Which one of us could catch?

"I can," said Dick; "I'm good for that,"
He slowly shook his empty hat.
"She'll think 'tis full of corn" said he,
"Stand back, and she will come to me."

Her head, the shy, proud creature raised
As 'midst the daisy flo[illegible] she grazed;
Then down the hill a[illegible] the brook,
Delaying oft, her way she took;
Then changed her pace, and, moving quick,
She hurried on and came to Dick.
"Ha! ha!" he cried, "I've caught you, Beck!"
And put the halter round her neck.

But soon there came another day,
And, eager for a ride
"I'll go and catch the colt again;
I can," said Dick with pride.

So up the stony pasture lane,
And up the hill he trudged again;
And when he saw the colt, as slow
He shook his old hat to and fro.
"She'll think 'tis full of corn," he thought,
"And I shall have her quickly caught;
Beck! Beck!" he called, and at the sound
The restless beauty looked around.
Then made a quick, impatient turn,
And galloped off among the fern.

And when beneath a tree she stopped.
And leisurely some clover cropped,
Dick followed after, but in vain
His hand was just upon her mane.
When off she flew as flies the wind,
And, panting, he pressed on behind.
Down through the brake, the brook across,
O'er bushes, thistles, mounds of moss,
Round and round the place they passed,
Till breathless, Dick sank down at last;
Threw by, provoked, his empty hat
"The colt," he said, "remembers that!
There's always trouble from deceit,
I'll never try again to cheat!"

MANUFACTURED BY THE JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, OSHAWA, ONT.

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.
F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.
DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.
Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.
To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:
SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.
Yours truly
JOHN McDONALD.

OPS, January 9th, 1883.
To the Editor of the Canadian Post:
SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.
Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.
Mr. F. W. Glen:
DEAR SIR, I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth, the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they had ever had thresh for them.
Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

ADMITTED TO THE PRIESTHOOD.

The First Ordination of Priests at St. Peter's Cathedral A Solemn and Imposing Ceremonial.

On Sunday last, at St. Peter's Cathedral, the solemn and impressive ceremony for the ordination of a Roman Catholic priest was performed for the first time in the diocese of Peterborough. His Lordship Bishop Jamot, assisted by Very Rev. Vicar General Rooney, of Toronto, and Rev. Fathers Keating and Conway, conducted the rites. The candidates were Messrs. Bretherton and O'Connell, who had successively received the minor dignities preliminary to the crowning investiture of the priestly authority. There was a very full attendance; the unusual nature of the ceremony, as well as the splendor of the full robed ecclesiastics, the solemnity of the sacred rite, the grand and solemn music, and the well known piety of the congregation of St. Peter's were sufficient to fill the sacred edifice to the doors. The procession entered, consisting of his Lordship, the Vicar General, and Rev. Fathers Conway and Keating and the candidates. His Lordship took the episcopal throne and was clothed by his assistants with the full canonicals, consisting of amice, alb, cincture, cross, tunic, dalmatic, maniple stole and chasuble emblematic of the sacred power, which "in obedience to divine commission," he confers upon the suppliant for ordination. His Lordship alluded to the sacred bull by which he received dispensation to perform the ceremony at this, an unusual time ember week being the canonical period. His Lordship proceeded with the mass as far as the tract, and the ceremony of ordination began. The suppliants, after being vouched for by the Archdeacon, holding on their left arms folded chasubles, and in their right hands lighted tapers, and in their left a purification for binding their hands, approached the Bishop.

The Bishop then delivered an address in Latin, in which tongue, of course the whole service was celebrated. At the conclusion of this address the most impressively solemn portion of the ceremony began. The suppliants prostrated themselves at the lowest step of the altar, while the choir solemnly chanted the Litany of the Saints. At "That Thou vouchafe to grant rest to all faithful departed," the Bishop standing with mitre and crozier, blessed the prostrate candidates thrice. At the conclusion of the Litany all rose, and the imposition of hands was performed by the Bishop and the clergy in stole, placing their hands on the heads of the candidates. After certain prayers the Bishop took his seat, and removing the stole from the candidates' left shoulders crossed it on their breasts, with the words to each: "Receive thou the yoke of the Lord, for His yoke is sweet and his burden is light." The Bishop next invested them with the chasuble folded on the shoulders, saying, "Receive the priestly vestment by which charity is understood, etc. After the first verse of the "Veni Creator Spiritus" was sung, his Lordship annointed the hands of the candidates with holy oil, making the sign of the cross and prayed: "That whatever these hands bless shall be blessed, and what they consecrate shall be consecrated." Their hands were next bound with the purificators, and the Bishop presented them with the chalice, containing wine and water, and a patena with a host, both of which were touched while the Bishop said: "Receive the power to offer sacrifice to God, to celebrate masses as well for the living as for the dead." The Bishop continued mass to the offertory, and then proceeded to the middle of the altar when he received an offering from the newly ordained priests, who kissed his hand and the taper. After prayers were recited the Bishop turned to the ordained, who stood before the altar, and made profession of faith by reciting the creed. They then knelt before the Bishop, who placed his hands on their heads and said: "Receive the Holy Ghost; whose sins ye shall forgive, they are forgiven them, and whose sins ye shall retain, they are retained." Next unfolding the chasuble he clothed them entirely with it, and taking their hands between his own, received their promise of reverence and obedience, and gave them the kiss of peace. After a brief admonition he gave the ordained his blessing. Mass was then continued until after the benediction, when the Bishop enjoined the ordained to live holily and piously, and with the last gospel the ceremony was concluded.

His Lordship then expressed the happiness the occasion had afforded him. He now had thirty priests in his diocese, and was sure the newly ordained would make faithful and pious priests.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the village Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, 9th inst. There were present Councillors Cox, McWilliams, Urquhart and Nelson. In the absence of the Reeve, Councillor Cox occupied the chair. The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid:

The Council, on motion, resolved themselves into a committee of the whole to take the necessary steps to open up Station street. The Clerk was authorized to engage a surveyor to lay out all the streets in dispute. The Council resolved as a whole to make an inspection of the streets, sidewalks, etc. A by-law was passed authorizing the Reeve and treasurer to raise the sum of $700 for the use of School Board and Council, to meet current expenses. Objection was taken to paying out money for clearing the sidewalks of snow. After some discussion Councillor Urquhart gave notice that he would introduce a by-law at the next meeting to compel property owners to keep the sidewalks clear.

GIVING YOU A HINT!

That's all our space allows us to do. We'd do more, and then fail of doing ourselves fair justice.

Three weeks of unexpected business activity we've had, and in the very teeth of unpropitious weather—that is, weather not suited as we would like to have it—for the Spring Ordered Clothing Trade. To tell the truth, it's been a race for weeks past between trade and the goods, and the goods have only just caught up at that. But about

SPRING CLOTHING!

We haven't every new thing that has been turned out of the factories or imported; nobody has that. But we have all that we think desirable—the most varied and attractive selection we know of.

STYLE, QUALITY and PRICE are the points to be looked at by the intelligent purchaser of Clothing. Well, look at what we offer. GARMENTS MORE ELEGANTLY DESIGNED and BETTER FINISHED, ARE NOT TO BE FOUND or rather bought. The Style, the Fit, the Finish are custom and a high grade custom at that.

Our work carries about with it every tasteful device of Shaping, Trimming and Finish to please our customers. We desire it to be understood that we are serving the public—not a part of the public—but the public. In the matter of Stock, our goods range from popular goods at popular prices, through every stage of excellence, to the finest. In the points of general value

CAN'T BE SURPASSED. The goods are all your fancy can make them, and more.

Consider the moderate prices we ask for our work and we think we've fairly established the fact that our Clothing Department is a fairly proper place to come to, if you need anything it can supply.

Suppose it is a trifle early to buy, look in. That makes us all the gladder to see the lookers. We regard every looker as a possible buyer, as a probable buyer, as all but a certain buyer, and welcome him accordingly. We submit the above.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament First Session.

MONDAY.

In the Commons, among the returns, was one of the votes cast in the June general elections. Mr. Colby's bill to extend to the Dominion Chapter 71 of the Consolidated Statutes: the Act to be amended provided for the incorporation of charitable and benevolent associations. This was a bill evidently prompted by the Government to give the Orange order a general act of incorporation, and thus induce Mr. White to withdraw his bill. The bill was read a first time.

A private bill, relating to the Acadia Powder Company, raised the question of provincial competence as to legislation. On motion of Mr. Blake it was re-committed to Committee of the Whole.

THE ORANGE BILL.

On the order for the Orange Bill being reached, Mr. White explained that one member (Sir John evidently) wanted the bill to stand over another week, and another wanted it to go on. Referring to Mr. Colby's general bill, Mr. White said he wanted no general bill. He would have the special bill or none at all.

Mr. Blake pointed out that if the bill were allowed to stand a week it would be impossible for it to go through. The bill was allowed to stand, thus virtually burking the Orange Incorporation Bill.

A number of returns were moved for.

THE BOTHWELL CASE.

Mr. J. J. Hawkins, the representative of the returning officer of Bothwell, in moving for a committee to report on the conduct of the county judge of Kent, dealt out a round quantity of violent abuse against the judge, accusing him of deliberately deciding, before the facts, to disfranchise 150 voters. Mr. Cameron, of Huron, condemned the cowardly slander of a learned judge by a person under privilege of Parliament, and blamed the First Minister for allowing such a motion to be put. Sir John defended Mr. Hawkins, but hoped the matter would not be pressed. Mr. Casey said Mr. Hawkins dare not make in the public press the statements he had made on the floor of the House. Mr. Blake characterized the charges as utterly unjustifiable in form, if true, in fact. The motion was put and lost.

TUESDAY.

In the Commons to-day Sir John Macdonald moved his resolution to appoint other members in place of the Liberals who had refused to act on the Temperance Legislation Committee, which was carried.

Sir Hector Langevin moved for a Committee of the whole on Thursday to consider certain resolutions amending the Canada Civil Service Act, 1882. Carried.

THE MILITIA BILL.

Mr. Caron moved the second reading of the bill to amend and consolidate the militia laws. The hon. member reviewed the history of the country's militia from its birth in 1688, and explained that the present bill was a consolidation of all the former militia acts, which included the division of the force into an active and reserve militia land force, and active and reserve militia marine force. Mr. Caron stated that the new troops of cavalry would number 32, and would be divided between Quebec and Kingston, half being attached to "A" and half to "B" Battery. Of the other schools to be established one would be in the Maritime Provinces and the other in Quebec. Any battalion requiring a mounted officer should have for that officer a man who has been trained to manage not only his corps, but his horses. The regulations to be issued governing these several corps would include one to the effect that no man should be appointed an officer of any corps unless he had first received a certificate from one of these schools. Other provisions were put in the Act, giving the Australian colonies, the principal provision being that the owners of the land will hold the Government certificates of their ownership, and when they sell their land these certificates will be renewed by the Government in the name of the purchasers without the trouble and cost involved in searching titles, conveyancing, etc. It is proposed to establish the head office at Regina, the chief officer to be known as Registrar-General.

Mr. Blake approved of the bill, which, he said, was similar to one submitted by Hon. Mr. Mills in the last Parliament. The measure will greatly reduce the legal expense of transfers.

Mr. Small introduced a bill to increase the harbor accommodation of Toronto, extend the esplanade, and control the use and management thereof. It has not yet been decided whether the measure will be treated as a public or private one.

Mr. Costigan moved the House into Committee, to consider a resolution to consolidate and amend the Acts respecting the Inland Revenue.

This matter brought a number of French members to their feet. They occupied the time up to recess in discussing the excise duty of two cents per pound on tobacco manufactured from Canadian leaf. The general sentiment was in favor of the removal of this tax, so as to encourage the growth of the weed in Quebec, the people having a particular liking for the native product.

The motion passed and stands for further action.

After recess the House went into Committee on the Militia Consolidation bill, advanced it considerably, and and reported. The only noteworthy feature of the debate was a request by Mr. Landerkin that seven men of the Durham company, 35th battalion, who contracted typhoid fever in camp, should be recompensed.

The Customs Consolidation bill was then taken up, seventy-two clauses being passed.

The House apjourned at 11.44.

FRIDAY.

After routine to-day in the Commons, Sir John Macdonald introduced an Act respecting the electoral franchise. He explained that the principle of the Act was that the same classes should vote in the various provinces. At persent one class of voters voted in one province, and another class in another province, Although the change would slightly contract the franchise in a few instances, the general effect would be a very material enlargement of the franchise. The bill was to some extent based on the Act at present in force in Ontario, but was more liberal in its provisions. In cities, towns and incorporated villages the qualification required was the possession of $300 in real property, or a rental of $20; while the Ontario Act required a qualification of $400, or a rental of $30. In rural districts the qualification was $200, or a rental of $20 per annum. The Act also provided for an income qualification. The franchise was extended to farmers' sons in the same manner as under the Ontario Act, and not only to the sons of farmers, but to the sons of mechanics and others who resided with their parents, and whose parents were possessed of sufficient property, or paid sufficient rental, to entitle not only themselves but their sons to a vote. The bill also provided for female suffrage. (Applause.) Unmarried women would have a right to vote if possessed of the requisite qualification. With reference to the administration of the law, there would be a revising officer for each county, or for more than one county, who would probably be the county judge, but the county judge would not be compelled to serve if he objected to do so. This officer would prepare the voters' list and hold courts from time to time for their revision, his duties being similar to those of the revising officer under the English Act. The bill would be printed and distributed in a few days and ample time would be given for full discussion.

Mr. Blake briefly twitted the premier on having taken thirteen years to think about bringing in a general franchise act, but declined to discuss its merits until it was printed.

The House adjourned after a six hours' debate on the Finance Minister's motion to go into Committee of Ways and Means. The debate was confined to the operation of the N. P. Mr. Mackenzie attacked it on the ground that it had failed to benefit the farmer. Sir Leonard Tilley replied, and Messrs. Davies, Campbell (Victoria, N.S.), Foster, Brecken, Hackett, McMullen (North Wellington), Farrow and Watson presented their views on the question according to their political sympathies respectively.

authority for providing men in camp with rations and shelter, both of which had always been furnished, but without any dierct authority of law, and to punish men taking pay of two volunteer organizations.

Mr. Vail criticised the increased expenditure involved, which he estimated would reach from $200,000 to $300,000, and made various suggestions, amongst them, the necessity of a yearly drill of the whole force. Mr. Ross thought the consolidation of the militia laws desirable, but urged that the changes of the bill were all in the wrong direction. Mr. Ives and Mr. Hesson thought it would be better if the men of the volunteer force were paid better, drilled longer and enlisted for a fixed time. The defect in the system was not a want of officers, but want of training in the force at large. Mr. Williams advocated bi-annual camps. Mr. Caron defended at some length the usefulness of the Kingston Military College, and answered many of the objections raised, after which the bill was read a second time and the House went ino Committee of the Whole upon it, Mr. Landry in the chair, and the bill was quickly rushed through and progress reported to the House.

The bills amending and consolidating acts respecting Public Lands and Customs having been read a second time the House adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.

The business of private members had precedence in the Commons to-day.

In answer to Mr. Casey, the Hon. Mr. Pope said the Government had arranged for a share of the emigration from the distressed districts of Ireland this year.

A lively debate sprung up on a motion by Mr. Blake for copies of letters, memorials or representations asking for an increase in the tariff on any of the articles on which the proposed tariff resolutions alter the rates of duty.

The Minister of Customs, in the absence of Sir Leonard Tilley, who has been indisposed for the past two days, asked to that the resolution be withdrawn on the ground that it was not advisable to reveal the correspondence, which, for the most part, was private and confidential.

Mr. Blake did not ask for private correspondence, but he considered the House was entitled to know on what representations the changes in the tariff were to be made.

The debate was remarkable for the speech of the Hon. Peter Mitchell, a protectionist, and a former member of Sir John's Cabinet, who attacked Mr. Bowell for refusing the information asked for, and took occasion to say that the N. P. had not benefitted a single interest in Northumberland, N.B., which county he represented. The Opposition received the hon. gentleman's remarks with great favor.

The Premier said that the motion struck at the root of obtaining full and exhaustive information on any matter that the Government deemed desirable.

In replying to the Premier, Mr. Mitchell was interrupted by the member for Cardwell, whereupon he accused Mr. White of being a rabid partizan, and said he would vote every time as the Premier wished.

A division then took place on the motion, which was lost on a vote of 65 for and 115 against.

The House devoted the night session to Mr. McCarthy's Railway Commission bill. Mr. McCarthy explained that the measure was misunderstood. It was not revolutionary, but merely provided a means to compel railway companies to obey the law.

Messrs. Girouard and McCallum opposed the bill, and Messrs. Casey, Orton, White (Renfrew), McNeill and Armstrong spoke in favor of it as beneficial to the country at large.

The motion that the House go into Committee on the bill was lost.

The House adjourned at 11.35.

THURSDAY.

After routine, Mr. Dalton McCarthy introduced a bill to facilitate the transfer of land in the North-West. He explained that the measure introduced into Canada was the Torrens system, which obtains in

REMINISCENCE OF TRAVEL.

"A travelling man has many queer experiences," said W. D. Franklin the other evening at the Abbott House, while conversing with some gentlemen. The speaker was a young man with a fine, intelligent face—a man well known in this State from his active efforts in behalf of the Continental Collection Union, of Cincinnati, with which he is connected. "I have just been reading in this paper," continued Mr. Franklin, tapping a copy of the Kansas City Times, "an article on a popular remedy, which recalls a reminiscence of Kentucky travel. I think it was last fall that I was going from Lebanon to Springfield, Kentucky, in a stage coach. The route was somewhat tedious, and I was glad of the opportunity to talk with one of the passengers, a very pretty and intelligent young lady. You know how soon persons become acquainted under such circumstances and grow communicative. We were not exceptions to the rule. I do not remember how the subject of rheumatism came to be mentioned, but we found ourselves talking about it quite seriously. Before dropping the subject, which is by no means the most agreeable in a stage coach on a cold autumn day, the lady told me of a most remarkable cure wrought by the Great German Remedy, St. Jacob's Oil, about which everybody in this Western country seems to be going crazy. She stated that her sister was a great sufferer from rheumatism, and despaired of getting well. Physicians had exhausted their skill and medicine in treating her. Seeing the advertisement of St. Jacob's Oil in the papers, she thought it might help her. So she commenced to use it with some faint hope of obtaining relief, but scarcely expected a cure. She received relief immediately after commencing to use the Oil, and was finally cured. And now," added Mr. Franklin, "I see that the remedy is curing all the horses in Cole's Circus, so that it must be a specific for pain both in man and beast. It certainly has obtained great popularity, for I meet with its devotees wherever I go."

A man who sometimes contributes articles for the press was sitting in the company and participated in the conversation which followed the above statement upon the merits of St. Jacob's Oil. Subsequently the writer mentioned the German remedy in the presence of S. J. Lambert, proprietor of the Abbott House, and received the prompt information from that gentleman that St. Jacob's Oil was the great rheumatic specific. "It has cured myself and wife," said Mr. Lambert, "of rheumatism. We both had rheumatism of the inflammatory rheumatism, too,—and had it bad. I believed in the remedy which every one was praising, and used it. I have ever since been glad that I did so, for both my wife and myself realized speedy relief and cure. The St. Jacob's Oil is a splendid curative power; in short, it is just the best of liniments."

On Riggs avenue is located the popular confectionery store of S. C. Sloan. Mr. Sloan told the reporter that he has always found more relief from St. Jacob's Oil than anything else. Mr. Sloan is subject to neuralgia of the stomach. He has been so troubled for years, and will probably be subject to it all his life. Sometimes he wakes at night with a horrible pain gnawing at his vitals. Immediately he applies St. Jacob's Oil. One application always gives relief. It is the only thing that will do it. Mr. Sloan also stated that he has seen the Great German remedy do wonders in a case of sprain. One of his men once sprained his ankle by falling off a horse. He was in a very bad plight. The ankle became very much swollen and the pain was very great. The man was treated with St. Jacob's Oil and was at work in four days. The cure was wonderful.

These are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Weak Kidneys, or any disease of the urinary organs, or whoever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulant, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. A New Principle.

The principle upon which PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR acts is entirely new. It does not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separates it from the under layer, and gives the direct pressure from the part, and at once effects a radical cure without pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet skeptical of the merit, try it, and by the completeness of the cure, they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others. N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Proprietors.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. Wood's New Discovery for consumption relieves all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realise their neglect of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery; resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. "GRUNT IT OUT."—The above is an old saw as savage as it is senseless. You can't "grunt out" dyspepsia nor liver complaint, nor nervousness if they once get a good hold. They don't remove themselves in that way. The taking of a few doses of Burdock Blood Bitters is better than "grunting it out." What we can cure let's not endure. 16-2t

It is to be hoped that the poisonous Ague medicines have had their day. Arsenic and quinine are not desirable commodities to carry about in one's system, ever for the sake of temporarily displacing the malarial poison which produces Fever and Ague. Ayer's Ague Cure is a sure antidote for the Ague, and is perfectly harmless, leaving the system in as good condition as before the Ague was contracted.

THE USE OF FALSE HAIR by ladies is a most disagreeable practice, for not only is it impossible to trace its origin, but also the natural hair is constantly changing while the dead hair retains its color. By the use of Cingalese Hair Renewer on the contrary, the color of the hair is rendered natural and always beautifully glossy and a venerable crown of glory, every lady should use it, and to gentlemen whose hair is growing thin, it is a necessity. "Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

It is a well known fact that a great many Merchants advertise certain lines of goods, to deceive the public, which they never had in their store.

CAUTION!

To obviate this pernicious practice we would advise all parties to cut out such advertisements and bring them with them.

To convince you that we have the goods, adopt the above principles and we are sure of your patronage.

JOHN HACKETT.

Local News Record.

Trimmings this week at Turnbull's, a special line of Polka Spot Dress Goods, in Black and Colored.

Lacrosse.

The local lacrosse club will on Friday night next, unlimber, and enjoy the first practice of the season. The boys are full of vim this season and will make it sultry for opponents on the field.

Taverns and Shops.

The applications for tavern licenses in town amount to about 24 tavern and ten or eleven shop licenses. In the rural parts of the license district, there are between ten and a dozen applications of both kinds.

High Water.

We are just beginning to experience the effect of the melting of the snow. Hamilton's creek is now a raging river. On the link the grade has been almost submerged. There have been one or two trifling washouts. There is an almost total cessation of work on the line, and operations at the shovel cannot be resumed within a week.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic returns of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending April 7th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $6,696.44; freight, $13,007.93; total, $19,704.37 as compared with $17,970.46 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $1,733.91; and the aggregate traffic to date is $206,791.63, being a decrease of $3,055.58 over 1882.

To Butter Makers.

The card of Mr. Wm. Cluxton, published in another column, should be read and taken to heart by butter packers. Ontario is justly noted for the extent and excellence of her cheese product, but in the matter of butter, it is a melancholy fact that her reputation abroad for making butter is, like some specimens of that product, rather unsavory. And it is all owing to the neglect of the details, or similar apparently trifling reasons, pointed out in Mr. Cluxton's letter.

Chicago Fleming.

The ponderous bucket-shop operator is still in Toronto jail, and still keeps his Mark Tapleyish jolliness under the duress while that doesn't seem to reduce his physical proportions. Last Monday there was a fight over him between Toronto and Guelph policemen, the former acting in the interest of Montreal victims. Fleming settled the matter by electing to stay in Toronto jail, where he remains pending the settlement of which has the better claim to him—Montreal or Guelph.

Commander Cheyne.

This clever gentleman delivered two most interesting lectures under the auspices of the Mechanics Institute, in Gladburn's Opera House, on Thursday and Friday evenings. The lectures were full of information and interest, and were admirably illustrated by pictures projected on a screen by the aid of the oxy-hydrogen light and by maps. His lectures were a charming and well-judged blending of the popular and scientific treatment of his subjects, which were "Egypt and the War," and "The Search for Sir John Franklin."

The Fire Brigade Band.

At last. The instruments ordered from England for the band have come at last, and now the best musical talent in any band in the Midland District is furnished with as good instruments as can be made. Mr. Dollar has a B. flat cornet, made specially to his order, thatt will make some rare music. The band has made a complete re-organization, their practice room has been fitted up with every requisite to make it complete. The Friday evening open air concerts will soon be here, and we understand that the boys are practising for a concert to be held at an early date. We hope they will be accorded the liberal patronage they deserve.

There are comparatively few farmers on the market these days.

The market is by no means glutted with a surplus of maple sugar or syrup.

It would be a paying business to import vacant houses from some towns and cities we know of. The supply of vacant dwellings in Peterborough is exhausted.

With the advent of spring there is a large increase in the freight traffic of the Midland—the consignments to Peterborough merchants being a particularly marked feature of the increase.

Farmers and others desiring a genteel, lucrative agency business, by which $5 to $20 a day can be earned, send address at once, on postal, to H. C. Wilkinson & Co., 195 and 197 Fulton St., New York. 3.26t

There is a cow on George street which went the other day in search of something Tory editors chronically fail to find—truth. At least, she tumbled into a well, where truth is popularly assumed to be kept. Contrary to the usual practice, she was roped out of trouble.

The fire alarm bells tinkled on Tuesday night about nine o'clock. A shed belonging to Mr. John McKee, of McKee & Gemmel, on Waterford street, near London street, took fire and was burned, but the brigade saved the house, though the roof of the kitchen was injured. Loss not very great.

The Intelligencer boasts of a hog of a citizen that ate 91 eggs "at a sitting." It's no wonder that Belleville is in a chronic state of hard-upness. The danger of some of the citizens eating up the establishment, as well as the profits, must be the reason why manufacturers fight so shy of the place.

This week we show a large stock of the newest styles in Men and Boys Soft and Hard Felt Hats, Tweed Helmets, Silk and Cloths Caps, also, a beautiful assortment of New Scarfs, Ties, Collars, Cuffs, Braces, Socks, Silk and Linen Handkerchiefs, Merino, Cashmere and Cotton Under clothing, white and coloured Shirts. A Fresh lot of Choice Patterns in Prints to arrive this week at Turnbull's.

Journalistic.

We are delighted to welcome to our sanctum the regular visits of the bright new face and chatty, clever company of the Hamilton Tribune. This new venture is destined to prove a certainty of success. It has all the requisites—a good field, good live opposition to keep it up to the mark—its style is popular, its newsiness is well arranged. Its editorial sayings are crisp, condensed and fearless. It is neatly printed, and its general appearance indicates that there is a good deal of go about the Tribune. Our best wishes for success. Independent in politics.

The first number of the Minnedosa, N. W.T., Tribune, published by Mr. W. Gibbens, is a seven column, well printed, well arranged journal, and exceedingly creditable in every respect except its political—it supports the Norquay government.

Business Expansion.

In calling on Mr. D. Belleghem to solicit his usual spring advertisement, he said that he could not afford to advertise. His business is now urging him so strongly that he thought an advertisement, in the EXAMINER especially, would result in forcing him into business engagements he could not fulfil—he is so busy now that with his large staff hard at work he has positively all that he can do. The rush of custom has compelled him to enlarge his premises. He broke ground on Monday morning for an extension of his cabinet wareroom. He will add 55 feet to the rear of his present premises, making the depth 101 feet—the deepest shop in town. The enlarged building will be three stories in height; and, being 25 feet wide and 101 feet in length, will give Mr. Belleghem 7,575 square feet of area for the display of furniture. He will also build a finishing building in the rear of his factory 25 x 25 feet, and two stories in height. He has the contract for upholstering the seats of the Charlotte-street Methodist church, and for the splendid fittings and furnishings of the Bank of Commerce, which is to be thoroughly supplied with a new interior from plans furnished by Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E. Mr. B.'s best workmen are now busy on an elaborate book cabinet in ebony and gold, of peculiar construction, the unique and handsome design of the future owner, Mr. J. M. Irwin. Mr. Belleghem is doing a "rushing" business, and hopes to fill all orders promptly when his enlarged premises are completed.

Peterborough Rangers.

The following announcement appears in the last issue of the Canada Gazette:—"57th Battalion of Infantry, 'Peterborough Rangers,'—No. 1 Company Peterborough.—To be 2nd Lieutenant provisionally, Private Robert Maxwell Denistoun, vice Ernest Morgan, whose resignation is hereby accepted.

Important Papers.

A number of private papers belonging to Mr. D. Sullivan, of Her Majesty's 33rd Regement, and among which are several pensioner's certificates, were found recently on the Gravel Road in North Monaghan and were left with Mr. W. A. Morrow, Canada Life Assurance Office, Peterborough. Mr. Morrow will be pleased to make the owner's heart glad by handing them over to him on application.

Depopulation.

The spring demand for labour in the lumbering districts is making a large draught on the labouring population of Peterborough. Last week the town has temporarily lost a population of eighty-five. On Wednesday fifty men left here for Muskoka, where they will work on timber driving in the French river. On Friday morning thirty-five more left for the same district.

Universally Lamented.

The sudden death of Mr. Edward Phelan, Jr., or "Eddy Phelan," as he generally known, was a sad surprise to everybody. Though in ill health for a few days, no danger was anticipated till Saturday night, and then his medical attendants feared no imminent danger. He rose and dressed on Sunday morning, but was seized suddenly and died before help could be given. Deceased was universally popular. He was exceedingly obliging in his business and had the whole town for his friends. He was a great favorite in the family, and his death is a sad shock to his mother. Preceding the funeral, over a thousand persons viewed the remains, which were buried in flowers, the gifts of his friends. The funeral procession on Tuesday was an immense one, the body having been placed in the St. Peter's Cathedral before the last equipage left the house on Charlotte street. There were over 160 carriages in the procession, and there would have been more, but every livery stable was cleared of horses, and no more could be got. The body was laid in the R. C. Cemetery. If everybody fulfilled the duties of his station as faithfully and as honorably as the late Eddy Phelan did his, the world would be vastly better than it is now.

Mason, the Florist.

Mr. Frank Mason, florist and seedsman, has, by dint of energy, industry and a complete mastery of the details of his business, brought his establishment to such a state of thrift and completeness that it now compares favorably with city establishments of a similar class. Since the destruction by fire of his green houses at Riverside Place last fall, he has rebuilt them more completely than before, and they now consist of five large green houses and one propogating house, all heated by a system of hot water pipes, and they are equal to fulfilling the large and increasing demands of his customers. His new seed and flower house, in the post office block, George street, is an important adjunct to his business. For the convenience of his customers, he has added a large green house to his seed store. Here they can be supplied with anything desired in the shape of flowers and floral plants of all descriptions. House plants, as well as bedding plants, are kept in infinite variety; and a carefully selected and complete stock of all kinds of flower, vegetable and field seeds, as well as flower bulbs, seed potatoes, etc., etc., make his establishment the place for the supply of all the requirements of the public in these lines. Flower vases, hanging baskets, pots, trellisses and, in fact, everything connected with the care and culture of flowers can be obtained by calling at the shop in the post office block, George street

The Pulp Mills Trouble.

Arising out of a difference as to the possession of the Pulp Works, claimed to have purchased at a Sheriff's sale, by Mr. John R. Scott, of Napanee, on Saturday night Mr. T. G. Hazlett and Mr. John McGrath were arrested on a charge of injuring the property, but were released on bail. The injury consisted in nailing up the windows of the building, etc. The case was called at the Police Court on Monday, and enlarged until Wednesday morning, when it was again called before Police Magistrate Dumble—four more arrests having been made on the charges, viz: Matthew Young, Thos. Fair, John Cook and James Fox. The prosecution was not ready to proceed, and in objecting to the postponement, Mr. Poussette, of Poussette & Roger, who appeared for the defendants, said that it was not a very desirable thing to keep a respectable gentleman, like Mr. Hazlett, under bail on a charge which should have never been brought in the irregular manner in which this charge had been brought. The course was at least an unusual one. He thought the magistrate should issue instead of a warrant a simple summons, such as the circumstances warranted, which was the rule where a respectable citizen was concerned. Mr. Rutherford, who, with Mr. Menzies, was associated with Mr. Dumble on the bench, said that from the way in which the matter had been placed before him, he felt justified in issuing a warrant. Mr. Edmison, of Edmison & Wood, who appeared for plaintiffs, said that only one similar case had occurred in Peterborough in twenty years, and a warrant had been issued in that case. An adjournment till Friday, at eleven o'clock, was granted.

To Butter Packers.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—Will you allow me through your columns to caution farmers against using tinnets, tubs, or pails made from maple wood for packing butter in. This wood injures the butter that comes in contact with it very much, and reduces its value two or three cents per pound for shipping purposes.

The best package for keeping butter in good condition is an oak firkin with a slip cover. Tinnets or tubs of any kind are not desirable packages for the trade. I would recommend butter makers to use Liverpool fine dairy salt, and not oversalt the butter.

PREPARE FOR SPRING.—After a long, severe winter the system needs cleansing of impurities. Nature must be assisted to recuperate, the Liver must act, all surplus bile and impurities be carried off. Zopessa acts as a gentle purgative. The results of a few doses are most surprising. Ask your druggist for a 10 cent sample, and try Zopessa, the most powerful remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, and Biliousness ever introduced in this country. 13-tf

AN APPALLING ACCIDENT

Sad Death of Mr. George C. Rogers, of Ashburnham.

A Boat and its Occupants Swept over Roger's Dam—Whirled and Buffeted in a Seething Eddy a Quarter of an Hour—One is Taken and the Others Left.

On Friday morning last a terrible accident happened, which, in the most literal rendering of the hackneyed phrase, "cast a gloom over the whole community." The intelligence that Mr. Geo. C. Rogers, proprietor of the Otonabee flouring mills, was drowned while superintending the removal of brackets from his mill dam, spread like evil news, and when the incredulity of hope was replaced by the sad certainty of fact, an universal sorrow filled every heart.

THE DETAILS OF THE ACCIDENT

do not require many words. It appears that, it being necessary to remove the brackets from the crest of the dam, Mr. Rogers took two workmen with him, Messrs. Robert Sheridan, an old and experienced mill hand, who had once before safely passed through a similar experience, and E. Whittaker. The three embarked in a punt, containing a coil of rope, one end of which was fastened securely above the dam, and the rope was paid out by Mr. Rogers himself, as the boat dropped down towards the dam. Sheridan gave the word when the boat was in the proper position, her stern overhanging the crest of the dam about a foot—and Mr. Rogers made fast the line, and Sheridan prepared to use his saw in the removal of the bracket, which was about a foot below the surface of the water. But it appears that the rope in being paid out was deflected from a straight line and shortened by the side current, so that when it was made fast and the full strain of the boat, impelled by the current came on it, it became taut and lengthened, thus allowing the punt to drop

OVER THE EDGE OF THE DAM.

Seeing the peril of the position, Mr. Rogers cut the rope, and the boat, which had filled with water, instead of shooting into the current, was carried into a strong eddy formed by the water rushing from a slide. They were whirled about in the eddy, holding on for life. On reaching the mouth of the slide the boat was capsized, but all three managed to regain it, and Mr. Rogers apparently ignoring his own danger, turned his attention to Whittaker, who seemed to be unnerved by the danger, calling for help to persons on shore, but still they went whirling around, and the boat was again struck and overturned. Sheridan seized the rope, and he alone regained the boat, and took up a pike pole that was providentially alongside it. Observing Mr. Rogers in the water he stretched the pole towards him, but he was unable to grasp it. Next the punt, with Sheridan in it, was swept out of the eddy into the current, Whittaker apparently being carried out at the same time, for Sheridan saw him near by, and reaching the pike pole as he was sinking caught it in and pulled him into the boat, which though under water two or three inches, floated down stream, and the two were rescued by a Frenchman at Burnham's Point.

Mr. Rogers was of course still struggling in the mad whirl of the eddy, whose force neutralized the powers of an excellent swimmer But a

GALLANT ATTEMPT TO RESCUE

him was made by Mr. Samuel McIlwaine, who works in Forsyth's pump factory. He and Mr. John Lang, employed in the dye works of the Otonabee woolen mills, had launched a skiff, and Mr. McIlwaine, equipped with only one oar, entered it, struck out across the rapid current and reached the foot of the dam, on the edge of the eddy, watching for Mr. Rogers' reappearance above the surface. While thus waiting, in imminent peril himself, Mr. McIlwaine heard from spectators on the shore, and taking his eyes from the eddy he saw Mr. Rogers' head above the water in the current near the Peterborough shore. He at once turned his boat in the same direction, but although making the most desperate efforts, he could not overtake the receding form of Mr. Rogers before it and passed in the cold arms of the raging waters over to the great majority.

"HERE HE IS!"

Mr. Lang, who saw the whole of the melancholy occurrence from the shore, thinks the three men were in the fated eddy about fifteen minutes—though it seemed an age. As soon as it could be brought to the water's edge the boat was launched, and Mr. McIlwaine bravely embarked, though he must have seen that he was placing himself in similar danger to him whose life he so nobly, but ineffectually, struggled to save. When Mr. Rogers was swept clear of the eddy he rose to the surface just east of the southern end of the woollen factory.

HIS HEAD WAS ERECT,

as though he were standing, his face turned down the stream that was carrying him onward at a terrible speed. About opposite the middle of the Dye Works, and about fifteen feet from the shore, the living face of George C. Rogers disappeared forever from the eyes of the awe-struck and agonizingly helpless spectators on the shore. Billets of wood were thrown out in the stream before he sank the last time; he did not seem to notice them, but kept on his awful way, with his rigid features turned down stream as though bravely facing his inevitable fate.

INCIDENTS.

As soon as his fate was certain, hundreds of willing hands were engaged in the search for the body, and though it has been kept up unremittingly, up to the present it has been unsuccessful. Indeed, so eager has been the efforts of the volunteer searchers that two other drowning accidents were avoided by prompt assistance—Mr. T. Blackwell, on Saturday, and Mr. John Hurley, on Sunday.

Mrs. Rogers, who parted from her husband in the morning, strong in health and cheerful in spirit, was so terribly shocked by the news of the disaster that she was physically prostrated, and lay for a long time in an unconscious condition. Fears were at one time felt that she would not survive the blow, but that danger is now happily past.

At St Luke's church, of which Mr. Rogers has been for years a veritable pillar, there was evidence that both priest and people felt deeply the calamity that had befallen them. The church was draped in black, and at times the Incumbent, who, in his relation to Mr. Rogers has suffered an irreparable loss, was unable to proceed with the services, and was compelled to omit the sermon. As the congregation passed out of the church, to the sadly solemn tones of the Dead March in Saul, there were few eyes that were not wet, and few heads that were not bent with the weight of genuine sorrow.

A reward of $100 has been offered for the recovery of the body by Saturday, and $50 for its recovery after that date.

Elsewhere in this issue we make fuller reference to Mr. Rogers' life and character.

AN UNQUALIFIED DENIAL.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR, I have been informed that Mr. James Fife, cattle buyer from Otonabee, stated in substance to a crowd on the streets of Peterborough, "That Mr. Read's mail matter was detained in Hall's Glen post office, North Dummer, until after the election."

I give his statements an unqualified denial, and request him to produce his proofs.

Yours truly,
W. DARLING,
Postmaster, Hall's Glen.

Mr. Austin Jay, Copenhagen, Ont., says he was so afflicted with Liver complaint that he was obliged to give up work. The druggist at Alymer induced him to try ZOPESA with such good results that after using two bottles he was able to resume work as usual. Says he got relief from the first dose, and is satisfied there is no better Liver remedy in existence. He gladly allows us to use his name. 17-tf

The Brock Murder Trial.

The Son Acquitted.

Our readers will be interested in the trial of Arthur Brook, charged with the murder in California last January of his father, German Brook, a former resident of Peterborough. We condense the facts from San Francisco papers.

Dr. Wolsey testified on the trial, that he examined German Brook before his death. There was a bullet wound on the left side of the head above the eye. Fragments of the skull were carried into the brain. The wound was necessarily fatal. The whiskers were singed, showing that the pistol had been discharged close to the head.

Colonel Gibson asked the Court to instruct the jury that the evidence was insufficient to convict, as the testimony was entirely circumstantial.

Judge Greene refused to take the case from the jury.

Colonel Gibson then made the opening statement for the defense.

ARTHUR BROOKS,

the defendant, was then placed on the stand. His story did not differ materially from that which he told to the officers. He and his father went over to San Francisco on Sunday, January 7th. When they returned home in the night they heard noises in the barn. His father told him that as he was often alone in the house to go over to San Francisco and purchase a pistol. The following day he bought the pistol. He returned to the house about three o'clock and found his father at the table in the kitchen engaged in figuring. He showed his father the pistol, and the latter said, "if it suits you, it suits me." Two men entered, one having on a black handkerchief, and the other a red handkerchief. The tall man drew a pistol and knocked the pistol, which he was showing his father, out of his hand. The other man picked the pistol up. His father said: "John, I know you." A shot was fired, and his father fell to the floor. He (the defendant) was shot in the arm. He then ran out the back way and entered Mrs. Hayes' store. He ran to the drug store and told them to send help to his father. He told officer Shields that two men entered the house and shot him and his father. Pumyea said to him at the house: "Did you and the old gentleman have a fuss?" Witness said: "No." "Didn't you shoot your father?" Witness replied: "What! shoot my father!" Pumyea said: "Such things have been done." Witness denied that he ever said: "I don't give a damn," to officer Fields. His relations with his father had always been pleasant, and he never had any trouble with him.

Judge Greene charged the jury, and they retired, and after deliberating for about half an hour, returned a verdict of not guilty. When the verdict was read there was loud applause in the court-room. The first test ballot in the jury room stood eleven votes for acquittal.

Ottoman Cords, Brocade and Grosgrain Silks, for Mantles, with newest designs in Ornaments to choose from. Special attention paid to this department at Turnbull's.

PERSONAL.

We had the pleasure of a call on Tuesday from Mr. J. F. Austin, of Kingston, formerly of Peterborough.

Very Rev. Vicar-General Laurent, of Bracebridge, is in town, and is the guest of His Lordship, Bishop Jamot.

Mr. J. M. Quinn, who has been a student in the law office of Messrs. Smith & Peck, has gone to Toronto to further prosecute his studies.

We understand that Mr. John Carnegie, M.P.P., of the Review, leaves this evening for Great Britain on important private business.

Mr. C. Beck, of this town, a student at Trinity College, distinguished himself in the first collegiate cricket match of the season by making the highest score of his eleven, and "carrying out" his bat.

According to the Post, Mr. J. M. Armstrong, of this town, has purchased the grocery business of Mr. Wm. Robson, of Lindsay. Mr. Armstrong has had the benefit of a thoroughly first-class business training with Mr. W. H. Wrighton.

Mr. Wm. Might, of Millbrook, previous to coming to Peterborough, was the recipient of some valuable books and an address from the teachers and members of the Sunday School. He originated the first infant class, some of whom are now teachers in the same school.

The Mail, of Saturday, in an editorial reference, refers to the election of Mr. Harry LeBrun as one of the council of ten of the Lacrosse association, as "giving special reasons for satisfaction," and pronounces the council as comprising a remarkably effective list.

At the regular spring examinations the following Peterborough under-graduates took exceedingly creditable standings: Messrs. J. J. Wright, J. J. Douglass, R. M. Dennistoun, Max. S. Hamilton, O. Bennett, J. Millar and G. J. Smith. It is pleasurable to know that they retain their plumage unruffled.

We offer our congratulations to Mr. Walter Paterson, jr., on his appointment as one of the Commissioners of the Town Trust, subject to formal ratification. Mr. Paterson is capable, painstaking, and is so well acquainted, by virtue of a long municipal experience, with town matters that his efficiency and knowledge, necessary to the discharge of his new duties, guarantee his filling the office with credit to himself and advantage to the town.

Presentation Made.

On Monday, William Crough, Esq., of Ennismore, presented to James Campbell, Esq., Walkerfield, the handsome gold-mounted ebony cane, awarded last winter by the people in competitive contributions in Ennismore, to the most popular candidate. The vote stood: Mr. Campbell, $105; Mr. Carnegie, $39.60. Mr. Campbell, on receiving the cane, made a neat and suitable reply. He reciprocated the sentiments of regard of the people of Ennismore, and was proud to be considered their political comrade and personal friend. He would ever look upon the handsome token of their regard with pride, as a visible sign of the political confidence and personal esteem of men whom he respected and honored. In conclusion he requested Mr. Crough to receive for himself, and convey to all who had contributed to the gift, his warmest acknowledgements.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 26, 1883.

Military Matters.

The principal changes proposed in the organization of our military forces by the bill of Hon. Mr. Caron, Minister of Militia, are the addition of a battery of artillery, a troop of cavalry and three companies of infantry, to our present "standing army," composed now of "A" and "B" batteries of artillery. It is proposed to make the garrisons of these troops the neucleus of schools of military instruction, which are hoped to be useful in teaching by practical means, the officers of our volunteers militia the duties of their position. Under proper conditions there could not be much objection to these proposed changes, but, considering the requirements of the country, the state of our finances—the expenditure increasing at an alarmingly rapid rate, and taxation likewise increasing, or at least not diminishing, and the demands of the rank and file of our volunteer militia, they are of questionable utility. It is noticeable that, while the salaries of the officers are kept up to a princely point their number is increased, and the staff department—largely ornamental—of our militia department absorbs about two-thirds of the sum appropriated for military purposes. But the men, the private volunteers, who take the risk and do the work and the fighting, if there is any to be done, while there is an overflowing treasury, are cut off with the miserable pittance of fifty cents per day. We do not object to a liberal expenditure on our militia, but we do insist on the appropriation being spent, not on staff flummery, but in more liberal pay and treatment of the men. The men should receive yearly battalion drill, liberal pay, at least an indemnity, and be decently equipped—be provided with trim, soldier-like clothing, etc. Our volunteers are composed of the best fighting material in the world, and they should be encouraged, treated like men, and the efficiency of the force increased by devoting a portion of the money spent on staff officers, fuss and feathers, to properly equipping the fighting private, making him comfortable, and giving him the necessary drill at regular annual intervals.

Missions to Seamen.

The present age is fruitful in efforts to reach all classes of people with the glad news of the gospel, and to stir up the negligent and careless, as well as the sinful and profane, to a better life. In witness of this, we have only to point to the efforts of Moody and Sankey on this continent, and in Great Britain, and to the labors of those eccentric, but earnest people, known as the Salvation Army, in every quarter of the globe. Still much remains to be done even yet, and there are many directions for labor and toil where special means are not what they should be. Efforts have been made, for example, to form branches of missions to seamen, not only in England, but the world over. The value of such a universal organization would be to promote in in its highest form the welfare of our sailors who have been, and in some places still are, utterly neglected. Such a society has been formed, but as yet it can scarcely be said to have a footing in Canada. The Duke of Edinburgh is patron of the society, and the Earl of Aberdeen President. The Society now employs 76 honorary chaplains, 26 paid chaplains and superintendents, 39 scripture readers and 6 lay helpers working afloat in 46 seaports at home and abroad. They are furnished with 12 mission yachts in open roadsteads, and have eight churches and church ships in rivers and docks, with many mission rooms for watersides and boats for harbors. The income of the Society last year was over $80,000. We believe the formation of branches of this Society at Canadian ports would prove of immense benefit to the seafaring population.

The temperance legislation committee, which holds "Star Chamber" sessions at Ottawa, is struggling manfully in the endeavor to obtain possession of the power to grant licenses without infringing on the exclusive constitutional powers of the Provincial Legislature. So far the new law has been framed on the model of the present Ontario license law.

How the Betrayed Orangemen Feel.

The Orange Sentinel, in a long article of more than average fairness, reviews the question of incorporation. After remarking that the Catholics of the House went as a body against the bill, the Sentinel says:

"Politically speaking, we of Ontario can take no very great exception to the Reform vote polled against us, as the Reformers are not in that sense indebted for much to the Orangemen of Ontario."

Another remark of the Sentinel shows how keenly the Orange body feels the humiliation of having been made tools of by the Conservative party. It complains thus:—

"From a political point of view, we were entitled to the vote of every Conservative in the House: but out of a total of one hundred and sixteen Censervatives who voted, only sixty-one were for us, while fifty-five voted against us, and amongst the latter were four members of the Government."

In reference to the double-dealing and duplex course of Sir John in reference to the matter, the Sentinel apparently lets the Chieftain down easy; but when one reflects that the damning with faint applause comes from the organ of a party that for years has voted for, worked for, and according to its own declaration, sustains him in power now, the condemnation is severe. Our contemporary says:

"The leader of the Conservative party has been charged with insincerety in his efforts to have the Bill passed, and while we believe that personally he has acted with the greatest sincerity towards us, and has used all his influence to obtain for us the redress we sought, still we cannot close our eyes to the fact that it is the first measure introduced since 1878 with his approval and sympathy which has received such a weak support."

The Sentinel, naturally, evidently feels in no amiable mood over the matter, and and the threat implied in the following language shows that the political allegiance and alliance of a quarter of a century have received a severe strain:

"Messieurs, the Quebec Bleus, and most of their Irish co-religionists, appear to have forgotten that, indirectly, they owe their present tenure of office to the vote of the Orangemen of the Dominion, and that it is within the power of the men whom they have maligned to relegate them to the left of the Speaker."

The Orange body are not the first who have been compelled to acknowledge the weight of the warning, "Trust him not, he is fooling thee." The political coldness may or may not lead to a political rupture. Sir John is wily and cunning—his equivalent for statesmanship—and, as the Toronto World remarks, "Sir John has got out of tighter places than he is in now. Four years have yet to elapse before he can be called to account, and long before that time he will have secured ammunition to repel the assault." There is no doubt of his being able to find "the ammunition." He has thriven and flourished by political trickery, and he will not discard them now—it is late in the day for him to subetitute statemanship for artifice and low cunning.

Thursday was a great day among the English Tories. It was the second anniversary of the death of Lord Beaconsfield, and if we may judge from the items in the London papers, there was a very notable display of his favorite flower—the primrose. His statute in Palace Gardens, Westminster, the work of Signor Mario Raggi, was unveiled by the noble Earl's successor in the leadership of the Opposition.

Editorial Notes.

Mr. Caron's Bill to provide a standing army for Canada seems to do everything for the officers at the expense of the rank and file.

Toronto coal-dealers offer to reduce the price of coal fifty cents a ton if the duty is taken off. We would infer from that—well, who pays the duty?

The refusal of the Canadian Government to permit the exportation in bond of American whiskey to Canada has, it is acknowledged, saved the United States the enormous sum of $50,000,000.

Our attempts to create a navy out of the Charybdis did not meet with any exalted degree of success. "Are we," asks the Tiser, "to find our Scylla in a standing army?

It is reported that Bishop Sullivan, of Algoma, will be the popular choice for Bishop of Huron, and will accept if elected. Canon Innes, of London, is second on the lists.

Leading Tory agents are now at Ottawa securing funds with which to to contest the constituencies which may be opened in Ontario by the decisions of the courts. $10,000 is the sum deemed needful for each constituency to be contested.

The Toronto Telegram thinks it certainly about time that the Orange body opened its eyes to the fact that it is being used as a mere tool by the Tory leaders. Some thinking Orangemen long since discovered that, but unfortunately their councils were not heeded.

Quebec is a doubly unfortunate province. It is under Tory rule, and that means extravagance and corruption, and on Thursday night the Parliament buildings at Quebec, together with the majority of the valuable library, were destroyed by fire.

The Brantford Courier is in an amiable mood. It says of the Hamilton Tribune's conduct in publishing the Catholic vote correspondence as a piece of news: "If we mistake not, the journal in question will be compelled to face the music, "and in such a manner as will forever "teach it that it cannot with impunity "charge dishonorable acts and motives "to men who hold first place in the hearts "of the people, and whose public record "is even above suspicion." How dreadful! The Tribune retorts, in "brave words," that it charged no man with dishonorable conduct. If there is any charge it lies in the letters and not in its remarks. As for a libel suit, there is no such luck in store for the Tribune. The Government dare not challenge the investigation into the whole subject which a libel suit would mean. If its contemporary knew the inside facts of the case, it would have maintained silence, instead of making itself ridiculous by using threats which are as idle as they are stupid.

Mr. Ross, M.P., has been looking up the public accounts at Ottawa, and finds that the expenditure on immigeation contained an item of $1,500, travelling expenses of Sir A. T. Galt when he went to the Northwest to look after his interests in the Souris coal fields, and that one of $800 for repairs to a Pullman palace car for the use of the Governor-General on his trip to British Columbia, was charged to the Eagle river portion of the Canada Pacific railway.

Several days ago G. Striker, of Picton, went to Toronto to protest the election of James Hart, M.P.P., for Prince Edward. Seeing the Attorney-General, however, the latter prevailed up him not to file the the petition, Mr. Mowat having assurances that Mr. Hart had not changed his party, had no sympathy with the Opposition, and would give the Government a loyal support. The petition was not filed.

Fifth Parliament First Session.

MONDAY.

A petition was introduced by Mr. Colby for a bill extending the time of the agreement between the North Shore and Grand Trunk Railways from 21 to 50 years.

Mr. White (Hastings) moved, in a short speech, the second reading of the Orange Incorporation Bill, which motion was seconded by Mr. O'Brien.

Mr. Curran moved the six months hoist after putting forward his objections to the bill. Several other members spoke in opposition to the bill.

The question was voted on, and Mr. Curran's amendment for six months' hoist was carried by 106 yeas to 70 nays.

Yeas.—Messrs Aymot, Armstrong, Auger, Bain, Bechard, Benoit, Bergeron Bergin, Bernier, Billy, Blake, Blanchet, Bolduc, Bosse, Bourassa, Bourbeau, Brecken, Burns, Burpee, (St. John), Cameron, (Huron), Campbell, (Renfrew), Caron, Casey, Casgrain, Catudal, Charlton, Cimon, Cockburn, Colby, Costigan, Coughlin, Coursol, Curran, Cuthbert, Daly, Daoust, De Beaujeu, De St. Georges, Dessaulniers, Desjardines, Dupont, Fairbank, Fisher, Fleming, Forbes, Fortin, Frechette, Gagne, Geoffrion, Gigault, Gillmor, Girouard, (Jacques Cartier), Girouard, (Kent), Grandbois, Guilbault, Hackett, Hall, Harley, Helton, Innes, Jackson, Keefler, Kirk, Labrose, Landerkin, Landry, Langevin, Laurier, Lister, Livingstone, Mackenzie, McMaster, McMillan, (Huron), McMillan, (Vaudreuil), McGreevy, McIntyre, McIsaac, Masuue, Methot, Mitchell, Montplaisir, Mulock, Patterson, (Brant), Patterson, (Essex), Pinsonneault, Pope, Rinfret, Riopel, Robertson, (Shelburne), Ross, (Middlesex), Royal, Somerville, (Brant), Somerville, (Bruce), Springer, Tasse, Thompsou, Trow, Vail, Valin, Vanasse, Weldon, Wells, Wheeler, Wilson, Wright, Yeo.—106.

Nays.—Messrs. Abbott, Allison, Baker, (Victoria), Barnard, Beaty, Bell, Benson, Bowell, Bryson, Burnham, Cameron, (Victoria), Campbell, (Victoria), Carling, Cochrane, Davies, Dickinson, Farrow, Ferguson, (Leeds and Grenville), Foster, Gordon, Gunn, Haggart, Hawkins, Hay, Hesson, Hickey, Hilliard, Homer, Irvine Jamieson, Kilvert, Kinney, Kranz, Macdonald (Sir John), Mackintosh, Macmillan, (Middlesex), McCallum, McCarthy, McDougal, McLean, McNeil, Moffatt, O'Brien, Paint, Pickard, Ray, Read, Richey, Rykert, Scott, Scriver, Shakespere, Small Sproule, Sutherland (Oxford), Sutherland, (Selkirk), Taylor, Tilley, Tupper, (Pictou), Trywhitt, Wallace, (Albert), Wallace, (York), Watson, White, (Cardwell), White, (Hastings), White, (Renfrew), Wigle, Williams, Wood, (Brockville), Woodworth.—70.

Mr. O'Brien, in moving for the papers relating to the protection of fisheries on the Georgian Bay, complained bitterly of the the appointment of landsmen as fishery inspectors—men who knew nothing about their duties and could hardly be expected to do anything to preserve the fisheries.

TUESDAY.

The bill to amend the Manitoba road allowance act was read the first time.

The House went into committee on the tariff resolutions. Sir Leonard Tilley's explanations of proposed changes were sharply criticised by Messrs. Blake and Paterson. A long discussion ensued on increased duties on prints and agricultural implements, which changes are productive of so great dissatisfaction in Manitoba.

WEDNESDAY.

The rules of the House were twice suspended to-day for the purpose of allowbills to be referred to the Railway Committee in time to allow a report on them to be received by the House.

Just after the Speaker took the chair Mr. Colby introduced a bill to authorize the Grand Trunk to extend their traffic arrangements with the North Shore Railway for fifty years. The bill was read a first and second time and referred to the Railway committee.

Just before the adjournment Sir Hector Langevin proposed that the rule be suspended to admit of the second reading of the bill to increase the harbor accommodation of the city of Toronto, to extend the Esplanade, and to provide for the control of the use thereof by railway companies. This was agreed to and the bill will come before the Railway Committee on Tuesday.

Mr. Casgrain called attention to the fact that some remarks of Mr. Tyrwhitt's on the Orange bill, to the effect that if Orange incorporation would prevent Irish immigration to Canada, it would only have the effect of keeping away from our shores a class which he would be sorry to see come here, were omitted from Hansard. A long discussion ensued, in the course of which the opinion was pretty freely expressed that Hansard reported what members after mature consideration thought they should have said, and not what they did say.

Mr. McLelan's bill respecting certificates to masters and mates of inland coasting vessels, was after a long discussion read a second time and passed through Committee, after which the House adjourned at 11.45.

THURSDAY.

In the House to-day, after the consideration of private bills, the tariff resolutions were discussed in committee of the whole. Sir Leonard announced his intention to give further protection to iron production, in the shape of a bounty on pig iron. Mr. Blake pointed out that with the existing customs duty of $2 per ton on pig iron, and the proposed bounty of $1.50 per ton, the iron manufacturers of Canada would have $3.50 per ton advantage. The item was of course adopted.

The consideration of the Militia Bill resulted in the adoption of the resolution in reference to the pay of officers. The pay of these is princely while that of privates is kept down to the same old beggarly figures.

Mr. Blake said the country was entitled to receive from the Government a statement of what the scheme would involve financially, and as to the necessity for and disposition of the forces. Mr. Caron said one battery of artillery would be stationed in British Columbia. It would be a permanent school of instruction, and the commandant would be a deputy-adjutant-general, and would take charge of the whole district. One of the infantry schools would be stationed in the Maritime Provinces, on in Quebec Province, one in Ontario—probably in Toronto, as Government had military buildings there. A troop of cavalry would be divided between A and B Batteries. So far as Kingston was concerned the horses would be utilized for the purposes of instruction in the Royal Military College. Mr. Ross estimated that the fixed charge for the additional force would amount at least to $200,000, and thought the Government should consider well before they asked the House to assent to that increased expenditure. Mr. Caron said Mr. Ross' estimate was very near his own. In reply to Mr. Blake, Mr. Caron said that the cost of each of the infantry schools of companies would be in all $37,000. The pay of a captain would be $1,460 per year, two lieutenants $730 each, and men 50 cents per day. Each troop would have 100 men. Mr. Ross suggested an amendment in the bill authorizing the Minister of Militia to appoint a member of the active militia of Canada as Major-General. This would offer a high prize to Canadian militiamen, and would ensure excellent service on the part of a large number who would aspire to the position. Mr. O'Brien deprecated the introduction of such a clause, because it would tend to introduce politics into the management of the force, and there was politics enough there already. He was sure, speaking as a volunteer officer, that the vast majority of the officers would much rather have an Imperial officer at the head of the force, a man who had seen active service, and who knew more and had seen more than themselves, and who could point out the shortcomings in the force. He bore testimony to the beneficial effects upon the militia of the rule of the present Major-General. The bill was passed, and the committee rose and reported. On the third reading, Mr. Ross called the attention of the House to the question of the sale of intoxicating liquors in canteens at annual camp drill. This occurred frequently, and he thought that efforts should be made to prohibit this sale. He recognized that the Queen's Regulations prohibited the sale of spirituous liquors in the canteen. He thought not only spirituous liquors, but milder liquors as well, should be prohibited, and in the clause providing that men in camp shall be subject to the Queen's Regulations he proposed an amendment to carry out his view. Mr. Caron said he did not believe that it was within the power of the House to practically alter the Queen's Regulations, as proposed. Mr. Blake objected to this view, for if the House had power to make the Queen's Regulations apply, it had the power to make exceptions as to those sections which should apply.

Sir Leonard Tilley moved the adjournment on the debate.—Carried.

The debate on the tariff resolution was continued, and the resolution in reference to the tax on books was adopted.

FRIDAY.

After some unimportant business, the House went into Committee of Supply. On the increase of $51,394 in the Department of the Interior, a good deal of discussion arose and, in answer to Opposition members, Sir John explained that the increase was caused by the increase of business in the Department. In the Indian Department there was an increase of $6,372; Inland Revenue, $1,762.80; Agriculture, $7,285; and, in fact, in nearly all the departments. But the most notable increase was in the Public Works: the increase, in spite of the separation of the Department of Railways, being $10.420. The surplus doesn't breed economy very prolifically.

MIDLAND RAILWAY OF CANADA.

TRAFFIC REPORT.

We were unable to publish the following report in connection with the report of the annual meeting in our last issue on account of lack of space:—

TRAFFIC MANAGER'S OFFICE,
Peterborough, April 17, 1883.

Geo. A, Cox, Esq., President and General Manager Midland Railway of Canada:

SIR,—Herewith I beg to hand you classified statements of the earnings of the Midland Railway for the nine months ending December 31st, 1882, shewing a gross traffic of $872,837.16 as compared with $730,487.16 for the same period in 1881, being an increase of $142,350.00 during the nine months.

These figures shew respectively an increase over 1881, from precisely the same mileage, of 18 per cent on Freight Earnings.

37 " " Passenger Earnings.
31 " " Miscellaneous Traffic.

This increase, considering the difficulties we had to overcome in reconciling the conflicting interests of the five railways as they stood prior to the amalgamation, and in view of our having performed this labor during the period in which this increase was being earned, affords, I trust, ample proof of the wisdom of the amalgamation, and the future prosperity of the Midland Railway as now constituted.

At the present writing it might appear from the traffic returns of 1883 that the Midland Railway has reached its maxium earning capacity, but it is very generally known that the line was almost completely blockaded with snow during the first thirteen weeks of the present year, and the fact of its having held its own under those circumstances, combined with the signs of manufacturing industry and general improvement throughout the district served by it, (the latter being very marked,) seems to fully warrant the opinion that we shall yet make a still larger percentage of increase during 1883 over 1882.

Coming down to an analysis of the freight earnings, which yield more than two thirds of our trade, we find in the first staple commodity, viz.: lumber, that in 1882 we earned $171,853, and from the quantity on hand at the present moment, as compared with the stocks held this time last year, combined with the known number of logs that have been harvested during the recent winter, we may calculate upon an increase in our lumber receipts of twenty-five per cent,

On square timber in 1882 we earned $21,814, and have already under contract this year more than double the quantity of timber we carried last year.

In wheat, barley and oats, we earned last year $110,275, in the face of somewhat deficient stocks held over until the commencement of 1882; whereas, this year, every granary in the country is loaded down with grain waiting removal, and it is estimated that the farmers have not yet put on the market much more than one half of last year's crop. We may, therefore, safely expect an increase of twenty to twenty-five per cent. in local grain earnings; but my calculations are based on an increase of twenty per cent.

In through corn from Chicago, last year we earned $51,757, having to contend against a short crop of corn, or maize, in the Western States; whereas the corn crop of 1882 is reported as excellent all over the country, and we shall have no difficulty in securing just as much of this traffic as we are able to handle. We can therefore look for an increase of thirty-three per cent. on the through corn trade. This would give the following probable increases:—

Lumber	$42.963.00
Timber	21.814.00
Grain	22,055.00
Corn	17.080.00
Total	$103,912.00

In estimating this increase of $103,912, the above figures take up $355,699 of last year's gross earnings, leaving the sum of $711,952, being that portion of the earnings on which it is not so easy to correctly estimate what we are likely to do, it being of a miscellaneous nature; but I think we will be perfectly safe in saying that we shall at least make an increase of ten per cent this year on this class of business over the similar trade of 1882, and we may therefore expect an increase of $175,000 during the year, which will give the Company a total gross earnings for 1883 of about $1,240,000.

The additional thirty miles of new railway added to the road, and which will be opened for traffic shortly must necessarily help the receipts still further.

Yours, obediently,
A. WHITE.
Traffic Manager.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 26, 1883.

The Premier's Perfidy.

The party whip was cracked and swished and brandished in vain, the Orange bill has received the six months—practically six centuries' hoist, and Sir John, the man who had dangled the promise of incorporation before the Orange body to accomplish its conciliation—to reconcile it to assenting to the honors showered on John O'Donohoe—and to secure its support, did not lift voice or finger to secure the passage of Mr. White's bill. On the contrary he tried his best to stave off its consideration until it would be too late to trouble him this session. But the members of the order seemed to waken to the fact that the order was being used for political bait to catch votes. This would explain a resolution adopted at the Ottawa indignation meeting, held just before the collapse of the bill—"That we will not allow ourselves to be branded as the helots of any political organization; we disdain the brand of faction and place. Protestantism before party." Yet they have allowed themselves to be the plaything of Sir John Macdonald. He promised them incorporation; he set on his myrmidons to abuse Mr. Mowat because he would not exceed his legislative jurisdiction, and grant an act of incorporation. When the hour had come; when the bill was before the House; when loyal Orangemen hailed the prospect of the fulfilment of their hopes; the man whom they had supported faithfully for years, whose political crimes they had condoned, whose promises they had trusted, turned his back on them, deserted them in their extremity, broke his faith and added another to the multiplied examples of political perfidy, that have clouded his career. We do not blame those who voted for or against the six month's hoist, that is foreign to the present question, but the blame in the matter from an Orange standpoint can easily be fixed. Sir John must either acknowledge that he yielded to the dictation of Quebec Bleus, as he did in the matter of the sacrifice of Ontario's territory and rights, or that he elected to openly disregard his pledge to the Orange body. He could whip in his majority to endorse the Pacific Railway compact, he could marshall them into solid line in favor of the iniquitous legislation implied in the gerrymander bill; but in the Orange incorporation matter, probably he foresaw that, in allowing the question to be settled, he would lose his grip on a strong political wire, which he has manipulated to such good advantage to himself and party, for years. After such barefaced perfidy can the past supporters of the Government of which Sir John is Premier, have "confidence" in him? Can Orangemen, in the chagrin of defeat, duped by a wily political ingrate, extract any comfort from the fact developed by the business in question, that the Bleus of Quebec are masters of the situation, that they rule Sir John so thoroughly that he concedes to the prejudices of the Bleus what he denies to the justice of the claims of the Orange body? However, whether right or wrong, Quebecers always deserve credit for voting "solid" for whatever they deem their provincial or national interests. They put not their trust in Premiers.

The Late Geo. C. Rogers, Esq.

The melancholy circumstances resulting in Mr. Geo. C. Rogers' death, which occurred on Friday morning last, and which we have elsewhere fully described, has deprived Peterborough of one of her most enterprising, prosperous and popular citizens. The terrible accident is looked upon, indeed, as a civic calamity, which affects not only a numerous circle of sorrowing relations and friends, but is felt by all classes of the community as one of the most deplorable circumstance which has ever happened among us. Seldom have Peterborough and Ashburnham received such a shock; seldom have our citizens, and the people in the country districts also, shown such terrible grief and sorrow, and mourned with such real and heartfelt bitterness. Only the softening influences of time can remove the dark cloud of gloom which has settled upon us since the sad occurrence. But it will be long, indeed, before the genial countenance and cheery manner and attractive face of our lost friend is forgotten in our homes. No man, we venture to say, ever stood higher than Mr. Geo. C. Rogers in the estimation of his fellow-men. In every station and duty of life he showed such self-sacrifice and self-denial, such true love for humanity, such sterling probity, such untiring energy and activity, alike in business and recreation, and withal, such never failing charity and abounding goodness, that it is little wonder, indeed, he was so universally beloved, or that his loss is so deeply deplored by all who knew him.

Born in 1854, Mr. Rogers during his too-brief career, had accomplished much more good than the majority of men who reach the "three-score years and ten," allotted as the maximum of human existence. About the time he arrived at manhood, he was left with almost the sole charge of an extensive business and the entire superintendence and direction of a large household. Right sacredly did he fulfil the trust committed to his care.

As soon as he obtained charge of the mill he set about improvements on a most extensive scale, thereby largely increasing his business, and extending his trade to almost all parts of the Dominion. Just before the appalling accident which carried him off, Mr. Rogers was anticipating a visit to the Western States and Manitoba, that he might enquire more fully into new processes for the manufacture of flour, with a view of introducing additional improvements in the Otonabee Mills this coming summer. But that the Almighty had designed better things for him we must believe, for "the merciful man is taken away from the evil to come."

He was a thorough mechanician, and had fully studied, in all its details, the most intricate parts of the business in which he was engaged. Being always ready to share in any work along with his men, no matter how difficult or how dangerous, it is, perhaps, to this trait in his noble character, we may attribute his sudden and untimely end.

In social life, and in all those manly and active recreations which contribute to the possession of "a sound mind in a sound body," Mr. Rogers had no peer. Often have our columns borne witness to his prowess in our public games; but in all his contests he consistently acted the part of a gentleman, and never made an enemy.

Every effort to interest young men and keep them from evil, had a charm for him, and none of these failed to obtain his sympathy, his warm advocacy and, also, his more material support. As Captain of a company of volunteers, as an active member of the Football and Boating Clubs, those associated with him, from year to year, can testify to his gentleness and kindness, his thorough good nature and nobility of character, and that all-embracing charity and self-denial which were so conspicuous in his noble character.

One who was so greatly beloved, and whose characteristics were so admirable and excellent, could hardly fail to be a sincere and devout Christain. Or rather, we should say perhaps, no one who was not a true servant of God, could have attained such a high place in the hearts of his fellow-men. This, indeed, was the true source of Mr. Rogers' goodness. He was a sincere believer in Divine Revelation, and took, as his pattern always, the perfect example of our Lord Jesus Christ. A faithful and regular communicant of St. Luke's church, seldom or never absent from God's house, except when engaged in his duties as lay-reader, and joining in all the services with fervid devotion and sincere earnestness, none could fail to notice his high example, and many must have profited thereby. In the Sunday School, for years he was the active Superintendent and, indeed, remained so to his death; and at several successive vestries he was chosen by his fellow-churchmen as a delegate to the Synod, a trust which he fulfilled, as he did all others, most faithfully and conscientiously. His clergyman, and the church in which he took such a deep interest, have suffered no ordinary loss in his sudden call to that eternal rest, where "beyond these voices there is peace."

On the 5th of August, 1880, Mr. Rogers was married, in Hamilton, to Miss Overend, of that city, and he leaves his sorrowing wife and two little daughters to mourn his untimely end. That the Almighty may sustain them and comfort them, together with Mr. Rogers' remaining relatives, is, we are well-assured, the heartfelt wish and earnest prayer of all who know them.

SNOWDEN IRON MINES.

The Lindsay Warder says that on Thursday evening of last week Mr. Parry, owner of the Snowden irom mines, met many of the leading business men of Lindsay in Mr. Hudspeth's office to discuss the feasibility of organizing a company to more fully develop the mines than has hitherto been done. Mr. Parry laid his plans before them, and the several reports of leading practical iron men and geologists, who have pronounced it as fine a sample of ore as is possible to obtain, and the percentage of iron more than equal to the general run of iron mines. He agreed, we are informed, to put into the Company himself $40,000 and was desirous of raising $60,000 to ensure the working of the mines on a sure and profitable basis. Several gentlemen present gave their views on the matter and expressed their faith in the mines and the possibility to make them pay, and their cordial assistance to Mr. Parry could he obtain sufficient inducements to warrant him in organzing a company for the working of the mines.

Ladies in search of material to make up a Cheap and Serviceable Dress, will be sure to find it at Turnbull's.

NORWOOD.

A base ball club was organized here on Tuesday evening last.

Quite a "circus" down at the school the other day. A teacher in one of the departments attempted to flog a pupil—the cause of the flogged pupil was taken up by other pupils—a "large" time—result, the scholars go home in a body.

COBOURG.

Cobourg is agitating for a park.

The tongue of the Presbyterian church bell was discovered by the sexton in the ice at the back door leading from the basement, on Wednesday of last week.

Two young men from Port Hope dropped their money and jewels in a little game of "draw" on Friday evening last. They will probably be a little more careful next time they visit Cobourg.

The Arlington will be opened about the first of June with increased accommodation. Many Americans who formerly visited Cobourg will again make this popular hotel their headquarters.

MILLBROOK.

It having been decided to take down the present Church of St. Thomas, and erect a larger church in its place, the rector and churchwardens having succeeded in getting almost enough subscribed to cover the cost.

Shortly after midnight, on the night of the 14th inst, some person or persons, broke two of the large panes of glass in the store of A. Turner, Dawson's block, Millbrook, and stole about $15 worth of candies, pipes, tobacco, fruit, etc. The same night Mr. W. Carveth's smoke house was entered, and some hams taken out. Certain young folks are strongly suspected. The Council have offered a reward of $30.

OMEMEE.

On Tuesday last the site for Messrs. Laidley & Waugh's large new grain storehouse was laid out, and work will be commenced almost immediately.

The Rev. E. Barrass, M.A., who has taught a Bible class in Bethel Church, Emily, during the three winters he has resided in Omemee, was a few nights ago the recipient of $18 as a small token of esteem, accompanied with an address.

On Tuesday last Mr. David Toole, of Emily, sold to Mr. L. Laplante, Peterborough, eleven head of fine fat steers, for which he received the handsome sum $600. Mr. Toole is a believer in raising imported stock and has consequently purchased a thorough-bred Durham bull, 2½ years old. This is one of the finest animals in this part of the country, as it weighs 1670 pounds.

CAMPBELLFORD.

About 75,000 feet of timber are now lying at the Grand Junction railway station.

The frog family awoke from their winter's lethargy, and began to pipe in this section, on Saturday last.

Many of the farmers of Seymour have made a beginning of their spring ploughing, and some of them have already committed seed to the ground.

There is a general cleaning up about the premises of cheese factories, and operations will commence in a week or ten days.

The waters of the Trent raised eight inches on Sunday last, and are still increasing. The river is more than two feet higher than it was last week.

Steps were taken, some weeks ago, but without success, to secure a custom house at Campbellford; and a second effort to this end has been made by a numerously-signed petition to the Minister of Customs at Ottawa.

BOBCAYGEON.

All dogs running at large, without tags, after to-day will be liable to be shot by the constable, duly authorized by the Council.

At the meeting called for Monday last, to nominate a successor to Capt. Bottum as Reeve, S. Crabtree, Esq., was returned by acclamation.

The lakes were never known to rise so rapidly as they have done this spring. In a few days they jumped from low to high level. On Monday the lower lake rose seven inches. The water is higher now than it has been for some seasons.

The fall wheat around this neighborhood, as far as heard from, is in good condition and promises well. So little frost was in the ground, and the earth was so dry, that the snow was all absorbed as it melted, and grass fields have come out quite green and fresh.

Some little excitement was occasioned on Wednesday afternoon, by a break in the canal bank. By order of the Superintendent the bank had been carefully watched for some days, but on Wednesday, Mr. Boyd being convinced of its insecurity, obtained instructions to have it strengthened. Operations had just been commenced when a leak was observed, and in a few moments the water was rushing through a break of over thirty feet. Finally the break was brought under control. A constant guard is now maintained, and the bank is still in a critical condition.

LINDSAY.

W. M. Robson has disposed of his business to Mr. J. M. Armstrong, of Peterborough, and retires from business.

An adjourned vestry meeting of St. Paul's church was held on the 9th inst. The salary of the Rev. S. W. Jones, pastor, was unanimously placed at $1,000.

The new bridge over the Scugog is progressing, and as soon as the water decreases somewhat the raising of the structure will be commenced. Messrs. McNeely & Walters, the contractors, are waiting patiently for the ice on the lakes to break up for the stone they have been getting out at Bobcaygeon.

Mr. E. W. Johnston opened his gymnasium on Tuesday evening last with a large class.

Lindsay is jubilant over a proposed print promenade party—a calico ball—on the 2nd of May.

Word comes in from the north says the Post, that the rivers and creeks are full of water, and that in many localities danger is apprehended from freshets. Early in the week many of the bridges at the Burnt river were carried away by the flood. Sturgeon lake is filled to highest high water mark, and a greater volume of water is flowing past Bobcaygeon than has been the case for a number of years. While the Scugog at Lindsay is rising rapidly, the effect of the back water pushed up from the lake is such as to greatly lessen the power of the wheels in Needler & Sadler's flour mills.

NOTICE OF REMOVAL!

In Spring, the want of a restorative to tone up the general health, is a commou experience, especially among those constitutions impaired by age or disease. Prolonged cold weather want of out-door life and sunshine, lower the vitality, diminish the red globules of the blood interrupt the nutrition of the tissues. By promoting digestion and assimilation of food and securing increase of nerve force and muscular energy, the use of WHEELER'S PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA will bring up constitutional vigor to its normal plane. 17-2t

ROANTREE'S
GRIST MILLS,
NORWOOD.

The subscriber having succeeded in the above Mills beyond his expectations, has been compelled to make large additions to his premises to meet the increasing demand of his numerous customers in Norwood and surrounding Townships, and would now respectfully intimate that he has completed arrangements to further increase the capacity of the mill, as well as to keep in supply all kinds of superior Baking Flour, Chop, and every description of Mill Feed, usually found in a well kept Gristing Mill.

Having engaged a miller of extensive practical experience in some of the best mills in the country, to manage the gristing department of his mill, he will now be in a position to give greater attention to the wants of his customers in all lines of his business.

Special attention will be given to every description of Gristing, and customers will not only be guaranteed the utmost satisfaction in all kinds of Gristing, but will be assured that all orders will be attended to with the utmost promptness, and farmers residing at a distance can have their Gristing done for them so as to be able to take it home with them.

Spacious Storehouses are now being constructed in connection with the mill for the storing of grain to accommodate all classes of his customers, and nothing will be left undone by him to secure a continuance of the extensive patronage he has received in the past, and hopes by strict attention to business, guaranteeing a superior class of Gristing and charging low rates commensurate with good work, to merit in the future confidence in the public generally.

Remember the Mills, opposite the Union School Buildings, Colborne St., Norwood.

The Official Majorities at the Provincial Elections.

(From the Toronto Globe.)

We are now able to give the official figures showing the result of the polling at the late Provincial election. We trust our Conservative friends will, after inspecting the returns, be satisfied that the popular majority lay largely on the Liberal side. We have taken the plan of classifying the figures, premising that there will be no difference of opinion as to the manner of counting those in the first list, and whatever different ways of counting can be found will apply only to the constituencies in the smaller lists. The first list shows the result in those constituences in which there was a straight contest between only two candidates :—

Ministerial majority		3,549

In the following constituencies there were more than two candidates. In these cases it is plain that the mere majority achieved by the member elected over the candidate who stood next to him furnishes no index of the popular vote. The fairest way in which to count the vote of these constituencies appears to us to be this :—To take the vote of the member elected as being the vote for the party to which he belongs, and the votes for the other candidates as having been cast on the other side. There are seven of such constituencies, one having returned a Ministerialist and six Conservatives.

TOTAL VOTE CAST IN THOSE CONSTITUENCIES WHERE MORE THAN TWO CANDIDATES STOOD.

Constituency.	Mem. Elected	Min.	Op.
Carleton	Monck, C	1,030	1,302
Dufferin	McGhee, C	1,179	1,051
Hamilton	Gibson, L	2,077	3,144
Kingston	Metcalfe, C	854	951
Ottawa	Baskerville, C	1,448	1,363
Russell	Robillard, C	1,457	1,265
Toronto, E	Morris, C	2,319	2,135
		10,364	11,211
			10,364
Opposition majority			847

Taking the same last mentioned constituencies in another manner, namely, by allowing the majority of the elected member over the candidate who came next to him as representing the strength of the parties, we get this result :

		Majorities. M.	O.
Carleton	Monk, C	..	820
Dufferin	McGhee, C	..	369
Hamilton	Gibson, L	155	..
Kingston	Metcalfe, C	..	108
Ottawa	Baskerville, C	..	528
Russell	Robillard, C	..	322
Toronto, E	Morris, C	..	124
		155	2,371

Then there are the constituencies which returned members by acclamation. We say the proper method in which to count the votes in these constituencies is to allow to each member the majority at the previous election in his riding. This being done, the following result is obtained :—

ELECTIONS BY ACCLAMATION.

	Majorities at previous elections. M.	O.
Brant, N., Young, L	340	..
Bruce, S., O'Connor, L	585	..
Lincoln, Neelon, L	60	..
London, Meredith, C	..	447
Oxford, N., Mowat, L	1,157	..
	2,071	447

We have now disposed of all the constituencies except Algoma, in which the election has not yet taken place, and except the two following ridings which returned Independent members :

INDEPENDENTS.	Majorities.
Lanark, S., Lees	29
Prince Edward, Hart	38
	67

Recapitulating it will be seen that the vote stood thus :—

RECAPITULATION.

	M.	O.
Majorities in constituencies where only two candidates	8,136	4,587
Majorities in acclamation constituencies	2,071	447
Total vote in constituencies where more than two candidates stood	10,364	11,211
	20,571	16,245
	16,245
Ministerial majority	4,326

ANOTHER WAY.

	M.	O.
Majorities in constituencies where only two candidates	8,136	4,587
Majorities in acclamation constituencies	2,071	447
Majorities in constituencies where more than two candidates stood	155	2,371
	10,362	7,405
Ministerial majority	2,957

There is yet another way in which the total vote may be summed up, and this way is very popular with the Conservatives as applied to the Dominion general election. It consists in claiming for a candidate returned by acclamation the entire vote of his constituency. Counted on this plan, the Ministerial majorities at the late elections ran as follows :

	M.	O.
Majorities where two candidates only ran	8,136	4,587
Majorities where more than two candidates	155	2,371
Add entire vote of acclamation constituencies :
Brant, N	2,455	....
Brant, S	7,791	....
Lincoln, N	6,410	....
Oxford, N	5,526	....
London	....	4,904
	30,473	11,862
	11,862
Liberal majority	18,611

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER :

DEAR SIR,—In reply to Mr. Bird, I have just to say that his advice is as superfluous as it is uncalled for. The Secretary of the School Board, at my request, sent a messenger specially to ask for any additional account. The reply was : that Mr. Bird had "no further account against the School Board." This only adds to the long list of blunders that one can scarcely believe possible for him to have committed against himself, more especially if he wished simply to place a grievance before the public, and nothing more. I would also call attention to the fact that Mr. Bird is now quarreling with his own evidence, and not mine ; and which adds to the absurdity of the position he has assumed.

And, now, in conclusion I would direct attention to the indisputable fact that, after all "remarks" in connection with the tenders were made, they were not sufficient to "influence" Mr. Sanders from moving, and Dr. Armour seconding, an amendment in Mr. Bird's favor ; that without any further discussion, as the chairman was about to put the motion to the board, Mr. Sanders and Dr. Armour, of their own accord, withdrew their amendment, asking a proviso to be added to Mr. Wilson's motion, that Mr. Henderson supply a paper that would be satisfactory for $1.50 per ream. By this provision they made Mr. Henderson's tender about 8 per cent. lower than Mr. B.'s. Whether this was right or wrong Mr. Sanders claims the responsibility of it, and I assert that I had nothing whatever to do with that arrangement, and that I am the only member of the late board, or in the present, who has neither voted on, nor moved nor seconded, any motion affecting these tenders. Yet Mr. Bird, with a nice sense of honor and strong love of "principle," instead of censuring the board or the gentlemen who really made the change complained of in the tenders, makes a personal and abusive attack on me.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am, dear sir,

Yours respectfully,
WM. CALDWELL.

Lakefield, April 23rd, 1883.

Customers from a distance, remember that Mantles can be cut and fitted on shortest notice at Turnbull's.

CHRONIC COLDS.

A cold that may be cured by a teaspoonful of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam to-day, may grow into consumption before two years and defy the highest medical skill. Why not cure it, then, in the beginning by the teaspoonful of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. But even after the cold becomes chronic there is no better remedy than this. Mrs. A O Jackson, of Douglas, Ont., who was a sufferer from a chronic cold for over twenty years, which was accompanied by spitting of blood and general weakness, was completely cured by it in a wonderfully short time.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another ; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Dr. George Seymour, of Utica, N. Y., says:—"I have used Dr. Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya quite extensively in my practice in a large number of cases for which it is recommended, and I am happy to state that I find it a remedy of great value and efficiency as a tonic in the treatment of chronic diseases.

IN MEMORIAM :

Of Robert Nelles, Esq., of Otonabee, who died April 2nd, 1883, aged 74 years.

He's run his race—gone to the place
Where we must all soon go ;
In the grave lie, till from on high
The trump of God shall blow ;

When all the dead, from the cold bed
Of death, shall live again—
Be like their Lord : to life restored—
With him for ever reign.

Gone now is he, where he will see
Those who have gone before—
There loving meet, at Jesus feet,
Their Saviour to adore.

Cheering to know, ere he did go,
His heart was full of love ;
Assured that he, when free, would be
With the redeemed above.

The family left, of him bereft,
His all to them resigned,
Who worthy are—each have a share
For they to him were kind.

Sixty-three year since he came here
A home for to obtain ;
Those of full age, then on life's stage
Few now alive remain.

The pioneers of former years,
Who, when the country lay
In forest wood, the hardships stood,
Will soon be passed away.

The writer of the alleged libel, who was a practising lawyer in Montreal, has absconded to the States, leaving the defendants in the lurch.

The London Times says that if Lynch's evidence can be satisfactorily proved, and it can be shewn that Rossa furnished the large sum found on Bernard Gallagher, it will be a question whether Rossa cannot by some sort of international procedure be made amenable to the laws of the empire. Irish conspirators, it says, must be considered criminals, not belligerents.

The Grocers' Guild of London has determined upon making good use of it wealth. With a view to encourage the making of exact researches into the causes of important diseases and the means by which they may be prevented, the ancient confraternity of Grocers, or, as they were called in olden times "Peppererers," have offered three scholarships, each of the annual value of two hundred and fifty pounds, and a "discovery prize" every four years of the value of one thousand pounds. The three "research scholarships" are open to all British subjects under thirty-five years of age and the grand prize for some discovery in medical science is open to universal competition. This latter prize will be awarded at the close of 1886. What a grand thing if some Canadian could find a medical prophylactic that would entitle him to this substantial reward.

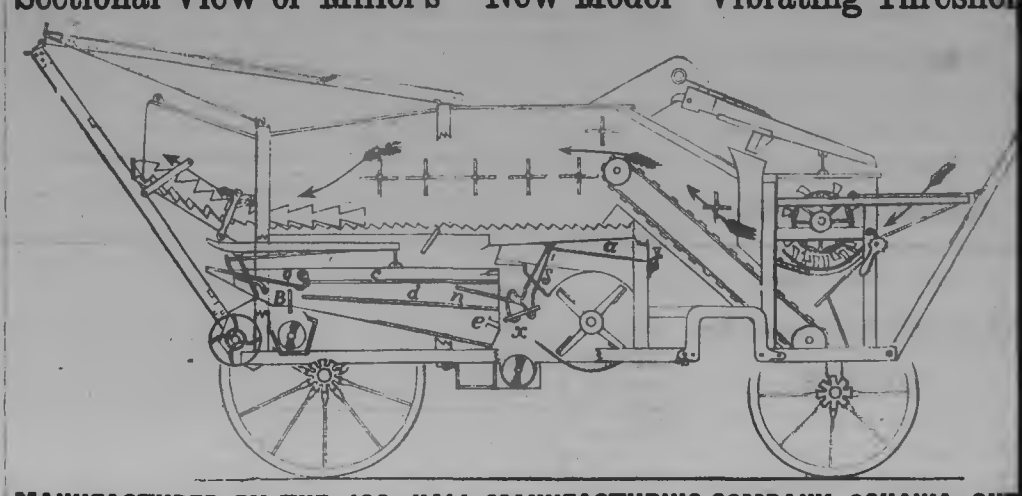
Sectional View of Miller's "New Model" Vibrating Thresher



MANUFACTURED BY THE JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, OSHAWA, ONT

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard :

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly,
JOHN McDONALD.

ORR, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post :

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other mac... I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds ... machines, and have been threshing m... for the past eighteen years, and the "... Model is the best one I have ever seen ... used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERU...

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen :

DEAR SIR,—I thought I would write to y... and tell you how I got along with the "N... Model" Thresher I got of you last summe... I will tell you the truth, and nothing but t... truth,—the machine has given me pe... satisfaction wherever I have threshed. ... could not begin to thresh for all who want... me, and could have had jobs enough for t... machines if I had had them. The farme... whom I have threshed for say that the "Ne... Model" is the only perfect machine they h... ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Not the Slightest Doubt

OUR QUALITIES THE BEST FOR THE PRICES!
OUR PRICES THE LOWEST FOR THE QUALITIES!

What most people call good luck, is really enterprise. Enterprise is the foundation on which to build a real success. Our success as live, progressive Clothiers proves the reality of our statements. We "clothe the million"—the merchant, the mechanic, the professional man and the farmer—all without a dissenting voice.

If a man wants a reasonable suit at a reasonable price, he—from us—gets it. If he wants a better thing we are proud to give it to him. We reach the wants of modest purses, not by lowering our qualities, but by letting go a share of our profits. There is no safer way of doing a sound business that we know of.

Point No. 1.—Everybody remarks the beauty of our styles and the lowness of our prices. Everybody sticks a pin in their memory, as it were, and recollects DOLAN'S when in want of clothes.

Point No. 2.—Taste, excellence and close-pared prices, our turnouts of Ordered Clothing speak for themselves. In all points of general excellence, our cut, fit and finish can't be surpassed.

Point No. 3.—No young man who wants to make his dollar do a dollar's work, can afford to pass us for clothing.

Our Suits.—If suits are wanted, are well made, carefully finished, stylishly designed and perfectly proportioned; add to these virtues the completeness of the assortment we offer in CLOTHS, and we think we've fully established the fact that DOLAN'S is the proper place to come to suit yourselves.

Gentlemen.—It is morally impossible to be successful in courtship, lacrosse, boating, matrimony, politics, law, physic, base ball, music, on the turf or in the counting house, unless you wear DOLAN'S Stylish Suits. THEN SEND IN YOUR ORDERS.

THE BIGGEST RECORDED METEOR

FALLS IN TEXAS AND BURIES SEVEN PEOPLE
DESCRIPTION OF THE UNIQUE OBJECT.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 16.—A dispatch from William's Ranch says that at 4 o'clock Monday morning a metor fell on the outskirts of the town killing several cattle and destroying the dwelling of Martines Garcia, who, with his wife and five children, are buried beneath the ruins. The metor resembled a mass of ball of fire, and was accompanied by a shock similar to that of an earthquake. The metor is still hot and steaming. It is embedded in the earth probably one hundred feet, and towers above the surface for seventy feet, and covers about an acre of space. The concussion was terrific, and nearly every window in the town was shattered. The people were thrown violently from their beds, and the goods in the store houses were thrown from the shelves. No lives were lost, as far as known, except Garcia and his family, although several buildings fell. The cattle fled in every direction and the air was filled with a sulphurous gas. The wildest confusion prevailed. This is the largest meteor that has ever fallen, and it has already been visited by many people. It has occasioned great excitement all over the surrounding country.

PHOENIX PARK MURDERERS.

FATHER OF THE ASSASSINS SENTENCED.

At the conclusion of the trial of Curley, on Wednesday, charged with the murder of Cavendish and Burke, the judge said that there could not be the slightest doubt that the murders were perpetrated at the instigation of secret societies, with which the prisoner was indisputably connected. The jury were absent but a short time. The prisoner being asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon him, he replied that he had not expected any mercy from the court, and that it was fortunate that an Irish bench was never without a Keogh. He admitted that he was a member of the Invincibles, but was not in the Phœnix Park when the murders were committed. He loved his country and could suffer for her and feared that the witnesses for the Crown had perjured themselves. He also said that he was a Fenian. As the officers were taking the prisoner from the dock he shouted "God save Ireland."

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keepingboys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

REMEMBER THE PLACE:—Pengelly's old stand, 3 doors west of Cavanagh's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterborough.

Depression

12 pieces Brocaded Dress Goods, 10c a yard.

CAUTION!

To obviate this pernicious practice we would advise all parties to cut out such advertisements and bring them with them. To convince you that we have the goods, adopt the above principles and we are sure of your patronage.

Ladies desiring Neat and Stylish Millinery, at close prices, will be agreeably surprised at the variety to choose from on visiting Turnbull's Show Rooms.

A $4,500 Purchase.

Councillor Valland purchased a few days ago, from Mr. Jos. Redmond, what is known as the Toole property, in Peterborough, for the sum of $4,200 cash, divided as follows:—$1,800 for the factory, $1,100 for the three houses on Bethune street, and $1,300 for the dwelling house on Murray street.

A Fatal Fight.

In a bar-room fight at Centreville last Friday, Francis Little, a painter, was so beaten that he died the same night. An inquest was held by Dr. Gray and the following verdict returned, "That Frank Little came to his death by injuries received from John Aitkins and Robert McClung in a drunken row in John Aitkins' hotel."

A Large Stock.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to Mr. T. Fitzgerald's advertisement in another column, in which he offers for cash, a large number of buggies, phaetons, waggons etc., at very low rates. They comprise all the different styles with four kinds of gearing, and are manufactured specially for the home trade. The new patent Eureka gear is very neat, and apparently would be very durable. Mr. Fitzgerald's long business career in Peterborough is sufficient guarantee that any article turned out of his premises will be one of the best.

A Sad Suicide.

Miss Florence Miles, south Peterborough, died at eight o'clock on Tuesday morning from the effects of poison taken with intent. She was in the employ of Capt. Wallis, Merino Farm, North Monaghan, and being refused permission to leave her place, became melancholy, and on Monday took a dose of vermin poison. She was brought to Peterborough, but medical skill was of no avail, and the deluded girl, who was about 26 years of age, died on Tuesday morning. Before dying she admitted to having taken poison to end her life.

A Great Musical Gain.

A Toronto exchange says that "musical circles in that city are shortly to be deprived of the services of one of their first sopranos, Mrs. Chambers, who has accepted a position in one of the churches of Peterborough. She will carry with her the best wishes of her many friends in the city." The music loving public, as well as her many former friends will warmly welcome Mrs. Chambers back to Peterborough, and the Charlotte Street Methodist Church Choir, for which her services have been secured, will no doubt feel the great benefit of such extra talent.

The 64th Anniversary.

The combined musical and literary entertainment, with suitable refreshments of the two local lodges and their friends, in celebration of the 64th anniversary of Oddfellowship in America, will take place in the lodge rooms of Otonabee lodge, Cluxton's block, on Thursday evening. The sermon will be preached in the George Street Methodist Church on next Sunday evening by the Rev. John Shaw. All Oddfellows, visiting brethern included, are requested to assemble in the rooms of Peterborough lodge on Sunday evening at 6 o'clock, whence they will go in procession to the church.

The "Comet."

The Orillia Times of last week says:—"W. M. Fair, of Millbrook, county of Durham, has purchased from Mr. John Lott, of Edgar, the far-famed stallion, the "Comet." This horse is known to be one of the best stock-getters ever brought to this country, and the famous breeders of East Simcoe and North Ontario have lost the best horse which ever came to the country. The "Comet's" stock has brought more money than any other class of horses. One buyer alone bought at the Grand Central hotel, over $4,000 worth for the Manitoba market. The following gentlemen can testify to the "Comet's" stock being the best in this market: John T. Harvie, W. Ramsay, Chris. Moore, James Millard, H. McElroy, V.S., Longford Lumber Co. and Jas. Durham." Mr. Fair is one of the most enterprising farmers of the township of Cavan, and will, no doubt, be richly rewarded in his efforts to improve the stock of the county. We believe it is Mr. Fair's intention to place the "Comet" where he will be come-at-able to the farmers of this section.

Housekeepers' attention is directed to Turnbull's stock of Lace Curtains, Curtain Nets and Lambrequins, in latest patterns.

Pulp Mills Trouble Over.

The pulp mills "riot" was a tempest in a teapot—much ado about nothing. On Friday morning the charge against Mr. Hazlitt and five others was withdrawn, Mr. Wood for the prosecution stating that on investigation it had been found that the facts were not as had been represented when the warrants were issued, and therefore the charge was withdrawn. Mr. Poussette, for the defence, stated that the mere dropping of the case was not satisfactory to his client. It was a serious matter to accuse a person of Mr. Hazlett's respectability with, and then, because the authorities had been "misinformed," have the charge coolly "withdrawn." It must be assumed that the persons were not acting as had been charged, and he would like the odium involved in such a charge more effectually removed than by a simple withdrawal of the accusation. He was glad to say that Mr. Scott disavowed any knowledge or sympathy with the the proceeding, and it should be distinctly understood that there had been no ground for such action as had been taken. His Worship dismissed the charge with costs.

Our Black Cashmeres are pronounced by all who have seen them, excellent value. Our Fancy Dress Goods and Prints are well worthy the attention of all intending purchasers. See our Lace Curtains and Cretonnes, beautiful patterns and close prices.—W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 17-2t.

Dr. J. ROLPH MALCOLM, PHYSICIAN FOR CHRONIC DISEASES
357 King Street West,
Toronto, Ont.

Since the year 1863 Dr. MALCOLM has made a specialty of treating affections of the Throat and Lungs by the Inhalation of Vaporised Remedies, by which method the medicines are applied directly to the diseased part, and not only destroy those microscopic germs which produce the different diseases, but heal the affected tissues even after cavities have been formed.

Having had so long and so extensive experience in this system of treatment, Dr. Malcolm can confidently recommend it to all those suffering from catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, and consumption, with the full knowledge that it skillully applied it will accomplish far greater results than any other known method of treating those diseases which cause at least one-fourth of all the deaths in this Dominion.

The following is a sample of the many letters received by Dr. Malcolm showing the beneficial effects of this treatment—

HARRIETTSVILLE, Ont., Feb. 26., 1883.

To the Editor of the Mail:

SIR,—Having been cured of lung disease by Dr. Malcolm's method of treatment by inhalation, I take pleasure in recommending it to others in the full belief that they will derive similar benefits by a timely application. I may premise that I am strongly predisposed to disease of the lungs, both my grandfather and father having been cut off in the prime of life by consumption.

In the early part of the year 1882, I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs, causing great shortness of the berath, and was accompanied by more or less cough. I had pain and oppression through my chest and beneath my shoulder blades, and gradually grew weaker, until I was compelled to give up work about the month of August. I tried the best medical skill in the vicinity, but without deriving the desired relief. I continued in this weak and emaciated condition until in the month of October last, when I was advised by a friend to consult Dr. Malcolm, who, upon examination, gave a favorable opinion of the effect of inhalation on my disease, and I am happy to say his opinion has been fully verified by the result, for after two months' treatment I was enabled to resume my work on the farm with my accustomed strength and vigor, and have felt no inconvenience since from my ailment, even when performing severe labour. I can heartily recommend this treatment to those suffering from affections of the lungs.

I am, dear sir, yours respectfully,
J. W. SADLER.

Dr. Malcolm can be consulted personally or by letter for all chronic diseases. Patients wishing for personal consultation will kindly call at his office in Toronto before Thursday in each week, or at the hotels, as follows:

Referred to Finance Committee.

AUDITORS.

A communication was received from the Auditors, Messrs. Edg. Pearse and Jas. Stratton, in reference to their annual report.

NEW WALKS.

His Worship drew attention to the dilapidated condition of the walk on Brock street, from the railway to the Presbyterian church, and on Bethune from Hunter to Simcoe street, and they were ordered to be built.

FINANCE.

Mr. Menzies presented the report of the Finance Committee; but, on the report coming up for adoption, Mr. McNaughton raised the point of order that there was no quorum at the meeting of the Committee, and the Mayor sustaining his objection, the report fell to the ground.

COURT OF REVISION.

Mr. Sawers, chairman, presented the report of the Court of Revision, recommending that the petitions from the following persons be not granted:—H. C. Winch, Mrs. Shain, M. Halpin, A. D. McIntyre, H. T. Strickland and Samuel Detcher. The Council, in adopting the report, granted the petition of M. Halpin.

CHARITY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Sawers presented the report of the Charity Committee, recommending that the taxes of John Newton, Mrs. McCabe and P. Hanlon be remitted, and that Joseph Valois be given work on the street to the amount of his taxes. That the Committee had been unsuccessful in procuring admission of the Billings children to the Protestant Home. Adopted.

NEW CORPORATION PREMISES.

Mr. Sawers, from the special committee in reference to the purchase of the old Bank of Toronto buildings reported that the special committee had examined the buildings on the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, formerly occupied by the Bank of Toronto, and found them in very good condition, especially the portion lately occupied by the bank, and that the buildings with very small expenditure can be made very desirable offices for the town. That by throwing the two upper stories into one, a most desirable Council chamber could be made. That the offices now used by the railway contractors would be excellent offices for collector of taxes and police officers. That with small alterations the smaller brick building at the rear could be made into a good lockup.

The owner of the buildings, Mr. Jas Stevenson, has agreed to let the town have them for the sum of $4,500, or for such sum as arbitrators may decide upon, the town to have the privilege of accepting either. Mr. Stevenson further agreed to accept in payment the debentures of the town, bearing interest at 5 per cent.

The committee thought it better, before making out their report, to have the buildings examined by the town engineer, which had been done, and his report accompanied the report of the committee. The committee thought it desirable that the town purchase the buildings for the sum of $4,500 and have the necessary alterations made to render them suitable for town offices, lockup, etc.

The committee is of opinion that the sum asked for them, and the terms of payment are very reasonable, and that it was not necessary to arbitrate as to the sum to be paid.

The engineer's report stated that the buildings were in good condition. That there were three good vaults (one steel lined) and the brick and cellar walls were both good, and he valued the buildings at $5,150.

Mr. Sawers moved, seconded by Councillor Paterson, that the report of the special committee be adopted, and that another special committee, composed of Messrs. Cahill, Paterson, Rutherford, Denne and Hartley be appointed to complete the purchase of said buildings, and to arrange for making them suitable and convenient for offices for the town treasurer, clerk, and collector of taxes, police offices, Council Chamber and lockup. Also that the Finance Committee take the necessary steps to obtain and pay the purchase money.

Mr. Menzies inquired what ground rent the town received for the site of the buildings.

Mr. Sawers reported that it was $81.

Mr. Menzies thought that at that rate the purchase of the premises would make our rent less than we were paying now—about $225 per year against $600.

Mr. Hartley thought it would pay the town to make the investment. The repairs would cost about $1,500.

The Clerk stated that the lease of the present premises had two years from next January to run.

Mr. Menzies moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. McNaughton, that the report be referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Rutherford thought the adoption of the amendment would complicate matters, and the report had better be adopted.

Mr. McNaughton said that the members of the Council wanted further light on the subject.

Mr. Cahill said the matter in the terms of the report was already referred to the Finance Committee. He was in favor of the purchase of the buildings. We had no lockup now, and we must provide one, and then there was no other place but the one proposed. The town would be a financial gainer by the purchase, and would have to pay only $300 per year against $600 paid now.

The report was adopted on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Cahill, Kelly, Paterson, Sawyers, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Hartly.

NAYS.—Messrs. McNaughton and Menzies.

THE NEW LOAN.

A by-law was duly passed authorizing the Mayor to borrow $10,000 till the taxes should be collected.

LOCKS SWING.

On the motion for the adoption of the report of the joint committee, in reference to the contract for the locks swing, the members took a pretty good swing in the way of talk, and after a good deal of discussion, relevant and irrelevant, the report was adopted, and the Mayor and the Clerk were authorized to see to the execution of the contract.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

A motion of Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Cahill, that the treasurer pay to the collector $5 on behalf of Mrs. Martin, was referred to the Charity Committee on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Cahill, Kelly, Paterson, Sawers, Yelland, Douglass and Hartley.—7.

NAYS.—Messrs. McNaughton, Menzies and Rutherford.—3.

On motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Paterson, three months leave of absence was granted to Councillor Davidson.

On motion of Mr. Kelly, seconded by Mr. Paterson, the street inspector was directed to lay new sidewalks on Simcoe street from Aylmer to Rubidge, and on Sherbrook, from George to Aylmer.

On motion the $3 grant per week to E. Connor was discontinued.

A motion by Mr. Sawers, seconded by Mr. Cahill, to assist property owners in planting shade trees, was lost by a vote of six to three.

TOWN TRUST COMMISSIONER.

Mr. Rutherford gave notice that he would move at the next meeting of the Council for the appointment of a town trust commissioner in the place of Wm. Toole, left the limits.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Sawers, that Mr. John Garvey should be appointed commissioner in place of Wm. Toole, and that the mayor be requested to call a special meeting for the purpose.

Mr. McNaughton moved, seconded by Mr. Paterson, that Mr. T. G. Hazlitt should be appointed.

Mr. Rutherford moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that Mr. Walter Paterson, jr., should be appointed commissioner.

Mr. Cahill, while personally entertaining every respect for Mr. Paterson objected to a member of the Council being appointed.

Mr. Rutherford said that acquaintance with the affairs of the town was a reason why a member of the Council who had earned the position by serving the town should be appointed.

Mr. Menzies said there was no reason why Mr. Paterson should not receive the position. Previous members of the Council had been appointed, and Mr. Paterson had earned it by diligent devotion to the business of the town.

The appointment of Mr. Paterson, on voting, was agreed to.

SPECIAL CONSTABLES.

A motion of Mr. Sawers, seconded by Mr. Paterson, to appoint six special constables during the summer, when so many strangers would be engaged on the railway works, was withdrawn on Mr. Rutherford raising a point of order.

THE COW BY-LAW.

Mr. Kelly said he would like to see some action taken in reference to the cow by-law. The by-law came in force last January, and the cow nuisance was as bad as ever. Why had the Committee on Appointments appointed no officer to enforce it.

Mr. Douglass, chairman of the committee, said the committee had not met.

WATER-WORKS.

Mr. McNaughton called attention to the state the streets were left in by the Water-works Company.

SEWER STENCH.

Mr. James Stevenson was heard in reference to the foul steuch arising from the sewer, corner of George and Hunter streets. His tenants were complaining, and he did not like to resort to law without consulting the Council in reference to the matter.

Referred to Building and Health Committee with power to act.

STREET LAMPS.

In reference to street lamps being so often unlighted, Mr. Rutherford said that bad boys put them out with sticks after they were lighted; and Mr. Stevenson, for the Gas Company, explained that every thing possible was done to carry out the contract.

The Council adjourned for one week.

The Agony Over.

Walking, the source of so much misery to many, becomes, after using PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR, a service of pleasure. Corns are small in size, but their importance is not to be judged by their size, as any one fond of a tramp can testify. Try Putnam's Extractor for corns. No discomfort, no caustic application, no blood-letting, and yet splendidly efficacious. N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Proprietors.

THE FARM HOUSE.

The farm-house stands by the winding stream,
In a shady grove where the banks are green,
Where young voices sung in childhood's glee
Under the oak and the apple tree.

In the Northern blasts when the days were cool,
How gaily they trudged thro' the snow to school;
By the cosy fire when the nights were long,
How sweetly they joined in the evening song.

When the long dark winter faded away,
And the beautiful trees were blooming in May,
And the robins sang in their sylvan bowers,
How jocund they gathered the sweet wild flowers.

At the golden dawn of the summer days,
Each grave sent up its song of praise,
And faith was strong and hope was high
In a fairer earth and a purer sky.

And all through life wherever they roam,
They'll never forget their childhood's home,
Where such peace and joy to them were given,
That earth seemed only the gate to heaven.

"GRUNT IT OUT."—The above is an old saw as savage as it is senseless. You can't "grunt out" dyspepsia nor liver complaint, nor nervousness if they once get a good hold. They don't remove themselves in that way. The taking of a few doses of Burdock Blood Bitters is better than "grunting it out." What we can cure let's not endure 16-2t

"I'm always getting things mixed," as the man said who had hash set before him thirteen times a week.

The stepmother hung her portrait in front of the Bible motto, so that it only showed "Suffer little children," and Johnny pasted a comma after the first word.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night, eat too much without exercise work too hard without rest, doctor all the time, take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know

One of the easiest ways to become insane is to take a gas bill to the office of the company and ask the manager to explain why it is 50 per cent. greater than it ought to be.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. "Kitty, dear," cried the lover, as he yearned hungrily over the back gate, "you are the sum total of my heart's calculation, and tho' I hope to gain by your addition, you set me at naught and leave me but to sigh for——." "Ma, what is a grass widow?" asked a Harlem youth who had been reading in the papers about a person of that description. "Why, my boy, I can't explain it exactly," replied the mother. "I'll bet I know, anyhow," said the smart youngster. "Well, tell me." "A grass widow is a female woman whose husband died of hay fever," he exclaimed. Then he went out in the kitchen and rubbed the cat's nose with red pepper.

Death of the "Horse's Friend."

Mr. Edward Fordham Flower died four days ago in England at the advanced age of 78. He can emphatically claim the title of horse's friend. He did much towards banishing the bearing rein, a cruel device at one time very fashionable, because it gave the horses a stylish appearance This contrivance for forcing the horse to hold his head in a constrained and upright position is still to be occasionally met with in the coach horses of fashionable society in our cities; but it is happily fast becoming a custom more honored in the breach than the observance.

TOWN COUNCIL.

SPECIAL AND REGULAR MEETING.

A special meeting was held on Monday night to confirm the appointment of Mr. Walter Paterson, Jr., as a commissioner of the Town Trust.

There were present his Worship, and all the members except Mr. Denne.

On motion of Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Yelland, Mr. Walter Paterson, Jr., was appointed one of the commissioners of the Town Trust, in the stead of Mr. Toole, left limits.

The Council then went into regular session.

COMMUNICATIONS

and petitions were presented from W. J. Mason, on behalf of George Street Methodist Church, R. Fitzgerald and others, Lewis Spry and others, B. Shortly, D. J. Lundy and others, and A. White, asking street improvements. Referred to street committee to report, except B. Shortly's, which was referred with power to act.

From John Cameron, asking leave to draw street scrapings.—Granted 25 loads.

From Lewis Spry and 35 others, asking the strict enforcement of the cow by-law, and praying that the by-law be so amended as to inflict a fine on the owner instead of impounding the offending animal. The matter was referred to the Committee on Appointments to prepare an amendment to the by-law, and report in one week.

An account of Toker & Co. ($57.75) was referred to the Finance Committee.

THE HOSPITAL PROPOSAL.

General Haultain, on behalf of a deputation of ladies, consisting of Mesdames Rogers, Dunlop, Smith, Millar and Jeffers, from the Protestant Home, who appeared in reference to the establishment of a hospital for the town, said the importance of such a hospital was generally conceded. His personal observation led him to this belief.

The matter was fully discussed, Mr. Collins, Reeve of North Monaghan, being heard in reference to the establishment of a house of refuge. All the speakers conceded the desirability of some hospital accommodations, and finally the matter was, on motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Davidson, referred to a special committee composed of Messrs. Menzies, Kelly, Paterson, Rutherford and Yelland, to co-operate with a similar committee of the County Council, in reference to a house of refuge, or the establishment of a hospital.

FINANCE.

Mr. Paterson, chairman, presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of the following accounts:

J. E. Belcher	$ 45 00
T. Cavanagh	15 60
Times Printing Company	31 15
Adam Hall	120 00
R. N. Roddy (when certified to)	7 00
Gas Company	43 20

The report was adopted, and the account of the Dickson Estate was referred back to the Committee.

MOTIONS.

On motion of Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, the usual annual grant of $150 was made to the Band.

The Clerk was instructed to request the Ontario and Quebec Railway to furnish the Council with plans and profiles of their line at all street intersections.

Several motions for walks were referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. Sawers, seconded by Mr. Menzies moved an elaborate resolution, having for its object the citation of Councillor Rutherford before the County Judge, to find out whether he (Mr. Rutherford) was interested in a contract in connection with the fire hall stables, within the meaning of the statute.

There was a long and warm discussion, towards the close of which it transpired that Mr. Rutherford had a sub-contract under the contractor for the wood work of the stables. Several councillors thought Mr. Rutherford had a right to take such a sub-contract, as the contractor alone was directly responsible to the Council, but at the same time they thought it would be more prudent for Mr. Rutherford to have nothing to do with such contracts.

Mr. Rutherford said that when he took the sub-contract he disappeared as chairman of the Committee; and, to avoid the appearance of evil, employed Mr. Belcher to superintend the work.

The motion was lost.

On motion of Mr. Paterson, the Treasurer was instructed to pay orders for charity, only when signed by the chairman of that Committee.

A motion of Mr. Sawers, to request the trustees of the Hall Trust Fund to furnish the Council with information as to why there was no income from the trust funds, was also lost.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

SCHOOL BOARD.

Regular Monthly Meeting.

The Board met at the Collegiate Institute building, on Tuesday night, May 1st. The following members were present: Messrs. Stevenson, chairman, Stratton, Dumble, Sawers, Weir, Kendry, Robinson, Rutherford, Wrighton and Dr. Burnham.

After routine, Mr. Stevenson explained that at the last meeting, he stated that the Collegiate Institute principal had been engaged at the same salary as Mr. Dixon—$1,100—whereas the new teacher's salary for six months was at the rate of $1,200 per year.

DEBENTURE DEBT.

Communications were received from the auditors, stating that they had, in compliance with the request of the Board, prepared a statement in reference to the condition of the school debenture debt, showing that of the $48,900 issued, $19,400 had been paid, leaving a balance of debentures unpaid of $29,500.—Received.

Several communications of minor importance were referred to appropriate committees.

The accounts of Toker & Co., printing, $18.58, and of the auditors, preparing debenture report, $25, were paid on motion of Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Sawers.

Mr. O'Connor, principal of the Collegiate Institute, presented his report, showing that the average attendance for April was 81, and recommending a course of study suitable for pupils intending to engage in mercantile pursuits, and the report was referred on motion of Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Weir, to the Committee on School Supervision to report.

Mr. Braden's report showed that the registered number of pupils for April in the public school was 979, and the average, 795. The registration was the highest on record, but the average was reduced by sickness.

Mr. Stratton, Inspector, reported that during the past quarter he had made 38 visits to the public schools and found good order generally. He found that more care was necessary in teaching penmanship in some rooms. The desks in junior divisions were two high for pupils. In the matter of change of text books he found, after the fullest investigation, that there had been no change during the past three years in this respect.

Mr. Rutherford, who had complained of changes in text books, accepted the Inspector's statements, which were based on written and signed statements of the teachers in all the divisions.

A communication from Mr. Adam Hall, on behalf of the trustees of St. Paul's church, suggesting the old church building for school purposes, was directed to be acknowledged, with the intimation to the trustees that the board did not contemplate the erection of new school buildings in the vicinity of the church, and that, therefore, the church would not be required for school purposes.

On motion of Mr. Dumble, the matter of instruction in linear drawing required by the Department, was referred to the Committee on Appointments, with power to employ a competent teacher, at a fair salary, to instruct in two rooms of the Public School two hours a day, twice a week—for two months only.

Mr. Dumble's report from the Special Committee, that the West Ward School difficulty had been amicably settled, was adopted.

Mr. Wrighton, from the Property Committee, reported that there had been purchased, for the use of the shool next winter, 116 cords of wood.—Report adopted.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Stratton, that the present Principal, Mr. O'Connor, be engaged for one year at a salary of $1,200 per annum.

Mr. Sawers raised a point of order, that the motion involved an expenditure of money.

The motion was put and carried, and the Board adjourned.

Ladies in search of material to make up a Cheap and Serviceable Dress, will be sure to find it at Turnbull's.

A LAUDABLE DESIRE.

Mr. R. O. Gowan, Glen Walker, Ont., desires to make the following facts as public as possible. He says he had a very bad attack of rheumatism in his shoulders, which was so severe that he could scarcely move without the greatest agony, and futher, that he was cured by the use of Dr. Dow's Sturgeon Oil Liniment. Mr. Gowan does well in making his wonderful cure public, thus giving hope to thousands of sufferers from rheumatism and kindred diseases.

Dissatisfied Orangemen.

Great dissatisfaction exists among the rank and file of the Orange order on account of the defeat of the incorporation bill. They feel that they have been duped by the Premier, and don't intend to be made a tool of any longer. An old Orangeman says a number of disgusted members were only prevented from burning Sir John in effigy the other night by the interference of brethren high up in the order. Resolutions of a disagreeable character may be expected at the different lodges.—Toronto World.

WINSTON, FORSYTH CO., N. C.

GENTS—I desire to express to you my thanks for your wonderful Hop Bitters. I was troubled with dyspepsia for five years previous to commencing the use of your Hop Bitters some six months ago. My cure has been wonderful. I am pastor of the First Methodist Church of this place, and my whole congregation can testify to the great virtues of your bitters.
Very respectfully,
18-2t REV. H. FEREBEE.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

BOATING CLUB.

A meeting was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, 24th inst., for the purpose of organizing a boating club. The Rev. Mr. Farncomb was appointed chairman of the meeting. Short addresses were made by Messrs. Strickland, Cochrane, Lillicrap, R. A. Strickland and Sanders. Mr. Wm. Graham was appointed Secretary pro tem. On motion of R. C. Strickland, seconded by Mr. Lillicrap, it was resolved that an association be be formed and called the "Lakefield Canoe and Boating Club." The following officers were appointed: President, Mr. R. C. Strickland; Vice-President, Mr. Geo. Cochrane; Secretary, Mr. W. Graham; Treasurer, Mr. W. H. Casement. An executive committee was appointed, consisting of the officers and Messrs. R. A. Strickland, Sanders, Lillicrap, Gordon and Arthur Strickland. The general fee was fixed at $1.00. The clergymen of the village were made honorary members. It was decided to hold a regatta on the 1st July. A vote of thanks was tendered to the chairman.

GOING WEST.

Mr. Jas. Duff, of Douro, has leased his farm for a term of years and is going west to seek his fortune. Mr. Richard Waram, of Smith, has sold out Mr. And. Fairbairn, and will try his luck in the North-west.—[Received too late for last issue.]

CHEESE FACTORIES.

Mr. Porter Robinson has sold out the Elliott and Trewin factories, Smith, to our enterprising fellow-citizen, Mr. J. W. Moore, who will, during next season, carry on five first-class establishments for the manufacture of cheese. Mr. Robinson will continue to manage the Trewin factory for Mr. Moore this season.

HIGH WATER.

The water has risen higher in the river than for a number of years. The only damage done, so far, is to Mr. Hull's mill flume. It gave way about a week ago, and now one side is completely washed out. It will be some weeks before the damage can be repaired.

A LOSS TO LAKEFIELD.

We regret that we have lost an old and esteemed citizen of Lakefield in the person of Captain Secret, who has removed to Lindsay. He carries with him the good wishes and respect of the whole community.

ACCIDENTS.

A week ago to-day Mr. Jas. Horner was thrown from a hand-car and severely bruised. Mr. T. Horner, in his efforts to save his brother, got pitched in front of the car and narrowly escaped being severely injured.

Mr. Hull lost a valuable horse on Monday last. He had been driven to Warsaw and back the day before, and dropped down while being unhitched, nothing serious having been noticed before.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The regular meeting of the School Board will be held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening next.

CRICKET.

A cricket club has been organized, and the following officers appointed:—President, Mr. John C. Clarin; Captain, Mr. Jas. Watson; Vice-Captain, Mr. R. C. Strickland; Sec'y-Treas., Mr. Walter Strickland. Mr. R. C. Strickland, we understand, presented the club with the lease of the ground.

STABBING AFFRAY.

The Victim in a Critical Condition.

On Tuesday last, in Lakefield, Peter McCauley and Richard Dwyre, from near Warsaw, got into a dispute about a horse that McCauley had lent to Dwyre. As a result of the too free imbibition of whiskey the language used towards each other was not of the choicest character. The men left Berubee's Hotel, still wrangling, and went to Mason's, across the way. Here while Dwyre stood inside the bar-room door, and McCauley just outside, they continued the dispute. The result was that McCauley, who was cutting some tobacco with a large jack-knife, struck Dwyre with the hand that held the knife. Dwyre immediately exclaimed he was stabbed. His clothes were undone and a wound found on his right breast. He was attended by a medical man, who pronounced the wound to be the depth of the blade of the knife. He, from what we can learn, is in rather a critical condition. The stabbing is considered by bystanders as accidental.

Those new and pretty Colored Polka Spot Dress Goods, good quality, can be got at Turnbull's.

Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie have taken their passage for England by the the Circassian, which sails on the 19th of May.

If your watch stops take it to Hughan's New Watchmaker Shop. He can give you satisfaction. Office lately occupied by Elias Burnham, Simcoe Street. 18-tf

We are pleased to note that Mr. Frederick Hayes Sawyers, at the annual convocation of Trinity College, was granted the degree of M. B., with a certificate of honor in the final branches. We give our congratulations.

According to the Guide, Mr. Atkinson, Assistant Superintendent, and Mr. Casey, Train Despatcher, are to be removed to Peterborough.

Mr. R. S. Davidson, member for No. 1, has arrived home from California with greatly improved health, and took his seat at the council board on Monday night.

Mr. C. A. Post, of Guelph, formerly teller in the Ontario bank here, previous to his departing for the North-West, where in company with Mr. Johnston of that place, he intends enjoying the more independent and healthful occupation of farming, was presented by the customers of the Ontario bank in the "Royal" city with a substantial purse well filled with gold and a complimentary address. Mr. Post's friends in Peterborough will be pleased to note that he maintains his popularity and the good friendships of those doing business with the bank.

Satan Rebuking Sin.

The Review has in a recent number of its issue a swashing leader on "our (railway) autocrats," whom it styles the figure heads of a "grasping monopoly," and it regrets the probability of the consummation of a combination that will result in a "single and all-powerful monopoly, the like of which the world has never hitherto seen." Our consistent cotem. will, perhaps, admit that, pending the organization of this phenomenal monopoly (the C.P.R. and G.T.R.) bugbear which it so much dreads, that the Pacific Railway Syndicate is the most powerful, pernicious and persistent monopoly "that the world has ever seen." It comes with shockingly bad grace from the down street Tory apologist of jobs, to berate and anathematize railroad enterprises, on account of their burdensome charges. The Review used all its eloquence, all its influence, to support and contribute to the parliamentary endorsation of the iniquitous—from the Review's standpoint—Pacific railway compact, for it cannot in justice to the facts, be called a contract. It is a concession; to borrow from the vernacular, an expressive phrase, a "give-away." By virtue of the authority granted by the party the Review supports—swears by—the great North-west, with its limitless possibilities, is bound hand and foot, and the gyved and prostrate giant is turned over to the mercy of a railway corporation, whose designs upon, not only the pockets, but the political liberties of the people of the North-west, the Review has been the most abject and subservient apologist of. They who have never seen an apt illustration of Satan rebuking sin, will find one in the article in the Review entitled "Our Autocrats." To quote the Review against the Review, the article with the above title, is one of the most severely denunciatory against the Syndicate compact that has ever appeared in a Tory journal.

Tid-Bits for Tories.

In the House the Tories excused the payment by the people of Sir A. T. Galt's trip to Manitoba, on the ground that in his capacity as top-loftical immigration agent in England it was necessary for him to speak in praise of the country from personal knowledge. It now transpires that Sir A. T. Galt went up North-west to spy out and gobble up a rich coal mine tract in enjoyment of the policy of rewarding supporters out of the illimitable possibilities of the Northwest. "On Tuesday last Sir John Macdonald laid on the table of the House a very voluminous return of applications for coal locations in the Northwest Territories. There are about 800 applicants in all, and like the list of applicants for colonization lands, there are not a few Tory members of Parliament with their relatives and rienda in the number. Sir A. T. Galt applied for a location on the Bow River, on the 24th Feb., 1882. He also put in applications for the Right Hon. W. Smith, Geo. P. Kompsus, Bartlett-Burdett Coutts, and other scions of nobility in England. Geo. T. Orton, M.P., previous to the elections, put in a list of applications, to whom he desired a half section each of coal lands allotted. J. C. Rykert took care of his constituency in the same fashion. A score or more of pages are taken up with exhibiting his efforts for his friends in St. Catharines and other places in his riding. Darby Bergin did not allow his friends to lag far behind in the race with the Lincolnites, as his multiplication of applications kept the Department busy also. It is impossible not to notice the fact that Northwest lands, whether timber, colonization, or coal, are looked upon by Tories in all quarters, as so much party plunder, to be grasped at their earliest convenience."

Sir John's promise to enfranchise females will not likely be very highly appreciated by the gentler sex. Even in the favorite haunts of the shrieking sisterhood, New Hampshire, only one woman in a thousand of those entitled to vote exercised the right at a recent school election. And the modest, virtuous women of Canada want very highly appreciate the privilege of talking street-corner politics, ward wire-pulling, drinking straight whiskey and voting.

Mormon Office-Bearers.

"Office helps to make adherents"—this is a statement to which few thoughtful persons will object. When any society has a considerable number of petty posts for distribution amongst its members, it possesses a certain source of strength. Men love to have some measure of authority to wield, and to exercise a degree of influence in their own immediate sphere of action is particularly pleasing. We were led afresh to this reflection by the following statistics from a recent book of travel. They give us one good reason for Mormon strength: "There were 109,218 Mormons in Utah in the spring of 1878. Of this number, 33,661 were children under eight years of age. Only those over that age are considered members of the church, so that the number of church members in the Territory was 75,557. Of this latter number, 23,002 were office-holders, or two out of every six!" This naturally takes in every specially bright and intelligent man in the community, besides serving as a bribe in the case of any who might be disposed to be independent. Comment on such surprising facts is unnecessary.

Editorial Notes.

The Vice-Royalty in India is the biggest prize in the gift of the British Government, and the Marquis of Lorne is spoken of as probably the next lucky man. The Marquis of Ripon, the present viceroy, will resign at the end of the year, and the Princess Louise will likely be the vice-Empress of India.

Sir Garnet Wolseley is to attend the coronation of the Czar as proxy of the Queen. It is a pity to select the gallant hero of Red River and Tel-el-kebir to be blown up by Nihilist bombs. Some less valuable life might be risked and Sir Garnet left to fight the battles of his country, at which he has so frequently distinguished himself.

The Kingston Whig pertinently enquires why some super-loyal Conservative does not introduce a "Franchise Bill" empowering Sir John to cast two votes on each division—one as member for Carleton and one as representing Lennox. Such a bill would be sure to pass, and would be quite on a par with other Tory legislation.

In the course of his sermon last Sunday, Rev. Father Flannery, of St. Thomas, paid a high tribute to the Ontario Government for their efforts to attract emigrants to Ontario, and urged his congregation to take an interest in looking after the welfare of the people from Ireland who wish to make their home in this Province.

A good point brought out in the debate on the new Militia Bill was that the Government, which is professedly so anxious to keep Canada for the Canadians, bought its militia uniforms abroad. Shall we be told that the clothes could not be made in this country, as we were all told that it was absolutely necessary to send to the old country for wheelbarrows for the Military College at Kingston?

Frank Jones, ex-M.P. for North Leeds and Grenville, who came within one vote of defeating Mr. Merrick in the same riding at the last local election, has been requested by a large number of Orangemen to lecture through Ontario on Orange incorporation and the circumstances connected with the introduction of the bill into the Dominion Parliament and its defeat.

We can now understand why saw-dust has been placed by Sir Tilley on the free list. It was evidently done in the interests of Senator Plumb, who does not pine for coal lands, but takes his fat things in the form of gas. Messrs. Rathbun & Sons, of Desoronto, manufacture illuminating gas from sawdust, and therefore Mr. Plumb may be, to a certain extent, "sawdust when he sings."

Mr. Carnegie, M.P.P. elect, and editor-in-chief of the Review, has gone on a journey to the land o' cakes. It is now in order for the remnant of the editorial staff to issue his usual card, absolving Mr. Carnegie from all responsibility in respect of the mud-flinging, miscellaneous and particular, that one may naturally expect will be indulged in by his brilliant locum tenens during the absence of his principal. Apologizing in advance indicates the possession of a very cautious conscience.

The Tories by their omnicurative panacea were to keep Canada for the Canadians. They not only do this by importing $53,000 worth of militia clothing (come, now, that explains the duty on coarse wool) from England, but the Speaker of the Senate is encouraging native genius by getting his portrait painted in England. But we can't object to the worthy Speaker getting his portrait painted in England, if he carries out his anitipathy to Canadian artists consistently. We only hope that Mr. Macpherson will get his next dry-as-dust pamphlet printed in England and—distributed there, too.

Hon. T. W. Anglin, says the Ottawa Free Press, will take up his residence at Toronto and assume editorial charge of the Tribune of that city about the middle of May. It is the intention of the Liberals of the Queen City, to welcome the honorable gentleman as a resident of Ontario by a public banquet, Mr. Anglin will be a tower of strength to the Liberal party in Ontario where his great talents, his long political experience and high personal character will meet with appreciation and where a wide field of usefulness will be opened to him. He will be especially useful to his Irish Catholic fellow citizens as an orator, a journalist and a man of sound views and practical common sense. Under his control the Tribune will become a power in the land.

The Trenton Courier, an independent paper, defends the Premier of Ontario from the charge of the Belleville Intelligencer, that Mr Mowat is "dishonest and tyrannical," and says that nothing is to be gained by "such falsehoods." "Nothing but the hope of mud-throwers, that if presisted in some of the mud will stick. In this the hope is vain. The honest little Premier is, like Ceaser's wife, above suspicion." This is correct. Mr. Mowat has established so solid a character for political honesty, probity and efficiency, that he and his friends, as well as his honorable political opponents, only smile at the absurdity of the reckless charges made by unscrupulous party organs.

The Tory sheets were very fond of quoting United States statistics to prove that the Mackenzie trade policy was driving her citizens out of Canada, but they squirm sorely when an application of the same logic turns the tables against them. The figures, quoted from the United States Bureau of Statistics' report, show that the exodus from the Dominion during equal periods of the Mackenzie and Macdonald regime, gives a very large numerical advantage to the National Policy expatriation principle. For instance, during the five years from 1873 to 1877, and from 1878 to 1882, inclusive, respectively we find the following numbers of exodusters to Uncle Sam's dominions:

MACKENZIE.		MACDONALD.
1873	29,506	1878	30,102
1874	30,59-	1879	53,267
1875	23,420	1880	139,761
1876	21,318	1881	99,188
1877	23,121	1882	86,909

These are plain, pithy (and unpalatable) facts for the Tory party for political reasons, and for every loyal citizen of Canada for patriotic reasons, and they can't be disproved or explained away.

The Review, Mail and other virtuous organs are howling over the following paragraph inadvertently credited to the Review by the Globe:

"In view of the shape events have recently taken in reference to the Orange bill, the Ottawa Free Press suggests that the motto, 'No Surrender,' be amended by the addition of the words, 'except to Quebec Bleus.'"

The celerity with which our contemporary hastens to repudiate its guilt of making a shadow of an imputation against the double dealing trickery of the political Proteus, the Premier—the "statesman" whom the people delight to honor, would be amusing if it did not betray a slavish and sheep-like subserviency—a disposition to follow loyally the leader through whatever dirty and devious ways his crooked policy may lead. If it is any comfort to the Review, or other Tory apologists for Sir John's breach of trust, we can explain the error: The paragraph in question originally appeared in THE EXAMINER, and was, doubtless by error, credited to the Review. Our big cotem will always make a mistake if it credits to the Review any paragraph or utterance that can be tortured into the mildest sort of blame of the political sins or crimes of its political leaders. The Review is of that class of supporters that Sir John loves—that will stick to him, not only when he is right, but also when he is wrong.

A FIVE-ACT TRAGEDY.

A peculiarly sad and shocking domestic tragedy is reported from the town of Batin, in Hungary. The keeper of a crossing on the East Hungarian railway near that town happened to win a few days ago some hundreds of florins in a lottery. The poor fellow, who had never seen such a large sum of money in his life, took the bank-notes home, and amused himself turning them over, forming plan upon plan for their disposal. All at once a train was signaled, and he rushed to his post leaving his precious roll behind him. As ill luck would have it, his little daughter was playing in the room at the time. Struck by the peculiar appearance of the notes, having rarely if ever seen one before, and not knowing anything whatever of their value, she proceeded to use them as a plaything and presently flung them in the fire, where they were burned to ashes. Just then the father returned, missed the notes, and learned what had become of them. In his fury he struck the child a violent blow, which stretched her lifeless on the floor. The mother who was giving bath in an adjoining room to her second child, an infant rushed in on hearing disturbance, picked up the little girl and tried to restore her to consciousness. Her efforts were vain the child was dead. She flew to the bath in which she had left the infant. Another shock awaited her; the child was drowned in its bath. The childless mother, distracted and desperate, rushed out of the house, and hanged herself on the branch of a tree. The wretched father, overwhelmed with misfortune—his fortune gone, his wife and children gone—seized a revolver, and put an end to his existence. The artistic completeness of this tragedy gives it a certain air of unreality; but the Hungarian journals vouch for the exact truth of these details.—

I have been very sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and heart would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

TRIBUTE TO G. C. ROGERS.

Rev. Mr. Bradshaw's Eloquent Address St. Luke's Filled to Overflowing.

If any further proof had been wanting of the popularity and personal respect enjoyed by the late lamented George C. Rogers and of public sympathy with his sorrowing relatives, the immense gathering at St. Luke's, Church Ashburnham, on Sunday would have furnished it. The Church was crowded in every part, so that there was not standing room for hundreds, and very many were unable to get even in side the doors. The attendance comprised members of all denominations. Special and peculiarly appropriate psalms, lessons, and hymns made the service unusually solemn, and during the sermon few remained unaffected. The Incumbent, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, was visibly affected in the delivery of his discourse by the intensity of his grief in the loss of a friend whom he said he had found by seven years intimate association, to be the "noblest specimen of a Christian gentleman he had ever known."

His address was based on Philippians II. 15, and was a glowing tribute to the memory of a good man, and a fervent exhortation to all to prepare to meet their God.

In the evening Mr. Bradshaw preached from St. John XVI, 33, "These things I have spoken unto you that in Me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation, but, be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." Near the conclusion of his sermon he again alluded to the sad loss the Church had sustained owing to Mr. Geo. C. Rogers' death, and closed his address in these words:

And now, dear brethern, having said so much in elucidation of my text, I turn once more, for my heart is heavy, to speak of him who has been called so suddenly from our little band, and whose sad sad death has produced, in all of us, I trust, most solemn and blessed reflections. But what can I say in such a trying hour? Thoughts are there and feelings, which often lie too deep for words. Bereavements and afflictions sometimes come upon us in which silent grief buries its bitterness within the breast; when words, in fact, seem a mockery, and but ill express the sorrow, nay the inexpressible anguish of the burdened heart. The present hour is one of these. The appalling accident which befell one of our number so recently, and which, I may truly say, affects us all in some manner, makes this, as it did last Sunday's services, the saddest in which it has ever been my lot to join. To this very hour it seems impossible to realize that the strong, bright, cheery, active man, whose voice we have so often heard in this holy house of prayer, has passed away from us never to return. How much is involved in his loss no one even yet can rightly calculate.

Sincerely lamented by his bereaved wife and sorrowing family, universally regretted and mourned for as he is today by all classes of the community, we, as a congregation, will feel his loss most keenly. How can his place be filled is the question asked by all, and well it may be, for we shall not soon look upon his like again. Possessed of a self-denying, self-sacrificing spirit, and a large hearted charity, which marked him as a king among men, humanly speaking his loss is irreparable. His business activity and untiring energy were simply marvellous. But it is not my purpose to do more than merely mention this phase of his many-sided character. As a strictly honest and honorable man his name stood among the foremost, and in social life he had no peer. To say that he was a general favorite, esteemed for all his noble qualities of mind and heart, but feebly expresses his relationship to rich and poor. The widespread interest and general sorrow which his untimely end has excited throughout the entire community are sufficient proof of the high place he held in the people's hearts.

I shall not attempt to describe what he was as a son, as a brother, and as a husband and father. In these sacred relations, one with such fervent faith, ceaseless cheerfulness, self-sacrificing ways and high ideas of duty must needs fulfil them nobly. To say that, is enough, and yet it seems but barren praise for one so thoughtful, so kind and good. But it does not seem right to lift the veil higher, or to expose to the public gaze the true Christian as he shows himself in the quiet circle of his own home and among loved and lasting friends.

You all know what he was as a devout and conscientious churchman and servant of God. You know how he labored unceasingly for the church he loved so well, how he showed the reality of his faith by pious deeds, standing in this, also, the foremost, abounding in every good word and work, and doing all to the glory of God. You know how unremitting he was in his efforts to advance the spiritual interests of the young; how on every occasion of recreation or amusement for the Sunday School, his help was invaluable, and you have seen many, many times the fruits of his faithful doings and skillful plans, ready exertions in all times of need. And then, with what devotion and reality he entered into the prayers and praises in God's house; how strict and conscientious was he in his attendance at Holy Communion, how greatly he appeared to value and enjoy the worship of Almighty God! And now he is called up higher to enjoy the perfect adoration of saints and angels —to enter into the bliss and rest of the Paradise of God! "Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Thy sight."

Some of you, perhaps, do not know as you dwell on Mr. Rogers' too-brief career, how in early life he felt impelled to take holy orders, to give himself up to the church and labour, as he only could have done, for the souls of his fellow-men. Devotion to duty, and the call to other sacred trusts, at a critical moment prevented this idea being put in execution. But one cannot doubt the way put before him was the best, nor can they fail to think he accomplished, in his own wide sphere, almost, if not quite, as much good as he could have done had he laboured as a priest in the church of God.

For my part, I have not ceased to thank God for his hearty co-operation and high Christian example since first I came to really know him. And I can only ask that the Almighty may, in His own good time, raise up here many such fervent, faithful workers (just now, one such would be an incalculable blessing!) upon whose shoulders his mantle may fall, and who may faithfully strive, as he did, to imitate the perfect example of our Saviour, Christ.

I have dropped this simple tribute on his yet nameless grave, but the man himself shall not soon be forgotten. Lapse of years, I know, sometimes wipes from the tablet of memory gratitude that should burn with a pure and steady light, but until the last of the present generation shall have passed away, the name of George Charles Rogers shall live green in the recollection of many who valued and respected him, and he shall be remembered as a faithful friend, a devoted Christian and a lover of humanity.

Since that sad day for us, to him, however, the beginning of blessedness, our prayers have gone up, and will, I hope, continue to do so, that God may comfort and strengthen and console his sorrowing widow and his many bereaved relations. Of this I have no doubt they are well assured, as they are also certain of possessing the earnest sympathy of the entire community.

I have but a few words to add, my brethren, and then I am done. Let this heavy trial, this sad affliction, come home to your hearts. Let it produce in you all more earnestness and fervour in your Christian race. Let it sink deep down in your souls this lesson: "Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as you think not, the Son of Man cometh." "Prepare to meet thy God." And remember, you can only do this rightly by leading consistent, pure and holy lives. To be ready when our time shall have come we must, day by day, prepare for the last dread hour. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." "Blessed are they that do His commandments," says the loved disciple, "that they may have right to the tree of life, and enter in through the gates into the city."

Carry The News.

NEAR TILSONBURG, Ont, Dec, 14, 1881.
I have been ailing for years with Biliousness and Dyspepsia, and was reduced to a mere skeleton. Last fall I weighed only eighty-six pounds. I was induced to try ZOPESA by Mr. Thomson (of the firm of C. Thomson & Co., druggists, of this place), and, many thanks to him, I am now an entirely new woman and weigh 124 pounds, through the use of this new compound.
MRS. CAROLINE FORBES.

*Revelation suggests the idea that from Woman comes the power to "bruise the serpent's head." The words take a new meaning to-day since this is precisely what Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies do for the physically diseased patient. Her Vegetable Compound reaches the ultimate sources of the evil. Its action is gentle and noiseless, but it is more powerful than the club of Hercules.—Bazar.

TRENTON.

Monday afternoon a frightful accident occurred in Lyman Heaton's saw mill, about four miles from Wooler village, in the seventh concession of Brighton. It appears the mill caught fire from some unknown cause, and was filled with dense smoke. The engine was promptly stopped, and Mr. Stewart Heaton, a son of the proprietor, entered the mill to ascertain where the fire was, but being blinded by the smoke he slipped and fell with his neck across a large circular saw, which it seems had not yet ceased to revolve, as he was found about fifteen minutes afterward with his head completely severed from his body. By great exertions the mill was saved, comparatively little damage being done by the the fire. The deceased was a sober, industrious young man, and highly respected by all who knew him.

BELLEVILLE.

The Belleville Ontario, says that the Right Rev. Monsignor Farrelly has been able, after a great deal of zealous labor, to erect a commodious and handsome edifice in the place of the church now in use, and which has been occupied for nearly forty years. The new church, when finished, will be one of the finest ecclesiastical structures in the country and will cost $30,000. Work will be begun in a few days and it will be completed by 1st January, 1884. The old church will be torn down and the new one built on the same site. The edifice will be 136 feet long and 66 feet in width, and will be built of cut stone. There will be a gallery, and the seating capacity is figured at 1,200. The building will be heated by hot air and lighted with gas. The seats will be of the most modern design, and everything will be in keeping with the best and most fashionable churches, while at the same time due regard will be paid to the purpose for which the sacred building has been erected.

The fine brick residence of Hon. S. C. Wood at the head of Waverley avenue has been purchased by Mr. P. B. McIlhargey of this town for $7,000. As there are about eight acres with fine orchard, trees and shrubbery Mr. McIlhargery has obtained a bargain.

It was intended that the annual concert of the Oddfellows take place last Thursday evening. But some unpleasantness arose between the lodge and Mr. Shepherd, the conductor. The Oddfellows decided not to go on with the entertainment.

A most distressing accident occurred in Englishtown on Monday, whereby Mr. Thos. Henry's son—four years of age—was instantly killed. The little fellow had been playing with several others around a fallen tree, which was apparently held fast in its position by ice and snow. As he was leaning against it, it suddenly moved and rolled over on him causing instantaneous death.

A well known Hope councillor was recently deputed by his fellow councillors to visit the sick and afflicted. In his rounds he was found in a questionable locality. When he rapped at a certain door, the neighbors' window blinds were drawn to catch a sight of the visitor. When he came out of the house he found the sidewalk lined with gaping youngsters who thought they knew a thing or two. The aforesaid councillor did not look as green when he came out as when he went in. He had taken in the situation in the meantime, and his way home was by the back streets. He has since sworn off visiting the sick and afflicted.

PETEBBOROUGH, MAY 3, 1883.

The New Franchise Bill.

The text of Sir John's new Franchise Bill is at last published, and the matured results of about fifteen years consideration on the subject, is not by any means startling in its originality—except that portion relating to the perpetuation of the possession of power by the Tory party. The nature of the bill is two-fold—innocent and noxious. The following are the chief provisions that come under the former classification :—

In cities, the voting qualification is ownership of $300 real estate; rental of $20 per annum, provided the rent for the last yearly, half-yearly, quarterly, or monthly day of payment before 1st November has been paid; occupancy of real property worth $300 in any other manner than as owner or tenant; and sons of real estate owners residing with their parents may vote, one son for each $300 worth of the parent's property.

In counties the qualifications are, for real estate, $200; for rental, $20 per annum, provided rent is paid; occupancy of $200 worth of real estate in any other manner than as owner or tenant; and sons of farmers owning more than 20 acres, may vote, one son for every $200 of value.

Unmarried women or widows, having the necessary qualifications, can vote in cities and counties; but this does not extend to daughters of farmers and city property owners.

The portion of the bill relating to the privileges of the electorate are not so startlingly great as to call for especial pæans of praise. But when we come to the party part, there's where the work has been done. There was only wanted this latest grab at privileges that would assist the Tories in keeping office, to crown and complete the "statesmanship" of the glorious chieftain. With the popular voice mightily neutralized by the Gerrymander, with a subservient majority to co-operate with and sanction the acts of partizan returning officers in seating minority candidates; there was only wanting the "revising barrister" to complete the scheme.

The revising officers, who are to prepare and revise the voters' lists, are the chief machinery. These revising officers are to be appointed by the Government—the Governor-in-Council—and, to expect that subservient creatures, as in the case of the partizan returning officers, will not be selected, would be the very idiocy of hope. Lest the revising officer should not get the lists favorable enough to his party at the first trial, he is to have another chance. In addition, this revising officer is to complete the details of the Gerrymander scheme. He has power to divide any riding into polling subdivisions as he sees fit.

There is to be no appeal, according to section 47, against the decision of the revising officer, "upon any matter of fact or the admission or rejection of evidence." This is a dangerous power to put in the hands of one man, and that man, the appointee of the party in power. Talk of centralization! Why, the Franchise Act, in addition with the other aids to the Tory party already in operation, will admit of the machinery for the control of the elections in the Tory interest being directed from the Council Chamber at Ottawa. The Franchise Bill will afford material for further consideration.

The Government has concluded to pay a bonus of $10 to each settler locating in British Columbia. What next?

The Detection Deplored, but not the Crime.

The Review's sensitive morality is terribly shocked by the contemplation of the scoundrum, as to whether the Reform leaders and journals endorse the "stealing" and "forgery" of documents that expose the corrupt and shameless bribery of high-up Tory leaders, as shown by the Tupper-Macdonnell correspondence. It is well that our contemporary expresses its indignation at something, for it has had not one word of blame for the guilt of Sir John Macdonald and Dr. Tupper implied in their scandalous attempt to bribe or buy the Roman Catholic vote of Ontario. For our part we never endorsed the means employed for obtaining the disgraceful correspondence, but we have used the facts thus brought out to show that a fouler and more insulting overture was never made with a view to compassing the political corruption of any class. When the Review asserts that the Tupper-Macdonnell correspondence, as published in the Hamilton Tribune, is a "forgery," it states what is contrary to well-proved facts. The damning documents are yet in existence, and are of so damaging a character that the Tribune, which first gave them publication, declares that the Government, of which two members are implicated, dare not institute an investigation. The only denial that has been given is by a private party to the conspiracy, whose character renders necessary more than his simple denial to disprove what appears in black and white, and in Sir Charles Tupper's own handwriting. True, Sir Charles denies that he wrote the letter containing the expression, "As Sir John says, but little confidence can be placed in the breed." This may be true—his secretary may have written the letter—but it is also true that the insulting expression is found in the draft of a letter written by Sir Charles' own hand. This he has not denied, and from evidence that exists it is true, without doubt. The Review should not trouble itself so gravely about the means used for "an assassin-like attack upon the reputations" of Sir Charles and Sir John. If the charges involved in the correspondence published in the Tribune are not true, an investigation will disprove them. Why don't the Review demand an investigation? The charge exists, and all this twaddle about "stealing" and "forgery," which it knows is twaddle, can disprove nothing. But it is plain that the Review, nor the higher parties concerned, does not desire an investigation. They prefer rather, by abuse of those who have published the correspondence, to raise a feeling of sympathy and draw attention away from the political criminality which the correspondence discloses. The Review has not one word of condemnation for the crime involved in an attempt to purchase the Catholic vote, nor a word of indignation, at the insult, to Roman Catholics, implied in Sir John's declaration that he has no confidence in the "breed." No, by its silence it endorses that unparalleled insult, as it does every other act of its party leaders, to debauch the electorate and to retain power by corrupt acts.

The new colors in Dress Goods, such as Cadet Grey, Light and Dark Terra-Cotta, Hussar Blue, Moss Beige and French Grey, with Satins to match, at Turnbull's.

More Intriguing for the Catholic Vote.

When the Tupper-Macdonell correspondence was published, says the Globe of Saturday, the Tories with one accord declared it was impossible that they should ever have been intriguing for the Catholic vote. They insult a whole class by proceeding against it on the supposition it was venal! Oh dear, no! They would not think of anything of the kind. Therefore the letters of Tupper and Macdonell must be forgeries. So must the Order-in-Council printed along with them. As for Sir Charles' assertion that Sir John said "he has little confidence in the breed," that goes along with the rest. It was simply impossible that Tories should ever stoop to such dishonourable tactics as the correspondence disclosed.

There have been placed in our possession papers proving that not only before the election of 1879, but also before that of 1883, a desperate attempt was made by the Tory party to entrap the Catholic vote. What do the people think of the following circular which was sent round among the Tory workers :—

(Private and Confidential.)

TORONTO, Jan. 7, 1883.

DEAR SIR,—A letter will be forwarded to you in a day or so making enquiries with reference to the Catholic Vote in your Riding.

Be good enough to answer the questions, and forward your reply without delay to H. H. Smith, Esq., Peterborough.

Yours faithfully,

QUESTIONS.

1. About how many Catholic electors are there in your riding?
2. About how many of them voted for the Conservative candidate the last election?
3. About how many voted for the Reformer?
4. About how many were there who did not vote at all?
5. Who are the Catholic clergymen in the riding?
6. How did they vote?
7. Did they take an active part in the contest, and if so, how?
8. What reasons, if any, do the Catholic electors give for supporting Mr. Mowat?
9. Have you any suggestions to make as to the best means of putting the Conservative cause fairly before the Catholic electors?
10. Give the names of a few of the most influential Catholics in your Riding.
11. Send a complete list of the Catholic electors in your Riding, with names and addresses.
12. Oblige by returning this list AT ONCE, and the reply to question ELEVEN, as soon as possible.
13. Name of Riding.

Of course the Tories will now send up an indignant shout to the effect that the above is perfectly proper information to ask for. The question will then at once arise, "Why were the Catholics singled out for such an attack?" Were similar enquiries made about the Methodist vote, the Church of England vote, the Presbyterian vote, the lawyer vote, the blacksmith vote, or the vote of any other class than the Catholics? If not, why not, unless the Tory managers were under the supposition that the Catholic vote was the only one that was purchasable? The bare fact that such a circular was sent round ought to disgust people with a party which considers Catholics in the light of so many sheep for the shambles.

We need only add that the H. H. Smith, to whom the information was to be sent, is Mayor of the town of Peterborough, and the general Tory agent and secret organizer for Ontario, and that while he is so eager to learn all about the Catholic vote for party purposes, he is himself an Orangeman. What do the Catholic electors think of the care displayed by Bro. Smith about their political condition and of the plot to manipulate them for tory purposes?

Editorial Notes.

The Belleville Intelligencer wants a permanent water power for the city. Our cotem. should apply to the C. P. R. Syndicate. They seem to possess the most permanent and prompt watering power (in regard to their stock) that is extant.

The following from the Cornwall Freeholder shows what leading Tories think of Irish Catholics :—

"The Irish Catholics have warm friends among the leading Tories. Sir John Macdonald says he has no confidence in the breed.' Sir Charles Tupper echoes his chief's sentiments on that score, and now Col. Tyrrwhit, Tory M. P. for Simcoe, in his speech on the Orange Bill, said that measure ought to be supported, as it would tend to keep out an objectionable class (meaning the Irish Catholics) of immigrants."

The Mail, of course, which asserted that the highest ecclesiastical dignitary of the Roman Catholic church in Ontario, did not possess brains superior to a "poodle dog," will, of course, trump the above flattering testimonials of regard.

With the present Government the people are sure to come out second best. They pay the taxes to enrich manufacturers, but when it comes to legislation, privileged classes get the benefit of it. By a majority, of 113 to 60, the resolution of Mr. Ross on the Militia Bill, to the effect that the public money would be better spent in providing better training for the volunteer militia than in keeping up a little standing army, was rejected, and the militia that are expected to do the work of defending the country are in no wise better off than before. By the establishment of a permanent military force, not only are the claims of the rank and file ignored, but the officers who have taken so much pains to prepare themselves for their duties are to "take a back seat."

What purpose the Review expects to serve by its persistent virulent, bitter, bigoted and unreasoning attacks on Hon. O. Mowat, it is difficult to divine. Issue after issue teems with abuse against a man whose record as leader of the Government has never been successfully attacked on the floor of the House, nor has a single charge of malfeasance in office, much less the many that the Review and other Tory journals insinuate, been fixed upon him personally or administratively. These attacks must be the outbreaks of pure envy, the expression of the venom of a jealous spleen. It is exasperating that Mr. Mowat does not furnish a peg to hang a political scandal on. From a Tory point of view, he should make himself guilty enough to warrant his being driven from the office from which he is keeping the defrauded Tories. Because he declines to do so, the organs obligingly place concocted calumniations to his credit. Can the respectable portion of the political constituency, for whom the Review poses as a mouthpiece, endorse such a policy of calumny?

The Review would like very much to have the manufacturers of agricultural implements in this county believe that this journal had spoken in a detrimental manner about their implements, and in favor of the American. But it is too thin. They are not as easily hoodwinked as the Orangemen appear to be, and the member for West Peterborough can't pull wool over their eyes as Sir John has always done with the Orangemen. The EXAMINER said nothing of the kind. There are as good a quality of implements mannfactured in Ontario to day as there are in any State in the Union. However, we take strong ground against the increased duty on agricultural implements, as it will drive settlers in the North-West across the boundary line, where the implements required for tilling the soil and reaping the harvest are very much cheaper than they are on the Canadian side. Will the Review republish the opinion expressed by the leading conservative organ of the North-West on the fiscal policy of the Dominion Government? Governments may rule by brute force for a time—but they are sure, sooner or later, to stir up a feeling that will be their undoing.

SERMON TO ODDFELLOWS.

An Eloquent Address by Rev. John Shaw, Delivered in George-street Methodist Church on Sunday Evening, April 29th.

After the conclusion of the preliminary services, the reverend gentleman selected as his text the following words:

"A man that hath friends must show himself friendly, and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother."—PROVERBS 18, 24.

A proverb is the wit of one, and the wisdom of many. The witty one gathers up the utterances of the wise, and, in his mental laboratory, he crystalizes them into a short sentence, which thenceforth becomes a proverb. Solomon might have labelled this book "the business man's instructor." Every man should be as familiar with it as with his day book, ledger or journal. Churches and bigots have contended about ceremonies and theories of doctrine, but of what use are they unless they lead to practical Godliness? With advancing light and education, men of the world, as they are called, are shouting in the ears of church people, "Show us your faith by your works." The best answer to this demand is, for professing Christians to conduct their lives and business according to the teachings of this Book—to cultivate the spirit of this text, "A man, etc."

MAN NEEDS FRIENDSHIP.

With all our boasting, there is no one who is absolutely independent. Of all creatures he is naturally the most helpless. His infancy requires the kind attentions of friends, and he must have the aid of friends in his education. As the business cares and compliations of life come upon him, how desirable to have a friend who can look dispassionately upon the questions that may arise, and give him the benefit of an unbiassed judgment. Man's desires for friendship are seen in the numerous societies, churches and associations that have been organized for mutual aid and the diffusion of the principles of benevolence and charity.

Not least amongst the human brotherhoods is the order of Oddfellows, whose sixty-fourth anniversary has been celebrated during the past week. It has now become self-governed and provident associations in the world. Its ramifications extend to England, Germany, Switzerland, Australia, the United States and Canada. It is computed that one million seven hundred thousand persons have been enrolled in its membership. Last year one million seven hundred and forty thousand dollars were expended, chiefly for the relief of brothers, the burial of the dead; the relief widows and the education of orphans. How many homes and hearts have been made glad can only be known when it shall be said: "I was an hungered and ye gave me meat. I was thirsty and ye gave me drink. I was a stranger and ye took me me in. Naked and ye clothed me. I was sick and ye visited me. I was in prison and ye came unto me." It does not claim to be a religious society, but it teaches lessons of morality and virtue. Its motto is "Friendship, Truth and Love," a trinity of moral virtues. The idea of friendship is mutual help. This is a law of God's universe. It prevails in EVERY PART OF CREATION.

ONE OF THE MOST EXTENSIVE

Minerals exist to serve vegetables, vegetables exist to nourish animals—all exist to help man. Soil needs sunshine and showers; oceans need dry land and rivers; valleys need hills, and hills need snows and rains to nourish their fountains and springs of water. Great nations need each other their various products and manufactures, giving value to commerce and employment and living to their inhabitants. Men need each other. I speak thus because some good people are opposed and look with prejudice upon all secret societies. The secrets of this society are simply the signs and passwords by which its members know each other. It principles are published to the world, and may be fully investigated by any body. "Friendship, Truth, Love"—it is a

DELIGHTFUL COMBINATION.

You exist to foster friendship. That man is scarcely human who lacks friendship. It is absolutely necessary to the development of manhood. True friendship is born for adversity, not merely when the sun of prosperity shines upon you and you are successful. There is much of that kind of friendship in the world. But, when the shadows fall upon your home, and the night of poverty and affliction gathers around you, then true friendship shines forth in all its beauty. It "sticketh closer than a brother," and is "as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." Truth—it is the basis and bond of friendship and society. It is essential to confidence. It is honor, it is honesty, and it must not be limited to words. There must be the truthful mechanic, merchant and tailor. Everything that is to be done is to be done well. It means

SIXTEEN OUNCES TO THE POUND.

It means no cheap mixture to increase the profits. It means truth in social life and in politics. The Scriptures speak well of him who "speaks the truth in his heart." May the God of truth give you grace to "speak every one truth to his neighbor, for you are members one of another." All hail to every society whose motto pledges its members to truthfulness. Be true to yourselves and ye cannot be false to any man.

LOVE.

Friendship and truth produce love. They are inseparable. "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also upon the things of others." Love is the fulfilling of the law. It calls every man neighbour regardless of creed or calling. To those who are accustomed to sympathize and help each other we may not appeal in vain to help suffering humanity, even though not connected with their brotherhood. The text speaks of "a friend that sticketh closer than a brother," and says that if we would have friends we must

SHOW OURSELVES FRIENDLY.

There is much envy and prejudice in society because this direction is overlooked. It is not uncommon for the artizan or toiler to think that those upon whom fortune or providence seems to have smiled, are proud and haughty, and he determines to let such people know that he is just as respectable and just as good as they are, and he looks askance at them and acts in such a way as to produce the very thing he deprecates. Had he shown a disposition to be friendly it might have been otherwise. If you wish to have friends, look and act in a friendly manner. You can do this without being a sycophant or losing your self-respect. A friend is said to be than brother. Moses speaks of "thy friend which is as thine own soul." Take the case of David and Jonathan. Doubtless there were points of difference as well as of similarity between them. Jonathan the son of a king, David a shepherd of Bethlehem. Both had some genius for military leadership, and both trusted in God. There was no jealousy between them, and even after Jonathan discovered that David would be his father's successor, he said, "Thou wilt be king in Israel and I will be next thee," and the last time they parted in the Wilderness of Ziph it is said that "he strengthened David's hands in God." And when this beautiful and chivalrous young man fell upon the heights of Gilboa, David voiced his sorrow in one of the most plaintive odes upon record.

EVEN A MORE SACRED NAME

Your friend may be rich, you may be poor, yet you may have something that he has not, and you together. The impulsive Peter chooses for his friend the gentle John, and Paul, the cultured, vigorous missionary, takes Barnabas, the son of consolation, as his companion.

STRONG TIES MAY BIND.

Luther, the fearless reformer, finds his complement in, and makes a life long friend of the modest Melancthon. When brothers are friends you have a

STILL HIGHER TYPE OF FRIENDSHIP.

This is natural. Brothers may be separated by difference of tastes. One naturally thirsts for knowledge, the other turns his attention to the active business of life. They may be both moral and still retain their brotherly affection, but they live in different worlds and a great gulf separates them. They have but little in common. Habits also divide brothers, one is virtuous and the other vicious, one seeks the society of the pure and the good, the other is only at home in the society of the dissolute and amidst scenes of dissipation, and as the years go by they get further and further from each other.

In this age of railroads and restlessness brothers are often separated by distance of place. Rivers, lakes, seas and mountains are crossed. Letters come at long intervals, bye and bye they cease, and although we may be surprised, there are men who can say "I have not heard of my brother for years, and I know not whether he is living or dead." Other objects come in and claim attention. A man's upon him. Sometimes they absorb his whole attention and energies, and the brother is overlooked and partially forgotten.

FAMILY HAS THE FIRST CLAIM

However closely the souls of brothers may have been united, there comes a time when the relentless destroyer, death, comes and fraternal ties are severed, and the brother must go alone on that journey from whence no traveller returns.

Here we are told that we may have a friend that will stick to us

CLOSER THAN A BROTHER.

I need not tell you who he is. No matter what your calling or social position may be, he is in sympathy with you, and will never leave nor forsake you even though your habits may be sinful. He came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance. If weary and heavy laden he offers you rest. The world may pronounce the sentence of your condemnation, but he is willing to befriend you. "He offers you pardon, He bids you be free." You may go from one hemisphere to another, but this friend will still abide with you. Millions may rejoice in his friendship still he will have a place in his great loving heart for you, and will care for you with more than

A MOTHER'S TENDERNESS.

And when your earthly race is ending, and you are passing down the dark valley, you may lean upon the arm of your loving Saviour. You may in that hour exclaim, "O death where is thy sting, O grave where is thy victory?" Such has been the experience of those who have been blest with His friendship. "He loved me and gave Himself for me," says Paul.

He calls us brethern if we do what He commands us. He is touched with the feelings of our infirmities. In our afflictions He is afflicted. Let believers confess this friend. The test of our trust in Christ must be our public confession of Him as our Saviour. Some time ago a man was cured by faith. He threw aside his crutches, and opening his front door he shouted the praises of God to the people as they passed. Ten lepers were cleansed, only one returned to give glory to God. Christ said "ten were cleansed, but where are the nine?" Jesus expects that those who have obtained mercy shall to and for the benefit of others.

Three times he asks, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? not for his own information, but for the benefit of the world. We should show forth the praises of Him who has called us out of darkness into his marvellous light. Let me commend to you this Saviour as your best friend. All true friendship must be based on love to God. Young men, he who tempts you to drink the intoxicating cup, and who helps to lead you into questionable society and doubtful habits. When you find yourself condemned, and feel that you have made a mistake, committed sin, they will not sympathize with you. Like the chief priests who bribed Judas to betray his Master, they will say, "What is that to us? See thou to that."

CANNOT BE YOUR FRIEND

This man, this friend receiveth sinners still. He thinks of you, loves you, pleads for you. Make him your friend now and forever.

The sermon, of which the above is a fairly full synopsis, was listened to with great attention by the immense congregation that filled the capacious edifice. The brethren of the order, to the number of seventy-five or eighty, marched from the rooms of Peterborough lodge, and occupied the first six or seven pews in the centre row. The singing was particularly effective; the special hymns, appropriate to the occasion, and sung to familiar tunes, were heartily joined in by the brethren, and the anthem before the sermon, and the collection chant were very effectively rendered.

In Spring, the want of a restorative to tone up the general health, is a common experience, especially among those constitutions impaired by age or disease. Prolonged cold weather want of out-door life and sunshine, lower the vitality, diminish the red globules of the blood interrupt the nutrition of the tissues. By promoting digestion and assimilation of food and securing increase of nerve force and muscular energy, the use of WHEELER'S PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA will bring up constitutional vigor to its normal plane. 17-2t

EQUINE AND BOVINE.

Spring Show of Stallions and Bulls—The Best of All—A Splendid Exhibit of Splendid Stallions—A Hard Task for the Judges—A Very Large Attendance—Everything Well Managed—The Show a Decided Success.

The Spring exhibition of stallions and bulls made in the Agricultural Grounds here last Saturday, under the auspices of the West Riding Agricultural Society, was the most successful and satisfactory of the series in every respect. There were fifteen stallions on exhibition; two roadsters, five heavy draught and eight general purpose horses. The collection was a fine one, and the class of horse predominating shows that the farmers are turning attention to and requiring a class of horses, suitable to agricultural purposes, and paying less attention to the breeding of fast stock—5-40 horses, as is done in some counties—fit neither for the race course nor the farm. Some of the heavy draught animals were monsters, one in average condition, weighing 2,300 lbs. There were only six bulls, however, entered, but these had excellent certified pedigrees, and are an indication of the increasing interest taken in thoroughbred stock. The attendance was large, the gate receipts showing that over four hundred spectators entered the grounds. For the admirable order, great credit is due to the energetic president, Mr. Walton, and for the smoothness of the whole affair the committee of management, Messrs. Garbutt, Campbell, and Rutherford are entitled to praise. The responsibile, and, on this occasion, where competition was so keen, difficult positions of judges were filled by Messrs. T. Blezzard, M.P.P., Chas. Crawford and Thos. McMillan, on horses, and Joseph Redmond, Isaac Garbutt, and Richard Thexton, on bulls. Below is the prize list:—

THE USE OF FALSE HAIR by ladies is a most disagreeable practice, for not only is it impossible to trace its origin, but also the natural hair is constantly changing, while the dead hair retains its color. By the use of Cingalese Hair Renewer on the contrary, the color of the hair is rendered natural and always beautifully glossy and a venerable crown of glory, every lady should use it, and to gentlemen whose hair is growing thin, it is a necessity. Sold at 50 cents per bottle by all druggists. 11-8t

An article so favorably known as Hall's Hair Renewer needs no words of praise from us. It has won its way to the highest favor in the public mind, and multitudes who have vainly used other preparations have by trying this, been made glad by the speedy restoration of abundant locks as in the days of youth.

A WINTRY SONNET.

A robin said: The spring will never come,
And I shall never care to build again.
A rosebush said: These frosts are wearisome,
My sap will never stir for sun or rain.
The round moon said: These nights are fogged and slow,
I neither care to wax or care to wane.
The ocean said: I thirst from long ago,
Because earth's rivers cannot fill the main.
When springtime came red robin built a nest,
And trilled a lover's song in sheer delight.
Gray hoar frost vanished, and the rose with might Clothed her in leaves and buds of crimson core.
The dim moon brightened. Ocean sunned his crest,
Dimpled his blue, yet thirsted evermore.—

Farm, Garden and Household.

Farm Notes.

A well started crop is usually profitable and one put in late or under unfavorable conditions is seldom satisfactory.

Harrowing winter grain is a practice that is now quite generally adopted by the better farmers. This should be done with implements that have the teeth turned backward; wood-ashes or other fertilizer may be applied before the harrowing.

Spring wheat should be sown as soon as the ground can be properly prepared. A top-dressing of manure may be added after sowing.

Fodder Crops.—There should be ample provision of food for farm animals during the summer months, when the pastures are short from drouth. A leafy sort of oats may be sown with peas and thus obtain a double crop of green fodder. The value of Hungarian grass as a supply of good green food is not easily over-estimated.

Beets, including mangels many be sown the last of the month. Quick starting of the seed may be insured by soaking them. They should be sown so soon as germination begins. After the plants are up they will need weeding and thinning.

Grass is the leading farm crop, and is much neglected. Our farmers have given little attention to the study of grass and the soils and culture best adapted to the various sorts. A permanent meadow or pasture needs to be kept up by a yearly top-dressing of manure or commercial fertilizer. It is hoped that the Canadian farmers will come to a better understanding of the importance of grass growing, and that our grass land will be treated with due consideration.

Potatoes.—The potato-beetle is well under control, and potatoes are now a certain crop, and a profitable one, when given clean culture on a rich mellow soil. It is well to plant early sorts and harvest the tubers before "rot" has time to reach them.

Sundry Matters.—Put all farm implements in good order during rainy days. Clear up the rubbish that has accumulated. Look well to fences before cattle are turned out.

Sheep.—The care bestowed on sheep by some farmers during the winter invites weakness, and a troublsome irritation of the skin and loss of wool, often follow poor treatment. Raising lambs for the spring market is a profitable business, but great care of both ewes and lambs is necessary. The strength and vitality of the lamb after birth, depend largely on the condition of the ewe previous to parturition. Much injury is done to the unborn lambs by compelling the ewes to go without water.

Notes by the Way.

This do: When you have a good cow, keep it; when you see a good cow, buy it; when you have a poor cow, sell it.

A tree is to be grafted when it is of a poor kind, and we wish to change the kind of fruit it bears. If the tree is very large, it is well to graft only the lower third of the branches the first year. The best time for apple and pear trees is just as the buds are swelling.

The bands of eggs of the tent-caterpillar may be seen and removed until the tree is in leaf. The eggs hatch as soon as there are leaves for the young caterpillar to feed on, and the small "tents" soon appear in the forks of the twigs. Remove these as soon as discovered.

Sawdust used in the hill enlarges the yield of potatoes immensely, and the potatoes are much larger and smoother.

When a potato is exposed to the light in a cellar, the eyes nearly all start a good healthy green sprout, but if in a pile or in darkness, only the strongest eyes grow long, white worthless sprouts. Hence seed potatoes should be spread thinly in the light. The sprout should not be broken off when cutting the seed for planting.

Early hatched chickens are more vigorous than those produced later in the season, when hot and dry weather addles half the eggs while incubation is in progress. It is more trouble to care for the very earliest chickens during cold, wet weather in March or April, but the cockerels will bring fancy prices as early broilers, and the pullets will be good layers next winter.

A plan in use in South Australia for leading cattle, said to be very effective, is as follows: Tie the end of the rope around the base of the near horn; pass the line across the forehead, back behind the horns and under the back of the near ear, thence up between the ropes and the animal's forehead. When hauled taut a hitch is made which takes in the ear, the least pressure upon which by pulling the rope, it is said prevents the most obstinate beast from hanging back.

It is a bad policy to wash harness with soap, as the potash injures the leather. If the harness becomes rusty rub off the dirt as well as possible with a soft brush and supply a dressing of grain black, followed with oil or tallow, which will fasten the color and make the leather pliable.

The Law Concerning Stray Cattle.

We have taken from an exchange the following summary of the law relating to stray cattle, the requirements of which, cannot be too fully understood among the community:

Properly speaking all strayed animals should be taken to the nearest pound-keeper, but strayed horses, bulls, oxen, cows, sheep, goats, pigs or other cattle, may be retained by any person, provided no claim for damages is made, and due notice of their detention is given. The owners if known, must be notified in writing. If unknown, the Clerk of the municipality must be supplied with a written notice. The Clerk is required to enter the notice in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, and to post a notice in a conspicuous place, or near the door of his office, for one week. If the animal is worth more than $10, the distrainor must also publish a notice in a country newspaper once a week for three weeks. The distrainor must feed the animal, can recover for the same, as well for time, trouble and attendance. If the "stray" is not claimed within the time mentioned in the notices, affidavit to that effect must be made before a Justice of the Peace, and notices of sale given. The sale can be conducted by any pound-keeper, but not by private individuals, and the animal must be sold by auction. Notices of sale for pigs, goats or sheep, may be given one month after the animal is taken up; though for horses and other cattle the notices may not be issued until after two months. All charges are deducted from the amount realized by the sale and the surplus, if any, must be paid over to the Treasurer of the municipality. If the charges of the distrainor are disputed, any three fence viewers are empowered to act as arbitrators.

By the Way.

The great improvement in English farming dates from the time when the Government commenced to encourage tile draining, by making loans to those farmers who asked it at the low rate of three per cent. per annum, taking security on the lands to be drained. The contract specified that a certain amount of draining was to be done for a specified sum, and this was always rather more than the money lent would do. In this way farmers were obliged to invest some money of their own in addition to what they borrowed from the Government. These loans were invariably paid when due, and the drained land was so much more productive than before, that the Government and people were alike gainers by the operation.

A great many farmers, says Colonel F. D. Curtis in the Country Gentleman, comfort themselves with the notion that if they change seed with some other farmer they are doing a big thing. This is a mistaken idea. Seed should be improved and taken from the farm where it is grown, and to which it has adapted itself. At home is the place for improvement. The idea that the little germ of a seed can carry the good qualities of a good farm with it are ridiculous; but it can carry with it peculiarities in its nature (growth and maturity) acquired in one place, which will be unsuited to another. He therefore advises farmers to improve the seed on their own land by careful selection of the best ears for planting.

Spare a day to look after your fences and strengthen the week places. Make loose posts firm by tamping with a rammer and driving flat stones around the base. An hour or two spent thus during April may save a crop and many hours' labor later on.

Milk Comes From Food.

We know of many dairymen who give their cows a small grain ration all the season, and keeping a strict account of the yield of milk show that they make money by this liberality. One who feeds fifty cows says the that he fed four pounds of middlings per day through the season, finding that he was fully paid in the extra milk; and the cow was in so much better condition in the fall that it saved him the whole cost of this extra food in wintering. He has followed this system for ten years. He called our attention to a neighbor of his, keeping about the same number of cows, who followed what he called the economical plain—let his cows pick for themselves—both taking their milk to the same factory. Good feeding produced $45 per cow, poor, $27, a difference of 60 per cent, in favor of liberality in feeding. This illustration can be found in almost any dairy town. Let every dairyman ask himself to which class he belongs.

The Month.

The winter wheat looks will where it is uncovered. Stock generally have come through the winter well in good farming localities, but on poor land there has in some neighborhoods been a scarcity, and cattle are thin and well take some time to pick up to make a good flow of milk or good thrift in growth; in fact they never regain their lost position. One well-fed animal will produce more profit than two or three half-fed animals. Complaints are made that the peach buds have been destroyed. The solid coat of snow we have had has kept our meadows in good order. Grass is king, there being no complaint of the grasses being heaved out and killed. This winter should give us every hope for a very profitable season. Sales are numerous and cattle bring good prices.

The Reason Why

the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by M. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR.—Although Mr. T. J. Bird in his letter of the 5th inst. announced his retirement from the conflict on the school supplies question with lofty pretensions, I see by your last issue that he has returned to his subject. He appears to have abiding confidence in the potency of the last word. His apology for condescending to bore the public with this nonsense, which should never have been given to the press, and for which he is alone responsible, is that there are a few glaring misrepresentations in your last issue, which invite criticism. What miserable clap-trap! Has he not utterly failed to criticise the main arguments of his opponents from first to last? But, sir, what a mighty change has come over the boy who was "a spoilin' for a batin'" so recently. Has he at last come to the knowledge that the Dr. is too heavy metal for him, and capitulated? It appears so. How very mild is his last letter when compared with its predecessors. He has no ugly epithets to fling at the Dr; none, oh no; he is going to prove his tender the lowest to the satisfaction of the doctor, when the full account for the year 1882 is rendered, and he would not have referred to the doctor at all, but his hand was in, and he had some time and energy left after demolishing Mr. Galvin with his two famous propositions. What a salutary effect a good sound drubbing produces on some people. Now, sir, Dr. Caldwell, as a member of the board, requested Mr. Bird to appear before that body and explain how he succeeded in putting a half gallon of ink into a quart bottle 36 times, or in other words to explain why he charged the Board for a half gallon of ink every time he filled a quart bottle for the past two and a half years, but up to the present time Mr. Bird has failed to put in an appearance, or to make any explanation whatever. In any case I think it is his duty to give a solution of the apparent difficulty, even though he has to acknowledge the corn. The probability is that the Board would take the same liberal view of his case that the Irishman took of his grocer's, when the latter made a most humble apology for charging him with a quart of whiskey when he only filled his pint bottle, "Begorra," replied Pat, "I don't mind as much paying for the extra drhap of whiskey, but I do feel bad about the severe strain you put on the bottle." But, perhaps Mr. Bird may be able to show that the bottle in question is made of genuine India rubber, which will explain the matter easily. At the December meeting of the Board, when the tender question was up, I gave a casting vote in favor of Mr. Bird; this fact he has acknowledged, but has he shown any gratitude for the act? No, not he. But he made use of my name in one of his newspaper articles without my knowledge or consent, and in a way too, that he well knew would be injurious to me—an act that he could not have been guilty of if he was even the shadow of a gentleman—and when I reproved him for his conduct, did he make any apology or express any regret? Not at all. His only regret seems to be that he has not a few witnesses present (hid under the counter I suppose) for the purpose of testifying against me. Shades of the departed! What a picture of noble virtuous manhood! What a specimen of a gentleman! Now for the two propositions. 1st. Mr. Bird is prepared to take his precious oath that I said the remarks were made. Let me inform Mr. Bird that when I can accept a man's word without doubting, I can also accept his oath, not otherwise. 2nd, He can still further verify that I said the remarks were made, any time I am willing, by bringing before me in private two reliable gentlemen with whom I held private conversations, and who are willing to give me my own words to my own face. Of course this will settle my hash, and then the thing is made so easy, I have no part whatever to act in the matter but to express my willingness, and the thing is done. Now, sir, is the above not the very thinnest thing in creation? But who are the noble lords before whom I am cited to appear? They are not named, oh no, that would spoil the whole thing. It would then cease to be private and confidential. Are they, the gentlemen referred to in Dr. Caldwell's first letter as carrying across the street to Mr. Bird what took place at the Board, and concerned him, that he (the Dr.) influenced the Board to accept Mr. Henderson's tender? Are the gentlemen who informed Mr. Bird how the votes were cast at the December and January meetings of the Board, and who have conducted the campaign for him throughout, the two most trusted members of his privy council? But, sir, I suppose I have no right to enquire into this matter. It is sufficient for me to know that they are "reliable gentlemen." That Mr. B. has said so, and that they are in the same unfortunate position as himself, having no witnesses present when their private conversation took place with me, and that it is my duty to appear before the "reliable gentlemen" of his choice. What cheek! Can brazen-faced effrontery go further? Let Mr. Bird clear away the imputations resting upon his honor as a business man, and let him in the future pay a little more respect to the time-honored usages by which communities are enabled to live together in peace and quietness, and he will not find it necessary, as he now does, to pit his oath against any man's word. Mr. Bird has known me since his early boyhood, and in his third letter he stated that he had every confidence in me until this correspondence began, and I can unreservedly return to him the same compliment. And whenever Mr. Bird is willing to apologize for his ungentlemanly conduct towards me, I am willing to listen to any reasonable proposition from him, but until he does, I want to hear no more propositions from him. In conclusion, let me say, that I have no desire to injure either Mr. Bird's character or business, and if I have done so, it has afforded me no pleasure. I have not been the aggressor.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your forbearance with me,

I remain yours respectfully,
G. J. GALVIN.

[This is positively the last communication on this subject, we shall admit to our columns. We have given all parties concerned in the dispute a fair chance to express their opinions or grievances.—ED. EXAMINER.]

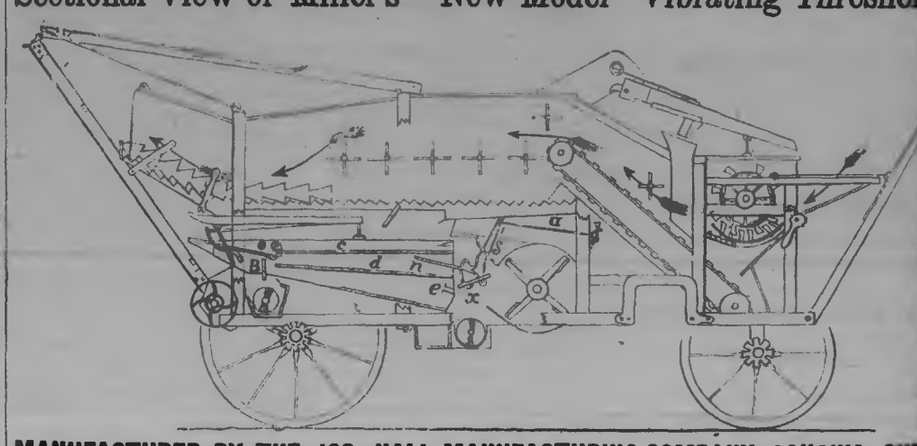
Sectional View of Miller's "New Model" Vibrating Thresher



MANUFACTURED BY THE JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, OSHAWA, ONT

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR.—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly,
JOHN McDONALD.

ORS, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR.—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, or their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP.

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR.—I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth.—the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who want me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they have ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

Not the Slightest Doubt

OUR QUALITIES THE BEST FOR THE PRICES!
OUR PRICES THE LOWEST FOR THE QUALITIES!

What most people call good luck, is really enterprise. Enterprise is the foundation on which to build a real success. Our success as live, progressive Clothiers proves the reality of our statements. We "clothe the million"—the merchant, the mechanic, the professional man and the farmer—all without a dissenting voice.

If a man wants a reasonable suit at a reasonable price, he—from us—gets it. If he wants a better thing we are proud to give it to him. We reach the wants of modest purses, not by lowering our qualities, but by letting go a share of our profits. There is no safer way of doing a sound business that we know of.

Point No. 1.—Everybody remarks the beauty of our styles and the lowness of our prices. Everybody sticks a pin in their memory, as it were, and recollects DOLAN'S when in want of clothes.

Point No. 2.—Taste, excellence and close-pared prices, our turnouts of Ordered Clothing speak for themselves. In all points of general excellence, our cut, fit and finish can't be surpassed.

Point No. 3.—No young man who wants to make his dollar do a dollar's work, can afford to pass us for clothing.

Our Suits.—If suits are wanted, are well made, carefully finished, stylishly designed and perfectly proportioned; add to these virtues the completeness of the assortment we offer in CLOTHS, and we think we've fully established the fact that DOLAN'S is the proper place to come to suit yourselves.

Gentlemen.—It is morally impossible to be successful in courtship, lacrosse, boating, matrimony, politics, law, physic, base ball, music, on the turf or in the counting house, unless you wear DOLAN'S Stylish Suits. THEN SEND IN YOUR ORDERS.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

MONDAY.

By arrangement across the floor, the ...rt of the committee on the Kings, P. ...I., election case was to have occupied ...e attention of the House to-day, but ...ing to the absence of Sir John Mac...ald, the matter was postponed. The ...equence was that instead of a whole ...y being taken up with the discussion ...the question, a number of private bills ...re advanced a stage and the order ...per cleared of a number of notices of ...tions.

TUESDAY.

Owing to the at-home given this even... at Rideau Hall by the Princess Louise, ...e House did not sit later than six o'clock ...e afternoon. The session was chiefly ...upied by a discussion of Mr. Abbott's ...l to authorize the Canada Pacific Rail...y Company to lease in perpetuity the ...se of the Credit Valley, Ontario and ...ebec, and part of the Atlantic and ...rthwestern railway.

Mr. Abbott explained that it was in ...der to get a through line from the south ...k of the St. Lawrence near Montreal ... the western terminus of the Credit ...ley railway.

Mr. Blake, while not opposing the ...ond reading of the bill, pointed out ...t the acquisition of these lines by lease ...s not necessary to constitute the Pacific ...way a through line.

The bill was read a second time.

Hon. Mr. Langevin moved the second ...ding of the bill respecting booms and ...er works in navigable waters, which ...said was made necessary by the recent ...ision of the Supreme Court in refer... to the Provincial Governments not ...ing power to legislate on these mat...s.

Mr. Blake objected to the bill on the ...ciple that the right of navigation was ...ght of the subject, which no power ...ld constitutionally take away; yet, ... proposing to establish these booms ...der Dominion authority, the Govern...t were violating that constitutional ... Further consideration was allowed ... bill.

The House adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.

The cause celebre, generally known as ... Kings, P. E. I. case, was concluded ...night. The debate upon the Prince ...ward Island election matter was of ...se a legal one and as about as in...sting to the general public as the ... arguments addressed to the judges ...in Osgoode Hall. The subject has ... well discussed in the papers, and ...facts and arguments have been pre...d in various forms to the public.

Mr. Weldon moved an amendment to ...effect that Robertson, having had the ...est number of votes, should have ...n declared elected.

Mr. Cameron, (Huron) moved in amend...t to the amendment that the whole ...er should be referred to the Supreme ...rt. This was lost on division by 64 ...s.

Mr. Davies then moved an amendment ...the effect that in view of the evidence ...ght before the Committee, and the ...on the subject, there should be a new ...tion, but the House decided in favor ... Mr. McDonald by a vote of 107 to 66, ...the subservient ministerial majority ...rode the vote of the people, by the ...ersation of a "Jim"-Stephens, partisan ...rning officer, who returned a minority ...didate over the candidate who re...ed a majority of the popular vote.

The Clerk of the Crown in Chancery ...then called in, and the return was ...nded in accordance with the report of ...Committee.

THURSDAY.

...n motion for the third read... of Mr. Caron's militia bill ... afternoon, Mr. Ross (Middlesex) ...ed that it be referred back to the ...mittee for the purpose of striking ...out the clause providing for the enlistment of additional men to form a permanent paid corps. After some discussion this was voted down by 113 to 60, and the bill was read a third time and passed. Mr. Caron promised to embody in the departmental regulations one forbidding the sale of beer in canteens.

The long-expected factory act was introduced by Sir Leonard Tilley this afternoon. It provides that the proprietors of factories must, under heavy penalties, take a number of specified precautions to prevent employees being injured by machinery, fire, etc. The employment of women or children at any work that may endanger their health, is by its provisions, made a misdemeanor.

Sir Leonard Tilley only had an unrevised proof of the bill and gave a very imperfect outline of its provisions.

FRIDAY.

Sir John Macdonald's bill to consolidate and amend the Dominion Lands Acts occupied the attention of the House during the whole of to-day's sitting. The Premier, in moving the second reading, gave a resume of the new clauses in the bill.

Mr. Charlton, Dr. Orton, and all the Manitoba members made speeches on the motion. They were unanimous in pronouncing the bill in the main a good one, but they suggested some further amendments that they thought would be in the interest of the settler.

The Manitoba men all urged strongly that cultivation instead of residence on land should be made the condition of granting patents. They pointed out that this would give settlers going in with small capital an opportunity to take employment from older settlers to enable them to earn money to cultivate their land. As the law now stands, if a man leaves his land for this purpose, he runs a risk of being ousted by the claim-jumper.

Dr. Orton favored selling the land for cash to bona fide settlers in parcels of not more than 160, nor less than forty acres.

Mr. Ross (Lisgar) strongly urged that the right of pre-emption should be abolished. He said the poor settler was the greatest speculator in the Northwest, for he took homesteads on pre-emption, which was twice as much land as he wanted, merely for the purpose of selling his pre-emption as soon as he got a patent for it.

Several other changes were proposed; all of which Sir John Macdonald promised to take into consideration.

The House went into committee on the bill.

MONDAY.

Two important railway bills were finally disposed of in the House to-day, viz., the bill to authorize the Grand Trunk to extend its traffic arangements with the North Shore railway company for fifty years, and the bill to authorize the Canada Pacific to amalgamate with the Ontario and Quebec and other roads. Both were read a third time with unimportant amendments.

The Sunday train question was fully discussed on motion of Mr. McMullen for a return showing the number of petitions presented asking for Sabbatharian legislation. He supported his motion by a speech, in which he stated his belief that Sunday trains should be abolished except in cases of freight trains carrying goods of a perishable nature.

Mr. Mackenzie doubted whether the House had power to pass the legislation asked for by the petitions, but the government certainly could reduce the Sunday traffic on their own railways and canals to a minimum. He said in Ontario the magistrates had power to put a stop to Sunday traffic, and the petitioners should appeal to them instead of to the House.

In the debate which ensued and which was taken part in by Sir Hector Langevin, Mr. White (Cardwell), and others, the opinion was generally expressed that Sunday trains were more or less a necessity.

The Chinese question was also discussed for some time on the motion that the House go into committee on Mr. Shakespere's resolution, declaring it expedient to pass a law similar in principle to the one in force in New South Wales, to restrict the influx of Chinese.

Sir John Macdonald spoke against the resolution on the ground that while it was well to exclude the Chinese where there was plenty of white labor, it was better to have the Chinese than no labor at all. He argued that Chinese labor was necessary for the completion of the C.P.R. in British Columbia. He thought Chinese labor should not be prohibited until the work was completed. If it was then prohibited no more Chinese would come, and they would rapidly disappear from the country.

All the British Columbia members opposed this view of the question and thought labor should be protected as well as any other commodity.

Sir Hector Langevin moved that the debate be adjourned, but this motion was so strongly opposed by Messrs. Shakespere and Gordon that he withdrew it. The desired effect was nevertheless produced, for the motion was lost on a division.

The House spent several hours in passing a number of items in committee of supply.

The Bad and Worthless.

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but the genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Durggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 18-4t

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Owing to the great depression in the Dry Goods trade all over the Country for the past three months. Merchants are offering great inducements to their Customers in order to realize on the heavy stocks at present held by them.

JOHN HACKETT.

Local News Record.

Real Estate Purchase.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox has purchased the John J. Hall property, on Reid street, for the sum of $7,000, and a privilege of three years residence to the present occupants, making the price of the property, at 7 per cent. on the $7,000, equivalent to $8,500.

The Concert.

The ladies of George-street Methodist Church are arranging a very attractive programme for Friday evening, May 11th, in the Opera House. The Victoria College Glee Club, who charmed a large audience last year, will appear again. Rare musical gems will also be rendered by our Peterborough talent. Don't forget it.

Pot Hunters Beware.

According to the law ducks don't die game after the 30th April, they are contraband after that date, therefore shooters should not shoot them. No snipe can be shot legally before the fifteenth of August. The law is strict, and the penalties for infringing the statute in respect of birds are not less than $5.00 and costs for each bird or egg. Of course no real sportsmen would break the game laws, but pot hunters might be very easily tempted to do so.

Addendum.

In referring in our last issue to the purchase of the Toole property by Mr. Yelland, we omitted to mention that it is the intention of the purchaser to use the property for the prosecution of a business for supplying fuel, builders' requisites, etc., keeping on hand a full stock of coal, wood, lime, plaster and other building supplies. Mr. Yelland is old in business in this town; he is strictly honorable in his dealings, and enterprising, and the public may count on being well served in every respect.

Houses and Lots for Sale.

Mr. Charles Stapleton has received instructions from Mr. D. W. Dumble to sell by public auction, at the Choate House, on Monday, May 7th, at 2 p.m., about a hundred fine building lots, situated in different parts of the town. Some of the parcels have good dwellings on them, and all are eligible building sites and well worthy the attention of those desiring to establish a home. There are bargains presented for all classes, from those requiring a handsome residence to those who would be content with a less pretentious home. The terms are very favourable—ten per cent. down, and the balance of one quarter in ten days, remainder in four yearly payments with interest. Full particulars may be learned from Mr. Charles Stapleton, the auctioneer, or Mr. Dumble. This sale is an opportunity that should not be missed. Note the date, Monday, May 7th, at 2 p.m.

Flemming's Removal.

Mr. John Flemming, the celebrated bucket shop sharp, has left one scene of trouble for another. On Thursday last he left Toronto for Montreal, in company with Detective Fahey, his Chicago solicitors having, it is alleged, arranged matters in Montreal. But it appears that he has "arranged matters" so as to leave his Montreal dupes once more in the lurch. Detective Fahey and detected Flemming failed to reach that city, and there is wrath and disappointment. Preparations were made at the station to give Flemming a warm reception, but he disappointed his Montreal victims for the eleventh time. So tired are the creditors here of disbursing money for detectives and lawyers to bring the defaulter under the laws of Quebec that they would be glad to get five cents on the dollar or even the cost out of pocket, to be done with him. It is not thought likely he will come here at all, as Fahey is said to have a carte blanche to settle the fifteen thousand dollars he (Flemming) got there and in Arthabasca for three hundred, the detective's own honorarium, which the dupes here paid!

Our Black Cashmeres are pronounced by all who have seen them, excellent value. Our Fancy Dress Goods and Prints are well worthy the attention of all intending purchasers. See our Lace Curtains and Cretonnes, beautiful patterns and close prices.—W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 17-2t.

ODDFELLOWS' CONCERT.

A Delightful Success.

The sixty-fourth anniversary of the Independent order of Oddfellows in America, was celebrated by the brotherhood in this town on the 20th ultimo, and was a decided success. The concert in the hall of Otonabee Lodge was the best amateur concert ever given in Peterborough. The sale of tickets for the entertainment was confined to Oddfellows only, and were soon all taken up, and the demand for more, although urgent, could not, owing to the capacity of the hall, be supplied. The handsome hall, which accommodates about 300 persons, was crowded. Freeman's string band was in attendance, and furnished, during the evening, some choice selections. Miss Delaney opened the concert with a piano solo, by Ascher. Miss Delaney has frequently attracted attention by her brilliant execution, and was an acquisition on this occasion. Mr. Elliott, who sang "The White Squall," by Barker, received marked applause, which was well merited. The four part songs, from Mendelssohn, by some members of the choir of St. John's Church, under the management of Mr. Ewing, were an agreeable surprise, and showed careful training. Miss Annie Howden, of Millbrook,—a favorite wherever she sings—excelled herself on this occasion. She sang an Italian song, music by Arditti, and, for an encore, a sweet Irish song by Malloy, and it is needless to say both were well rendered and applauded. Peterborough will be glad to hear Miss Annie Howden before long in the Opera House. She has a well-trained voice, of good compass, and her execution is excellent. Mrs. Hopkins, of Lindsay, almost a professional, sang, and brought down the house again and again. Her upper notes are pure, with a good compass; she took B. flat above on this occasion with ease. Altogether she is a pleasant and favorite singer, and Peterborough will appreciate the opportunity of hearing her again. Miss Clara Cluxton sang a nice song, music by Sir Henry Bishop. She sang well, with ease, good execution and in good taste. Mrs. Bowman, a general favorite with Peterborough audiences, gave a couple of songs, and was deservedly encored. Mr. Arthur Choate sang, very creditably, "My Queen," by Blumenthal. It was his first appearance in public, and afforded promise of future excellence. The duettes by the Misses Shaw were especially fine, the first being a beautiful composition by Stephen Glover. Their voices blended well together, and had a pleasing effect. Miss Howden, of Millbrook, sang a nice song, which was well received. The accompaniments, by Mr. Ewing (who kindly played for his own pupils), Miss Delaney, Miss Errett, Miss Cluxton and Miss Clara Cluxton, were performed well and with taste. Refreshments, furnished by Messrs. Long Bros., were in abundance, the coffee calling forth especial notice owing to its excellent flavor. This closed a most enjoyable evening and sent every one home in good humor, delighted with the entertainment.

Ladies desiring Neat and Stylish Millinery, at close prices, will be agreeably surprised at the variety to choose from on visiting Turnbull's Show Rooms.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic returns of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending April 21st, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $6,702.55; freight, $15,612.27; total, $22,314.82 as compared with $21,118.27 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $1,196.45; and the aggregate traffic to date is $251,269.85, being a decrease of $1,385.80 over 1881.

Additional Licenses.

At the adjourned meetings of the commissioners there were granted the following additional licenses:—In Peterborough: J. B. Dunn, tavern; George Schleicher, shop. East riding, Mrs. Swanton, Ashburnham, tavern. Mr. Young's tavern license, Ashburnham, transferred to T. Giroux; John Fox, Allandale; G. English, Warsaw.

More Plate Glass Broken.

On Monday evening one of the plate glass windows in T. Dolan & Co.'s dry goods store was broken. A young gentleman was sportively bowling a stone towards a friend crossing the street, when the stone, striking some obstacle, bounded sidewise and caromed on the plate glass in the lower left hand corner. The break dislodges about a square foot of glass. Compensation has been made.

PROTESTANT HOME.

Annual Meeting—Election of Officers—Secretary's Report—Financial Statement.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Protestant Home, was held at the Home on Tuesday afternoon, May 1st, at 2.30 p.m.

There were present Mesdames Smith, Wallace, Shaw, Hazlett, Innes, Clementi, Jeffers, Dunlop, the Secretary, (Miss Roger) and Messrs. General Haultain, R. Kingan and Mr. Greenhow.

Mrs. Smith, in absence of Mrs. Gilmour, who is suffering from illness, took the chair.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The secretary presented the following report for the past two years:—

The Committee of the P. P. Home, is once more coming before the public with their annual report, would acknowledge with deep thankfulness their sense of God's great goodness in sparing and permitting them to continue in His work.

In 1881-82 fourteen persons, old and young, were in the Home; the blind woman is still with them, as well as the old man paralysed, for whom, with an attendant, the town pays. In July, 1882, an old man an woman, who were infirm, and with no family to help them or relatives to care for them, left for the country, only to be sent in early in 1883, as being homeless. Two weeks after, the poor woman died from exposure and insufficient food previous to their admission. On this last occasion some farmers of the neighborhood to which they belonged, paid for three month's board for them. In 1882 the matron lost a child by death. A lad who had been fourteen years an inmate of the Home, but who had latterly been learning a trade, receiving wages and paying for board, left, much esteemed by all who came in contact with him.

In 1882-83 seven persons were admitted, one of these, a young girl suffering from hip disease, has since been sent to the hospital by doctor's orders, for proper treatment, there being no hospital here, and no appliances for the treatment of such cases, shewing the urgent need for such an institution amongst us. Seventeen families have received relief during these two years, four of these steadily, the others casually. One of these pensioners had died within the past month.

It is with great regret we come before the public with so much indebtedness, the cause is this, the subscriptions have fallen off almost altogether since the Hall trust fund came into operation. We owe much to the trustees of that fund, as they have given largely to the home, but now, owing to other obligations, even that has failed us, and unless the friends of the poor come forward readily and liberally, as the Lord has prospered them, we know of but one alternative. Our confidence is, that He who said "the poor ye have always with you," will not suffer them to want.

In closing our report we would fail in our duty did we not refer to the irreparable loss the Home has sustained in the deaths of two of our most valued friends and supporters; we refer to the late Mr. James Hall and Col. Haultain. To the thoughtful, generous kindness of the former we owe the comfortable building occupied by the Home, the only institution of the kind in the county. Eternity only will tell the benefit this home, simple as it is, has been to those who have been under its roof. In Col. Haultain we have lost a faithful and firm friend, ever ready to help in every way, his wise counsel and Christian sympathy will be equally missed by the manager and the inmates. They are now enjoying the favor and presence of Him who has said "that a cup of cold water given to drink in my name, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you he shall not loose his reward."

Thanks are due to those friends who so kindly visit the inmates and engage in religious exercises with them, which services are greatly enjoyed and eagerly looked for; to the medical men who are ever ready when called upon; to the Curling Club, who so often remember the Home in their games; to the editors, who so kindly insert advertisements, lists of donations, etc., free of charge; and to the editors of the Review and EXAMINER in particular, for copies of their papers regularly delivered.

Respectfully submitted,
ISABELLE ROGER,
Secy. P. P. Home.

P.S.—Since writing the above, another of our inmates, an old man 81 years of age, has died.

The report was adopted.

Fiendish Murder Near Norwood.

An Italian Substitutes a Sharpened Stick for the Stiletto—The Victim Thrust Through the Heart, Dies Instantly—The Murderer Flees—Description of His Appearance.

(Special Telegram to the Examiner.)

A horrible murder was committed at the Italian camp on the Ontario & Quebec Railway Wednesday morning between six and seven o'clock, about seven miles from Norwood. An altercation took place between the cook and one of the gang of the camp in which there are about twenty Italians, when the former seized a heavy sharpened pole, and with one blow drove it into the body of his victim in the vicinity of his heart. The latter dropped dead instantly. The murderer immediately took to the woods and is yet at large. Telegrams have been sent to Peterborough, Port Hope, Belleville and other places, giving a description of the murderer, and efforts are being made here to secure his arrest. The victim's name is Denenico Altavio, and the murderer's name is Angelo Corminino.

[The murderer is described in a telegram sent to police head quarters here as being "an Italian about five feet four inches high, stout, bald headed, both ears sore, wore a knit jacket and about thirty-five years of age."

DUST TO DUST.

Funeral of the Late Geo. C. Rogers, with Military Honors—An Immense Procession—A Long, Sad Line.

It was but meet that one who fought the battle of life so bravely, and fulfilled the duties of a true soldier so efficiently, both literally and figuratively, should be laid at rest with the honors due to a soldier from soldiers. Mr. Rogers having been Captain of No. 3 Company, Ashburnham, of the 57th Battalion, was on Monday afternoon buried with military honors. At four o'clock about 120 volunteers, including parts of four companies of the 57th and a detachment on foot of No. 3 troop of cavalry, under command of Major Grover and Adjutant Bell, were drawn up at the late Mr. Rogers' residence, Lake street, Ashburnham. As the body was borne to the hearse the battalion presented arms. In deference to the wishes of the family, late employees of the deceased acted as pall bearers at the residence and the church. They were Messrs. E. Packenham, C. Brown, N. Mercer, R. Crowe, John Renwick and James Gilman, who were relieved by the following officers, who attended the hearse in the procession: Capt. Edwards, No. 1 Company; Capt. Langford, No. 2 Company; Capt. Birdsall and Lieut. Hammond, No. 4 Company, Keene; Capt. Burke, No. 5 Company, Norwood; Capt. Howard, No. 6, Company, Hastings, and Lieut. Weller, of the Port Hope Cavalry Troop. The funeral procession, headed by the 57th Battalion Band, proceeded to St. Luke's church, where Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, assisted by Rev. V. Clementi, conducted the services. The hymns were the 399th and the 400th, the Psalm was the 39th, and the lesson was I. Corinthians, chap. xv., from verse 20th. The singing, by the male members of the choir of St. John's, assisted by members of the Battalion band, and conducted by Mr. Charles W. Ewing, added greatly to the impressive solemnity of the services. The following was the order of the procession from the church to the Little Lake Cemetery:—Carriage containing the clergymen; Battalion Band, with muffled drums, playing the "Dead March in Saul"; the military, with reversed arms; the pall bearers, flanking and following the hearse, which contained the casket, buried in flowers—wreaths of immortelles and a floral cross, and bearing the sword and helmet of the deceased officer; carriages containing the chief mourners, and a long cortege of the general public in carriages. As the procession passed through Hunter and George streets all the business places were closed, and the pavements were thronged with people. The sublime wail of the dead march, accentuated by the muffled beat of the drums, the slow and measured tread of the military, the decorous movement of the long and apparently interminable line of carriages, and the sombre pall of leaden clouds over all, made the scene one of such solemnity and sadness that many of the spectators were moved to tears.

At the grave the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Clementi, read the burial service, and the firing party, composed of the members of the battalion fired the regulation three volleys over the grave. The 401st hymn was also sung by members of St. John's choir, to a beautiful air, composed especially for the occasion, by Mr. Charles W. Ewing.

It is not probable that so large a funeral procession as that of Monday ever followed a citizen of Peterborough, to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory. When the hearse was within the cemetery, the end of the procession was at the corner of George and Hunter streets.

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS.

Important Reports.

From the necessity of condensing matter in our last issue, we were compelled to shorten the report of the School Board's proceedings, and could only allude to several reports which are given below in extenso:

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

PETERBOROUGH, May 1st.

To the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to report that 86 pupils attended the Peterborough Collegiate Institute during the month of April, 1883, the average being 81. I have made no material changes in the organization of the Institute. The courses of study are generally suitable for students who intend to enter the learned professions. It is probable that the usefulness of the Institute might be increased by arranging a course of study for pupils who intend to engage in mercantile pursuits.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
WM. O'CONNER, M.A.,
Acting Principal.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

PETERBOROUGH, May 1st, 1883.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with your regulations I beg to report:—

That during the quarter just closed I made 38 visits to the different divisions of the Public Schools, and I may state that, in general, I found very good order. In one or two instances I advised a change in management, so as to secure better attention on the part of pupils. I paid special attention to penmanship in the different rooms, as I had opportunity, and I find more care necessary on the part of teachers and pupils if progress in this branch is to be ensured.

In all the junior divisions the desks are too high for the ages of the children, but I must confess that there is a difficulty in the way of remedying this evil.

Nothing transpired during my visits to which I deem it necessary to draw your attention, nor have I heard of any unpleasantness of a special nature.

In the matter of changes in text books referred to at your meeting in March, I find after the fullest investigation that no changes of text books have been made in the Public Schools in three years, if not longer. The information which your Board then received being of very doubtful authority, as all the teachers testify.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. STRATTON, P. S. Inspector.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The Special Committee to whom was referred the complaint of Mr. Braden in reference to the master of the West Ward School, beg to report:—

That they were attended at their sitting by Mr. Smith, Mr. Braden, and the Inspector of the public School; that a very full investigation of the matters in question was had, and it appeared that much of the trouble arose out of a misunderstanding on the part of Mr. Smith as to his duties and position.

Mr. Braden states clearly that he, as headmaster of the Public Schools, simply claims the right of setting the examination papers, and concedes that the masters of the Ward School should examine the answers and see that promotions were duly made, and generally oversee the examinations of his school.

Mr. Smith accepts this as satisfactory, and, with this clear statement, submits that no difficulties will arise in the future.

Mr. Smith admits that he has been injudicious in his expressions, and expresses his regret that any incautious words of his should have made so much trouble.

Your committee are pleased to be able to report that there is now nothing to prevent harmonious relations between the master of the Ward School and the master of the Public Schools.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE, Chairman.

April 27th, 1883.

THE WOOD SUPPLY.

To the Board of Education of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN.—Your committee have purchased and delivered the following quantities of wood for use next winter:—Central School, one hundred and one cords; West Ward, three and one half cords; South Ward, eleven and one half cords. The wood at the Central School is composed of tamarac and mixed wood, costing from $2.75 to $3.00 a cord. The wood at the Ward Schools is hard wood, and cost $4.25. Owing to the cold spring more wood than usual has been consumed, but your committee believe there is still sufficient remaining to carry through next winter. Taking into account the increased price of wood, your committee believe they have purchased at a reasonable figure. All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. WRIGHTON,
Chairman.

May 1st, 1883.

OBITUARY.

Another one of Asphodel's old settlers in the person of Mrs Elizabeth Fife passed away on Thursday last, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Duncan Tucker, of Norwood, at the ripe age of 83 years. The deceased lady was born near Dollard, Fifeshire, Scotland, in 1800, and was married to the late Mr. James Fife in 1828. In the same year Mr. and Mrs. Fife came to Canada where the husband worked at his trade of stone cutter, on Montreal's famous church, Notre Dame. The following summer the family moved to Ottawa, (then Bytown) where they remained 2 years, finally moving to Asphodel and settling on lot 12, in the 1st concession, where they carved out a home. Mr. Fife died in 1874, Mrs. Fife remaining on the homestead for two years after, since which time she has made a home with some of her numerous children. Notwithstanding her age the deceased enjoyed good health until stricken with paralysis a few days before her death,

ENNISMORE.

APRIL WEATHER NOTES.

April has not been a favorable month for agriculture, nor what was expected after a long and severe winter. The morning of the first was ushered in with with 5° below zero at sunrise, and the second 3° below. Up to the ninth it kept sometimes below and sometimes above the freezing point, with no great change of temperature; but from that to the 22nd the temperature was high, scarcely coming to the freezing point. When our snow disappeared, causing floods throughout the country, already known to everyone, during the remainder of the month it was decidedly cold for the time of the year, with frost every night, sometimes severe. On the morning of the 25th it was frozen too hard to plough in a great many fields. Although snow fell on seven days the downfall was only 1.50-100 inch, snow falling the last five days of the month. Rain fell on seven days to the depth of 1 86-100 inch. Our first thunder was on the 14th with little rain, and again on the 16th. Our highest temperature was on the evening of the 14th, thermometer standing at 56° above zero at sunset, and an average temperature for the month of 33°, being only 1° below the average of April of 1882. Of migrating birds, cranes made their first appearance on the 2nd, robins on the 3rd, wild ducks on the 6th, and sea gulls on the 10th. Of our reptiles, frogs were first heard, yelping out their well timed chorus of knee-deep, on the 15th, and snakes were first seen on the 28th. Ploughing commenced, in some localities on the 14th and seeding on the 18th, but these were only exceptional cases. In fact spring work is backward owing to the lateness of the season. Fall wheat came out well but, wet fields were thinned some during the heavy frost in the latter end of the month.

Ladies desiring Neat and Stylish Millinery, at close prices, will be agreeably surprised at the variety to choose from on visiting Turnbull's Show Rooms.

Obituary.

The public of Peterborough, especially those interested in educational matters, will be grieved to learn of the death of Mr. John Dixon, M.A., late headmaster of the Collegiate Institute. The death took place at Ailsa Craig, Middlesex county, on Wednesday last. Recently Mr. Dixon resigned his situation on account of ill health, with the hope that rest and relaxation might tend to a restoration of health. But his disease—consumption—had too firm a hold on him and kept its fatal way. Mr. Dixon's connection with the Institute was of about six years duration. The first capacity in which he served was mathematical master, and subsequently he succeeded Mr. J. Frith Jeffers as headmaster, which position he filled with great efficiency for about three years. He earned the hearty approbation of the Board, which accepted his resignation with regret. Mr. Dixon had the quiet, unassuming and gentlemanly demeanor which one associates with real ability, large acquirements and genuine worth.

Death of a Valuable Horse.

The many friends of Messrs. R. & W. Bothwell, of Springville, Cavan township, proprietors of the superb and pure bred Clydesdale stallion "Statesmen," will be both surprised and sorry to hear of the death of that noble animal. The death took place at Snowden's Hotel, Simcoe street, here, on Sunday morning. The cause of death, as stated by Mr. Caesar, V.S., of Port Hope, was acute "laminitis (the technical term for founder) accompanied by an intractable, low typhoid fever." "Statesmen" left his stables all right on Monday morning to go over his usual route. He was attacked with sickness at Keene, but was brought to Peterborough. He arrived here on Thursday night in a very sick condition. Mr. Beatty, V.S., was called in, and on Saturday Mr. Caesar's services were sought, but the disease resisted all their efforts, and the animal died. "Statesman" was described in his pedigree "as a beautiful dapple bay, foaled July, 1879, rising four years old, stands 17¼ hands high, with very short, flat legs (full of substance) good feet, and an iron constitution." He was sired by 'Royal Exchange." The loss to the Messrs. Bothwell is heavy, as we understand the stallion was not insured, and that a short time since the proprietors were offered $1,900 for him.

A Big Good-Bye to Bachelorhood.

On Tuesday Mr. D. A. McDonald, lumberman, entered the estate of matrimony; and on Monday night a number of his male friends assembled at his residence, Point St. Charles, to honor him with a final reunion previous to the happy event that closed his bachelor days. Messrs. T. Dolan, R. W. Muncaster, Joseph Griffin, John McGrath, E. McKeiver and J. McIlmoyle, called with a handsome walnut clock as a present, and met already assembled at the house, Messrs. J. Henry, J. Laplante, J. Corkery and J. Mills. Mr. McIlmoyle, in a neat speech, made the presentation, to which Mr. McDonald suitably replied. The occasion was further improved by Mr. Jas. Henry making a humorous speech, detailing Mr. McDonald's good qualities, and bewailing the loss which the ranks of bachelorhood would suffer by his desertion to the band of benedicts. Mr. T. Dolan, on behalf of the wedded members of the party, happily welcomed the aspirant to the glorious guild of husband-ry. After the formal proceedings, Mr. McDonald provided his guests with refreshments galore. After having enjoyed the hospitality of their host, given in the true Celtic spirit of liberality, the party settled down to a jolly evening's enjoyment, during which singing, chat and joke flowed fast and free. Songs were furnished by Messrs. Muncaster, Corkery and Griffin. Mr. Muncaster also, as "master of ceremonies," particularly distinguished himself. The party broke up at a seasonable hour, leaving Mr. McDonald with cordial congratulations and wishes of happiness, and with the feeling that they had never passed an evening with more solid enjoyment to the minute, than the memorable one of Monday night.

DRUNK.

A stranger who arrived on Saturday's train seemed to have imbibed rather freely, and got his head through Mr. Wm. Baptie's window. Our worthy Reeve took him in charge, as he was unable to take care of himself.

ACCIDENT.

The train leaving here on Saturday, having nine cars of lumber, was thrown off the track about a mile from the village. Five cars of lumber and the passenger coach was thrown off by a broken rail. No one injured, the passengers proceeding by the engine.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. John Waram, son of Mr. Rich. Waram, and who had been residing in in Peterborough, died very suddenly after a three days illness while home on a visit. The friends have the deepest sympathy of the whole community. The funeral took place last Thursday from his father's residence to the Methodist cemetery. On entering the town, the procession was met by the fire brigade and band, who accompanied the remains of their ate comrade to his last resting place.

A Neat and Pretty Foot.

No matter how gorgeously and richly arrayed a lady may be in other respects, it is all vain without the finishing touch which a neat, well-fitting pair of boots imparts. With these the Shakesperian adage is literally true, "All's well that ends well." Ladies who wish to appear in the neatest, most elegant and durable boots to be found in Peterborough, will find a complete and varied supply of fine kid boots for the summer at Foot & McWhinnie's. Be sure to call and inspect their stock before buying.

Presbytery of Peterborough.

The Presbytery of Peterborough will meet in Bobcaygeon, on the 23rd May, at 2 o'clock p.m., for the ordination and induction of Mr. Craigie. Mr. Ewing will preside, Mr. Bennett will preach, Mr. Clark will address the mininter, and Mr. Bell the people. After reconsideration, the date of the next ordinary meeting of the Presbytery was changed from the last Tuesday of June to the first Tuesday of July. At the meeting of the Presbytery in Norwood on the 3rd July, Mr. Wm. Robertson, of Coldsprings will be taken on trial for license.

Welcomed to Their New Home.

Of the 900 Irish immigrants sent out by the Tuke Committee, who arrived in this country last week, twenty-two came direct to Peterborough, arriving on Saturday last Messrs. Scott & Hall, purchasers of the Peterborough Pulp Works, arrived accompanied by about half a dozen carpenters, and active operations have been actually commenced.

It is again reported that Tynan, the alleged "Number One," is in the hands of the police in London, and that he is ready to unfold to the Government the whole system of Irish plots.

Much ill-feeling exists in some regiments of the Russian army, owing to the fact of a reward having been offered to induce the men to denounce such of their comrades as are known to be Nihilists.

An explosion, due to the accidental ignition of some powder during the progress of filling shells, occurred on Saturday in the powder magazine at Portsmouth. The building was demolished, and six persons were killed.

The preparations for the annual meeting of the Royal Society of Canada, to be held on the 22nd inst., are rapidly being perfected. The representatives of the different societies will be entertained at the Government house, Mr. Frechette will deliver an original poem entitled "Notre Histoire."

FENELON FALLS.

The doubts entertained by many whether, after all, the much talked of pulp mill would really be built in Fenelon Falls, are at length dispelled, for on Tuesday last Messrs. Scott & Hall, purchasers of the Peterborough Pulp Works, arrived accompanied by about half a dozen carpenters, and active operations have been actually commenced.

The Salvation Army.

The present condition of that organization, known as the Salvation Army, demands a few remarks regarding its principles and future prospects. There can be no question that at its inception the aims of the promoters were admirable. It cannot be denied that the spiritual destitution of England and, to some extent, also of other lands, called for some such movement. The condition of the great bulk of the people was, to all thoughtful men, a source of the deepest grief and anxiety. The masses, certainly, had not the Gospel preached to them. The wealthy in all denominations were more and more consulted, and the poor everywhere had less notice taken of them. Churches must, to keep abreast of the times, be models of architecture, the music must be grand and impressive, the upholstering splendid and comfortable, the ministers erudite, cultured and courteous. All this demanded wealth, and so the rich must be flattered and addressed, while the poor were of no account and might sink lower and lower in vice and degradation for aught the church cared. In fact the church was gradually, but surely growing away from the poor. Rented pews, and people in them who are unsociable and purse-proud, have had something to do with bringing this about. The spread of pernicious literature contributed its quota. The growing indifference of the employer for his workmen's comfort in his idle hours, also helped. Social distinctions and churches not half equipped with active clergy aided not a little. Pulpit platitudes and monotonous drawling of crude and undigested ideas and, perhaps, in a few cases, excessive ritualism on the part of the English clergy, worked to widen the chasm and to drive the poor man from the church's doors. Then it was that Mr. Booth came forward with his scheme to fish evangelists out of the gutter and set them to convert their brethren, and to go into the highways and by-ways of the great cities to preach the Gospel to the needy and the ignorant. The greatness of the emergency, the hopelessness of the struggle in coping with the powers of evil, and the dense darkness that prevailed, led men, who had little sympathy with the means employed by the Salvationists, to take the new plan up eagerly and to give it both moral and material assistance. And so the army met for a time with wonderous success. "General" Booth seemed, like a victorious conqueror, to carry all before him, and his brilliant campaigns in this noble war appeared to rival the progress of a Hannibal or the First Napoleon. The organization soon reached huge proportions, thousands of officers were constantly employed, halls were opened here and there all over the British Kingdom, and the accredited agents were despatched to Scotland, America, France, Germany and the East Indies. No religious movement ever met with such wide-spread sympathy. Dignitaries of the Anglican and Roman church, though they had objections, seemed to sink them and to unite in praising the organization and its objects. Cardinal Manning said of it long since: "So far, then, as it brings men to any truth, even though it be only one truth, such as a belief in God, in this evil and unbelieving generation, it is doing a work beyond its own foresight. Looking, as we must, over the spiritual devastation of England, every voice that speaks for God is on our side." And, while he feared that the relating of experience on the part of converts, would lead to self-deception and be destructive of humility; while he strongly denounced the levity and coarseness with which their periodicals treated sacred subjects, yet he added these words: "Nevertheless, our heart's desire and prayer is, that they who labour so fervently with the truths they know, may be led into the fullness of truth, and that they who are ready to give their lives for the salvation of souls may be rewarded with life eternal."

The army, it would appear from present indications, has reached its height. The tide is turning. Men who went heart and soul into the movement at the outset are drawing back and expressing dissatisfaction. It was surmised that Booth and his followers were to prepare the way [illegible] afterwards would be handed over to the churches. But this has not been done. Another "ism" is thus established, and those who are most likely to lend it countenance as a mission of preparation are subsequently disgusted. Mr. Booth recently stated that "the slanders and misrepresentations which were abroad concerning the Army had affected the state of its coffers." It appears the General has borrowed £20,000 for building purposes at ruinous rates of interest, and now he is calling upon the faithful to lend him their money that he may repay his creditors. This will be a surprise to many to hear that the Army's work rests upon a foundation of debt. In connection with the organization it is proposed to receive deposits for fixed periods, at a fair rate of interest, and the friends of the Army are called upon to help it in this way.

No longer do crowds flock to the meetings; the novelty is worn off, and converts are not made as rapidly as at first. The General writes, "How we read in the War Cry and hear people tell on the platform of so many in the fountain on on Sunday night, more on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and so on, night after night and day after day, and yet, alas! when we come to the corps where these marvellous in-gatherings have been reported, how we sorrow to find so few remaining. What multitudes we lose which we cease not to deplore!"

The subscriptions do not pour in as of yore; financial embarrassment besets the leaders, and the wealthy friends of its first days withdraw their support.

Lord Shaftesbury speaking of the Army, says: "It appears to me as a work of the Devil, who having long tried to render Christianity odious, has changed his tactics and is striving to make it ridiculous."

Dr. De Pressensi thinks the "principles represented by the Salvation Army, as set forth in the orders of General Booth, should not be endorsed by Protestant Christians."

And Spurgeon speaks still more strongly. He says: "Because they would not hinder anything that promised well, Christian men have borne with much that grieved them; but there is a point beyond which long-suffering charity cannot go. That point is nearly reached. Even the most ultra-tolerant must feel that hope has been disappointed, and fear now takes its place."

This hostile criticism from moderate men, and the other drawbacks we have alluded to, all go to show that the Army as a useful religious movement has seen its best days, and make it somewhat easy to predict the collapse which is almost certain to overtake it sooner or later.

Editorial Notes.

Great Britain imposes taxes on as few articles as she possibly can, yet the Beaconsfield Government paid off $90,800,000 of the national debt. The present Government has paid off $102,500,000, and hopes this year to pay off $40,000,000.

Mr. J. J. Hawkins, the representative of the returning-officer of Bothwell, is no longer a singular-ly conspicuous outrage, in the House of Commons, on representative institutions; he has company in the person of Mr. A. C. McDonald, of Kings county, P.E.I. Mr. Hawkins represents Jim Stephens, and Mr. McDonald the minority of the electors of his riding. The Tory Government and its supporters are outraging the principles of representative institutions.

We notice that a society, called the Land Law Amendment Association, has been formed in Toronto, having for its object (1) the simplification of the transfer of real estate in the various provinces and territories of the Dominion of Canada, (2) the securing of indefeasibility of title to real estate in such provinces and territories, (3) the introduction of the "Torrens system" of land transfer, or such modification thereof as may be found practicable and expedient, and (4) the amendment of the law of real property so as to facilitate and promote the efficient working of the "Torrens system." Any one may become a member by signing the roll, and no fee is exacted. Such information as will promote the object in view is disseminated by every legitimate means, and branch association will be formed in different parts of the Dominion.

The N. P. Government has for its motto, "Canada for the Canadians" This is shown by their sending to England for $53,000 worth of militia clothing. It is also further shown by the fact of a Government pamphlet, descriptive of the route of the Intercolonial road, being printed in Buffalo. Were there no printing offices in Canada good enough to do the printing that the people have to pay for? The pamphlet also contains advertisements of Yankee land—"the cheap and fertile lands lying west of Iowa," and of American watering places. The Tory Government sending its printing to the United States and spending the people's money to advertise American farm lands, is a queer way of keeping "Canada for the Canadians." Perhaps the Government is merely making restitution by providing homes for the people whom the N. P. is driving to the United States.

POLITICAL.

A cross petition has been filed in the Court of Appeal against Mr. T. B. White, the defeated Conservative candidate in South Essex. The petitioner is Mr. Balfour the reform member.

The trip of A. T. Galt to the North-West, cost the country $1,500. During his tour he purchased fifty townships of North-West lands; therefore the question arises, was this sum give him for the purpose of attending to his own personal interests?

Sir Leonard Tilley has given notice of a resolution which he intends putting for the granting of a loan of upwards of half a million of dollars at 4 per cent., to the St. John (New Brunswick) Bridge and Railway Extension Co. It may be noticed that this railway passes through the constituency which Sir Leonard represents.

Judge King, by consent of counsel has declared the Albert County Dominion election void. Mr. Wallace is the representative holding the seat. The ground is that no polling officer had been appointed for Hopewell No. 1 sub-division, the returning officer and clerks having held the poll themselves without swearing in any deputy.

It will be remembered that Mr. Paterson (Brant), in his reply to Sir Leonard Tilley's budget speech, pointed out the Militia Department expenditure under the head of cab hire. But as the following figures charged to the different departments will show, there are others equally as extravagant as Mr. Caron: Privy Council, $250; Department of Justice, $535; Militia, $921; Secretary of State, $1,040; Department of Interior, $3,005; Indian Affairs, $97; Auditor General's office, $185; also, the Departments of Finance, $749; Customs, $215; Inland Revenue, $825; Public Works, $1,677; Post Office, $1,527; Agriculture, $127; and Marine and Fisheries, $360; or in all amounting to $11,529.

The number of temporary clerks employed in the various departments of the Government service is annually increasing to an alarming extent, and it was little wonder that Mr. Blake asked the Government on Friday if there were ever to be an end to this system of wasting public money. From the estimates it is ascertained that the following sums were charged to this item for the different departments: Privy Council, $589; Department of justice, $297; Department of Militia, $1,215; Department of Secretary of State, $1,621; Department of Interior, $558; Department of Indian Affairs, $1.378; Auditor General's Office, $1,003; Department of Finance, $1,580; Department of Inland Revenue, $2,555; Department of Post Office, $10,020; Department of Agriculture, $2,346; and Department of Marine and Fisheries, $3,445. That there is something radically wrong in connection with these figures was only too apparent on Friday evening when not a single member on the treasury benches was able to explain what results were produced by this expenditure. It would be interesting to know how many of them come under the head of "dandelion pickers," and how this enormous sum of $27,177 is expended.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

J. A. MACDONNELL'S LITTLE BILL.

SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR NINE DAYS' WORK.

In the committee on public accounts last Saturday morning, Mr. Ross inquired respecting an account of J. A. Macdonell, of Toronto, for looking into the title of the land purchased for the Hamilton custom house. He drew attention to the fact that $603.90 were paid him for this service. He was allowed $20 per day during a stay of nine days in Hamilton and his expenses. Besides, some of the items are rather peculiar. For instance the sum of $1 is charged for calling to see Mr. McInnes, who was not in; $2 is charged for a cab, and another dollar when Mr. McInnes was again not in. A fee of 1 per cent. on the value of the property is charged, making a sum of $350 for passing the title. Many other items bring up the sum to the total first stated. This J. A. Macdonnell is the Toronto lawyer, who, under the protection of the Speaker, insulted on the floor of the House in session, an hon. member of the House, by calling him a liar. He is also one of the principals in the Tupper-Macdonnell correspondence in the conspiracy to purchase the Roman Catholic vote for a few hundred dollars.

Memorial Cross Erected at the Grave of Lord Frederick Cavendish.

The Bradford, England, cemetery company have just completed, on behalf of the tenantry of the Duke of Devonshire on the Bolton Abbey estates, a memorial cross of the late Lord Frederick Cavendish, whose foul murder on the 7th of last May, in Phœnix Park, Dublin, Ireland, so shocked civilized humanity. The cross and shaft are very richly carved with the curious interlacing patterns peculiar to Runic remains. On the pedestal is the following inscription in Runic text:—

To the Beloved Memory of Lord Frederick Charles Cavendish,
Son of William, 7th Duke of Devonshire, and of Blanche Georgina, his wife.
Born November 30th, 1836.
He went as Chief Secretary to Ireland,
"Full of love to that country,
"Full of hope for her future,
"Full of capacity to render her service."
And was murdered in the Phœnix Park,
Dublin,
Within twelve hours of his arrival,
May 7th, 1882.
The Lord grant thee thy heart's desire,
"And fulfill all thy mind."

The text of the inscription was decided upon by Lady F. Cavendish and Lady Egerton, his sister, while the lines quoted are words used by Mr. Gladstone in communicating the news of the assassination to the House of Commons. The cross is to be erected at the edge of the Abbey burial grounds in a romantic spot, beneath the shade of one of the magnificent sycamore trees for which the Abbey is famous.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

TUESDAY, MAY FIRST.

This was a dreary day in the House. From the commencement of the sitting until a late hour in the evening its time was occupied by consideration in committee of a bill to consolidate the amended acts relating to the inland revenue. The bill contains 334 clauses, which were nearly all passed without discussion or amendment.

Mr. Costigan had evidently not the slightest idea as to what his bill contained, for whenever he was asked for explanations respecting any clause he appeared greatly puzzled and was unable to reply until instructed how to do so by his deputy, who was kept near at hand for that purpose.

While the chairmen of the committee droned out the clauses, the few members who were in the House, with two or three exceptions, paid no attention to what was going on. Mr. Blake read his newspapers, and then went to sleep, while Sir John Macdonald regaled his followers with stale conundrums, which could be heard distinctly in the reporters' gallery. At half-past ten the committee rose and reported the bill with some slight amendments.

The House then went into committee of supply and passed several items.

WEDNESDAY.

The North-West land question was again fully discussed in the House to-day on a motion for the reading of Sir John Macdonald's land bill. Mr. Charlton made an attack on the system of granting North-West lands to speculators, and argued that the best interests of the country demanded that the land should only be sold to actual settlers. He insinuated that the Government had encouraged the getting up of colonization companies previous to the last election for party purposes, and had granted large valuable coal areas and timber limits with a corrupt object in view. He concluded by moving that the bill be recommitted for the purpose of inserting a provision to the effect that no land should be granted to any but bona fide settlers, and only in such quantity as they could reasonably be expected to cultivate.

Sir John defended the regulations concerning colonization companies, and said that a few years ago when on the Government side of the House, Mr. Charlton had supported the very thing he was now condemning. He denounced the imputation of improper motives to the Government in connection with the grants of North-West land as ignoble and ungentlemanly, and concluded by declaring the amendment idoitic. Mr. Sproule then rose and emptied the reporter's gallery.

After a few remarks by Dr. Bergin, Mr. Charlton replied briefly to Sir John. He resented his being accused of ungentlemanly conduct for doing what he considered to be his duty to his country.

The amendment was lost on a division of 49 yeas to 101 nays, and the bill was then read a third time and passed.

The House then went into committee and passed a number of items.

FRIDAY.

When Sir Charles Tupper rose to make his Canada Pacific railway statement this afternoon, he was greeted with loud cheers. The facts which he alleged concerning the cost of the Pacific railway were for the most part not new, having already been made public since Parliament was in session.

Having delivered himself of the assumed facts and figures which composed his statement proper, Sir Charles proceeded to reply to Mr. Blake's speech on the Canadian Pacific Railway. He declared during the early part of [illegible] He said the [illegible] allowed to pass unchallenged, but in view of the fact that the people of the Dominion had declared so largely against Mr. Blake's view of the question, he did not think that his speech required any answer. Nevertheless he proceeded to answer it for nearly two hours. He made elaborate calculations to show that Mr. Blake's estimate of the profits of the company was greatly exaggerated. He argued at great length that the construction of the railway would be of such inestimable benefit to the country that we should receive back with interest every dollar we had spent with it. Contrary to general expectation he concluded without saying a word about his intended departure, or uttering anything that partook of a valedictory nature.

Mr. Blake, who had been taking voluminous notes whole Sir Charles Tupper was speaking, followed. He commenced by denying in indignant tones that the fact that the Government had a majority in the house, obtained by gerrymandering and other unfair means, was sufficient reason for having his speech unanswered, as had been stated by Sir Chas. Tupper. He proceeded to make an elaborate defence of the position he had assumed in his first speech, and which had been so lengthily attacked by the Minister of Railways.

Mr. Blake spoke in his happiest vein and was still on the floor when the report for the day closed.

MONDAY.

Mr. Woodworth, of Kings, N.S., created a little breeze in the House to-day by moving for "correspondence and instructions between and from any member of the Government from and to one Amos Rowe, assumed proprietor of the Winnipeg Times newspaper, having reference to the course the said Winnipeg Times newspaper, or the said Amos Rowe, should pursue in the last general election for the Province of Manitoba." He said that the Winnipeg Times was regarded as an organ of the Dominion Government, and during the last local election Rowe, its alleged proprietor, had stated at a public meeting that the course the paper was pursuing was with the knowledge and consent of the Dominion Government. He (Mr. Woodworth) further stated that it was rumored that the Minister of Customs was interested in the paper, and, in view of these facts, he thought it strange that it should attack the Minister of Finance, Lieut.-Gov. Dewdney, Mr. Rykert and himself (Mr. Woodworth).

Mr. Bowell in an angry manner denied that he was interested, directly or indirectly, in the Winnipeg Times, and said Mr. Woodworth was well aware of this, for he (Mr. Bowell) had so informed him in a letter replying to an enquiry about the matter.

Sir John Macdonald snubbed Mr. Woodworth by stating that while the Government were very glad to have the support of the press, they did not care for the support of journals which from their tone showed themselves to be subservient organs that were prepared to give a slavish approval of everything the Government did. Such journals, he said, were utterly valueless from a party point of view. He said there was no such correspondence or instructions as had been asked for by Mr. Woodworth.

The Civil Service Act was passed through Committee, and several minor Government measures were advanced a stage, after which the House again resolved itself into Committee of Supply.

IRON MINING IN SNOWDEN.

The development of iron mining in Snowden, near Kinmount, by Messrs. Parry & Mills, has progressed very satisfactorily. A hot-blast furnace of thirty-five ton capacity is being erected, and it is expected to be in readiness for smelting ore early in June. The furnace will be on the most approved principle and the machinery of the best description. The charcoal to be used in the smelting will be burned on the spot, and about five or six thousand cords of hardwood have been got out during the winter for this purpose. The mining of the ore will be commenced almost immediately, and a large number of houses for the workmen are being built. The works at the start will employ about fifty or sixty men, and as the works expand this number will be very largely increased. A large amount of capital has been invested, and as a larger sum is required it is proposed to form a joint stock company with a capital of $100,000 or more. The presence of Mr. Parry in town several days ago was availed of by Mr. A. Hudspeth and some other citizens to have an informal meeting at Mr. A. Hudspeth's office, where the matter was discussed. Mr. Parry laid his plans before the meeting and the desirability of promoting the development of the iron-mining industry was fully recognized. Mr. Parry has also been in Toronto, and from the feeling manifested it is quite likely that the firm will get the capital required to carry on the business on a larger scale. If one blast is put in successful operation the result in a short time will be of the greatest importance, for a large investment of capital will be almost certain to follow.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medidical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the Iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimulate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 31st 1882.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact life had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS a trial I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

PETEBBOROUGH, MAY 10, 1883.

Peteborough's Opportunity.

The question of a permanent locale for the workshops of the entire Midland Railway system, is fast becoming a live one. These shops will necessarily need to be so much enlarged as to constitute practically new workshops on an extensive scale. Several places in the Midland district are urging their claims to the profitable distinction of being the site of the proposed workshops. Of those mentioned, Peterborough can present the strongest claims to their possession. With regard to the Midland Railway system, this town is the most centrally located, being the focus or converging point of the chief lines composing it. Thus, being the most accessible from all points it would be the most convenient for the repairs required by the rolling stock of the road, and for the distribution of the locomotive power. The head business offices are also permanently located here, and the advantage of having the workshops and head offices placed together are too obvious to need emphasizing. Yet, while Peterborough possesses such evidentally favorable features for the location of the workshops, there are other towns that also have strong claims, and which are moving promptly to bring to bear influences, by virtue of which they hope to make those claims paramount. One thing is certain, a desperate struggle will be made by several towns interested, to secure the workshops, which, they rightly argue will be an immense material acquisition to the lucky winner of the location.

Whether or not there is any probability of the rumors in reference to a change taking place soon, being well founded, it behooves Peterborough to be alive to the importance of at once beginning to do her best, to secure the location of an advantageous establishment in our midst. If the town expects to reap liberal advantages it must expect to deal liberally with the corporation of the Midland Railway. It is to be hoped that our Town Council will realize the importance of considering the presentation of such substantial inducements as will suffice to turn the scale, now largely inclining towards us, entirely in our favor. The location of the shops here would be an addition to our population of about five or six hundred souls to begin with, and the benefits of such a large accession of population are not to be despised. Our town fathers should be ready to not only strike while the iron is hot, but to hestir themselves to bring it to a working heat. A word to the wise is said to be sufficient, and therefore, very little need be said to arouse the representatives of the wisdom of the town, to a sense of the necessity of prompt action.

Grip gets at the true inwardness of matters with a happy facility. His first page cartoon this week represents the "Orange party" stretched on a bed of sickness and Sir Hector Langevin, M.D., as exclaiming to Sir John, who has his hand on the patient's pulse, "Fevair going down, I see. He will be all right before ze nex' election, nevair fear!" The wily wickedness of the wink that marks Sir John's phiz, is characteristic of the cunning knight, as well as the pencil that so often delineates him.

Promise and Performance.

For years the Tories have been harping on the grevious wrong done to the municipalities by the Crook's License Act, in depriving them, as they alleged, of their just constitutional rights. Moreover, they were greatly rejoiced because Sir John was going to show "Mowat, that little tyrant," what was what, and his admirers were silly enough to believe that the old man actually meant what he said, when he promised to restore the licensing power to municipalities. Yet Sir John dare not assume the responsibility of the legislation, but made a cowardly abnegation of his duty, and delegated it to a committee, and this committee gives an involuntary, but valuable testimony to the perfection of the present act, by adopting the Crook Act almost in its entirety as the basis of their new and usurping legislation. The issue of licenses is to be in the hands of a board of three, just as it is now, two of whom, or a majority, will be appointees of the Government. Thus the municipalities, as far as representation goes, will always be in the minority, and taking the Tory argument, consequently powerless. Sir John's boast of restoring the licensing power to the municipalities was mere empty bluster, and like most of his promises, made for political effect with no honest intention, that it should be carried out. Let us now hear how the Review and other Tory organs will stand up for the rights of the municipalities whose alleged trampling on by Mr. Mowat, they have so hypocritically bewailed for years.

The Permanent Bribe.

Last spring on the eve of the Dominion elections, the Review issued a glowing extra containing, with a due proportion of editorial hog-wash, the following telegram:—

"OTTAWA, March 5, 1882.

To H. H. Smith, Peterborough:

Two hundred and ninety thousand dollars for locks at Buckhorn, Burleigh and Fenelon Falls.

CHARLES TUPPER."

As the Review remarked, "the political position was propitious," and so splendid a bid for votes should not be neglected. "The sum is probably as much as can be expended this season." We should think so. Will our contemporary kindly show up what has been done? It is true apparent contracts were let, but what has been done to implement the resolve of the present Government "to push the works to completion?" An immense progress has been made. An ice house has been built at Burleigh. Some sort of a boring machine has been laid down, and at the time of the recent provincial elections, the quasi contractor sent a bogus telegraphic order for a quantity of lumber, to be used on the work, to a Peterborough dealer, but that gentleman has not filled the order yet, and is busy building a barn in Otonabee, and upon his neglect may be charged the delay of finishing the work the Government is so resolved to "push." The Trent Valley canal scheme in the hands of the Tory party, is a gigantic fraud. They are only wasting public money to bribe the electors of this district. Will some one please tell us how much the work is to cost? Has any estimate of the total cost ever been made? At the rate the Fenelon Falls contract is costing—$1,000 per yard—the whole two hundred miles of canal will cost three hundred and fifty two million dollars, and yet the Government who has this contract before them show their resolution, in the words of the Review, to "push the work to completion" by voting $300,000 in 1882, and nothing at all in 1883, to "push the work to completion." The only hope of having the canal completed this century, is by having two or or three dominion elections every year. The scheme—in the literal sense of the word, is intended to serve as a perpetual bribe. The Government have not shown the first glimmer of proof of the bona fides of their intention to "push it to completion."

Editorial Notes.

The Montreal Gazette is a most enterprising journal. It prints nearly a two column article in defence of Sir John's land bill. But then the Gazette snapped up $6,148 worth of illicit Government printing; it could well afford the space.

The Dominion Government protects everything but labor. They favor Chinese cheap labor, and import mechanics and laborers from the old country, assisting them at the people's expense. It's mighty consistent and encouraging to the working man, too, to tax the latter for almost everything he uses, and then to expend $500,000 per year, to which he contributes by his taxes, to bring out mechanics and laborers to compete with him.

The Review is wounded in the house of its friends. Sir John, himself, has given it the snub direct. In the House on Monday, Sir John, in speaking of party journals, said the Government did not care for the support of journals, which from their tone showed themselves to be subservient organs—that were prepared to give a slavish approval to everything the Government did. Such journals, he asserted were utterly valueless from a party point of view. The Review must feel hurt, to have its sycophantic spaniel-like following in the slimy wake of the government's course, held so cheap—and by the "boss" himself, too.

The attack by the Mail, doubtless at the instigation of Sir John Macdonald, whose personal organ it is, upon Mr. T. C. Patteson, ex-editor of the Mail, and now postmaster of Toronto, is, at least, characteristic. He has spent time, money and labor in the interests of the Tory party, and he now finds his reward in the foul scurrility of abuse of the Tory organ. But this is only a fair sample of the treatment politicians may expect from the gratitude of Sir John. When they have served his purpose, sacrificed time, money, and reputation, they may expect to pose as M. Butt Hewsons or T. C. Pattesons. The Premier's political henchmen accept more kicks in proportion to the half-pence, that any other known class of menials.

An exchange remarks that when the Tories fell upon each other's necks during the late campaign and sobbed over what they alleged was Mowat's tyrannical usurpation of municipal power, there were people silly enough to believe that they were really sincere in their devotion to municipal sovereignty. The hollowness of their protensions is now made apparent by the fact that a Tory Government takes from the municipalities the right to prepare the voters' lists and places it in the hands of a partizan appointee whose powers are made absolute, and we have not heard one word of protest raised by a Tory against the outrageous usurpation.

The Cobourg World in its last number, handles the Review without gloves in the matter of its strained position on Mr. Mousseau's attitude towards Ontario's claim under the boundary award. The World shows that the contention of our Tory contemporary is a wretched subterfuge, a mere quibble, and that Mr. Mousseau's declaration indicates that he distinctly imposed upon Sir John the non ratification of the boundary award, as the condition of his entering the government, and that, as he did enter the cabinet, therefore, Sir John promised him that Ontario should not acquire the additional territory. The World concludes its article in the following words:—

"We don't want any more of the Peterborough Review's impudence about "forging" and "falsehood," and "crime," and such stuff as that. We know the meaning of men's words and men's actions, quite as well as he does; and we say that when he tries to get aside of the only conclusion which can be arrived at from the Quebec Premier's own announcement and the subsequent events, by calling his contemporaries "forgers" and "rogues," he is only making a fool of himself to no purpose, and displaying the weakness of his own logic. We know him of old, first-rate This kind of thing is an old game with him; but we advise him, before he so glibly takes to calling other people "forgers," to compare a few of his own quotations with the originals. Perhaps he may get to learn, in time that it is no worse forgery to drop a part of a speech which has no bearing upon the real question, than it is deliberately to mis-state a speaker's morning with the full text of his own words in view.

"Whither are we drifting?" is hardly an original form of query, yet it is not inappropriate in view of the alarming manner at which the civil service expenditure and the expense of legislation are mounting at Ottawa. The astounding statement is made that the members of the Dominion Parliament are circulating a "round robin"—it is 'round robin' with a vengeance—to have their sessional indemnity increased from $1,000 to $1,500. This is absolute robbery. The Parliament, after sitting 59 days, have not yet passed the first item of the Supply Bill, and the man who works for his living may well wonder how these over-tasked gentlemen can have the "cheek" to ask an increase of pay. While some of the members talk away the country's cash at the rate of about $30 per second, there are others who never open their mouths except to yawn, and only vote when they are waked up by the twitch of the party whip. Dozens of these dunder-heads probably lay by money out of their sessional allowance, which is intended merely to indemnify for loss of time, not as a remuneration; and yet they will sign the round robin for increased indemnity with the greatest alacrity. The Government, which has dwaddled along with the business, is however chiefly responsible for the delay. If the proposal extends to he members of that fossilized incarnation of incapacity, incompetency, imbecility and uselessness, the Senate, then a long-suffering public can sympathise with the doctrine of dynamite. Seriously, however, the public expenditure is increasing at an alarmingly reckless rate, step by step, with political debauchery and corruption.

The editor of the Review has not recovered his temper since he received his well-merited castigation during the recent campaign, nor has the tone of his paper improved since the departure of his associate, although, indeed any change in that namby pamby sheet could not make it worse than it was. Those who are dependent upon the Review for their political information, and who receive their inspiration from its columns are much to be pitied, since little or no confidence can be put in the ravings of a political monomaniac, whose antics make it evident that he needs rest and perfect seclusion from the busy world of politics. Seeing that on such topics he is stark mad, hopelessly insane, a little wholesome advice would be better for him than the study of the Mail's lugubrious and vaporing articles, from which he draws the worst part of his malady. It is a great blessing that the elections did not last longer, for our friend of the Review would certainly be not now amongst us. His genial smile and honest face would no more demand the nod of recognition. He is at the present time laboring under the delusion that the world, or at any rate the machinery that sets or keeps it in motion, depends in some mysterious way upon the fact of the Hon. O. Mowat being removed, and the leader of the Opposition, Mr. Meredith, made ruler at Toronto. Anything short of this would be disastrous to the stability of our planet. Let his friends see to it that the gentleman be not over worked, especially in that sort of work where much thinking is required. Let him have, as the doctors say, perfect quiet, a half darkened chamber free from all intrusion, an easy chair or lounge for his bodily comfort, a pillow well stuffed with the leaf of the poppy plant upon which to rest his head, and our word for it our patient will soon be in a fair way for recovery, if not in absolute bodily health.

Health Hints.

Dr. F. H. Hamilton, of New York, has recently published a little book called "Health Aphorisms." It is a compendium of common sense on the subject of the preservation of health. It would save a great many people a great many pains and aches, as well as a great many disagreeable doses of bitter nauseating drugs, if they were to read it and heed the advice which it gives. He points out many examples of the folly and credulity of mankind, in drenching themselves with doses which have made numberless quacks rich, and which are known to be without any medical virtues He says it took twenty-five years for the community to learn that sarsaparilla has just about as much virtue as leached sawdust, and not half as much as pure water, and one nauseating compound is only abandoned in order to give place to another. Dr. Hamilton says that "Light gives a bronzed or tan color to the skin; but where it uproots the lily it plants the rose."

"Mould and decayed vegetables in a cellar weaves shrouds for the upper chambers."

"A change of air is less valuable than a change of scene. The air is changed every time the direction of the wind is changed."

"Health must be earned—it can seldom be bought."

"Girls need health as much—nay, more than boys. They can only obtain it as boys do, by running, tumbling, by all sorts of innocent vagrancy. At least once a day girls should have their halters taken off, the bars let down and be turned loose like young colts."

"Calisthenics may be very genteel, and romping very ungenteel, but one is the shadow, and the other the substance of healthful exercise."

Our advice is to get the book, read it and heed it.

Clifford Lloyd is prominent again in Ireland, this time in connection with wholesale arrests in his district of alleged Invincibles, most of whom are said to be respectable farmers and to have been arrested upon the evidence of a single convict.

All sorts of rumours are afloat in regard to the whereabouts of Peter Tynan—"Number One." He is said to have been attending to business in New York, to have been present at the Philadelphia convention under an alias, to be on his way to San Francisco by way of Philadelphia, and, finally, to be in London, England, in communication with the police with a view to turning informer.

If people who are troubled with colds would make use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral before attending church or public lectures they would avoid coughing, and the comfort of hearers and speakers would be greatly promoted. The Pectoral enables public speakers to speak clearly and without fatigue, having an immediate and wonderful effect in increasing the power and flexibility of the voice.

A girl only eleven years of age was recently tried before the Wolverhampton, Eng., police magistrate on charge of attempting to steal money from a till. In the course of the trial it was shown that the child's father bore a very indifferent character, that her brother is under going ten years' penal servitude, and that her elder sister is a "bad un." The child with this melancholy family history was sentenced to three weeks imprisonment with hard labor. At the end of that brief sentence she will return home more hardened than ever to the surroundings which made her what she is, and thus her education is to continue until it lands her like her brother, in penal servitude. Regarding the facts of this case, one might wonder if there are reformatories in England, or if the magistrate who sent her to prison knew of their existence.

ROUSSEAU'S BACKDOWN.

The Quebec Premier Forced to Resign his Seat to Evade Probable Disqualification.

The sensation of the day in Montreal last Friday was an announcement that Hon. Mr. Mousseau Premier of the Province of Quebec, had, after the advice of his attorney, thrown up the sponge and resigned his seat, and of course the Premiership of the Province. He was accompanied to the Court House by the Hon. Henry Starnes, and the Hon. Speaker Blanchet, and the Hon. Mr. Wurtele, to whom apparently this step was no surprise. The offer had been made several days ago by the hon. gentleman, and was refused by the Hon. Mr. Mercier, now prosecuting the case against him. But what could the hon. gentleman have done except resign? Witnesses proved the receipt of money for illegal expenses; treats were paid by his agents; the Government laws prostituted to his election by the remission of fines to convicted liquor sellers who had contravened the law; promises made to the curé of the parish that his claim against the Government would be remembered; an $80 per month situation given to entice Liberals to vote for him; $25 given for three drives. Finally his clerk went on the stand and testified to receiving $109 from him, and certain other matters. But Mr. Mousseau did not want to go on the stand. He dared not face a keen cross-examination. Mr. Lacoste came forward and remarked:—"I have, after showing the facts to my client, advised him to resign his seat. He has agreed to do so, and I now announce it publicly." "He is quite welcome to do so," answered Judge Torrance. The Hon. Mr. Mercier was now anxiously looked to. He said:—"there are two things very destinctive in this contestation—the cancellation of the election and the disqualification of the defendant. I will wait until to-morrow to see if I should not go on with the demand for disqualification." His Honour Judge Torrance granted the request, which he said was a perfectly just one.

Later advices state that Hon. Mr. Mercier, counsel for appellant in the contestation of Hon. Mr. Mousseau's seat, has accepted the hon. gentleman's resignation and allowed the charges of personal corruption, upon which they based their claim for the Premier's disqualification, to drop.

The seats of Mr. Dumoulin, in Three Rivers, and Mr. Leblanc, in Laval, are also to be contested.

THE LANDED PROPRIETORS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

It is a startling fact, and one which must fill the minds of reflecting Englishmen with grave concern, that more than one-half the land in the United Kingdom is held by one twelve-thousandth of the population. That is to say, 2,238 individuals, out of a population of 28,000,000, monopolize forty millions out of the seventy-two millions acres, which comprise the territory of the two islands. It is still more startling that more than one-eighth of the territory, comprising 9,374,000 acres, is held by forty-four persons, not one of whom owns less than 100,000 acres, and two of whom—Lord Middleton and the Duke of Sutherland—possess over a million acres each. The following table, prepared from the analysis of landholders in the "Financial Almanack," shows how this property is distributed and who are the great landed proprietors of the kingdom:

PROPRIETORS.	ACRES.
Duke of Argyll	175,000
Duke of Athole	194,000
Evan Baillie	165,000
Richard Berridge	170,000
Marquis of Breadalbane	438,000
Duke of Buccleugh	459,000
Marquis of Bute	116,000
Donald Cameron	126,000
Earl of Cawdor	101,000
Jas. S. Chisholm	113,000
Duke of Cleveland	102,000
Marquis of Conyghan	173,000
Earl of Dalhousie	138,000
Duke of Devonshire	193,000
Marquis of Downshire	123,000
J. R. Farquharson	160,000
Earl of Fife	257,000
Earl Fitzwilliam	114,000
J. Gordon	112,000
Sir G. McP. Grant	127,000
Duke of Hamilton	157,000
Countess of Home	103,000
Lord Kenmare	105,000
Marquis of Lansdowne	135,000
Lord Leconfield	110,000
Lord Lovat	161,000
Lord Macdonald	129,000
A. E. Mackintosh	124,000
Sir K. S. Mackenzie	164,000
Norman Macleod	143,000
Alex. Matheson	220,000
Sir J. Matheson	4 6,000
Lord Middleton	1,005,000
Duke of Montrose	103,000
Duke of Northumberland	186,000
Duke of Portland	161,000
Duke of Richmond	298,000
Sir C. W. A. Ross	106,000
Earl of Seafield	305,000
Marquis of Sligo	122,000
Duke of Sutherland	1,208,000
Duchess of Sutherland	149,000
Marquis of Waterford	109,000
Lady Willoughby de Eresby	132,000
Forty-four persons	9,374,000

In the House of Lords the property interest is, of course, paramount, 438 out of 505 peers being landowners to the extent of 14,250,000 acres; while in the House of Commons there are 194 proprietors, owning 2,121,000 acres, besides 66 sons and heirs of land-holding peers. Taking both houses together, the land-holding members of Parliament are in a majority of 120; and since they own nearly a quarter of all the land in the kingdom, it can hardly be expected that they will pass any legislation interfering materially with the existing land laws or operating to their own disadvantage.

VETERANS OF 1812

A return presented to the House shows that there are 781 veterans of 1812 now surviving. The number know or supposed to have died since 1875 is 2,036. Six widows have applied to the goverment for assistance. The number supposed to have died between 1870 and 1875 is 4,728. A calculation based on these figures would give that there were 748,297 soldiers who survived the war of 1812. It is now 71 years since the war and there are 781 survivors. It is calculated by the same reasoning that in 1893 there will be 839, in 1903, 896,, and in 1913 about a thousand survivous. This is very satisfactory.

MOST RAPID RAILWAY RUN ON RECORD

Last Thrusday the Vanderbilt party in going from Detroit to St. Thomas made the run from Essex to St. Thomas—96 miles—in 96 minutes including stoppages at two stations of seven minutes. From St. Thomas to Niagara Junction—116—miles two hours and twenty-three minutes was occupied, but this included stoppages of 36 minutes. When the stoppages are deducted the actual running time between Essex Centre and Niagara Junction 212 miles—was 206 minutes, the fastest run for the distance ever made, it is said) on this continent.

A JUVENILE RHEUMATIC.

Mr. J. G. Cross, Lake George, N.B. says his son, aged sixteen, had acute rheumatism from which he recovered but was left crippled by a chronic rheumatism. He was getting drawn together, when he began the use of Dr. Dow's Sturgeon Oil Liniment, after which his cure was speedy and permanent. Young and old suffer from Reumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Burns, &c. and are benefited by the use of Dr. Dow's Sturgeon Oil Linment.

Six Algerian engineers, who have been consulted by M. de Lesseps on the Sahara sea scheme, report that the cutting could be made within five years, at a cost of $30,000,000. An average width of 80 or 100 feet would be sufficient, as the current would widen the canal; and since it would be nearly in stright line the navigation would be deviod of all difficulty A vast tract of country, lacking only moisture to become very productive, would thus be brought under cultivation.

The Reason Why

the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by M. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Mr. Austin Jay, Copenhagen, Ont., says he was so afflicted with Liver complaint that he was obliged to give up work. The druggist at Alymer induced him to try ZOPESA with such good results that after using two bottles he was able to resume work as usual. Says he got relief from the first dose, and is satisfied there is no better Liver remedy in existence. He gladly allows us to use his name. 17-tf

SANDERSON'S

FOR FINEST JEWELRY, WATCHES, CLOCKS, PLATED WARE AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

An Alphabetical Agriculturist.

There is a farmer who is Y's
Enough to take his E's,
And study Nature with his I's
And think of what he C's.

He hears the clatter of the J's
As they each other T's,
And Z's that when a tree D K's
It makes a home for B's.

A pair of oxen he will U's,
With sharp hoes and G's,
And their mistakes he will X Q's
While plowing for his P's.

In raising crops he all X L's,
And therefore little O's,
And when he hoes his soil by spells
He also soils his hose.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Early Culture.

Generally speaking, early culture is the most successful, and early maturing crops are the reliable ones. The early market, too, usually gives the top prices.

Manure for Meadows.

The best renovator for meadows and pasture land is barnyard manure, evenly scattered with fork and harrow. It is a complete fertilizer, containing in goodly proportion the three substances needed by growing crops -nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

Small Fruits.

Farmers have much to learn concerning the value of small fruits. They are profitable and certain, the labor of cultivating them is comparatively light, and there is a market for them everywhere. No labour on the farm is so well repaid as that spent in raising grapes, strawberries, raspberries and currants.

Food for Dairy Cows.

The kind of fodder a dairy cow requires is that which makes the greatest amount of rich milk and keeps the cow in good health. The latter, however, depends somewhat on treatment in addition to fodder. Cleanliness, good water, some carding, good bedding, and a sufficient variety of food, have a close relation to health.

Jersey Cattle.

The island of Jersey, which has given to the world the Jersey breed of cattle, has an area of fifty square miles. Yet, it supports 12,000 cows, the animals being kept in stables all the year, and every particle of manure is saved. Their principal food in winter is parsnips, and this food has probably developed the butter quality which gives the Jersey cow its distinct reputation.

Economy.

The housewife who is on the lookout for little ways to economize will find it to her advantage, if she has seamless sheets which have been used for several years, to tear or cut them in two in the centre, and sew the outside edges together; lap them and sew with a machine. Or they may be sewed over and over. Hem the raw edges. Sheet turned in this way will last for a long time.

Farmers and the Tariff.

Says the Rural Canadian, a non-political journal,:—"We believe there is, or ought to be, a farmer's side to the tariff question. The increased duties on reapers, mowers, wagons, ploughs, etc., are certainly no gain to the farmer. They don't assure him better or cheaper implements, and no better market for his produce. Farmers will begin to think that it is time they had a voice in the framing of tariffs, as well as some other people—especially the farmers of our great North-West empire."

Rough on Rabbits.

It is said that two rabbits will eat as much as a sheep. If this is true, there are not many farmers in Ontario who can afford to harbor a flock of two or three hundred. There is a small vineyard in the neighborhood of Toronto that has been completely ruined by rabbits, every vine being girdled. In the neighborhood of London, according to the Advertiser, nurserymen and Market gardeners are trying to abate the nuisance with the help of poison.

Hints for the Household.

Polish oilcloth with kerosene.
Clean grained wood with cold tea.
Wash matting with salted water.
Turn-over collars with fancy neck-ribbons, are now fashionable.

To make a good liniment that should be kept on hand ready for use in cases of bruises or sprains: Add one-half ounce oil of wormwood to four ounces of alcohol.

"Always use good manners at home, and then when you go among strangers, you need never be alarmed, for it will be perfectly natural to you to be polite and respectful." This is true; and we have always thought that the best and the easiest way to do anything right, was to get into the habit of doing it right.

House Cleaning.

A good rule in house-cleaning is, to begin at the top and clean down. Another, just as good, is to finish one room at a time, leaving as much as possible for decent occupation. Another is, to put such heavy and dirty work as carpet-beating in the hands of a man. It will better done by the man, if he has wit enough not to go at it by "main strength and stupidness," and the woman's strength will be reserved for necessary scrubbing and scouring.

The "Why" of White Butter.

By raising the temperature of cream high, white butter is the result. In summer the temperature is apt to be thus, especially in dog days, and hence there is white, frothy butter and less of it, and it takes longer to bring; so in winter; with hot water, butter is salving; if it is called, all in temperature. This, when kept, causes the sugar to ferment and produce acid—lactic—and the acid acting upon the salt liberates the casein or cheese principle, which then curdles, and a white mass of cheese and butter is made—much of the butter remaining in the milk, while the butter has an undue quantity of cheese. The remedy is, take care of the temperature, not only in the churn, but the milk and cream before they get there. There then will be absolutely no difficulty.

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

BELMONT.

The Belmont Town Hall, says the Register, is to be erected at Prenevau's corners in that township. Tenders will be received for its erection up to the 16th of June.

HASTINGS.

No effort is being spared to make the celebration in Hastings on the 24th the most successful one ever held in that place. The programme will consist of boat-racing, athletic sports, horse-racing, dancing, etc., etc. The Norwood cornet band has been engaged for the occasion.

NORWOOD.

Mr. Wm. Chambers had a narrow escape from drowning at Glover's Point, Otonabee, the other day—upset canoe while shooting. He was gallantly rescued by Mr. Byram, of Otonabee.

The Lacrosse club plays Madoc in Madoc on the 24th.

CAMPBELLFORD.

The number of school children between the ages of 5 and 16 years, in families recorded on the assessment roll is 140.

The population of Campbellford has increased nearly one hundred since last year. In 1882 it numbered 1,600. Now, according to the returns just made, it is, 693.

TRENTON.

Mr. A Parent, of Trenton, sold his hotel and furnishings on Thursday to Mr. David Daly, for $15,000 cash. The sale was a hasty one, and the new landlord assumed possession on the spot. The license was also transferred in a few minutes—the commissioners being in session at the time.

ORMEMEE.

An effort is being made by some of our musical minded young men, to re-organize the Ormemee band.

The Ormemee Cradle and Fork Factory has been running on over-time all this season, and is now putting up about one hundred and fifty cradles and forks per month.

COBOURG.

Tuesday was May day, and parties coming to town from Rosseneath were forced to turn out of the regular road into fields, in places, on account of the snow-drifts, which have not all disappeared yet.

A bank contest in the Agricultural pard is one of the features of the celebration of the 24th.

CAVAN.

Mr. Henry Moncrief, of Cavan, lost a valuable horse on Tuesday last. He had driven to Lindsay on Monday and on the return to this village he noticed that the team acted in a strange manner, and one of them died shortly after The other is still in a dangerous position. Death says the Omemee Herald, was caused by poison, administered by some fiend.

PORT HOPE.

The new chief of police is enforcing the by-laws stringently.

A class for the practice of the sword exercise has been organized.

The Durham Teachers' Association will meet at Port Hope in June.

The Public School Trustees have advertised for tenders for the proposed addition to the Central School.

Mr. Wm. Mackie sold a very fine team of horses to Messrs. O'Keefe, of Toronto, the other day for $500.

The exports for April were $123,000, the imports amounted to $42,000, and the duties collected were $4,040. The total sum collected since January 1st, was $13,-200.

An effort is being made to secure Miss Churchill, of Boston, to conduct a course of elocutionary instruction at the Port Hope High School.

On Wednesday evening the quarterly official meeting of the Bible Christian church was held. The pastor was unanimously invited to remain another year.

It is said that an application was made to Judge Benson to liberate Aitkins and McClung, who are now in jail, charged with the murder of Little at the late row at Centreville. His Honour intimated that their friends need not have any occasion for uneasiness on their behalf, as they would be well taken care of by Mr. Culver.

LINDSAY.

Mr. Walter Browne, formerly a printer in this town, has been appointed county court reporter for Bruce.

Preparations for the grand tournament at Lindsay, on May 24th, are going forward.

On Sunday evening last, after a long illness, Thomas Keenan, one of our most respected citizens, passed away, in his 71st year.

Mr. J. L. Whitesides, for some years stipendiary magistrate of Haliburton, was entertained at a complimentary supper at Minden prior to his departure to Toronto, to fill his new office in Osgoode Hall.

On Monday evening last a number of friends and fellow-employees of Mr. Jas. Murphy, road master of the Victoria division of the Midland railway, assembled at the Daley House to tender that worthy gentleman a supper and presentation on the eve of his departure for St. Thomas, where he has secured a lucrative position on the Credit Valley railway.

The navy of the roaring Scugog has been reinforced by three apparently new steamers—Ontario, Alice Sutton and Mary Ellen. All have been greatly improved and two of the boats practically rebuilt.

Another old settler has passed away, in Mr. John Naylor, who died on Tuesday, in Lindsay, in his 87th year. He was one of the earliest settlers of Ops, and lived on the Oakwood road at what was known as Naylor's corners.

The Lindsay Post is to receive the benefit of the advertising implied in a libel suit, brought by a local politician named Rodden.

Absence of ventilation; badly arranged entrances of light, and hay-racks over their heads, permitting seed and dust to fall into their eyes, are referred to as prolific sources of blindness in horses.

RESIGNED.

The members of the law firm of Macdonald (Sir John) & Marsh have both recently been under arrest on serious charges. The other day Sir John went to Toronto to attend his son's wedding, and while there was arrested by General M. Butt Harman on a charge of perjury. The other day Mr. Marsh was arrested by L. U. C. Titus, a Brighton barrister, on a charge of blackmail. The lawyer who had Mr. Marsh, Sir John's partner, arrested is L. U. C. Titus, who was interested in the case of Edith Grey Stoakes, (alias Mary Sweet) whose suicide at the British American Hotel, Kingston, about a year ago was a sensation of no ordinary kind. Titus, it seems, defended Miss Wright, who was tried for manslaughter at the Cobourg assizes. She heard some one prowling around her house one midnight, last fall, and believing that her residence was being attacked by burglars, fired a revolver through the slats of the Venetian blinds and killed Ryan whose wandering proved to be of an inoffensive character. She was convicted—somewhat unexpectedly—and sentenced to six month's imprisonment. Titus had the Minister of Justice petitioned on her behalf and obtained a reprieve. Then he billed the young woman for $500. She resisted payment, thinking that she had already given him money enough, and Mr. Marsh being her cousin, she engaged him to fight Titus. The bill of costs was taxed by the Master at Cobourg, who reduced the amount by $173.25, which sum Mr. Marsh demanded on behalf of Miss Wright, from Titus. The latter had Marsh arrested and brought to Brighton. He was released on bail. Marsh threatened to have Titus' name struck off the roll of solicitors, and there is more trouble ahead.

The Best and Worthless.

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but the genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Durggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 18-4t

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, on 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.
F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.
To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly,
JOHN McDONALD.

Ops, January 9th, 1883.
To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP.

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.
Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR,—I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth,—the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they had ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Not the Slightest Doubt

OUR QUALITIES THE BEST FOR THE PRICES!
OUR PRICES THE LOWEST FOR THE QUALITIES!

What most people call good luck, is really enterprise. Enterprise is the foundation on which to build a real success. Our success as live, progressive Clothiers proves the reality of our statements. We "clothe the million"—the merchant, the mechanic, the professional man and the farmer—all without a dissenting voice.

If a man wants a reasonable suit at a reasonable price, he—from us—gets it. If he wants a better thing we are proud to give it to him. We reach the wants of modest purses not by lowering our qualities, but by letting go a share of our profits. There is no safer way of doing a sound business that we know of.

Point No. 1.—Everybody remarks the beauty of our styles and the lowness of our prices. Everybody sticks a pin in their memory, as it were, and recollects DOLAN'S when in want of clothes.

Point No. 2.—Taste, excellence and close-pared prices, our turnouts of Ordered Clothing speak for themselves. In all points of general excellence, our cut, fit and finish can't be surpassed.

Point No. 3.—No young man who wants to make his dollar do a dollar's work, can afford to pass us for clothing.

Our Suits.—If suits are wanted, are well made, carefully finished, stylishly designed and perfectly proportioned; add to these virtues the completeness of the assortment we offer in CLOTHS, and we think we've fully established the fact that DOLAN'S is the proper place to come to suit yourselves.

Gentlemen.—It is morally impossible to be successful in courtship, lacrosse, boating, matrimony, politics, law, physic, base ball, music, on the turf or in the counting house, unless you wear DOLAN'S Stylish Suits. THEN SEND IN YOUR ORDERS.

PHŒNIX PARK MURDER TRIALS.

THIRD PRISONER SENTENCED TO BE HANGED.

In the trial of Michael Fagin, Judge O'Brien, on Friday last, in charging the jury, stated that the testimony of the informers against the prisoner was fully confirmed by other witnesses. The jury, after a short deliberation, announced a verdict of guilty. Fagin protested his innocence, and declared he was a Fenian and would die one. The Judge sentenced him to be hanged on May 29.

Fitzharris was placed on trial at Dublin on Monday as one of the principals of the Phœnix park murders. The trial of Timothy Kelly began on Wednesday.

SOLVED THE PUZZLE.

The other night a merchant in a village in Ohio was discovered in his store at an unusually late hour, and in reply to enquiries he said:

"My confidential clerk is missing."
"And what of it?"
"Why, I'm looking over the books, but they seem to be all square."
"Have you counted your cash?"
"Yes, and it is correct to a dollar."
"Looked over your bank book?"
"I have, and it is satisfactory. That's the puzzle, you see. He's skipped, and can't make out what for."
"Been home since noon?"
"No."
"Perhaps he has eloped with your wife."
"Lands alive! but it may be so! If it is then the puzzle will be solved."
He hurried home, and it was so, and he felt a great anxiety off his mind.

Further particulars hereafter.

Health of this District.

The weekly health bulletin shows that the predominantly prevalent disease in the Midland district is measles, which comprises 11½ per cent of the six deseases prevailing in the district. Bronchitis comes next with 11 per cent, then diarrhœa with 7½ per cent, followed by influenzia with 7½ per cent. Rheumatism claims 5½ per cent, and anæmia 5 per cent. The lowest temperature for the past week has been 26°—6° below the freezing point, and the highest has been 62°. The chief directions of the wind have been southwest and northeast.

An Opinion.

The Cobourg World has thus happily described our local contemporary: "The Peterborough Review is one of the most unscrupulous papers of which we have any knowledge. And it is as illogical and impudent as it is unscrupulous. It cannot discuss a question with a contemporary without charging him with all the crimes in the calendar, being especially severe in its denunciations in the alleged cases of those faults of which it has been repeatedly convicted itself * * Which never hesitates at garbling a sentence to injure a political opponent; to be so glib with his ugly word "forger," without the slightest show of proof, is sufficient to excite the indignation of the poorest and the worst. * * * Whose only strength lies in calling other people bad names."

THE RIVER RESTORES ITS DEAD.

The Body of the Late Geo. C. Rogers Recovered.

The persistent, patient, and persevering search for the mortal remains of Mr. Geo. C. Rogers, were on Sunday last, at 12 o'clock, rewarded by the finding of the body. For sixteen days and one hour the body had escaped the most vigilant search, but on Sunday it was discovered lying in a cross channel between two currents, about 900 yards below the fatal dam, nearly opposite Dense & Sperry's mills. The finders were Mr. Robert Sheridan and Thomas Fair, the former having gone over the dam with Mr. Rogers at the time of the drowning. The body was found in water so shallow that it was reached by stretching down the hand and grasping the clothing. It was lying on the face, the head being partially buried in drift and sawdust, the feet turned up stream and the arms outstretched. The object, which proved to be the body, had been noticed by the two successful searchers before, they having frequently passed over the spot, which was about fifty yards below the stump of a tree which they had made a resting place after returning from a search and a starting point when setting out for another. On Sunday, as the water was clearer and lower, a better view was obtained and surmise made certainty. In a very few minutes other boats on the river were on hand, when the body was raised and conveyed ashore. The body was in a good state of preservation, the flesh having remained firm and natural in appearance and condition, without disfigurement. It was removed to the office of deceased, where it was placed in a casket before removal to the residence.

Land Sale Postponed.

The important sale of lands advertised by Mr. D. W. Dumble, has been adjourned to Thursday night, May 10th (to-night), at the Caisse House, at 8 p.m. Note the postponement.

Baptist Church.

Rev. Mr. Dadson, editor of the Canadian Baptist, the connexional organ, will preach in the Baptist Church here next Sunday, morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Speller, of McMaster Hall, occupied the pulpit last Sunday, in place of Rev. Mr. Harris, of Yorkville, who, owing to a change in arrangements, was unable to come.

Grand Concert.

The concert to be given in the Opera House to-morrow—Friday evening—promises to be a success, as pains have been taken to secure foreign and local talent. The Cobourg Glee Club, which called forth so much praise on a former occasion, will be in attendance in full force. There will be recitations, ventriloquism, and vocal and instrumental music.

The Opera.

The company which is to present "Esmeralda"—the great domestic play—shortly in this town, comes to us direct from the Madison Square Theatre, N. Y. Every actor is a worthy artist. The scenery, too, from New York will be a feature. The play ran 350 nights in N. Y. City, and is the third in the album of the Great Madison Square Theatre successes. The public may be assured of a fine performance.

Increasing Rapidly.

Oddfellowship is increasing very rapidly in Peterborough. No less than thirteen new propositions were handed in at the last meetings of Peterborough and Otonabee lodges. Oddfellowship teaches in the most beautiful and forcible manner, the all-important lesson of fraternity—that all men are of one family, and therefore brethren. Its principles are those of humanity and religion; its object is to promote the general good of mankind, and spread abroad the light of morality and knowledge. It ensures to its members in the hour of adversity and tribulation a source of safety and comfort that none can destroy.

Intellectual Laurels.

The former pupils of Peterborough Collegiate Institute are in the habit of periodically deluging it with laurel leaves. At the recent terminal examinations of University College, Toronto, the following gentlemen took honors in the subjects noted: F. Sanderson, J. D. Graham, J. A. Fife, first class honors in first year mathematics; A. F. Chamberlain, first class honors in English, French and German; W. Sanderson, first class in 2nd year mathematics; J. L. Gilmour, second class in 2nd year logic. This record is a most creditable one, not only to the gentlemen winning these distinctions, but also to the Institute, where their preparatory training was given.

Beware of Swindlers.

With spring comes the cunning sharper to prey on the innocent and honest. The latest dodge of these reptiles is this:—One man goes into a blacksmith's shop and tries to sell a supposed patent-right for a plough or harrow. He does his best to explain the affair and then leaves. Shortly after a confederate goes in and asks if the worker in iron is prepared to take a contract to shoe fifty horses for the Northwest and at what price; then, after beating a bit about the bush, accepts the terms for shoeing, saying they were very reasonable. A new fashioned plough and harrow are then introduced on the scene, and an estimate is asked for 50 or 60 of such implements—of course they are of the same make as the patent. Vulcan, seeing (in his mind, of course,) a good thing, rushes madly after the agent, purchases the right (or wrong), gives his note for a cool $100, and congratulates himself on the excellent bargain he has made. But, mark the sequel; the note is shaved for $80 within ten minutes after. Vulcan finds he is vulcanized out of his $100, looks after the parties and finds they have absquatulated. The game has been successfully played in Whitby, and others should be on the look-out. Where one man succeeds in hastening to be rich, a hundred become wealthy by diligent endeavour and economy.

Our police force has a real mine of æstheticism under their uniforms. They have their head-quarters ornamented with fine pots of blooming flowers, and condemned drunks are allowed to sniff at them before being consigned to the dungeons of Chateau de Hall.

The slang phrase "getting the bulge," is to be exchanged in Guelph and St. Thomas for "getting the bulb" on him or her as the case may be. In these places the verdant populace have had "Jersey lily" lily bulbs (made of wax in clever imitation,) palmed off on them at $5 a dozen.

Matrimonial.

Congratulations are cordially due on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. D. A. McDonald, and Miss Moreland, Bridgenorth, which took place at St. Peter's Cathedral last Tuesday. The happy couple after spending a few days honeymoon in the country, will proceed to Haliburton, where there home will hereafter be.

The Plague of Dust.

The residents of Charlotte street are beginning to mourn over the beginning of the plague of dust that assails them every summer. It is indeed a disagreeable condition of things. There is an immense deal of travel on this street, and the dust in dry weather is simply indescribable. The residents feel that steps should be taken to water the street. It might be done by local taxation, by securing signatures to a petition, representing the requisite proportion of real estate, and if this cannot be done the aggrieved residents will have to suggest some other way.

Queen's Hotel.

The attention of the reader is directed to the card, published in another column, of the Queen's Hotel, corner Charlotte and Aylmer streets. The hotel was opened the first of May. The proprietor, Mr. J. E. Norris, has had a large experience in the hotel business, as proprietor of the American, Kingston, and later of the Dominion, Millbrook. The hotel has been furnished with new equipments throughout, and every thing will be found clean and fresh. Meals at all hours when trains are due to arrive or depart. Bar furnished with the best of liquors, and excellent stables attached.

Mothers, Watch the Little Feet

And see that they are clad in Foot & McWhinnie's spring heeled boots. For ease, elegance, and durability these have no equal. No running down at the ankles; on the contrary, they are a support to the ankles of so decidedly beneficial a character, that surgical men warmly recommend the spring heeled boot for constant wear. Try a pair and they won't ask you to buy another; you'll be sure to buy without asking.

Mr. Thos. Harvey started for the North-West on Tuesday morning to continue his farming operations.

On Thursday last, Rev. J. E. Stobo, formerly of this place, was officially settled in the pastorate of the Belleville Baptist church.

Mr. Geo. L. Smith, representative of the Madison Square Theatre, N. Y., will shortly visit this town to arrange for the production of the great metropolitan success "Esmeralda," which has been running over 300 nights at the N. Y. theatre, and which has been the dramatic success of the past year.

A Live Parcel.

Last Friday an animated parcel of humanity, in the shape of a little lad, arrived at the Midland station on the noon train. The address on a collar about his neck consigned him to "Snowden's stone hotel," where he was delivered in good order, having crossed the raging main and the raging railway in safety. He was received by his brother, to whose care he was addressed.

Horse Killed.

On Wednesday last Mr. John Metcalfe, while drawing stumps about a mile west of town had, of course the best, one of a fine team of horses so injured by a stump falling on him, that he had to be killed. The spinal cord was injured by the extravasation of blood from a vessel ruptured by the fall of the stump. The mate was badly hurt also, but under the treatment of Veterinary Surgeon Pacquin, will likely recover. The horses were good ones, especially the one that was killed.

Summary Dismissal

Our general (genial) contemporary, the Review, has summarily dismissed Mr. A. White from the position of Traffic Manager of the Midland Railway. In clipping an item from the Lindsay Warder it mentions Mr. James Scanlon the "obliging and 'general' Traffic Manager of the Whitby and Victoria divisions." The Review should know better than make such a serious error in reference to Midland matters. If our confrere would make enquiries it would find that Mr. Scanlon is the freight conductor and that Mr. A. White, both physically and officially, still fills the position of General Traffic Manager to perfection.

Assessment Statistics.

The town assessors have completed their work, and we make the following excerpts from their returns for 1883:

Number of ratepayers	2,032
Number of resident acres	1,270

School Children:
From 5 to 17	1,864
From 7 to 13	1,070
Total resident population	7,832

From the above it will be seen that the town is making rapid strides in improvement. The population has increased by 822 during the past year; the ratepayers have increased by 159; the number of non-resident acres has fallen from 39 to 12. Other items assist in showing that the prosperity of the town is in a most healthy condition, and it will be as nothing compared to our progress in case our unrivalled manufacturing facilities are actively developed. Our lumbering industries, from the decreasing supply of material, are naturally on the wane, and our manufacturing industries must receive increasing attention, if our town is to retain its present position as the leading commercial and industrial town in Ontario, outside of the large cities.

THE ASPHODEL MURDER.

The Manslayer Captured—Description of the Compatriot's Camp.

The Murderer Not all to Blame—The Fight Prearranged to Get Rid of a Black Sheep—The Capture—The Inquest—The Interment of the Victim—The Magistrate's Hearing—Carmenino in Peterborough Jail.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE ITALIAN AFFRAY.

Our villlage and community have been kept in a feverish state of commotion by the unfortunate affair which took place in the Italian camp of railway navvies, located about seven miles east of the village of Norwood, in the Township of Asphodel. In this gang at the present time there are about 25 Italians, all low-sized, stout, rugged-looking young men, none very prepossessing in appearance, and only one understanding a word of English. They commenced work with about forty in number last summer on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, but since, quite a number, not liking the work, left for the States. All but the man who is held now a prisoner for the slaying of his comrade,

CAME FROM SUNNY ITALY

in one batch, and have lived together in a log house on the farm of Mr. Wm. Hair, of Asphodel, since commencing work. Here they reside with very few of the comforts of life, and huddled together in a manner certainly not comporting with what we are lead to believe is or ought to be social life in famous and beautiful Italy. The whole of the party do their cooking upon one small cooking-stove, the use of which, unfortunately, led to the dispute that resulted in the death of Octavio. Carmenino, the murderer, only joined this gang last fall, and coming from a part of Italy with which the others had not association whatever, he was a perfect stranger to all, and therefore

WAS NOT WELCOMED

by his countrymen to his new life and home in Canada. None, even since, has given him any companionship, and he has led a life of much discomfort among his people; hence his readiness to quarrel with any of them on the slightest pretext, and no doubt it was pre-arranged to have a fight with him to GET RID OF HIM.

Carmenino is by no means a savage looking man, and not a feature upon his face would indicate a villanious or murderous intention upon his part. Others of the gang say that he has left a wife and son at home, but the former, they also state, has since died.

After the fatal fight Carmenino fled to the woods in the vicinity of his camp, and remained hidden there during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, sleeping, it is surmised, on the farm of Mr. Thos. Shea, Jr., close to the scene of the conflict. During this time he had nothing whatever to eat, and from severe wounds he received from Octavio with a large knife; the blood saturating his clothes and becoming coagulated sent forth a heavy and offensive smell.

CARMENINO'S CAPTURE.

On Friday evening last Carmenino was brought into Norwood by Mr. Thos. Shea, jr., and Mr. Wm. Hair. On that afternoon Mr. Shea states that he saw a man in his barn-yard, but as he frequently saw some of the Indians looking for ground-hogs, which it appears they are fond of for dietary purposes, he took no notice of the man; but while ploughing Mr. Hair came over to him, and told him that there was a man lying down in his yard, and further said that it might possibly be the Italian murderer. Both then went to the yard and found their surmises correct, as he answered the description given of the murderer. They took him into Mr. Shea's house, and then with a team brought him to Norwood and gave him into custody here. Mr. A. R. Anderson took charge of him, and with others in our village, paid every attention to his wants and comfort. Although not having eaten anything for three days, his throat was so sore he could eat nothing, and only liquids could he be induced to swallow. Dr. Ford alleviated his painful condition by promptly dressing his wounds, the one on the left arm near the shoulder causing him a great deal of suffering, as it had mortified to a considerable extent. When captured he was in a very exhausted condition, and it is said that he throughout the night if he had not been discovered and secured. As it was the doctor stated that only with proper care and nourishment could he survive his wounds and privations. These he received to the fullest extent at McGregor's hotel, Dr. Ford, Mr. McGregor and others being assiduous in their attentions upon the Italian stranger.

CARED FOR HIM,

COULD NOT POSSIBLY HAVE LIVED

THE INQUEST.

An inquest was held on the body of Octavio on Thursday last by Dr. Bell of Peterborough, when a verdict of "wilful murder" was brought against the prisoner. A verdict received here with considerable unfavourable comment. A warrant was then issued for the arrest of Angelo Carmenino.

THE INTERMENT.

On Friday afternoon the remains of the Italian, Denenico Octavio, were interred in the Roman Catholic Cemetery, near Norwood, the Italians of the camp only attending his funeral.

THE MAGISTRATE'S TRIAL.

On Monday morning the prisoner, Angelo Carmenino, was arraigned before Magistrates Breackenridge and Blezard, for the murder of Denenico Octavio. An Italian, the only one who perfectly understood the English language, was summoned as interpreter, who performed his duties to the entire satisfaction of the court. The only witness examined was Pasquandonco Rossi, who testified—I am employed on the Ontario & Quebec Railway. On Wednesday morning last, Carmenino, who was cooking at the stove in camp, was told by Octavio that "he had bought no dinner pail yet, and that he always wanted to use the stove first," Carmenino replied, "It is none of your business, I wont buy anything." Octavio said: "I care, because you take my dinner pail," Carmenino then said: "Shut up or I will give you fight." Octavio replied, "I am not afraid of you; come down to the woods and I will fight you." Carmenino picked up a sharp stick that was lying on the bed, Octavio then took up a knife he had been cutting fish with. Both went outside the camp about three feet. Carmenino picked up a stone about two pounds in weight and threw it at Octavio and struck him on the arm. Octavio then stabbed Carmenino in the arm twice. Witnesses' attention was then drew towards the road, and he stated he did not see prisoner strike deceased with the stick. When he again looked round, he saw blood was coming from Octavio's mouth. Witness and others then caught Octavio in their arms, who died in about three minutes after, without saying a word. Witness saw the wound in Octavio's breast.

The prisoner, after having been duly warned that anything he said would be brought against him, said that Octavio struck him twice with a knife after he had struck him with the stone, and that he struck deceased with a stone from his right hand, and stabbed him with the stick with his left hand: He struck Octavio in self-defence, as he was afraid he was going to be killed, his opponent being stronger than he.

Dr. Ford testified—On Friday afternoon I was called to see prisoner, and found him in an exceedingly weak condition, almost powerless. On removing the clothing, which was saturated with blood, I found two wounds, one on his left arm and one on his left shoulder, made with a sharp instrument. The man was suffering very severely from hunger and exhaustion, and loss of blood.

There was no further evidence taken, the magistrates deeming that enough had been given to commit the prisoner. A committal to prison was at once made out by Mr. Breackenridge, when Carmenino was placed in charge of the constable, who on Monday afternoon took him to Peterborough, to await his trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

The Story of "Hazel Kirke."

Hazel Kirke is the daughter of a well-to-do miller, and has nursed back to life Lord Travers, whom her father saved from drowning. She is betrothed to Aaron Rodney, a wealthy neighbor, who resigns her when he discovers the love which has grown up between her and Lord Travers. She marries the nobleman, and her father, whose irascible temper prevents him from understanding the situation, drives her from home. She is happy with her husband, until his mother tells her that she is not his lawful wife, and that he must marry another woman, whoes fortune his dead father had stolen. This, she says, is the only course to save the family honor, and Hazel believing that her husband has deceived her, flies from the place. Her father has lost his eyesight during her absence, and as she opens the window of her old room on a wild and stormy night, she hears him bewailing his misfortunes and charging them to her. She enters and meets Rodney, her old lover, who again offers to marry her. The old man does not know of her presence, and when Rodney asks his consent, he refuses, and says he would drive her from his door. After Rodney leaves, she resolves to drown herself and leave the house. A moment later a shout that Hazel is drowning is heard, and the old man in his helplessness can do nothing for her. The stubbornness and cruelty that drove her to the attempt to take her own life, flashes upon him. In an instant, and in his misery, his senses, leave him. Hazel is saved by Lord Travers, her husband, who has followed her. Her voice brings the old man back to the world again, and the play ends happily. Remember the day and date, Monday evening, May 21st. Reserved seat tickets now on sale at Menzies' book store. Prices 75, 50 and 25 cents.

Drawing in Schools.

The committee of the school board on appointments, to whom was referred with power to act, the matter of procuring instruction in linear drawing for two of the rooms in the central public school, have been fortunate in securing the competent services of Miss Cooper, town. She gives instructions in line drawing in Mr. J. Braden's room an hour on three days per week, and in Mr. T. Braden's room an hour one day in the week. According to the departmental regulations line drawing will hereafter be an obligatory subject for entrance candidates, and though not required at the next examinations in June, pupils will receive papers and be credited with marks in proportion to the proficiency displayed. Miss Cooper's engagement is only for two months, but it is probable that it will be made permanent, and her instruction extended to the Ward Schools.

A Farmer Speaks.

Mr. Austin Jay, Copenhagen, Ont., says he was so afflicted with Liver complaint that he was obliged to give up work. The druggist at Alymer induced him to try ZOPESA with such good results that after using two bottles he was able to resume work as usual. Says he got relief from the first dose, and is satisfied there is no better Liver remedy in existence. He gladly allows us to use his name. For sale by J. D. Tully. 17-tf

Mr. Cahill, in the absence of Mr. Paterson, chairman, presented the report of the Finance Committee, which recommended that the account of Toker & Co., $57.75, be paid; that Mr. G. W. Hall's request for exemption of his biscuit factory from taxation be granted, and that a by-law be passed exempting it for one or more years. In reference to the obtaining of the money for the purchase of the Bank of Toronto property, the Committee recommended that the Town Treasurer be authorized to pay Mr. James Stevenson on the first of July, $1,500.00, part of the purchase money of the Bank of Toronto buildings, and that the town take over possession at that date.

The Committee also recommended that the Town Trust Commissioners be requested to hand over to the Town Treasurer any monies in their hands, or hereafter received, from the sale of lands on the South Reserve. The report was adopted.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. Cahill, Chairman, presented the report of the committee, recommending the building of walks on Brock street, King street (4 feet wide), and Queen street (reconstructed).

That $120 be expended at the Geese Pond.

That the south end of Aylmer street be graded at a cost of $10.

That Sherbrooke street, west from Aylmer street be graded and gravelled.

That the petition of B. Shortly for street improvements be granted, and that the above work be done by contract or otherwise.

That the contract for supplying lumber for street purposes had been awarded to Mr. W. B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, his tender being the lowest, viz.: $8 per thousand for pine plank, and $10.75 for cedar scantling, and the committee recommended that the Clerk be instructed to enter into a contract with Mr. Kelly.—Report adopted.

COW BY-LAW.

On motion the matter of the enforcement of the cow by-law was referred to the committee on Appointments, with power to appoint a person to carry out the by-law.

STREET MATERIAL.

On motion of Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Cahill, the street committee was authorized to avail themselves of material from cellars for streets when advisable.

EXEMPTING FIREMEN.

On motion the firemen were exempted from poll taxation.

ASSISTANT ENGINEER.

A motion by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Hartley, to appoint Samuel Clegg assistant engineer, at a salary of $30 was referred to the committee on appointments.

NO SECONDERS.

Mr. Sawers moved a series of resolutions, condemnatory of Councillor Rutherford's connection with the new fire stables; they got no seconders, but evoked a good deal of sharp talk and warm feeling. He was equally unsuccessful in eliciting information from Mr. Rutherford in reference to alleged nepotism in the obtaining of work as chairman of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, and in relation to his improper relations as a councillor to contracts with the town, Mr. Rutherford refusing to answer.

IMPROPER CONDUCT.

Mr. Sawers called attention to the alleged improper conduct of a constable, whose name he did not mention. He also referred to the fact of constables smoking cigars on the street. No action was taken.

STREET WATERING.

Mr. Cahill inquired of the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee as to the arrangements for street watering, and advocated an extension of the area so as to include Charlotte street, as far as the station, at least. If necessary he thought two water carts had better be procured and do the work efficiently.

Mr. Rutherford said that the water waggon was almost useless, and the strain of drawing it full of water up the hill from the river was weakening it every trip. He thought it would be well for the Council to take steps to utilize the waterworks in this connection.

Mr. McNaughton decidedly objected to local work like street watering, being done by a general tax.

Mr. Cahill also objected to the principle, but he advocated the watering of a wider area of streets, and the procuring of two or even three water wagons if necessary.

WATER WORKS.

Mr. Stapleton, a director of the water works company, was heard. He thought that reasonable arrangements with the company could be made. He pointed out how the hydrants could supply water for street watering now, conveniently, and how it would cheapen the cost of the of the work, or what was the same, admit of more work being done.

A motion was adopted, requesting the Fire, Water and Gas Committee to take steps to find out on what terms water can be obtained from the company for street watering purposes.

RAILWAY CROSSING.

On motion of Mr. Hartley, seconded by Mr. Douglas, the Clerk was requested to ask the Midland Railway to lay down planking on the crossing on Aylmer street, between Dublin and Edinburgh streets.

MARKET PLATFORM.

On motion of Mr. Kelly, seconded by Mr. Douglas the market committee was empowered to consult with the Town Trust Commissioners with reference to widening the platform surrounding the Market House, which had become too narrow for the market attendance.

The Council adjourned till the 29th May.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

The Reason Why

the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by M. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 17, 1883.

The "Review's" Registry Ravings.

Our local contemporary is seised at regularly recurring periods with a wild and irrepressible desire to write rubbishy rot respecting the vacant registrarship. The Review, and everybody concerned, admit that the present interim incumbent of the office is serving the public interest efficiently, and the Government is not likely to consult our esteemed grumbler as to the time it shall take to make this, or any other appointment. If the Review will indite a homily on the "bribe" "dangled" before the electors of Lennox, in the shape of the customs collectorship, now vacant nearly a year, we can then fancy that its indignation, in reference to the registry matter, is honest. The Review's latest sermon on the latter subject can be easily converted into a sound lecture to Sir John and his colleagues, for "corruptly dangling before the eyes" of the electors of Lennox the collectorship of customs. By changing a few words, which are indicated in italics in the extract below, taken from the Review, the remarks will not be inappropriate to the Napanee matter:

"THE NAPANEE CUSTOMS OFFICE JOB.

"For more than eleven months—for nearly a year—the town of Napanee has been without a Customs officer, because during part of that time Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues desired to use the office as a means of corrupting the constituency, and because during the period since the election they have been afraid to face the consequence of their own misdeeds, and have not dared to appoint any of the sixty different candidates they pretended to favour, knowing well how their corrupt duplicity would be resented by those whom they must necessarily disappoint after holding out to them hopes of the position, for the purpose of unduly and illegally influencing their votes and those of their friends.

"This neglect of their duty, although natural, is entirely inexcusable. It is not because their Cabinet, or rather the remnant of it, has not be in council, for they have, since the June elections corruptly rewarded hosts of their electioneering agents at the expense of the taxpayers. It is simply that they are abnegating the functions of their position, because they dare not face the indignation of those they have deceived, and the condemnation of the public for their misdeeds.

"It is no justification for their neglect that an efficient acting customs officer has carried on the duties of the office satisfactorily for this long time, since it is their duty to make a permanent appointment, for which they will be responsible in the regular manner.

"Come, gentlemen, the longer you crane at the leap the worse it will seem—the longer you stand shivering on the brink the greater will be the shock—make your appointment, and let us see whom you have bribed by means of this customs office, and whom you have also deluded by corruptly dangling the bribe before their eyes."

But the Review's indignant denunciation, as given above, of Sir John's duplicity in "corruptly dangling the bribe before the eyes" of the electors of Lennox, does not cover the ground. The ten times greater wrong and outrage on representative institutions, committed by Sir John, in illegally disfranchising either Lennox or Carleton by sitting in the House in the impossible position of representative of both ridings, is something that admits of no palliation nor defence. For all the public know, both the Dominion and Ontario Governments may have perfectly proper reasons for the delaying of the appointments to the respective vacant offices, but on no grounds of justice, right, law or custom, can Sir John's position as representative of two ridings be defended.

Mr. Beaty, M.P., of Toronto, is agitating his new system of partial prohibition of the liquor traffic. He proposes to do away with the sale and manufacture of spirits, and permit the use of only good beer and light wines. He claims that by this means the revenue from intoxicating liquors will be gradually decreased, and the way cleared to grappling with the question of total prohibition. Mr Beaty's plan has many admirers, but it seems something like a man curing himself of theft by resolving to steal only articles of small value; when he finds out that this does not satisfy the cravings of his soul, he will quit the business entirely and become honest. One cannot destroy the Canada thistle by forbidding it to grow, and planting weaker weeds to supply its place.

Sanitary Matters.

Every year there is an increasing interest in the matter of sanitary precautions and conditions, and as a result there is, as an authority remarks, a growing and well-founded uneasiness regarding some of the conditions under which we live, a feeling that much sickness and death might be averted by better sanitary conditions and regulations. At the recent meeting of the Provincial Board of Health, health matters were very fully discussed. The portion of the discussion in relation to the contamination of drinking water by the infiltration of noxious refuse, was very fully discussed, and owing to the peculiar position of Peterborough, in respect of drainage, it has a very significant importance. Without sewers to carry off rapidly the refuse that must arise from domestic operations, there is, as the report of the committee on the disposal of sewerage shows, great and almost necessary danger of drinking water becoming dangerously contaminated. Prof. Galbraith says, the fact that well water has a good appearance and taste and is odourless, is no proof that it has not suffered contamination, since highly polluted water has often these characteristics. In view of these facts it is high time that the matter of general drainage for the town received practical attention. Its need is so apparent that ratepayers, on the grounds of convenience, tidiness and cleanliness alone, if not on the far more important grounds of danger to health, will not likely object to the expense necessarily involved. The refuse of the kitchen, and slops of the house generally, in default of the existence of sewers, is thrown on the ground. Here it makes not only disagreeable untidiness, but what is far worse, becomes absorbed by the ground, and in the porous soil of Peterborough this process is rapid. That it does not injure the water of our wells is a delusion. When the soil has reached the maximum point of saturation the surplus matter must flow into and pollute our wells. This is no pessimist view of the matter. The assertions just made are amply proven by the results of scientific observation, investigation and research. The financial position of the town is such that there is no excuse on the score of expense for the authorities neglecting to consider the matter seriously. This is obviously a question that cannot be discussed publicly in all its bearings, but facts exist that cannot be ignored, which, were it politic to adduce them, would show to the most careless that the problem of dealing with conditions affecting the public health must soon be grappled with.

Editorial Notes.

The votes of the quarterly meetings on the question of union now stand as follows: Yeas, 639; nays, 88; ties, 10.

In a recent article on the ratio of voters to the population, the Toronto Globe shows that in Canada there is one voter to 6½ persons; in Great Britain one voter to 11½ persons: in France one to 3½ persons, and in the United States one voter to 4½ persons. At the presidential election in the United States in 1880, 9,204,428 votes were cast; being one vote to every 5½ people in the country.

The Ottawa Free Press says that Sir Charles Tupper's four hour's effort on the Pacific Railway question in the House was tame. The absence of allusion to his retirement, and the somewhat perfunctory submission of stale and not very reliable statistics, gave his speech an air of emptiness. It was a duty he had to perform, we suppose, and he did it with the best grace possible under the circumstances. It was a disappointment nevertheless.

The Cobourg World has another batch of compliments for the Review. It remarks:—"Yes, yes; this is Peterborough Review style, exactly. He had a mighty sight rather call a man a liar than prove him so. "Falsehood," and "theft," and "forgery," and "crime," and "rubbish," are favorite terms with the gentleman who does the ink-flinging for that meritorious sheet; but the moment he comes to argue a point, he flattens out like a weather-prophet."

Although judges are not allowed to vote at elections for the Legislative Assembly, they are pretty certain to get more of politics this summer than is pleasant. They are getting ready to try the election appeals. Orders have been granted for particulars of bribery charges, and as soon as circuit duties are completed their lordships will begin work. This work will not be light by any means. There are thirty-five, out of the 88 seats, contested, including several cross petitions.

There may before long be a general election in England; Mr. Gladstone has suffered two or three defeats on division, the last being on the Inland Revenue Bill. It is stated that he cannot any longer command the solid support of the Liberals. Mr. Gladstone has pursued a straightforward course, and the ability with which he has steered the ship of state through most troublous waters, entitle him, one would think, to the support at least of the Liberal party. If the statements of dissensions are true, a dissolution of the House will not be an unexpected event.

The present Government profess to have a paternal interest in the workingman and mechanic, especially at election time. The following cable message received by Sir A. T. Galt in England from the Dominion Government speaks for itself: "General laborers and mechanics urgently required in old provinces of Canada as well as Manitoba and British Columbia. Agents must exert themselves to supply this demand." This is delightful. Now, messieurs mechanics, you will feel reconciled to paying high taxes on the food you eat, the fuel you burn, and the clothes you wear, for the workingman's friend is assisting old country mechanics at your expense to come to Canada to compete with you, to cut you out of jobs, and to show what account is taken of you except at election times.

An exchange asserts that the speech of Hon. Mr. Blake in reply to Sir Chas. Tupper's enunciation of the Government policy on the Pacific Railway question, stands unparalleled in Canadian parliamentary history. The Minister of Railways had taken weeks to prepare his points, and debated the question in all its aspects for four hours. Without a moment's hesitation Mr. Blake commenced to reply. When he had concluded, not a point raised by Sir Charles was unanswered. The various inconsistencies, contradictions and misstatements of the Government and syndicate' were laid before the House with such telling force that Sir John's followers were appalled as they listened. The most servile government supporters were driven to confess that it was a terrible indictment. None dare attempt to reply. The speech was unaswerable.

The Toronto Mail is bound to fully test the principle of the plan of lying, and sticking to it. If it insults a public man, instead of making the amende honorable, it perpetuates the insult. Not long ago Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, from a sense of gratitude for his recovery from a severe illness, directed a card to be inserted in the Toronto papers, expressive of his reverent thanks to Almighty God for having answered the prayers of his people by restoring his Grace to health. This notice the Mail refused to insert in its columns, although the price of insertion, at the usual advertising rates, was tendered. The Mail evidently could not forgive his Grace for presuming, contrary to the Mail's declaration, to have an "intellect above that of a poodle dog." Such treatment of a ward politician might be easily overlooked, but such an attitude of childish irreverence by the chief organ of the Conservative party, towards the highest ecclesiastic in the country, is a petty meanness beneath the contempt of an honest man, except that it indicates on the part of the Tory organ and its following, a spirit of hostility and disrespect towards the venerable Archbishop and his people, that cannot be ignored.

TESTIMONIAL TO MR. MACKENZIE.

On Saturday evening Hon. Mr. Mackenzie was waited upon by a deputation of leading Ottawa Reformers and presented with an address and purse containing $1,058, which has been subscribed by a small number of his friends in Ottawa and Kingston. The hon. gentleman expressed his gratitude for the gift in feeling terms. His sojourn in the Old Country will doubtless be rendered more pleasant by the knowledge that he has in Canada thousands of friends who are never reluctant in giving substantial evidence of their appreciation of his great public services.

POLITICAL NOTES.

When Sir John telegraphs to Sir A. T. Galt that good laborers and mechanics are "urgently needed in the old provinces of Canada;" does he really believe that those here at present are not equal to the demand? Or is it that he has "no confidence in the breed?"

A Pennsylvania protectionist was shocked when he went to church the other day and heard the minister announce that salvation was free. Next day he sat down and wrote to his Congressman asking why he allowed it to escape the tariff bill.

Mr. Thos. White is an ardent advocate of printing jobs, and no wonder. The Montreal Gazette received from the Government $6,148 for printing, and Mr. MacIntosh's paper, $4,797. These two gentlemen are remarkable illustrations of the independence of Parliament, and the independence of the press.

The official returns of the expenses of the candidates in the recent election in East Toronto are: Hon. A. Morris, $1,498.39; John Leys, $626.80; Mr. Heakes, $443.75. For West Toronto they are:—Mr. Clarke, $2,318; Mr. Carter, $509. The figures are suggestive. Viewed in their light the result is not in the least surprising.

Hon. Mr. Arglin was presented with an address on the eve of his departure for Toronto by the Catholics of St. John and Portland in St. Malachi's Hall last Thursday. His Lordship the Bishop of St. John presided. The address referred in highly complimentary terms to the hon. gentleman, to which he suitably replied. The hall was completely filled, nearly all the prominent and influential Catholics of the city being present.

The interest of the brewers is to get their malt as cheaply as possible, and of those brewing who are also malsters to get their barley as cheaply as possible. The Government at Ottawa is to a great extent run by brewers; therefore the export malsters need look for no good in that direction. On the contrary, the destruction of the export malting trade is a welcome event to brewers, for their great competitors in the barley market are crippled, and the means of supplying malt will far exceed the demand.

It is well known that Sir Charles Tupper has been in a state of disgruntlement for a long time, because his title to the reversion of the leadership was not definitely recognized. At each of the last two elections he has required to be carefully treated, least he should refuse to work. It is understood that he has had more than one promise from the Premier that the latter would soon retire in Sir Charles' favor. Sir Charles now knows why the Indians have christened Sir John, "Old To-Morrow."

The Bad and Worthless

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop"or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but the genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 18-4t

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

TUESDAY.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Charlton drew attention to the statement in the Mail's Ottawa correspondence to the effect that Mr. Charlton was the father of a scheme for increasing the sessional indemnity, and that he, together together with Mr. G. W. Ross, Mr. Paterson (Brant) and Mr. Somerville (Brant) had charge of it. He said this statement was totally false. He had always opposed the scheme, and he believed he was the only member who avowed his intention of dividing the House on the question. This statement drew forth cries of "No," from a number of Opposition members.

Messrs. Ross, Paterson and Somerville all rose in turn and denounced the Mail's statement as untrue.

Mr. Davies took exception to Mr. Charlton's statement that he was the only member who had announced his intention of dividing the House on the salary-grab question, for he (Mr. Davies) had also done so, and he had no doubt other members of the Opposition had done so, although they might not think it necessary to rise and say so.

After the Civil Service Amendment Act had been read a third time, the House again went into Committee of Supply.

On the item of $246,000 for improving Trent Valley navigation,

Sir Charles Tupper stated that the portions of the work upon which this money was spent were for Fenelon Falls, Buckhorn, and Burleigh. The Fenelon Falls contract was to be finished by July 1st, 1885; the Buckhorn contract by September 1st, 1884, and the Burleigh contract by July 1st, 1885.

The item was passed.

WEDNESDAY.

Considerable progress was made to-night in voting Supply. Although the Opposition felt bound to challenge such items as in their opinion were open to criticism, no needless opposition was offered.

Sir John Macdonald, in explaining the increase of $150,000 on account of surveys of Dominion lands, stated that during this next season the outlines would be run of about 800 townships, and from 1,000 to 1,200 would be subdivided into quarter sections and laid out for settlement.

A petition was introduced, signed by 19,253 men and 6,754 women, praying that spirits or beer may not be permitted to be sold in connection with groceries or any other merchandise.

THURSDAY.

To the State ball at the Government House may be attributed the small attendance in the House to-night.

In Supply, Mr. Ross, of Middlesex, took exception to the vote of $900 for annual registers furnished by one Henry J. Morgan, a clerk in the Secretary's department. It was explained that the publishing of the work did not interefere with Mr. Morgan's official duties, as the work was entirely contributed by Mr. Morgan, merely having to sign his name to the title page.

On the vote of $2,500 for the guard at Rideau Hall, Sir Hector Langevin stated that it was not intended that the rate should be made permanent. This was an exceptional vote.

FRIDAY.

Mr. White (Cardwell) presented the report of the Standing Committee on printing. He explained the changes that had been made during past meetings of the committee to strengthen the official reporting staff, so as to secure a still more perfect report.

Mr. Blake stated that it would be advisable to utilize the French reporters in assisting the translators, as evidently they were not now entirely engaged in reporting. He would also like to know the probable cost of the Hansard for the next year.

Mr. White said that it was intended to use the French reporters in assisting the translators. The cost of the publication would be about $25,000.

Mr. Patterson wished to know if the suggestion he made to send out the revised copies of the sheet to newspapers instead of the unrevised ones was taken into consideration.

Mr. White said that the matter was well worth the consideration of the committee, and he would bring the subject before the committee between this and the close of the session. The report was adopted.

Sir John Macdonald gave notice that Government orders would have precedence on Monday.

The result of the negotiations between the Dominion and British Columbia Governments was announced in the Provincial Assembly on Wednesday. The local Government agrees to convey 3,000,000 acres of land on the mainland and Island railway belt to the Dominion Government, while the latter undertakes to secure the construction of the Island Railway, to pay the province a quarter of a million for the dry-dock site and plant, to complete the work, and to throw open to settlers the railway lands on the mainland. It is believed that the Provincial Legislature will accept the terms.

OVER DRIVEN HORSES.

J. E. Mercer, Madoc, Ont., says: Last summer I overdrove a very fine horse which was perfectly sound when I bought him; the over-driving caused a bone spavin. Hearing of Dr. Dow's Sturgeon Oil Liniment from the proprietors of the stable, I purchased a bottle, the use of which made him perfectly sound. I have driven him ever since, without any sign or any return of the spavin. This is conclusive.

Highly Satisfactory.

Impure blood and low vitality are the great sources of most diseases for which Burdock Blood Bitters is the specific. S. Perrin Druggist, of Lindsay, writes that Burdock Blood Bitters give more general satisfaction than any blood purifier in the market. 20-2t

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO'S

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR

A NEW DISCOVERY.

For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

If you cannot get the "improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (46)

Peterborough Examiner.

PETEBBOROUGH, MAY 17, 1883.

A Friendly Witness.

The Review seems to be the self constituted guardian-angel of the Trent Valley Canal works and is always ready to pour out the phials of its wrath on any one daring enough to insinuate that the Government is paltering with the public of the Midland district, in a double sense—"keeping the word of promise to the ear and breaking it to the hope." The EXAMINER has never uttered one word hostile to the undertaking itself, but in the public interest, it has called attention to the manner in which the Government has trifled with the undertaking and pointed out evidence of its being prostituted to political purposes. For this, it has been repeatedly and roundly abused by the Review. The latter claims that the Government exists only to build this important work, but to show that its faith is not unmixed with fear, a few quotations from its columns may be given. As further evidence of the whole-souled interest of the Government in the scheme, it may be mentioned that on the occasion of Sir John's campaign visit to Peterborough last June, the speaker would have wholly forgotten to utter Trent Valley taffy at all, had he not been frantically prompted by a local politician.

Before the election our contemporay would listen to no insinuation that the Government was not sincere in reference to the building of the canal, but when the cry was no longer necessary, it began to grumble at evidences of trifling with the work. On the 30th June the Review grumbles thus:—

"A great deal of feeling exists hereabouts that the engineering part of the work is not being pushed with the vigor with which it ought to be."

This, coming from the guardian angel of the scheme, is severe denunciation. But more follows; on the 21st July, in reference to the backwardness of preliminary work:—

"We are, therefore, again under the necessity of calling attention to this neglect, and urging immediate attention to this important matter * * * Whatever may be the cause of the delay, we trust that such arrangements will be made as to avoid it in the future."

Still this great project, which the Government professed to have next to the core of their hearts, was so greatly neglected that the last week in July a deputation of Tory politicians went to Ottawa to urge the importance (but not in a political sense of course) of making a show of doing something. Sir Charles made more promises, which the Review tortures into an exhibition of "no want of interest in the project."

On the 20th October the Review discovers that:

"These doubters have now proof that the Government is not only sincere but zealous in the matter."

This zeal is shown in the magnificant progress that has been made in fiddling away on patches to locks and dams, building an ice house, and buying a boring machine, and wasting the appropriation in the most admired manner. Yet the ice house and the boring machine do not satisfy the soul of the Review, which thinks that $290,000 will not be enough to finish a canal that will cost millions, and he goes to grumbling again, and in a most despairing tone. Hear him wail:

"We must express our regret that the supplementary estimates do not include a further grant for the purpose of opening another section of the Trent Valley Navigation. We cannot exactly say that it is a disappointment, for we hardly expected any other result, though we hoped the unexpected might happen."

Such testimony from a friendly witness, on the main fales of the Government in the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, must, of course, have great weight.

The "Disputed" Territory.

Elsewhere we republish from the Globe an article descriptive of the condition of affairs in the territory, Ontario's title to which, though granted by the solemn award of a competent board of arbitrators, the Dominion Government still disputes. The award was made in August, 1878, and the Ontario Legislature took the necessary steps to ratify, on its part, the award. But the Dominion Government, overawed by the jealousy of Quebec, as has been amply shown, refused its act of ratification; and hence we find in the territory, thus placed by the Dominion Government in dispute, the lamentable state of affairs detailed in the article alluded to. There is no security to the proposing settler that he will be able to obtain a satisfactory title; there is practically free trade in whiskey, with all the attendant evils; there is no possibility of effective administration of justice; there is the most complete confusion in the matter of mining claims in a district, which, according to the report, equals in richness the gold fields of Australia or British Columbia. And, finally, there is a criminal and reckless waste of the timber resources of the region. The Dominion Government is legislating on its friends and favorites' vast timber limits. Not content with sequestrating the twenty mile belt of Ontario territory to the uses of the Pacific Railway Company, the Government permits the spoliation of timber lands outside of this belt. The organs scout the idea of "robbery" of of Ontario in the matter of the boundary dispute, but if the giving away by the Dominion Government of property belonging to Ontario, is not "robbery," the dictionary must be revised. Ontario's title to the territory has been settled by the arbitrators; Sir John Macdonald, in his map, conceded the claim of this Province, and other authorities have admitted our claim. Sir George Cartier, Hon. Wm. Macdougall and Chief Justice Draper, and all who took part in resisting the Hudson's Bay Company's claims, believed that the territory belonged to Ontario. Hon. Mr. Mowat has stood up bravely for the rights of the Province in this matter, and his last assertion of the claim of Ontario to this territory, as shown by his seizing the timber cut by the permission of the Ottawa Government, shows that he means not to yield one iota of the rights of Ontario.

Editorial Notes.

A protest has been entered against the return of Mr. Fauquier, the member elect for Muskoka. It is expected that cattle dealers will manifest a keen, if compulsory, interest in the trial of this particular petition.

Many of the mechanics of Hamilton are on strike for higher wages. The Dominion Government is advertising in the Old Country papers that it will give assisted passages to mechanics who desire to come to Canada. The mechanics of Hamilton will not get the higher wages they want if the Dominion Government can prevent them by importing old country mechanics.

The spirit of the Tory gentlemen who prepare election returns has penetrated even to the Census. The third volume of the census returns is pronounced by the London Advertiser to be a mass of "pi," so much so that the Minister felt impelled to insert an explanation. As a book of reference the volume is utterly worthless, but it is still merchantable as old paper.

Mr. D. D. Hay, ex-M.P.P., has been presented by his Liberal friends in North Perth with a flattering address and a purse containing $1,300, on the occasion of his departure from Listowel. He goes to Great Britain as a representative of Ontario, and will devote his energies to securing tenant farmers and domestic servants for the Province. Mr. Hay must feel proud that he stands high in the esteem of his late constituents as well as of the Government.

The fall wheat, says an authority, is badly killed in the Western States as well as in Western Canada. Here, however, we are freed from severe ravages from insects, and in most cases, though still costing a good deal, the loss in wheat can partially be made up by sowing other grain. Illinois alone, it is said, is a sufferer from the Hessian fly to the extent of 49 per cent. of the wheat crop. That represents 30,000,000 bushels. A clear loss of about as many dollars. The farmers naturally don't like the prospect.

The complete break down of Delaney and Caffrey, charged with complicity in the Phœnix Park murders, and their plea of guilty and confession of participation in that terrible crime, leave no doubt that the Goverment have possession of the actual murderers of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke, though as yet they have not secured the individuals who were at the head of the assassination society. It appears from the confession of these two men that they were forced to go to the Park and assist in the work through fear of death. They also confirm the statements of both informers, Kavanagh and Carey, and make it absolutely certain that Brady and Kelly were the persons whose hands struck the murderous blows. All true friends of Ireland hope that this infamous conspiracy has been completely broken up, for not until that happens can the good work of securing home rule and justice proceed.

The Review states that Mr. Meyer Smith has gone to England on business of "public importance," and when a contemporary says that Mr. Smith is "hied off to a foreign country at public expense," the Review indignantly denies that he has gone at the public expense. Will our cotem. tell us what Mr. Smith's business is? If it is of public importance the public have a right to know what it is, and nobody will object to "important public business" being done at the public expense. The Review has something to conceal in this matter. The fact is, that Mr. Smith left town stealthily, not half a dozen (except, perhaps, those in the ring) knowing of his departure five hours beforehand. Whether the probability of his extended knowledge of Provincial election matters being in unpleasant demand at the election trials accounts for his trip or not, the Review, by its clumsy attempt to cover his retreat, has given good grounds for concluding that there is something crooked in his flight at such brief notice.

Ladies can scarcely realize that the Prints shown on Turnbull's counter are only 10 cents a yard.

THE STONY LAKE CANOE MEET.

Preparations for Receiving Visitors.

A largely attended meeting of those interested in the success of the coming meeting of the American Canoe Association on Stony Lake this summer, to make arrangements for welcoming visitors, was held in the Council Chamber here on Tuesday night. The attendance consisted principally of present and prospective. Rev. V. Clementi occupied the chair, and stated the object of the meeting. Letters were read from several parties, expressing their regret at not being able to be present, with the amount of membership subscription enclosed.

Mr. Edwards, Commodore of the Association, detailed the circumstances leading to the selection of Stony Lake as the place of meeting, and this meeting was called to give the public a chance to assist in creditably sustaining the invitation that had been accepted by the Association. He had been fortunate in securing from the Government, for the use of the canoeists. These required to be fitted up and cleaned, and wharves erected, or landing stages, for the safety of canoes and the convenience of canoeists. One island would be for the ladies' camp, and the other for the gentlemen's. He had received permission to use the funds arising from the subscription of members in the Midland District, for these purposes, and he suggested the appointment of a committee of citizens to carry out necessary arrangements, and to do credit to the enterprise and canoeing spirit of the Midland District and Peterborough especially. The Association was an

TWO BEAUTIFUL ISLANDS

ENTIRELY AMATEUR ONE, and all names he would endorse would be accepted as members by the Association. Messrs. H. C. Rogers, N. D. Beck and G. M. Roger, who had visited the camp at Lake George last year, bore witness to the delightful nature of the enjoyment it afforded, and they agreed that by way of comparison as to beauty of site, scenery, etc., Stony Lake was a

MOST HAPPY SELECTION.

Messrs. H. Caloutt, H. T. Strickland, John McClelland, G. B. Sproule and E. J. Toker also spoke with reference to preliminary arrangements, and the advisability of prompt action.

It was decided to secure memberships from those living in this district, and to solicit their co-operation to cause those who came from such distant points to visit the meeting, no regrets as to the selection of the site, or the hospitality of the inhabitants.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

A reception committee, with power to add to their numbers, to make all necessary preliminary arrangements, and co-operate with Lakefield Canoe Association, was appointed as follows:—H. C. Rogers, Chairman; N. D. Beck, Secretary; Rev. V. Clementi, H. T. Strickland, H. Calcutt, G. M. Roger, G. B. Sproule, W. H. Budden, J. R. Stratton, T. D. Belcher, A. White, J. F. Hawkins, J. C. Emmerson, Jno. McClelland, E. J. Toker, R. P. Boucher.

The first meeting of the committee will be held on Tuesday night.

The personnel of the committee gives an assurance that their duties will be ably fulfilled; but the generous co-operation of our citizens generally will be necessary to insure that the credit of the town and district, as to hospitality and becoming arrangements to secure in all respects, the pleasure and comfort of visitors, shall be worthily sustained.

Ladies looking for a pretty Hat or Bonnet, will find the newest shapes neatly trimmed at Turnbull's.

UNCLE TOM'S FUNERAL.

THE REMAINS OF MRS. STOWE'S HERO LAID AT REST.

The funeral of the Rev. Josiah Henson, the original "Uncle Tom," which took place yesterday at Dresden, Ont., was largely attended by the colored population, with here and there a sprinkling of whites, and was an imposing affair. Preceded by the band, the Masonic brethren, colored, marched down to the late residence of the deceased, where the funeral procession was formed. First came the band, playing the "Dead March in Saul," followed by the Masonic brethren in regalia, ministeral brethren, hearse containing "Uncle Tom's" remains, family carriage with mourners, and carriages, with friends and acquaintances. The procession numbered some 70 odd carriages, and as it passed down St. George street it was a solemn and mournful sight. On arriving at the colored Methodist church, an able and feeling sermon was preached by Rev. Elder Hawkins, assisted by several other colored brethren, after which they once more re-formed into line, preceded by the band playing. The procession again wended its way up St. George street, thence across Market Square by Quality Hill to the family burying ground, the remains of "Uncle Tom" were for ever laid to rest near that little old log cabin in the lane. Deceased had reached the advanced age of 94.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SCHOOL BOARD.

There was no quorum present. The hour seems rather early.

THE "CRUISER."

The Cruiser made her first trip on Saturday last, with a scow heavily loaded with freight. The wind was so strong that the scow had to be left in the Narrows, but was taken up all right on Monday.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Council met in their chamber on Monday evening. Councillors present: Messrs. Cox, Nelson, McWilliams and Urquhart; His Worship, the Reeve, in the chair. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Coun. Urquhart's motion to pass a by-law to compel property-holders to clear the snow from the sidewalks in the winter was lost. The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—

Isaac Watson, wages	$10 53
John Cox do	3 00
R. Payton, do	17 00
R. Smith, do	17 00
Wm. Rowe, do	16 88
R. Simpson, do	16 25
Jas. Richardson, wages and team	26 38
W.H. Casement, hose, coupling, &c	20 45
John Cooper, carting	75
Dr. Caldwell, attending Desjardin	2 00

A motion was passed ordering the Clerk to notify the Council of Douro that Lakefield Council was prepared to put the road on the boundary between the two municipalities in proper repair. If Douro does not respond they will be held responsible for any accident that may occur from negligence in attending to the matter. Mr. Hamilton addressed the Council in reference to opening up Concession street. The Council had examined the street and thought they would not be justified in making an appropriation sufficient to make the street passable. $100 at least would be required. Mr. Jas. Horner addressed the Council regarding the kiln of R. & G. Strickland, which was of considerable injury to his property and health of his family. The Reeve thought the Council had no jurisdiction in such matters. The Court of Revision will be held at the next regular meeting of the Council, the 11th June.

FORESTRY.

The Court meets next Thursday evening in Union Hall.

PERSONAL.

We learn that Mr. Goodwin, of the T. V. C. works has leased the residence lately occupied by Dr. Armour, and will, for a time, become a citizen of Lakefield.

Railway Notes.

There are sixty thousand bushels of local grain moving, or ready to move.

An average of two exodusters a day leave the Midland station, with family, stock and implements, for the Northwest.

A large number of immigrants, says the Port Hope News, went north on Thursday morning, purposing to settle along the line of the Midland railway.

There is an immense amount of lumber passing over the Midland railway at present, taxing the carrying capacity of the road to its fullest extent. The present promises to be a great season for freights.

A despatch from Kingston says that 300 laborers are wanted on the Ontario and Quebec. From Sharbot Lake to Perth is being pushed through as fast as possible. Hundreds of men are employed on the line. By the end of July trains will be running over it.

Work on the O. & Q. R. R., in Peterborough, has begun briskly.

The stone culverts on the O. & Q., where it crosses the Midland, are in process of construction. The excavations have been made and the stone work has been begun.

The track of the O. & Q. will be about two and a half feet below the street level where it crosses Aylmer street, about a foot above it on the Townsend street crossing, and a considerable distance above on the Monaghan Road crossing, near the R. C. Cemetery.

The through grain trade on the Midland railway is opening sharply, and will, when the grain movement is fully developed for the season, be something enormous, and will keep the track hot. Already forty cars daily—averaging 500 bushels each—or twenty thousand bushels per day, pass over the road. About twenty cars of lumber also pass over it every day.

Mr. James Keating, contractor for the erection of the Indian River O. & Q. R. R. bridge, has all the stone for it ready dressed, and will go on with the building of it as soon as low water mark is reached. The bridge will be of iron, 120 feet long, a single span resting on two abutments. He has also the contract for bridging the Ouse, and will proceed to finish the work as soon as possible.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company, held on Tuesday, Mr. G. A. Cox was elected a member of the board instead of the late Col. Haultain. His eminent business abilities, as witnessed by his phenomenal success in other business undertakings, will make Mr. Cox an especially valuable addition to the already efficient membership of the board.

The Midland railway is being pushed to the full facilities of the road with through grain. It is said that the arrivals at Midland will necessitate five hundred car loads being transported over the line immediately. In consequence of the heavy grain traffic, it is expected that the usual quantity of lumber will not arrive here during the next week or ten days.—News.

Peterborough and Lindsay may now be regarded as active rivals for the new Midland railway workshops. While the geographical odds may be in favor of Lindsay, the financial inducements under the control of Peterborough are said to far out-weigh any Lindsay consideration. Now let Peterborough and Lindsay fight the question out on business principles—that is, if Lindsay has the money and Peterborough the principles.—News.

A relic in the shape of an old engine passed west over the Grand Trunk railway last week from the east, en route to the Chicago exhibition of old locomotives, etc. It was built in Durham, England, in 1833, and bears the suggestive name of Sampson. There are six driving wheels on Sampson. The cylinders are perpendicular and are on the top of the boiler. There is no cab or shelter for the engineer and stoker. An iron chair on each side of the boiler is the only provision for these gentlemen. Attached to Sampson was a passenger coach, about the size of a two-horse cab, capable of seating six persons, with doors on each side. The whole business was transported on two flat cars. It is the oldest locomotive in Canada, and is owned at the New Glasgow (N.S.) coal mines.

Within ten days, or a fortnight, the workmen will have completed the task of dressing the immense blocks of stone on the west side of the river, for the railway bridge here. When this is done the stone cutters will be removed to the east side. There will be four abutments—two shore and two mid-river, and five piers. The abutments will be of an area of 25 x 31 feet, built on piling, provided a solid foundation is not found practicably near the surface, and their up-stream faces will be provided with ice-breakers 7 x 5½ feet, and rising about five feet above low water mark. The abutments will be twelve feet high above low water. The piers will be the same height, with a base area of 25 x 7½ feet. The draw will be placed on the west side of the river. The bridge is being built by the company, under the charge of its engineers, and Mr. James Keating as foreman.

A GOOD BARGAIN FOR THE SYNDICATE.

There is Mr. Stephen's statement. He points out that the stock capital ($90,000,000) is $54,000,000 cash, and he says that when the enterprise will be completed the road from Montreal to the Pacific Ocean will be in existence, fully equipped in the best style, with 450 miles of branches, with this result; that it will cost $54,000,000 of paid up capital against which we have to set 17,000,000 acres of the finest wheat land on the continent. Now what do you value 17,00,000 of the finest lands on the continent at? Whatever you value them at, strike a balance between the value and the $54,000,000 and you will find what the road will cost the company; and after that the company get these $28,000,000 of Government works, irrespective of surveys. Now, Sir, that statement is perfectly plain and clear. If that statement is reliable—and I do not understand the hon. gentleman to dispute it, for it represents the views of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, after all the information they have received as to what this road is going to cost—the result will be that the view I have stated, which was based on that prospectus, are wholly borne out in this regard.—Hon. Edward Blake in Canada Pacific Debate.

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.]

Very little doing in grain. A few shipments have been effected during the week and sold from $1.00 to $1.03 for spring; fall would likely bring $1, none offering. Oats wheat 30 to 32c. Peas selling from 65 to 68c. Barley not offering. Oats have sold as high as 55c. for seed, this, however cannot be taken as market value. On the market butter is more plentiful, and is dropping, 20c. is now about market value, although some has brought 22 to 23c.; expect to see lower prices. Eggs have been abundant and selling at 12c. Nothing doing in fresh meat except veal, which brings 6 to 7c. Potatoes are more plentiful and difficult to sell at 75c. per bag. Any increase will likely break the market.

THE OLD MACHINE SHOP.

(Written for the EXAMINER at the request of a number of Peterborough citizens.)

Within thy new decaying walls
Once wrought a jovial gang,
And with the gay industrious scene
The steel-faced anvil rang;
Machinists, robust, hardy men,
Toiled on the live-long year;
The hammer's ring, the lathe's dull buzz,
Was music to their ear.

And 'twas within thy aged walls
That first I learnt the rule,
That patience was the grandest,
And the best mechanic's tool.
But, oh! how few possess it—
How few enjoyed its birth—
To use to their advantage,
Its glorious, priceless worth.

On the old post in the corner
Each 'prentice cut his name—
With callipers and hammers crossed,
It's still unchanged the same.
Whose are these, in adolescence;
That did those names engrave?
They're scattered, some to foreign lands,
And some are in the grave.

Perchance some, in the linking years,
May have returned again,
And, wandering through its barren space,
Have, like me, felt a pain.
The change receding years produce
Forbids us look before;
The life that once therein prevailed
Shall have its sway no more.

The blacksmith shop, what happy scenes
Its manless forges bring;
Oft' times I fancy, as I gaze,
I hear the anvil's ring,
When, with our other random sports,
It was a glorious treat,
With sledge in hand to take our part
And weld a ponderous heat.

When kind old Dick, the blacksmith,
Would his experience tell;
And, on the points he'd erred in life,
Advising us would dwell.
And oft' times at his aged side,
Each youth would, in his turn,
Attention pay, as he'd trace out
The temper grades we'd learn.

Such is the uncertain way of life,
Such is the chain we link,
And what futurity contains
We often strive to think.
Alas! all's changed; each hardy soul
Has gone his chosen way—
Each one designing is destined
His tedious part to play.

Peterborough, May 14th, 1883.

ONTARIO'S FALL WHEAT.

A Good Crop in the East, but Smothered in the West.

Mr. A. T. Kerr, stockbroker, Toronto, a few days ago sent out circulars to representative men in different parts of Ontario, requesting information as to the state of the crops, fall wheat especially. Replies have been received from a large number of centres, and below the result is summarized. The gentlemen supplying the information are especially competent to form an opinion, as they are persons on intimate relations with the farmers and millers generally.

It may be stated that fall wheat in the western and northern districts has been badly hurt by the snow, and the prospects are that the crop there will be between 25 and 50 per cent. less than the average. In Eastern Ontario, on the other hand, the prospects are very encouraging, and more than an average crop is expected:—

EASTERN ONTARIO.

WHITBY.—The general opinion is that fall wheat looks favorable for a good crop. In some places it is winter-killed, but most of the farmers say it never looked better at this season.

COBOURG.—Fall wheat alive and good clover alive.

MILLBROOK.—Fall wheat looks good in this district. Very little winter-killed. There is one-third more average in this section than has been for the past three years. Wheat somewhat above the average about here. All farmers say the crop is of average sowing and looking well.

LINDSAY.—The fall wheat all through this section is excellent in every respect. The fall wheat promises to be very good—much better than usual. The clover is not so certain.

PETERBOROUGH.—Fall wheat is likely to be a good crop, at least it is looking splendidly at present.

BELLEVILLE.—Fall wheat is reported looking splendidly in this section, the grain having been well covered with snow during the winter and no serious frost having occurred since the snow left it uncovered. The area sown about the same as last year.

KINGSTON.—The winter favorable to fall wheat in this section. Barley is the principal crop, but owing to the dry weather last fall less acreage than usual was plowed.

PORT HOPE.—The fall wheat in this vicinity is looking immense, and promises better than last year. There is going to be a fair average crop. There is very little of it winter-killed.

BOWMANVILLE.—The average of fall wheat in this locality is not large. Some complaints as to the crops having been winter-killed, but upon the whole the crop is up to the average of expectations. The clover looks well.

OSHAWA.—The fall wheat in this section is about 25 per cent. below the average. There has been some of it plowed up this spring.

BARRIE:—The prospects are that the crops will be above the average. A very small per centage has been winter-killed in this locality.

ORILLIA.—The fall wheat in this part of the country will be hardly half a crop. Many farmers are plowing it up.

THORNBURY.—Fall wheat will not yield 50 per cent. of average crop here.—Toronto World.

THE DISPUTED TERRITORY.

Results of the Non-Confirmation of the Boundary Award.

The Liquor Traffic and the Lumbering Industry.

(From the Globe.)

The report of Mr. George Burden, who was the magistrate sent by the Ontario Government as Commissioner to inquire into the condition of affairs existing in the vicinity of Rainy River and Lake of the Woods, has just been published by order of the Legislative Assembly. The Commissioner has done his work with great thoroughness, and draws a graphic picture of the wretched condition of affairs caused by the refusal of the Dominion Parliament to ratify the award of the boundary arbitrators in 1878. The report brings the history of the matter down to February last, and therefore contains a good deal of information not heretofore published, as well as a review of the occurences of the past five years. Rat Portage began to assume importance as a centre of population and business when it was made, in 1879, the headquarters of the contractors of Section B of the Canadian Pacific Railway. From that time to this one of the chief curses of the locality has been the LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

There were in operation in 1879 two laws which assumed to regulate that traffic, the "Dominion Public Works Act" and the "North-West Territories Act," the latter of which was prohibitory. Neither of these statutes was enforced in an efficient manner by the magistrates and constables appointed by the Dominion Government, who were too often found in collision with, and sometimes in the pay of, the illicit whiskey sellers. In the beginning of 1880 Mr. W. D. Lyon, one of the stipendiary magistrates under the Ontario Government, arrived at Rat Portage, and, in spite of the disputed title to the country, was, through the confidence reposed in him by the contractors and residents, enabled to render effectual service in checking the liquor traffic and breaking up the most notorious dens of prostitution. As evidence of the lawlessness which prevailed in the neighbourhood at this period, it may be stated that bands of whiskey peddlers on McDougall's Island and at Eagle Lake had armed themselves with knives and revolvers and openly set the constables at defiance. The latter body succeeded in arresting three of the criminals at Eagle Lake. When the fact of the arrests became known, the remainder of the band forcibly rescued their comrades by overpowering the constables, subsequently firing into the telegraph office in which the latter had taken refuge. Towards the close of 1881 a state of affairs prevailed of which the following illustration is taken from the report:—

"A person in Rat Portage keeps a saloon, and on the other side of the street he has a billiard-room, where liquor is dispensed at a bar. The keeper of the billiard-room gets a quantity of whiskey and sells it openly. The constables frequent said drink at both places. When they think the proper time has arrived they lay an information against the keeper of the billiard-room. The offender is brought up, and, for the first offence, is fined $50 and $7 costs. As he pleads guilty there is no trial. Then the owner of the saloon, who is, de facto, keeper of the latter, begins to sell, and when the proper time comes, he is in turn fined $50 and costs. Again no trial. When both the saloon keeper and the billiard-room keeper have been fined it becomes necessary to avoid their being again informed against and fined in heavier amounts. A stranger is then employed in each place, and he becomes the nominal proprietor, recognised as such by the Dominion constables, who decide when another information is to be laid, when, again, the minimum fine under the Keewatin Act is inflicted. It would never do, apparently, to go on to second and third convictions; such a course might have the effect of stopping the traffic. Liquor selling is so profitable that, it is stated, and I believe, with perfect truth, that the proprietor of the saloon and billiard-room adverted to has been by himself and servants—i.e., the temporary nominal proprietors—fined over $1,200 in one year, and moreover, that he has been quite content to pay it, and also a large weekly allowance to the constables for the impunity he has been permitted to enjoy."

Matters became still more complicated after the Dominion Parliament passed the Manitoba Extension Act, under the authority of which the Manitoba Government assumed to grant licenses to sell liquor as in other parts of the Province. It was after a time decided by the Courts that these licenses were ultra vires. The practical result of this unfortunate state of affairs has been virtual free trade in whiskey, which exists almost without check at the present time. The law depended upon to suppress the abuse is the Public Works Act, which will be no longer even nominally operative, now that the railway has been handed over to the Syndicate. As the Indians are numerous in the vicinity, and can obtain all the liquor they want or are able to pay for, the amount of demoralization going on amongst them may be easily imagined.

CIVIL JUSTICE.

The first attempt to administer the civil law at Rat Portage in a systematic manner was made in 1880 by Mr. Lyon through the instumentality of a division court established by the Ontario Government in response to the petition of the people of that vicinity. Had the authority of this court been respected much of the disorder complained of would have been prevented, but it did not suit the railway magnates of Section B to acknowledge the validity of a judgment against them. They were of course able, by means of superior physical force, to prevent the seizure of their goods, and it was useless to attempt to enforce against others decrees similar to those successfully resisted. Meanwhile the Manitoba Legislature assumed to provide for the administration of justice in Rat Portage, which is included in the "county of Varennes," but no cases have been finally disposed of under this authority except such as were uncontested. The confusion and uncertainty arising from this conflict of jurisdiction is almost a complete barrier to the progress of the locality. The village of Rat Portage has been granted a charter of incorporation under the municipal law of Manitoba, but as this law is of no validity the charter is worthless for administrative purposes. In the words of the report:—

The non-ratification of the Boundary Award is not only demoralising the population and seriously prejudicing law and order in the territory, but settlement is being retarded and legitimate development discouraged. Not a street in the town is yet graded; huge boulders protrude on the roadways; there is no pretence at drainage or any other sanitary improvement, though the natural facilities therefor are excellent. No public buildings exist unless a log school house built in 1879 by subscription can be so called. There has been no attempt at road-making in the neighborhood of the town; the only amelioration in this direction has been the building of a bridge over the railway track connecting the Hudson Bay town lots separated by the cutting. This work done at the cost of the Hudson Bay Company, has not yet been practically utilised. The corporation organized under a Manitoba charter has been unable to accomplish any town improvements for lack of the necessary funds. In the absence of enactments has [illegible] and other results than the opening of highways which have not yet been enforced, the making of such an assessment which it has not attempted to levy, and the incurring of expenditures which it has had no means of defraying.

CROWN LANDS, TIMBER AND MINERALS.

If the disputed territory belongs to Ontario the land, timber and minerals do so too; if the territory goes to Manitoba the land, timber and minerals remain [illegible] the Dominion Government. Those [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] resources [illegible] location [illegible] facilities [illegible] promoters [illegible] schemes and stock-jobbing on the "[illegible]ing houses" of Winnipeg and other cities. The following remarks on the prospects of gold mining at Lake of the Woods confirm the prognostications made three years ago by the Globe's special correspondent who first described the deposits:—

There are now six mining companies, more or less legitimate, either actually organized and working, or in course of organization for working in the Lake of the Woods. Of the practical results attained it is, perhaps, too soon to speak, as stamping mills are not yet in operation. Mining experts claim that free gold exists in quartz and decomposed rock in some localities that will yield from $20 to $250 per ton. In one instance a mixture of quartz and mud, taken at a depth of 60 feet, was found to assay at the rate of $1,028 per ton. Should the claims prove half as rich as they are declared to be, the region will prove a veritable Eldorado. Capitalists, however, have hitherto been disposed to be cautious, and mining stock has been a drug upon the markets. But the dullness which has followed the real estate boom in Winnipeg is already inducing speculators to turn their attention to this new field of operations, and the daily trains from that city to Rat Portage are crowded with passengers intent on prospecting or investing. Next spring and summer will probably witness the influx of thousands of miners from all parts of the continent, attracted by the fabulous stories now being sent abroad by the holders of "registered claims." A year of experiment will probably enable all interested parties to judge whether this portion of the disputed territory is likely to become more famous for gold production than Ballarat or the Sacramento, as is confidently claimed by those whose operations have not, as yet, extended beyond excavating and assaying.

It is unnecessary to describe at length the manner in which the Dominion Government has dealt with the Crown timber of the disputed territory. To say nothing of the twenty-mile grant to the Syndicate, limits and permits have been granted to friends of Ottawa Ministers in the most lavish fashion, as the following extract from the report shows:—

I have been informed that Mr. R. J. Short who has been largely engaged in cutting timber for the Syndicate for the last two seasons, recently secured from the Dominion Government a fifty-mile timber limit at Turtle Portage, in the Lake of the Woods—outside the twenty-mile limit claimed by the Canada Pacific Railway on each side of the track—and that several parties are now engaged in cutting ties and saw logs thereon. I am also creditably informed that while Short's right to cut at Turtle Portage is recognised by the Crown Timber Agent at Winnipeg, it is denied by the Deputy Minister of the Interior at Ottawa, who declares that no limit has been granted to any person. According to information recently furnished by Short to the Winnipeg Sun newspaper, he had 160 men in the woods in January, and was constantly adding to the number. In gangs of forty they operate in much the same manner as Ontario lumber gangs. Choppers get $30 per month and board, and hewers $50. Up to the 23rd December 125,000 ties were taken out, besides a large number of telegraph poles. The ties were principally red and white pine and tamarac, which are much harder than similar woods growing in Ontario, and are said to be as durable as cedar. Of logs 5,000,000 feet have been dressed already, and Short expects to have 10,000,000 before the season is over.

I am also informed that Messrs. Macdonald & Shields, of the Section B contract, have engaged a number of parties to cut timber this season in various directions, chiefly, however, on the line of the railway and in easy access to their new saw-mill at Eagle River, and that they calculate on an out-put of about 6,000,000 feet this spring.

One of the large lumber companies, having limits on the lake, found a difficulty in procuring the requisite number of men to work in their shanties during the present winter, and was approached by a party who holds a permit from the Dominion Government for cutting two million feet, and asked whether the Company would buy from him several million feet of logs which he expects to have ready for shipment in the spring. I do not know whether the offer was entertained, but there is no doubt about its having been made. This party is now operating on the lake, and while his alleged permit only allows him to cut two million feet, there is reason so believe that he had far exceeded this quantity before he went to the woods in December, though the Crown Timber Agent at Winnipeg professed to think otherwise.

Another firm having limits or a permit to cut timber on the lake is that of Bailey, Bulmer & Co., who have large parties operating this winter at or near the Big Traverse, some forty miles south of the railway track. Bailey claims to be a relative of the Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Agriculture. His partners are sons of Mr. Henry Bulmer of Montreal, who was a candidate for Montreal west at the last Dominion elections. I cannot learn whether this firm has a permit or a limit. The general opinion is—and it is to be borne out by collateral facts—that Bailey, Bulmer & Co. have a sort of roving commission to cut timber where they can find it, and that this commission is contained in a letter from the Hon. Mr. Pope. But whatever the nature of their authority, it is sufficient to satisfy the Crown Timber Agent at Winnipeg, who recognizes their right to cut. This Company have several parties now on the lake, and it is expected they will float in logs early in the spring calculated to produce from nine to twelve million feet of sawn lumber.

The settlement of the country has of course been affected very prejudicially by the uncertainty of title and the absence of machinery for admistering justice. The report confirms the assertions of previous enquirers that there is much good land in the district, which would be rapidly settled if these hindrances were removed.

"A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Busy Friend of Woman," on some of her correspondents loves to pull her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator!. The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly,
JOHN McDONALD.

ORR, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR,—I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth,—the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they had ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

We might sell a customer—if we kept such goods—a poor, weak-wearing Tweed, at a price above its value. If we did, it would be a poor satisfaction to meet that customer again. He'd tell us of it, and qualify his statement with remarks. But that's not our style. It don't pay.

Cingalese is the name of a widely and favourably known hair restorer which is not recommended to do utterly impossible things, but then nothing is better for keeping the hair in good condition and restoring it when lost. It appears that Socialists are just as liable as Fenians to betray one another. It has just come to light that Herr Most, the agitator, some time ago took money from the Austrian Government, and betrayed the secrets of the workingmen's party in Europe.

*"Revenge is too dearly purchased at the price of liberty." Is it a disordered liver giving you a yellow skin or costive bowels, or do your kidneys refuse to perform their functions? If so take a few doses of Kidney-Wort and nature will restore each organ, ready for duty. Thus health will be cheaply purchased at the price of Kidney-Wort.

The Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster has introduced a bill in the Imperial House of Commons entitling agricultural tenants, on the expiration of their leases, to receive compensation from their landlords for improvements made. The bill also limits the landlord's right of distress to a sum equivalent to a year's rent.

The Editor of the Grand River Sachem says:—"We are usually sparing in our enconiums towards patent medicines, but observation and enquiry has satisfied us that the preparation of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., styled 'Burdock Blood Bitters,' as a blood purifying tonic is worthy of the high reputation it has established among the people." 20-2t

All the London dynamite prisoners have been committed for trial except O'Connor, whom the Crown has been unable to connect with the others. On O'Connor's leaving the dock, however, he was re-arrested by a Liverpool detective. Lynch, the informer in the dynamite cases, has been committed for trial for misdemeanor.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, MISS., Jan. 2, 1880.
I wish to say to you that I have been suffering for the last five years with a severe itching all over. I have heard of Hop Bitters and have tried it. I have used up four bottles, and it has done me more good than all the doctors and medicines that they could use on or with me. I am old and poor but feel to bless you for such a relief by your medicine and from torment of the doctors. I have had fifteen doctors at me. One gave me seven ounces of solution of arsenic; another took four quarts of blood from me. All they could tell was that it was skin sickness. Now, after these four bottles of your medicine, my skin is well, clean smooth as ever. HENRY KNOCHE. 20-2t

Archbishop Croke, of Dublin, has written to the Papal Secretary of State defending his conduct in relation to the agitation in Ireland, claiming that it has been perfectly regular, and that his object has been not to excite the people to revolt but to obtain for them right and justice. It is understood, however, that the Archbishop's explanation is not is not deemed satisfactory at the Vatican.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor and McDonald. 44-tf.

St. John's Church Grounds.

Last week engineers were taking levels of the grounds of St. John's Church with a view to having them graded and terraced, which, we understand is to be done this summer. This is one of the finest church sites in the Province, and with the carrying out of the plans for beautifying the grounds, they will be a permanent source of beauty to the town.

Would be Welcomed by the Town.

A rumour was current in town Monday, says the Lindsay Post, that Mr. Geo. A. Cox had purchased the Keenan block, on the north side of Kent street, comprising the Benson House and seven stores. The report was premature, as the purchase has not been made, though it has been talked of. The block is a fine property, and an investment by a man of Mr. Cox's enterprise would be welcomed by the town.

Mothers, Watch the Little Feet

And see that they are clad in Foot & McWhinnie's spring heeled boots. For ease, elegance, and durability these have no equal. No running down at the ankles; on the contrary, they are a support to the ankles of so decidedly beneficial a character, that surgical men warmly recommend the spring heeled boot for constant wear. Try a pair and they won't ask you to buy another; you'll be sure to buy without asking. 19-4t

Railway Fencing.

Mr. Magann, who has the contract for fencing on the Ontario and Quebec Railway from Toronto east to Crow River, has begun operations in Peterborough with a full force of hands. He will work both ways, east and west, from town with several gangs. The fences are to be of wire. The gates were made during the winter. The mileage of Mr. Magann's contract is 120 miles making on both sides of the track 240 miles of fencing. This will require 200 tons—400,000 lbs.— of wire, and with posts at a distance of sixteen feet—79,200 posts.

A Neat and Pretty Foot.

No matter how gorgeously and richly arrayed a lady may be in other respects, it is all vain without the finshing touch which a neat, well-fitting pair of boots imparts. With these the Shakesperian adage is literally true, "All's well that ends well." Ladies who wish to appear in the neatest, most elegant and durable boots to be found in Peterborough, will find a complete and varied supply of fine kid boots for the summer at Foot & McWhinnie's. Be sure to call and inspect their stock before buying. 19-4t

Activity in Church Improvements.

The church buildings of Peterborough are receiving this summer great material attention, so to speak. St. John's church grounds are to be beautified with terraces and otherwise improved. St. Peter's Cathedral, so it is said, is to be rebuilt on a grand scale, or at least a beginning made. St. Paul's Presbyterian Church is also to be rebuilt; Charlotte street Methodist Church has been extended and vastly improved in internal arrangements; George Street Methodist Church will have its grounds and environments greatly improved, and Aylmer Street Baptist Church has a new pastor. It is to be hoped all the churches will share in a renaissance of spiritual zeal as well as of material improvement.

A Manufactured Lie.

The following item appears in the correspondence column of the Orillia Packet under the heading, Victoria Harbour:—

"On Thursday, the 3rd instant, Geo. A. Cox, Esq., and staff of the Midland Railway were at this station, and strange to say, the agent was instructed to take down the lithograph of the Mail building, and put up in its place a Globe advertisement." It is hardly necessary for us to say that the above paragraph is entirely without foundation, and on referring the matter to Mr. Cox, he gave it an unequivocal denial. Mr. Cox was not near the station, and his political opponents who do not deal in fabricating falsehoods for political purposes, have far too much respect for him to allow themselves for one moment to entertain the idea that he would be guilty of such a transaction.

THE C. M. CONCERT.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT.

Considering the fact that the concert season is quite past, the entertainment held last Friday evening in the Opera House may be called fairly successful. The house was tolerably well filled. The programme was opened by Freeman's Orchestra in a fine selection, well rendered. The Victoria Glee Club followed with one of their popular songs in honor of their University. Mr. Herrington, a member of the Glee Club, recited "The Red Jacket," an episode in a fireman's experience. The recitation was well done. A duet, "Haste Crimson Morning," was tastefully rendered by Miss Huston and Mr. A. Elliott, and well deserved the applause it received. Another song, "Jubilate," by the Glee Club, was well received, and was followed by a piano solo, "Il Bartiere di Seviglia," by Miss Minnie Errett, who is a very pleasing pianist, having a sensitive touch and graceful manner. An exhibition in ventriloquism by Mr. Will Dixon, in which wood was sawed, soda water drawn from a fountain, shavings planed off the piano, and a number of other "imitations" cleverly performed, drew forth repeated applause from the audience. A Rowing Song by the Glee Club was rendered in their happiest style and was loudly encored. Mr. Large responded in that difficult solo, "The Old Sexton." The Orchestra opened the second part and were heartily encored, responding by an equally appropriate and spirited selection. A beautiful song, "The Birds That Came in Spring," was very pleasingly rendered by Mrs. J. E. McIntyre. Her sweet warblings might have won a responsive chorus from the birds themselves, and "Don't Come Teazing Me Sir," was a charming response to an imperative recall. A "Foot Ball Song," by the Glee Club, was loudly encored, and "Jingle Bells" was rendered in a delightful manner. Mr. Huycke, of the Glee Club, gave a recitation entitled "The Benediction." This vivid picture of the devout old Monk calmly continuing the sacred service in spite of the profane interruption, his pale lips still uttering words of holy blessing, even while his life blood ebbed away, was a tribute to spiritual power none could fail to appreciate. By special request Miss Huston and Mr. Elliott sang, in very pleasing style a duet, "The Gipsy Countess," which was followed by an overture, "Hippodrome," by Messrs. Best, Sanderson and Lech. "The Pretty Flower Girl," with her varied attractions of "roses red" and "violets blue," was artistically rendered by Misses Huston and Wells, meriting the hearty encore in response to which they sang, as sweetly, a song descriptive of "Beautiful Moonlight." A vocal trio, "Good Old Days of Yore," by Messrs. Budden, Shaw and Elliott, received a hearty recall. Mr. Herrington convulsed the audience with laughter by a clever impersonation of an angry man, but in answer to an encore which would take no denial, was scarcely so happy in his selection. At urgent request Mrs. McIntyre favored the audience with another song, entitled "Remember Me." The Glee Club closed the programme with that rousing chorus "Marching Through Georgia," and the audience retired well pleased with the evening's entertainment. Professor Heathfield and Miss Errett accompanied the local talent in a highly satisfactory manner, while Mr. Cluxton conducted the exercises with characteristic grace and tact.

His Lordship at Lindsay.

On Sunday morning last, says the Lindsay Post, Bishop Jamot, of Peterborough, administered the interesting rite of confirmation to some 350 candidates in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, at that place. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, all the standing room being fully occupied. The candidates for the sacred rite occupied the pews and aisles in the front part of the church, and as the girls were all dressed in white for the occasion the scene was pleasing as well as impressive. His lordship, prior to the ceremony, delivered an instructive and eloquent address to the young people, and exhorted them to fulfil faithfully the vows they were about to assume. He urged all those who were confirmed to take the pledge for five years, as that period would carry them over the years of the greatest temptation, and it is gratifying to have it to state that all took the pledge. His lordship expressed his gratification at the care and thoroughness of their instruction by Rev. Fathers Lynch and Sweeney; and also on another occasion expressed his satisfaction with the condition and work of the parish. In the afternoon a reception of the Sisters of the Sodality was held, and a large number of young ladies were admitted into the membership of that society. At vespers Bishop Jamot preached an eloquent sermon. His lordship was assisted in the services of the day by Rev. Fathers Lynch and Sweeney.

Our Plate Glass Windows.

During the past year there has been an abnormally large "mortality" in plate glass, and the fact was developed thereby that there was a considerable absence of insurance, to protect the owners or custodians from loss. In some towns and cities the matter of plate glass insurance is managed very economically on the mutual plan. An agreement is signed by all who enter the arrangement, and when a breakage occurs, an assessment is made in proportion to the value of the glass owned by or under the care of each party to the arrangement. Thus, the matter is very cheaply arranged; and, in Peterborough, where there is so much plate glass, the mutual plan is certainly worth consideration by our business men. On George street there are 127 plates. If a break should occur the assessment per plate would be about eighty cents, taking the value at the high average rate (considering the present price of plates) of $100. The insurance companies charge 3½ per cent., at which rate a single break costs $3.50, as against eighty cents under the mutual plan, by the adoption of which our business men would save the profits that now enrich insurance companies, and would preserve Peterborough for the Peterboroughonians.

NEAR TILSONBURG, Ont, Dec, 14, 1881.
I have been ailing for years with Biliousness and Dyspepsia, and was reduced to a mere skeleton. Last fall I weighed only eighty-six pounds. I was induced to try ZOPESA by Mr. Thomson (of the firm of C. The Ontario Hotel.

Mr. Joseph Young has become proprietor of the Ontario Hotel, opposite Hall's biscuit works, Simcoe street, which the public will find in the time honored description of inns, to have "first class entertainment for man and beast." Guests who patronize his tables will find them so temptingly spread that they will not feel the need of appetizers, which they can find amongst his stock of choice brand liquors. The barns afford excellent stabling. Terms, $1.00 per day.

The Pulp Works.

The resurrection of the Peterborough Pulp Mills to a state of activity has been accomplished, and the work started with a full force of hands on Wednesday morning. The works have passed into the hands of a company that has been formed, under the style of the "Peterborough Pulp Company (limited)." The company is composed of Messrs. A. Henry, J. R. Scott, W. F. Hall (the Napanee Mills Paper Company), and Messrs. G. A. Cox, T. G. Hazlitt and Richard Hall, Peterborough. The capital of the company is $50,000. The organization of the company is not yet fully completed, but meanwhile the work of manufacturing pulp will go on, and about two and a quarter tons of dry pulp will be turned out daily. This is a most important addition to our local industries. We understand that Mr. Cox will be President, and Mr. Scott, Managing Director of the new company.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church

To be Grandly Rebuilt.

The congregation of St. Pauls' church, having from the growth of the congregation, for some time felt the necessity of enlarged accommodations for public worship, as well as for the Sunday school and other auxiliary work of the church, have decided to rebuild, with improved features, on an enlarged scale their already large church on the corner of Water and Murray streets. The necessity of the work being made manifest, the christian spirit of the congregation found expression in active measures for its accomplishment, and so hearty a response was made to the solicitations for the necessary funds, that the amount required is guaranteed, and the plans having arrived, tenders for the contract have been invited to be made up to the 5th of June.

THE ADDITIONS

to the present structure will consist of a lean-to on each side of the church seventeen feet in width the whole length of the building. Connection between the present body of the church and this 17-feet wide space (enclosed by the new walls) will be made by arches with thirteen feet of spread, and twenty feet of height. The arches will rest on iron columns with foliated capitals. There will be on each side of the church six arches and five columns. The height of the new side walls will be fourteen feet and the roof will strike the present wall at a height of 24 feet, leaving between that point and the present roof a wall space of ten feet. This will be pierced with 6 windows, 14 wall as the wall of a portion. The roof will be broken with six gables on each side, furnished with ornate galvanized iron finials. The church will also be extended 56 feet in rear. This addition will polygonal in shape, but the sides will be so numerous as to make it practically semicircular. This annex will be constructed on the same general plan as the main building, except that it will be divided into two stories. The basement of the present main structure is to be sacrificed to a sloping floor, and in the place of the basement, the semicircular annex will contain on the first floor, a church parlour, a vestry room, a lecture room with seating accommodation for 250, a library, and an infant class room with tiers of rising seats.

Between this annex and the main building are two lobbies for the side entrances. These contain the stairs to the organ loft and the choir, in the rear of the pulpit platform, and also the stairs to the second story of the semicircular annex, which is the MAIN SCHOOL ROOM.

The central portion of this composes the auditorium with platform and desk, while the circumference is divided into 9 class rooms, 12x12 feet, each lighted by a window. These class rooms by folding doors can each be made a separate apartment, or the whole space thrown into one room. There are also two other large class rooms communicating with these in the space above the lobbies. The front entrance is to be changed by throwing a lobby across the whole front, which will have three entrances, one in the tower and two on each side. From the lobby there are three doors, corresponding to the three aisles, leading into the body of the church, and from it start the stairs which lead to the end gallery, which is alone retained, the side galleries being removed in the radical changes that take place in

THE INTERIOR.

The floor of the auditorium is what is technically called "dished," that is, taking the pulpit and communion platforms as a focus, the seats rise gently in every direction in an amphitheatrical form, every seat more or less directly facing the pulpit, behind which is the choir, and behind this again the organ.

THE LIGHTING

Of the building is effected by the admission of light in the day time through a range of six windows on each side of the addition, glazed with frosted glass. A range of smaller windows glazed with stained cathedral glass, will also be placed above the arches of the internal or original wall, mentioned previously. Artificial light is supplied by two large pendant central gasaliers and five smaller pendants on each side. The gallery railing will be in iron work in tracery of gothic design. The church is to be heated by a system of the steam necessary for the purpose, to be supplied by a 40-horse-power boiler. The ventilation has also received particular attention from the architects. We have only space to hint at the changes proposed, a more detailed description being reserved for a future occasion. The external appearance of the church will be vastly improved. The walls are to be done with red brick colored uniformly and tuck-pointed; the roof will be finished with iron cresting.

STEAM PIPES.

When the elaborate and beautiful plans, prepared by Gordon & Helliwell, Toronto, are carried out, there will be outside of the cities that can in point of size, convenience, architectural beauty, or adaptation to church purposes, at all compare with St. Paul's. When the additions are made, the area will be 132x90 feet and the seating accommodation will be about 1200—400 more than that afforded by the present structure. The estimated cost of the improvements is $30,000, and the contracts call for the completion of the work about the middle of December.

They were refused and returned again shortly after, very much intoxicated. They again demanded admittence and were again refused. They then attacked Kennedy, aged 67, who in the fight that ensued was aided by his son Cornelius. About four hundred people gathered at the spot, but, notwithstanding the appeals of Kennedy's daughter, refused to interfere. The upshot of the fight was that old man Kennedy was fatally beaten before the cowardly crowd's eyes. McDonald and Hughes, who are wharf laborers, were arrested.

A Good Word for Peterborough.

The Montreal Witness has the following complimentary remarks as to the reception of the instalment of the Tuke Committee Irish emigrants by Messrs. Hackett and Kelly, on behalf of the St. Vincent de Paul Society:—"Twenty Irish immigrants, who were sent out by the Tuke Committee, arrived in Peterborough last week, where two Irish gentlemen of that town at once interested themselves in the newcomers, securing a couple of houses for their temporary occupation, and supplying them with bedsteads, bedding, and cooking utensils. Having placed them in comfortable quarters the next thing was to find work for all that were able to work, and this was soon obtained in the neighbourhood. If all the immigrants coming to this country were to meet with such a warm reception as those strangers received from their copatriots in Peterborough, there would be little need for sending paid immigration agents to the old country in order to secure as many new settlers as could be desired. When these immigrants contrast the cold reception which they had lately received at Montreal with the warm-hearted welcome they got at Peterborough they will be ready to infer that the latter is much the better place for an 'Exile of Erin' to call at."

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

HYMENEAL.

The following paragraph, copied from the Rapid City Standard, of Rapid City, Manitoba, will be read with much interest and pleasure by the many friends of the happy bride, Miss E. Sargent, daughter of Mr. Wm. Sargent, of Seymour. The bride resided in Norwood for some time, and is well and favourably known here, and her many friends in this vicinity tender their sincere congratulations upon the happy event:—

"Tuesday, 24th April, was the bright and sunny day of Mr. Cottingham's life. His marriage to Miss E. Sargent took place at the residence of Mr. W. E. Sargent, brother of the bride, Millhaven. This being the first wedding in the new town, it was naturally an event of more than passing interest to all. After the marriage ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham and friends left Millhaven for Rapid City, where they were welcomed at their residence by a number of invited guests. The wedding supper was served at 9 o'clock, and an exceedingly pleasant evening was spent by all present. Here we notice by the number and value of the wedding presents, that the pressure of hard times does not seem to be much regarded when weddings are on foot. Amongst the presents to the happy bride we notice a silver fruit basket given by W. G. Sargent, a pickle stand by D. M. Butchart, card receiver by W. J. Sargent, vases by Miss Jamieson, silver napkin rings by the Misses Butchart, two photographs of statuary by Miss Hawthorne, and a splendid organ by the bridegroom. We now add our congratulations and kind wishes to those Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham have already received, and hope they may be accepted as heartily as they are given."

COMPLETED.

On Wednesday of last week the last stone was laid upon the abutments for the two railway bridges being constructed in our village. On no portion of the line of the Ontario and Quebec railway will there be superior abutments than those just completed here. On Wednesday evening the stonemasons and other men engaged on the works had a sumptuous supper at McGregor's hotel, where a very convival time was enjoyed by all hands; and on Thursday morning the whole gang departed for Tweed, where they will be engaged for some time on a number of stone abutments for bridges for the Ontario and Quebec railway.

A SEVERE LOSS.

A valuable sawing machine, owned by Messrs. T. Rorke and Robt. Ferguson, and used by them for sawing ties for the Ontario and Quebec railway, was destroyed by fire on Monday morning last, together with about 1,500 ties. This is a serious loss to these gentlemen, as they were engaged in supplying a large number of ties for this railway.

OUR WANTS.

valuable acquisitions to our village can be called "things"—very badly; and they are a magistrate, a coroner, and a butcher. When we want a little law dispensed here we have to send 5 or 6 miles for a magistrate; when we want the services of a coroner we have to send all the way to Peterborough for such an official; and when we want meat we have to send to the four quarters of the globe for such a commodity, and we are not then supplied with the best flesh.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Messrs. H. Wease and Wm. Rodgers, of this village, have taken a sub-contract on Mr. Macdonald's section of the Ontario & Quebec railway.

Mr. Macdonald is now working at the approaches to the railway bridges here.

The "big cut," near the mill is again being attacked by pick and shovel.

A new army of railway navvies has reached our borough.

Work along the whole line in this vicinity is being pushed forward vigorously.

Messrs. Sims & Lewis, contractors of a section of the railway just east of Norwood, have dissolved partnership as railway contractors, and Mr. Lewis—an energetic and shrewd business man—continues the work on this section.

Mr. Lewis expects to have his section of the Ontario & Quebec railway thoroughly graded and ready for the rails in about two months. Good work that.

Messrs. Rorke & Ferguson have already delivered about 60,000 ties along the line of the Ontario & Quebec railway.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A FEW WORDS ABOUT MAY.

The 16th and 17th were mornings of very sharp frost. On the latter it was 2 degrees below freezing point. Ice was formed thick enough in a pail to lift with the hand in a solid piece; but, vegetables likely to be killed with frost being late, and fruit trees not quite budded out, neither of them received any injuries. Since then it has been of a high temperature.

The injuries received by John Corkery, by being thrown out of a buggy on Saturday, 12th instant, terminated fatally on Saturday last, after a week of severe suffering. His family have the sympathy of the community in this their sad and unexpected bereavement.

Our cheese factory opened this morning for business, and if the patrons take a long pull and a strong pull together, success will crown their efforts.

OTONABEE.

The people of Bethel are "looking up." They have organized a choir, purchased a new organ, and, now are agitating for a new church.

It was reported that Mr. Allan McCarthy had "gone over to the majority," but he is still in the land of the living.

Mr. James Carter lost a valuable colt last week.

On account of the cold wind which prevailed on Sunday, Charlie preferred going round, to going over Coldblow, but unfortunately he met with a "breeze" which might have terminated fatally, had not Dick come to his rescue. It was a cooling "breeze."

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Charlottetown Patriot says; Just think of it! The expenditure of the Dominion, under the administration of the Tories has increased about $6,000,000 dollars in four years, or at the rate of $2,000,000 per year.

Another Cabinet Minister, Sir Leonard Tilley, goes to England, ostensibly on financial business, but really for the benefit of his health. The impression will soon get abroad that Canada is an unwholesome country, and that officials especially are apt to become invalids.

Mr. Jay Gould announces himself as a thoroughgoing protectionist. Mr. Gould might have been expected to believe in a system of which he and his fortune are an outgrowth. The whole drift of the protectionist theory is toward the aggregation of wealth in a few hands. By it the labourer is taxed and his employer pensioned. Of course that suits Mr. Gould.

Mr. Gigault, who was a member of the Tory Temperance Committee in the House of Commons, is evidently not pleased with the handiwork of his colleague, for he has given notice of several amendments to the Liquor License Bill covering some nine pages of foolscap. These amendments may be looked upon as a kind of minority report. It is said the committee were far from being a band of brothers.

The franking privilege will certainly have to be abolished again if it is so often abused. The latest instance of abuse is in the issue at the public expense, under the frank of "J. G. Bourinot, Clerk of the House of Commons," of circulars advertising the Strathroy Despatch for sale. Certainly it cannot add much to the value of the Despatch property when the proprietor has to descend to such paltry jobbery as this in order to advertise. As for Mr. Bourinot's action in the matter, it it is time that official was given to understand that the frankig privilege is not for promiscuous use.

Mr. Plummer, the Conservative candidate for Algoma, has issued his address. Considering the deep interest of the boundary question to the people of that constituency, naturally enough we would expect to find that matter very fully referred to, but Mr. Plummer's address does not so much as mention it. Is he ashamed of the stand his friends have taken upon the question? If so he should cut his connection with them. A man who is afraid to speak out his convictions upon a question of so much importance should not even aspire to be the representative of a constituency.

It remarked as rather curious that the Rykerts, Hessons, Bowels, and other rabid Tories should extol Sir Charles Tupper for following the example of Mr. Mowat's Government in subsidies to local railway companies. It was considered a great crime for Mr. Mowat to devote a portion of Ontario's surplus to aiding railway enterprise, but when the Ottawa Ministry undertook to dispose of large sums of money, wrung from the people by excessive taxation in subsidizing roads in which members of the Government, to the neglect of more deserving works, the Ontario Tories unanimously applaud the proposal.

AN INTERESTING RELIC.

While William Lyon Mackenzie's rash revolt against the unjust state of political affairs, as shown by the petty and persistent tyrannies of the Family Compact, cannot be justified, even if it can be excused, there is no more doubt of the purity of his political intentions than of his personal integrity. The following from the Welland Tribune shows that Mackenzie was at times hard pushed for money, and that he faithfully fulfilled his obligations:—

"In looking over the late Dr. Fraser's papers, the executors came across a letter from William Lyon Mackenzie, returning to the doctor $4 which the great Canadian Liberal had borrowed from him. But the strangest thing about it was that the money was still in the letter, where it had remained for upwards of thirty years past. The letter had been opened by the doctor, who had probably intended to leave the money in it temporarily, but it had got mixed with his other papers and so remained until the recent resurrection. The bill in the letter was of the issue of the Midland bank, long since gone out of existence, but the note was redeemed by another bank pursuant to some arrangement to that effect."

Just fancy a statesman of these days, when we have a huge Dominion surplus, being reduced to the necessity of borrowing $4, and just fancy the fact of this returning it.

THE TIMBER ROBBERY.

The Prince Arthur Herald says that during the past winter the contractors for section B, on the C. P. R., took ties and timber along that section to the value of about $1,300,000, of which $1,000,000 worth has been laid down along the track. The Ontario Government, by virtue of their claim on this disputed territory required that those cutting timber thereon should take out a license. This, the section B company refused to do, on the ground that the land in question belonged to the Dominion Government. The Ontario Government have now, according to the Herald, instructed Mr. Margach, Inspector of Timber, to at once seize all the ties and timber cut by the company, in default of their taking out a license, and the inspector has already started out with the determination to carry out his instructions to the letter. This action of the Ontario Government, if further opposed by the company, will very probably precipitate the contest over the disputed territory.

Call early at Turnbull's if you want to secure some of these choice Pattern Prints for 10 cents. They will not last long at the rate they are selling.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 24, 1883.

Shall Women Vote?

One of Toronto's clerical orators has been airing his eloquence on the subject of woman suffrage. The gentleman in question is, we fear, scarcely competent to give a right decision in the matter for several important reasons. In the first place, the pulpit, in our opinion, is not the proper arena for the discussion of social questions like this, and about the very last person to whom we would apply for a correct solution of any problem respecting sociology, would be a clergyman. Students of theology have almost invariably set themselves against all liberal advances in the past. There is a narrowness in their consideration of all deep topics which precludes them from taking a proper view of living issues. And when they began to generalise they invariably not only make grevious mistakes, but in their way act the part of cruel, heartless tyrants. As students of history clergymen should know this and act accordingly.

Then, we think for another reason, this gentleman ought to have let the topic alone in his Sunday address. For, wonderful to relate, this particular clergyman, who dares to lecture women concerning their proper sphere, is a confirmed bachelor if reports are true! This being the case, we shall be somewhat surprised should Mr. Lewis, for that is the clergymen's name, that there is a good old proverb worthy of his closer attention: "Let the shoemaker stick to his last," or as we might say in this case, "Let the parson stick to his Bible."

But what are the arguments Mr. Lewis puts forth against woman suffrage? In the first place he affirms that the text of the Bible declares "the head of the woman is the man," and that this word rendered "head" means in the original chief or ruler. Therefore he argues that man is to be the ruler, legislator, and administrator of the woman. Knowing all this, however, Mr. Lewis has not yet taken to himself a help meet.

To affirm, as he does, that the Bible is against woman suffrage is simply to beg the question, and to put forward mere assertion for argument. Not a single sentence of Scripture can be tortured into proving any such thing, and Mr. Lewis knows this.

Again he asserts that by giving woman authority to vote they would be drawn out of their true sphere and their gentle characteristics of delicacy, modesty and refinement would be affected prejudicially. Political spheres of thought and action, he affirms, caused woman to swing out of her true orbit and develop habits destructive of feminine instincts. It is a pity the orator did not think of the high example of the Queen before penning such rigmarole. Has her gracious Majesty Queen Victoria become one whit less lovable or refined because she must interest herself in the affairs of the state? The words of this divine are simply sound, and nothing more. When have all these dreadful things taken place? Italy, we believe, is the only country which has granted the privilege of voting to the softer sex thus far. Are the Italian women less refined or lovable or domestic than their more northern sisters? Besides, what is there degrading in the science of politics per se? Do not women now take a lively interest in the affairs of our country, who are not in any way injuring their finer susceptibilities? Might we not argue without hesitation, that their presence in Parliament even, if such a thing were proposed, would have an elevating influence, and tend to raise higher this noblest of all secular business—the science of human Government? But the great point against which Mr. Lewis launches his fulminations is the commencement, the depositing the ballot paper. He would stop the evil at the very source. Against this, in his mind terrible evil, he declares most plainly and unmistakably. Have women not sufficient confidence in their husbands or fathers or brothers, he asks? So he bids them trust solely to these, their natural defenders, and keep closely within the quiet circle of home duties that they may rule there as queens.

Now we affirm they may do the latter well, and nobly fulfil their domestic duties, and yet not go beyond their true sphere one whit by taking, at the same time a very real and abiding interest in political affairs. They need not be any the less "true women", in all the term embraces, by thoroughly acquainting themselves with all that transpires about them. Now-a-days our chief workers in temperance and educational matters are active and enthusiastic women. Yet these subjects surely form a part of those political matters from which Mr. Lewis would debar his lady friends, if, indeed, he has any left. Besides, it ought to be remembered many ladies now pay taxes and hold property in their own right, who should not be debarred from a say in the affairs of the State.

To do this and put a ban on any intelligent citizen, no matter what his color or race, or sex, is a grevious shame, and a wrong which must shortly be righted. The day is not far distant when woman suffrage will be settled, and the wide domain of politics thrown open, as it ought to be, to all classes alike. This old bachelor may talk his commonplaces and raise his broom to keep back the flood, but the waters will advance all the same, and will drive him and his musty theories and silly reasonings far before them.

The Whitehead Robbery.

Sir Charles Tupper longs for the mantle of Elijah—longs to step into Sir John Macdonald's shoes, as leader of the Tory party. If he is not competent to fill the position, he is making heroic exertions to qualify himself. Sir Charles has not distinguished himself by one grand coup like the Pacific scandal, but he has multiplied his minor political sins and crimes in the probable hope that in the aggregate they would make him capable of filling Sir John's seat. His contract-broking connections, his Onderdonk jobs, and other corrupt political eccentricities, testify tellingly of his talents, and the Whitehead refund swindle is something to be proud of from a Tory politician's standpoint. In the Committee of Supply, under the head of railways and canals chargeable to capital (political capital), the sum of $86,200 is asked to pay Joseph Whitehead, contract 15, the difference between cost of work and contract prices. This item gave rise to a lively discussion in the House. It appears that Whitehead failed to complete his contract on the Lake Superior section of the C.P.R., and that the Government took it from him and finished the work, it being claimed that this was accomplished at a saving of $86,200—and it is now proposed to hand over this amount to Whitehead's creditors, and amongst others it is believed that the celebrated contract-broker, Mr. Charles McIntosh, who is editor of the Ottawa Citizen, and has a seat in the House, is to come in for a share of the plunder. Perhaps this will account for the interest the Government's tremorist, Mr. Charles, may now be able to realize on some of the votes which it is claimed he obtained for the exercise of his influence in behalf of Whitehead.

Notes of the Day.

There was brought down to the House Commons a few days ago a return showing the total number of individuals or companies who have entered into agreements for the colonization of Dominion lands to be 22.

Professor Gregg, of Knox College, is writing a history of Presbyterianism in Canada. The work will consist of two octavo volumes of about 450 pages each. The first volume will be ready for the press by next October.

In the State of Illinois 30 per cent. of the winter wheat crop was winter killed, and the remainder promises a yield of 20,000,000. In Michigan 20 per cent. was winter killed, and there will be between 7,000,000 and 10,000,000 shortage in the average crop.

Mr. Wood has retired from the local Government. His successor has not yet been named, but there is good reason to presume that Mr. Widdifield will take his place. The clever representative of North York will make a worthy successor to a gentleman who has so efficiently filled the office of Provincial Treasurer as Hon. Mr. Wood.

Mr. Colby, M. P. for Stanstead, is one of the highly favored by the present time-serving Dominion Government. In order especially to benefit a cotton factory which he has in his mind to erect at some convenient future time, the duty on print cottons was nearly doubled, thus enhancing their cost to the thousands of consumers.

The Hon. Alexander Mackenzie was presented on Saturday night last, on the eve of his departure from Ottawa, with a substantial token of esteem by a few of his personal friends residing in Ottawa and Kingston. The presentation was made privately, but as it has become known, and the amount of the purse has been incorrectly stated, it may be mentioned that it amounted to $10,580.

The Napanee Express propounds this pertinent conundrum:—"If Sir John can legally sit for two constituencies—Carleton and Lennox—what is to prevent him from sitting for the other eighty-six, and thus becoming Czar of Ontario? That would please the Bleus of Quebec immensely, for they have no difficulty in making him dance to any tune they choose to play.

It is finally decided that Mr. Gordon Brown will be appointed to the Surrogate Office vice Hon. J. D. Cayley, who will be superannuated. Mr. John Winchester will resign the office he now holds as Registrar of the Queen's Bench Division, and will be appointed Inspector of Sheriffs Offices. Mr. John S. Cartwright will be the Registrar of the Queen's Bench Division. The appointments were gazetted last Saturday.

Parliament assert that they will have the increased salary grab in spite of the opposition of the Reformers. They say Sir John promised it before the elections, and we well know that Sir John always keeps his promises—when it is his interest to do so, and the way in which he knuckled to the Quebec members on the Orange Bill shows that he will do a good deal to conciliate them.

Electricity as a motor for railways is now discussed with the assurance that its practicability is quite within the region of probability. According to calculations with an initial outlay of $60,000 or $65,000 for electric equipment, a 10-mile street railway line running 50 cars 16 hours can be operated for $63 a day, whereas it costs nearly $300 a day to operate a similar line by horse power. Application to street railroads is expected to come first, but there is promise of its extension to all railroads upon which steam is now used.

Minister of Militia Caron, in his scheme for the establishment of a standing army, forgets apparently the disastrous result of the bit of jingoism implied in the Charybdis affair, and it is probable that the "army" will be about as big a "job" as the attempt at a war navy has proved—one about as unnecessary as another. The rotten and discarded hulk of the Charybdis has at last been returned to the Admirality as a useless and unnecessary appendage to the navy of Canada, but not before the Tory Government squandered on her—from Nov., 1880, to Jan., 1883—the sum of $20,313.

Sir Tilley—he should be called Sir Plus—is bound to make the most of his surplus, in the distribution of patronage and the manufacture of political influence. The supplementary estimates show some queer items. For instance there is an addition in the Department of the Interior of eleven more clerks on the permanent staff, which, with increases in salaries, adds $10,718 to the pay list—and this is but a fair sample of the increases in the controllable expenditure which are observable in every department of the public service, and which it has been extremely difficult for Ministers to explain satisfactorily in committee of supply during the past week.

Ex-Speaker Anglin, who has just arrived in Toronto, where in future he will be engaged in journalism, was for 34 years a leading newspaper man in Nova Scotia. He was esteemed very highly in his former home, and banquetted both by his co-religionists and by the Liberal party, of which he is a trusted leader. At one of these gatherings, Mr. Anglin paid a deserved compliment to his co-labourers at Ottawa. He pointed out that he had no connection with any party when he reached Ottawa, and established himself on one of the cross benches. On all occasions he voted as his conscience directed. "But finally, coming in contact with the great men of the Liberal party, he perceived their true nobility of character and allied himself henceforth with them. There were many staunch Conservatives in this Province, who, if they knew Edward Blake and Alexander Mackenzie as he knew them, would be just as earnest[illegible] as he had become."

Usurping Provincial Rights.

The question of Provincial rights as against Dominion aggression, in view of the hostile course towards the integrity of the federal union pursued by the Dominion Government, is beginning to assume importance. In reference to the Dominion license bill the Chatham Banner said that "it made little difference whether the bill passed or not, as the Provincial law will be still enforced." The Chatham Tribune, in reply to this remark, asserts:

"Can it be that our brother has allowed his disintegration ideas to completely destroy his intellectual equibilibrium? What becomes law in the Dominion Parliament is law throughout Canada, and, unless separated from the rest of the Dominion, Ontario must be governed by those laws. The laws of Ontario so long as consistent with the laws of the Dominion may be enforced, but otherwise it is not easy to see how they can be."

This is the very essence of treason to confederation. Confederation gave the provinces right to legislate on certain subjects, and if the right is to be of any importance or value, no Dominion legislation can override local enactments on these subjects. The London Advertiser takes following view of the question:—

"During the past sixteen years every Provincial and Dominion Government has assumed, and we think rightly assumed, that the power to legislate on the subject belongs to the Provincial Legislatures. The Dominion Parliament has nothing to do with the matter, and we have no doubt that those who wish to retain Provincial licenses will not venture to apply to Sir John Macdonald's officials. The Parliament of Canada have no more right to legislate upon the subject than the Congress of the United States. The attempt is an impudent usurpation, and will no doubt be resisted. We do not believe that any court will sustain the action taken by Sir John Macdonald, and if the measure should be carried, it will be, in all the Provinces, except, perhaps in Quebec, be disregaded."

NEW BLOOMFIELD, MISS., Jan. 2, 1880.

I wish to say to you that I have been suffering for the last five years with a severe itching all over. I have heard of Hop Bitters and have tried it. I have used up four bottles, and it has done me more good than all the doctors and medicines that they could use on or with me. I am old and poor but feel to bless you for such a relief by your medicine and from torment of the doctors. I have had fifteen doctors at me. One gave me seven ounces of solution of arsenic; another took four quarts of blood from me. All they could tell was that it was skin sickness. Now, after these four bottles of your medicine, my skin is well, clean smooth as ever. HENRY KNOCHE. 20-2t

THE ORANGE BILL.

There evidently is trouble in the Orange camp over the incorporation bill. A number of Orangemen have been writing to the Sentinel attacking Grand Master Merrick, but the Sentinel asks them to forbear till the brother has an opportunity to vindicate his action.—World.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

TUESDAY, MAY FIFTEENTH.

The bill to further amend the Fisheries Act went through committee and was read the third time and passed.

Mr. Bowell, acting Minister of Marine, read a cablegram to the House from Hon. Mr. McLelan, who is at present attending the International Fisheries Exhibition, in which it was stated that at the fishmongers' dinner the Prince of Wales referred to the Canadian exhibits as being remarkably good. The Duke of Edinburgh also stated that they were ahead of the other colonies, and in many respects as good as those of the United States. The maps of Canada are attracting a good deal of attention.

Sir Charles Tupper proposed the second reading of the bill to consolidate and amend the Railway Act. It embodied a large number of amendments which have been proposed during the session.

Mr. Blake objected to the second reading on the grounds that it was not printed in French and had only been distributed two days.

Capt. Dick's claim for loss sustained in constructing steamers on the Dawson route was discussed at great length, Mr. Blake having all the papers connected with the claim before him.

A number of items were concurred in without much discussion on the part of the Opposition and the House adjourned at 12.50.

WEDNESDAY.

Sir Leonard Tilley introduced a bill for the encouragement of the manufacturing of pig iron from Canadian ore in Canada.

Sir John moved that the House go into Committee of the Whole to consider a resolution declaring that it is expedient to bring in a bill to regulate the granting of shop, saloon, hotel, vessel and wholesale licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in the several Provinces of the Dominion.

Mr. Blake said that the matter was irregular, and that it was the duty of the committee to report by resolution, and a bill founded thereon. He was therefore surprised when he saw the motion of the hon. gentleman on the order paper.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Blake asked for some information regarding the mode of proceedings as to whether they were formal or otherwise.

Sir John Macdonald refused to give any information.

The resolution was then adopted, reported to the House and concurred in.

Sir John Macdonald introduced a bill founded on the resolution, which was read a first time.

THURSDAY.

Sir Leonard Tilley introduced a bill to further amend the tariff. The bill was read a first time.

Mr. Desjardins enquired whether the Minister of Public Works was in a position to answer his question of yesterday, regarding his position in respect to the request of the Montreal Harbor Commissioners for a sum of money to deepen the channel of the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Quebec.

Sir Hector Langevin said the petition had been considered, and the Government to-day agreed to pay to the Harbor Commissioners, from time to time as the work progressed, the sum of $900,000.

Sir Charles Tupper moved the House go into Committee of the Whole to consider resolutions granting subsidies to various railways. He explained at some length the idea of granting such subsidies which would be for the general advantage of Canada.

FRIDAY.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on resolutions of Sir Charles Tupper to give subsidies to certain railways. The members from Ontario and the Maritime Provinces opposed it, while the members from Quebec supported the scheme. The Province of Ontario occupies an anomalous position in connection with the granting of subsidies for railways, as the necessary for the construction of public works. A statistical statement prepared in the Department of Railways and Canals shows that the municipalities of Ontario paid in bonuses for the construction of her railways the sum of $7,545,744, while in Quebec they paid $940,000, New Brunswick $933,000, Nova Scotia $150,000, and Manitoba $270,000.

During the discussion a number of members of the Government said the [illegible] was increasing so fast that it was necessary to distribute it, but they thought this a dangerous way to do so.

After recess Sir Charles Tupper moved the second reading of his bill amending the Consolidated Railway Act. It appears at present when railway construction is taking place, the owners of land through which the construction is proceeding must notify the company in writing to put up a proper fencing. Failing to do this the company is not liable for damage to live stock. Mr. White (Renfrew) moved an amendment to the effect that a written notice was not required to make the company liable for any damage.

Sir Charles Tupper resisted the amendment vigorously, but after a determined support of the amendment by Messrs. McCarthy, White (Cardwell), and others, and after a slight hint from Sir John Macdonald, Sir Charles intimated that he would accept the amendment at the third reading.

SATURDAY.

Sir Leonard Tilley in the House yesterday, stated that the factory bill would be introduced with some amendments, but would not be pushed through this session. Sir John Macdonald said the ranchise bill would be again introduced with some amendments and allowed to drop.

On motion of the third reading of the consolidated railway act Mr. Blake moved an amendment to the effect that the bill to amend the consolidated railway act of 1879, and to declare certain lines to be works for the general advantage of Canada, be not read a third time, but be referred back to the committee to amend the clause, transferring the provincial railways from provincial control to this Parliament by striking out the general provisions affecting lines hereafter to be chartered by provincial legislatures. The amendment was lost by 43 to 78.

The bill was read a third time and passed.

When the House went into committee on the bill relating to liquor licenses,

Mr. Amyot moved an amendment to the effect that the clause prohibiting bars on vessels and the sale of liquors on them, except at meal hours, be struck out.

After some discussion the amendment was lost.

Mr. McCarthy moved an addition of a subsection declaring that nothing in this act shall interfere with the power of provincial legislatures to collect license fees for purposes of provincial, local or municipal revenue. This was carried.

After some further progress had been made the the committee reported progress.

CHEESE PROSPECTS.

FEELING IN NEW YORK STATE—BUSINESS—FLUCTUATIONS IN THE DAIRY BUSINESS.

Owing to the great fluctuations in the price of butter and cheese, some Jefferson, N. Y., farmers imagine that it would pay better to pursue a system of mixed farming, and have sold off most of their dairy stock. It is, therefore, not believed that this will affect the make as compared with last year, because other farmers have branched out in this line on a more extensive scale. Bradstreet's general New York report says: "With the continued dullness of the export trade, if the market depends upon that as it has in former years, there would be a sharp decline as soon as stocks began to appear in any quantity. But fortunately, we are not so dependent upon England as we used to be. Our own people are acquiring a healthy liking for, cheese, and are demanding that it shall be of the best. The most successful cheese trade in this city is that which caters to the home trade. More firms will pay attention to it this season than ever before. The light make, increased home stocks, will make good prices for new cheese until it begins to appear in considerable quantities. Should the exports keep up fairly well the position would be still stronger. Of course there will be the usual decline in the latter part of May and June, determined by the quantity of cheese produced. We do not look for a much larger production than last year, and there is no reason to believe that cheese will fall below 9 and 10 cents.

INSTRUCTION TO CHEESE MAKERS.

The people of the surrounding country will be glad to learn that the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association has engaged James Whitton, of Wellman's Corners, (the winner of the first prize and gold medal for first and best quality of factory cheese, at the Provincial Exhibition, held in Kingston in 1882,) to instruct cheese makers in the district between Kingston and Toronto; and Howard Bissell, of Algonquin, who also obtained high prizes on cheese exhibited at Kingston, to instruct in the section east of Kingston. These gentlemen will begin their labors about the 10th inst.

Midland Railway Workshops.

The matter of the location of the Midland Railway workshops has settled down apparently to a three-cornered struggle between Port Hope, Lindsay and Peterborough, and it seems that the first two places are not contenting themselves with a mere passive exertion to secure so desirable an object.

Our Town Councillors should be alive to the fact that the location of the workshops is one that will be decided on its merits, so to speak; that is, the place accepting the boy whatever terms the strongest claims, will be selected.

In an interview with a representative of the Lindsay Post, Mr. Cox, President of the road, stated that their location would be decided by the full Board, and that each place would have ample opportunity to show its claims or advantages. He further stated that, while he had large private interests in Peterborough, they would not in any way influence the company's policy in the selection of a site, which would be decided entirely in the interests of the railway.

In view of these facts we urge our local authorities to action. However much Mr. Cox might be disposed to favor Peterborough in the matter, he is in honor bound—and he is not a gentleman to sacrifice principle and duty to personal interest—to consult first, as President of the railway, the interests of the railway. He has shown so much enterprise, so much energy and public spirit, in the development of the town, that he is naturally looked to to do most of the work in the matter of locating the workshops, but it will be seen that by virtue of his official position he is powerless as a citizen to promote the decision of the matter in our favour, as, under other circumstances he would do. Therefore, we ask our Town Councillors to recollect that heaven helps those who help themselves, and that it is their duty to move actively and at once. We are afraid that thus far they have not considered the matter practically; and one would perhaps be safe in asserting that not a single member has approached Mr. Cox on the subject. Let the Council make a move in the matter and have a scheme prepared, so that when the meeting of the Board of Directors is held to decide this matter of vital interest to Peterborough, the representatives of the town may be able to approach the Board with arguments and inducements that will decide the matter of location in our favour. If our town fathers allow Lindsay or Port Hope to wrest this prize from their grasp, they may expect thereafter to be consigned to municipal oblivion, and in such an event they will have "none so poor to do them reverence."

Rumour has it that another of the Muskoka band of cattle buyers, in the person of Mr. Roderick Pringle, of Cobourg, will take a journey abroad on business of "public importance." He will be able to tell in other lands the thrilling tale of how Muskoka was won, without a thought of the cruelty of depriving the election courts of the pleasure of the recital. It is not enough to suborn hirelings to corrupt the electorate, but they must be spirited away and justice defeated at the people's expense. Verily corruption rideth the high horse.

True to His Record.

Sir Charles Tupper has shown a disposition this session to retire from the field with flying colors, to remain true to his political record, and not soil his escutcheon by any act that could be tortured into a symptom of a desire to become politically honest. He has trumped his Onderdonk outrage by the Whitehead job this session, and, not satisfied with the attack on the federal principle of the confederation constitution, by squandering federal funds on local railway lines, he must needs use such grants for purposes of bribery. And, in so doing, and in accounting for his conduct he cannot drop the role of the "Great Stretcher." There never was a more barefaced purchase of two constituencies than that of Lennox and Addington by the grant of $89,600 to the Napanee and Tamworth Railway, which is no more entitled, except on political grounds, to demand a grant, than Mud Lake road has to ask a grant for a culvert. Sir Leonard tried to squirm out of the bribery aspect of the grant, by denying on the floor of the House on Thursday, that he could not have said three days before that a dollar would be proposed for the road—such a stretcher that even the Mail was ashamed to put it in its report. But Mr. Blake pinned him by reading from a Napanee paper the following in reference to the grant to the road:—

"Alex. Henry, Esq., Napanee: Dear Sir,—Your report is not in, but we are satisfied it will be favorable. I will lay your case before the Governor with favorable consideration. This letter is written in concurrence with the Privy Council. CHARLES TUPPER."

Mr. Henry was a prominent promoter of the road, and withal a good Tory, and the letter, taken with other events, is the most positive evidence that Sir Charles, with the "concurrence of the Privy Council," promised the grant to the road as a condition that the two ridings should go Tory at the local elections. They did go Tory, and no one is rash enough to assert that if the promise had not been made, and the elections had not resulted as they did do, that a single dollar would have been granted. For the road is of the most "local" character possible, running only 28 miles from one point to another in the same county, with its terminus seven miles from the Bay of Quinte. The circumstances of this "job" are patent enough, if presented as evidence, to invalidate the election of Mr. Roe, the Tory member elect, whose seat is contested. And it is not unreasonable to suppose that Sir Charles is hieing off to England, a la mode Mr. Harry Smith and Mr. Roderick Pringle, of Cobourg, on business of "public importance," in view of a possibly enforced interest in the controverted election trials. To think so does not require much of a "stretcher" in the way of imagination.

Ladies can scarcely realize that the Prints shown on Turnbull's counter are only 10 cents a yard.

Trent Valley Navigation.

In a recent issue of the Review an editorial article, contributed by an occasional contributor, on "Trent Valley Navigation." At any rate it was plainly not written by the regular organ grinder, for the terms, "slander," "lie," "forger," "theft," and other like eloquent expressions, which the Review compositors keep "standing," so frequent is the demand for them, are conspicuously absent. There is little in the column article to call for comment. The EXAMINER is accused of being hostile to the work, an accusation that is too absurd to need refutation. We have only objected to Government delay and dilatoriness. No honest man would say that we were opposed to receiving money, if we reproved a debtor for not promptly paying his bills. On this principle the Review has opposed the work more than any one else. One day it swears that the Government exists only to build the canal, the next it berates it for delaying and trifling with it. But what more can be expected from a journal so inconsistent? One issue it blows hot, another cold, one day prates of protection, the next upholds free trade; and in this article it stultifies itself and grinds out a supply of its own words for eating hereafter. The whole of the latter part of the contributed article is an abject apology for the minister's delay. The blame is, in a most cowardly way, thrown on the shoulders of a "prejudiced permanent official." What utter nonsense! Is the minister subordinate to the "prejudiced permanent official"? Who controls the department, the subordinates or the principal? If Sir Chas. Tupper finds that his subordinates obstruct his policy in reference to the Trent Valley Canal, which he professes to be so anxious to build, his remedy is plain. Let him cashier the "hostile or indifferent permanent official" and supply his place with the Review's occasional editorial contributor, who would be much better employed in attending to the professional business, for which we are glad to say he is abundantly capable, than in the vain attempt to redeem the record of the Review by the contribution of an occasional article, which, if not in logic, at least in style and tone, is not a disgrace to decent journalism.

There is no use wasting words on the subject. Let the Review abuse, berate, trim, prevaricate and quibble, it cannot even persuade its willing self that the Trent Valley Canal Navigation scheme is anything else than a political job. It is a safe prediction that not one of those connected with the undertaking will ever live to see it completed. If the Government meant to build the canal they have money to push the work to completion. But it is kept as a nest egg from which to batch political capital, and just money enough is voted to keep the project warm.

The Coming Census.

The taking of the decennial census is a most important matter, and the responsibility of having invested the census of 1881 with so much of political jobbery, as to make the expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars on the work, a waste, except as far as rewarding political hangers-on, rests with the Dominion Government. To be of value the census should be an accurate and complete collection and collation of information respecting the population, natural resources and industrial pursuits of the country. The late census does not fill the bill. Complaints are being made—on the appearance of the third volume of the census returns—in all parts of the country of the worthlessness of the statistics presented in the reports. Indeed, so slipshod has been the work of the enumerators, that the third volume is prefaced with an apologetic announcement of inaccuracies. One would think this apology were justified when the report states that Ottawa—situated hundreds of miles from the sea-board—has "five sea going sailing vessels!" The returns relating to the industries of this county are such that, from personal knowledge, one can detect their inaccuracies. The enumeration was made in April, 1881, and according to these precious tabulated returns, there were in the census district (126) of the West Riding of Peterborough:

Only 1 agricultural implements factory!
No carding and fulling mills!
No jewellers and watchmakers!
No painters and glaziers!
No photographic galleries!
No stone and marble cutting establishments.
No book bindery!
No soda water water making!
No boiler making!
No engine building!

Moreover, the interesting information is vouchsafed that there are in the East Riding "19 tailors and clothiers," while West Peterborough (including, of course, this town) has only enough tailors (and clothiers) to make a man—9!

When such statistics appear, whose astonishing fullness and accuracy can be verified by every citizen, it is fair to infer that the rest of the information, whose correctness is, from its nature, more a matter of faith, must be equally reliable.

Editorial Notes.

Canada for the Canadians! Vanderbilt, the railway king, has secured a large interest in the Canada Pacific Railway.

Mr. Justice Burton, of Toronto, has been giving a lecture to the police magistrates and justices of the peace generally. He says they very often issue warrants for the arrest of people charged with trivial offences when summonses would answer every purpose. The criminal business of the higher courts, in his Lordship's opinion, would often be less than it is if the discretionary powers given the magistrates were more freely and judiciously exercised.

Bradlaugh is kept out of the Imperial Parliament because his religious opinions were out of accord with those of the great majority of the House. On the same principle, the Reform member elect of King's County, Prince Edward Island, was kept out of the House of Commons because his political opinions were not in accord with those of the majority of the House. According to Ottawa Tories, Reform in politics, is as much a crime as atheism is in England.

Sir A. T. Galt, High Commissioner in England, seems to be insatiable in his demands for money, and an additional $2,600 for contingent expenses is voted to him, making his cost to the country for the last year up to $20,000. Of course this increase may be accounted for on the score of Sir Galt's duties being extended to the task of inducing old country mechanics to be shipped at the Government expense to this country, to compete against Canadian mechanics. As Canadian mechanics have to pay the piper twice—once by paying for Sir A. T. Galt's increased salary, and once by paying the passage of opponents in their trades to this country, there is no difficulty in recognizing how warm the heart of the Tory Government beats for the working man. Probably Sir Charles Tupper will be able to survive on this amount when he assumes Sir A. T. Galt's place in London. If he cannot do so, however, we have no doubt Sir John will see that he is provided with any additional sum required.

Now, there is some satisfaction in being a Tory politician and patriot. Col. Williams, representative of East Durham, has sacrificed a good deal—of the country's land and his constituents' interests—for the sake of his party and himself. He has secured, from the Dominion Government, grants of land amounting to 181,750 acres of the finest soil in the Northwest, an acreage equal to that of East Durham. The News remarks that East Durham can boast of the premier land-grabbing M. P. of the Dominion. Who wonders now that vampires of Col. Williams' stamp, will vote for syndicate swindles, Onderdonk jobs, gerrymander outrages and support all sorts of corruption, exercised by the Government to buy servile supporters and to keep them servile? They have given most of the Northwest to the Syndicate, and they are parcelling out the rest to their sychophantic supporters, to balm their consciences for voting for the contract. Heaven help this poor country, a Prometheus bound to the rock by party chains, with Tory harpies preying at its vitals!

You save 25 per cent by buying Turnbull's 10 cent Prints.

DISGRACEFUL SCENES.

PROBABLE SOME REASONS WHY THE TORY M.P.'S WANT MORE SALARY—PERFECT PANDEMONIUM IN PARLIAMENT.

Mr. James Somerville, M.P., thus describes in the Bystander the rowdyish scenes that have recently taken place in the House of Commons:

"There have been some ludicrous scenes in the House during the past week. Mr. McNeil, who has been preparing a speech on the N.P. and the downfall of England under free trade, for the past month, struck for a hearing of his eloquence the other day on the motion for going into Supply being moved, and for more than an hour he kept the floor amidst indescribably confusion. Desks were made to produce excruciating noises and cries of "order," "disperse," "carried," "take a drink," "lost," etc., etc., were kept up without intermission, while a warfare of paper balls, bills, etc., was waged in every part of the chamber, and roars of laughter greeted every new development. The scene was what the members call a "circus," but poor Mr. McNeil persistently labored through his notes and gazed upon his desk in front, which was adorned with eight or nine tumblers filled with water, while the pages trotted hither and thither with boxes of snuff, which was freely indulged in by the members to induce sneezing, in order to add to the general hubbub, which was ended at last to the delight of the Speaker, who was powerless to maintain order. But this scene was nothing when compared with one or two which have taken place in the small hours of the morning while the House was in Committee of Supply, with Mr. Rykert in the chair. Charley seems to enjoy a "circus" and never attempts to maintain order in any way. In addition to the usual system of warfare which we have attempted to describe, "Home, Sweet Home," was struck up and sung with gusto, and several of the members departed from the questions altogether—one intimating that his opponent was like Artemus Ward's travelling monkey, which was said to be "an amusing little cuss," which brought out the retort that the offending gentleman bore a strong resemblance to Barnum's bearded woman. During one of these scenes a member of the Government rushed out of the chamber to refresh himself at the bar in the restaurant, and while tumbling down the stairs in hot haste he ran against several members to whom he announced that "the boys were having a h—l of a time up in the chamber, and they were missing lots of fun." Such scenes do not add to the dignity of the High Court of Parliament, but it is just as well for the general public to know that their representatives occasionally imagine they are again school boys, and deliberately break all the restraints which surround them, to the great amusement of the galleries, which are sometimes well filled with both ladies and gentlemen long after midnight.

Midland Railway Changes and Improvements.

Lindsay Post.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, president of the Midland railway, took a hurried run over certain sections of the line last week. On Friday he passed over the Wick-Manilla link and came into Lindsay. Two ballasting trains were put on this section on Monday, to finish up, and the line will be open in two or three weeks. Mr. Cox inspected on the ground the plans for curves, switches and other improvements at the junctions here. Probably by the first of June these will be completed, and on the new time-table a train will run from Port Hope at 6 a. m., connecting with train from Peterboro at 7 a. m., Manilla and Wick to Toronto by 10.30. The return trip will be made in the same way. The new route will save an hour or so from Lindsay to Toronto. At Wick connection will be made with train from and to Midland. There will also be some other changes in train service not yet decided upon. The new bridge under contract by McNeeley & Walters was also visited, and arrangements decided upon in connection therewith. It will be some months before this contract and the Omemee-Peterboro link are finished. The latter has turned out to be an exceptionally hard undertaking....With regard to the location of the workshops, now a matter of so much public interest, Mr. Cox stated when here that their location would be decided by the full board and that each place would have ample opportunity to show its claims or advantages. Mr. Cox also stated that while he had large private interests in Peterboro, these would not in any way influence the company's policy in the matter, which would be determined solely in the interest of the railway. The large establishment is found to be necessary; and selection of a location will probably be made in couple of months.

THE DEADLY DROP.

DANIEL CURLEY EXECUTED IN DUBLIN, FOR THE MURDER OF CAVENDISH AND BURKE.

Daniel Curley, the second man convicted of participation in the murder of Cavandish and Burke was hanged in Kilmainham jail at 8 on Friday morning. The jail was guarded by a force of military similar to that on the occasion of the hanging of Brady. Canon Kennedy and Father O'Reilly arrived at the prison at an early hour to attend Curley. After the priests prayed privately with the condemned man in the cell, mass was performed in the prison chapel in the presence of the governor and the wardens, where Curley received the sacrament. Meanwhile the group of women which gathered outside the prison were on their knees saying the litany for the dying. When the black flag, announcing that the execution had taken place, was hoisted over the prison every man in the crowd outside, which numbered nearly a thousand, uncovered his head, and murmurs of sympathy with Curley were uttered. A rush was then made by the crowd for a garden near by, where Curley's relatives were assembled and where his father was kneeling, praying for the repose of his son's soul. The people soon dispersed quietly. Curley walked to the scaffold with but little assistance. He seemed to be resigned to his fate, but was hardly firm. He declined to make a statement touching his connection with the crime. Death was instantaneous. In a letter which Curley wrote to his wife he said:—"I will take my secrets to the grave with me and leave those who are at freedom to enjoy it. I will die in peace, forgiving my enemies."

Lindsay Canoeing and Rowing Club.

A very successful meeting, says the Post, of those interested in the formation of a canoeing and rowing club was held at the Jewett House on Tuesday evening, a large number of conoeists and boating men were present, and the feeling in favor of having a strong local club was most enthusiastic. Mr. J. G. Edwards, who has been an active man in pushing the project, laid before the meeting the proposition upon which it was intended to form the club. After some discussion it was decided to appoint a committee of Messrs. F. D. Moore, Stewart, McGachen, Edwards, T. Walters, Barron, Foley and Dobbin to examine suitable location upon which to erect the proposed boat house, and to prepare an estimate of the probable cost of land and building, and to report at a meeting to be held on Tuesday evening of next week. It was decided to have a constitution and by-laws which will be framed and submitted for approval. The election of officers was left over until a full general meeting could be called, but as a precautionary matter to ensure the compounding of fees from joining members, Mr. Gachen was elected treasurer and Mr. F. Dobbin secretary. Twenty-three members gave in their names and many more are yet to be added to the list who were not present. It is proposed to put up a boat house capable of accomodating from 60 to 75 canoes. A gymnasium and bathroom will be part of the equipment. On the whole the prospects are very bright for a successful and active club.

The Bad and Worthless.

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but the genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Durggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 18-4t

A Grandpa at 35 Years.

A Kentucky paper having claimed for Clark county the distinction of presenting the youngest grandfather in the state, aged 36 years, the Louisville Courier-Journal contains a communication from Spurlington, Ky., which says: J. W. Wise, a sawyer at the mill of Kay & Rooney, near this place, is now just 36 years old, and has been a grandfather eighteen months. This makes him a grandfather at the age of 35 years, which is a year younger than the Clark county grandfather. His wife was only 31 years old when her grandchild was born. She was married at the early age of 14 years, and their daughter was married at the same age. Mr. B. F. Spurling, also living near here, was a grandfather at 36 years of age. There is rather a strange freak in the last named gentleman's family. He has light hair and blue eyes, and his wife has black hair and black eyes. They have eight children, four boys and four girls, and four of them have black hair and eyes, and four of them have blue eyes and light hair.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Peterborough Markets.

(Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.)

PETERBOROUGH, May 24th, 1883.

There is no movement in grain yet. A few loads have been sold during the week. Spring wheat bringing $1.00 to $1.02; fall, 98c. to $1.00; goose wheat, 90c. to 93c. Nothing doing in barley. Peas, 75 to 77 cents. Oats are less in demand and weaker; 50 cents about top price now. Outside markets in wheat look flat, and have declined considerably. On the market butter has had a black eye, and dropped as low as 15c. to 16c. Some, however, bringing more money. Eggs are plentiful in lots at 13c. Potatoes have been offering freely, and slow at 75c. per bag. Nothing doing in other commodities.

A Farmer Speaks.

Mr. Austin Jay, Copenhagen, Ont., says he was so afflicted with Liver complaint that he was obliged to give up work. The druggist at Alymer induced him to try ZOPESA with such good results that after using two bottles he was able to resume work as usual. Says he got relief from the first dose, and is satisfied there is no better Liver remedy in existence. He gladly allows us to use his name. For sale by J. D. Tully. 17-tf

Crops and Live Stock.

Below is given a summary of the May report of the Ontario Bureau of Industries on the crops and live stock of the Province :—

In the ordinary course of our Ontario seasons vegetation is at the middle of May well advanced. Not infrequently the forest trees are out in leaf and the fruit trees are in blossom. But the present is one of the exceptional years. Hard frosts, raw winds and chilling rains have prevailed, and few signs of active vegetation are apparent in forest, field or garden. Consequently it is difficult to deal with the real condition of our staple cereal, the fall wheat. It is too early to form an accurate opinion. Neither is there much of an encouraging character to report on the progress of spring work on the farm.

Fully eighty per cent. of the area of fall wheat in Ontario lies west of the meridian of Toronto, and unfortunately, the most discouraging accounts of the crop are received from that part of the Province. There is indeed a singular contrast in the reports for the eastern and western sections; for, while those for the one agree in saying that the prospect has not often been worse, those for the other are not less unanimous in saying that it was never better.

This marked difference seems to be due largely to conditions of weather. In the east the winter was unbroken from first to last. Consequently the snow lay on the ground as it fell; and, while it formed a warm covering for the wheat plant in the coldest weather, the air was not excluded. But in the west there were alternations of warm waves and cold waves, and occasional storms of rain as well as of snow. The result was, that where the snowfall was heavy, as in the northern counties, it packed and crusted; and where the fall was light, as in the southern counties, the ground was sometimes bare and sometimes covered with ice.

The great rain storm that was central over the Ohio valley in the latter part of January extended into Ontario (either as rain or sleet), northward as far as Georgin Bay and eastward as far as Toronto. In the Lake Erie counties, and in portions of Middlesex, Oxford and Brant, nearly the whole of the snow was carried off at this time; and a cold spell following, the fields were left coated over with sleet and ice. In those counties the general verdict of correspondents is, that the wheat was "frozen to death;" whereas in northern counties the verdict is, "smothered to death." A correspondent in Huron county observes that six successive crusts formed on the snow during the winter, two of which were strong enough to bear up a horse.

A noticeable peculiarity in the effects of winter throughout the western section of the Province is, that in the southern counties the wheat has been injured most on gravel and sandy lands, and least on the level clay and loamy lands; but in the northern counties this condition is reversed, the wheat having had adequate protection on even the highest lands. It is remarked, however, that where high ground in the south was sheltered from winds the wheat is well preserved, and the importance of planting the borders of farms with trees is urged by many correspondents.

But the appearance of the crop this spring is no doubt due in some degree to the condition of the ground at seed-time. In the east it was favourable, and the young plant made a good start in the fall. In the west the heavy rains of July and August and the season of drouth that followed interfered with the proper cultivation of fallows, and especially of pea and stubble lands, so that the soil was in very poor tilth. The seed was sown late, and it neither rooted well or tillered well. This circumstance will account in a measure for the bad reports now received; and it is reasonable to hope that, where the plant has survived the snow and ice and exposure of winter, the outlook will brighten with warm and growing weather. It is unfortunately true, however, that a large extent of wheat-land is already doomed, and has been ploughed up or resown with spring grains.

The only cheerful reports from the western part of the Province refer to the northern half of Essex, the lake shore townships of Huron and Bruce, the county of Wellington, the northern parts of York and Peel, and the southern half of Simcoe; and even in these district the crop has been seriously damaged by the frosts and winds of April. Elsewhere the area sown will probably be reduced by twenty per cent., a portion of which will be put under spring wheat and the rest under barley, oats and peas. The eastern section of the Province is confidently expected to produce a full crop.

Winter rye is not grown to any extent outside of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa counties, but all the reports on its condition are favourable. It is much hardier than wheat, and appears to have come through the winter in a healthy and vigorous state, notably in the county of Norfolk, where the wheat suffered severely. Clover has also wintered well on the whole; but in some localities it has been partially destroyed by winter exposure. In others, as in the counties of Lambton, Haldimand and Welland, it has been injured by the clover midge or weevil. As there was little frost in the ground, there are no complaints of "heaving" this year.

Live stock are generally reported to be healthy and in good condition. The winter was favorable to animal life, and fodder being abundant the farmer fed with a liberal hand. Horses were attacked in a few localities with "pinkeye" and mild forms of distemper, but the mortality among them was much less than in the winter of 1882. Cattle have a thrifty appearance and will go to the pasture-fields in good heart. The spring weather was hard on lambs, and young pigs have died in large numbers.

The quantity of wheat in farmers' hands is above the average for this season of year, although the bulk of last year's crop has been marketed. Many of a large surplus of oats, but the supply of seed is not more than is required for home consumption. The number of hay and straw cattle is not large, and the demand for them continues active.

The preparation of the ground for spring crops was not commenced as early as usual this year as, in the absence of hard frost, it remained water-soaked for some time after the snow had disappeared. For the same reason it was not in good tillable condition, being tough and sodden instead of mellow and friable. On high and well drained lands farmers started ploughing about the 15th of April, and in some portions of the Lake Erie and West Midland counties a week earlier; but in the northern and eastern portions of the Province little was done before the 25th. Sowing commenced about a week later, and not more that twenty-five per cent. of it was finished at the date of the returns. Farmers fully appreciate the necessity of changing their seed grain frequently and introducing new varieties of recognised merits, but proper attention to this requires systematic effort. The Grangers, with their wide-spread organization, are rendering valuable service by establishing seed fairs and by a method of exchanges, as also are some of the agricultural associations. But the present great need of farmers is an adequate supply of farm labor. The demand for men is active in all parts of the Province, and liberal wages are offered for employment by the year or the or the season.

Fruit trees appear to have come safely through the winter, and there is generally a good show of fruit buds. In some localities, however, as in the West Midland counties, fears are entertained that the trees have not fully recovered from the effects of last summer's blight.

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

MILLBROOK.

On Wednesday, May 16th, Raper's hotel took fire and was burned to the ground.

The Messenger wants fire protection.

CAMPBELLFORD.

The new C. M. Church is to be dedicated on June 24th. The service of song on the occasion will be led by a choir of thirty voices.

EMILY.

On Wednesday, May 30th, His Lordship the Bishop of the diocese of Toronto, will hold confirmation at St. John's church, Emily, at 10 a.m., St. James' at 2 p.m., and Christ church, Omemee, at 7 p.m.

ASPHODEL.

Mr. John Breakenridge, of Asphodel, is the happy possessor of twin calves, from his thoroughbred cow, "Cherry Blossom," which he purchased from Mr. Geo. Taylor, of Rawdon, last winter.

OMEMEE.

Since the dam was repaired the grist mill has been running on full time.

Wednesday evening, says the Herald, as the 6.30 train from the south came up to the station, the switchman, having received orders, opened the switch, on which a car load of lumber and shingles was standing, and although the engine was immediately reversed it was unable to stop the train, which ran into the car, sending the front truck from the track and smashing the cow-catcher and front of the engine.

HASTINGS.

The stone work of Mr. P. Brennan's new hotel, corner of Bridge and Water streets, is completed.

Mr. John Collins is making preparations to erect a brick store on the corner of his lot adjoining the elevator.

The election expenses of the two candidates at the late election have been published, Mr. Ferris, $234.90, and Mr. Wade, $153.64.

Hastings is to celebrate the 24th in grand style. A prize is to be given in a band competition.

NORWOOD.

The Court of Revision for Norwood met in the Town Hall on the 19th instant.

Messrs. John Finlay & Son shipped over 3,000 set of hubs last week.

Mr. Chas. O'Rielly was elected Reeve of Asphodel by acclamation on Monday of last week. The meeting, says the Register, was held in Westwood. Scarcely any interest was taken in it by the ratepayers, and the "ring" had it "all their own way." The majority of the voters appear to be disgusted at the manner in which the business of the municipality is being conducted of late. Not much wonder. However, "it's a long lane that has no turn," and we may expect a change next January.

BOBCAYGEON.

The minnows are up, and the bass are biting fine.

Dr. McCamus is having a handy little scow built, to accompany his steamer when necessary.

The Bella Fair has taken on a new propeller of improved pattern, and now makes faster time than ever.

On Wednesday last, the 23rd, the Rev. J. S. Craigie was ordained, and inducted as pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Suckers are running in immense numbers, the water near the dam being alive with them. The farming community are catching them, or rather shoveling them out with their manure forks.

COBOURG.

At the quarterly meeting of the board of the M. E. Church here, held last week, the basis of union was unanimously accepted by a rising vote.

Mr. Thos. G. Bevan, one of Cobourg's old citizens was buried with Orange honors in St. Peter's cemetery on Saturday last. He came from England several years ago to Canada, and took up his residence in Cobourg.

On Tuesday morning, as Mr. Jos. Holmes was engaged in his lumber-yard, by some mischance a heavy piece of timber rolled upon his leg, smashing the bone below the knee, and dislocating the ankle. The break was a bad one—the bone protruding through the flesh.

LINDSAY.

Mr. John Brady, of lot 19, 6th con. Ops, has a couple of fine Ayrshire heifers and a fine young bull, all purchased some time ago from the celebrated herd of T. Gay & Sons, Oshawa. Mr. Brady's enterprise in introducing this breed is commendable. He also has a couple of specimens of the same breed of cla[illegible] Hackness, of Manvers. [illegible] the other hand, [illegible] and they are so proud of [illegible] boy over the first pocket in his clothes. It's all very well for Lindsay to crow over Woodville, but if they come in contact with Peterborough Club, it would be something like "makin' a stand ag'in 'mother."

The night train on Saturday, says the Post, carried north over the Midland a large number of emigrants bound for the Northwest. They were a fine looking lot of men, stout and healthy, and packed in the cars as close as herings in a barrel. They came from the counties on the border between England and Scotland. The expectations held in regard to the opportunities for almost picking up money in the west were very roseate.

PORT HOPE.

The Port Hope Times has newly vindicated its fitness for being a good Tory newspaper. It tells of a dog that fell into a dry well 75 feet deep, and was discovered after staying there 4 days. On his discovery a rope was lowered, and the dog having attached himself to a noose in the rope was drawn to the surface all right. Our cotsem. doesn't vouch for the correctness of the story.

Some person, it is supposed, set fire to the skating rink on Saturday night. At all events it was discovered on fire and was destroyed—loss $1,200. It will not be rebuilt on its late site.

Miss Churchill had a class of about 30 pupils at the high school during her stay here.

There is talk of a professional actor coming to Port Hope and organizing a dramatic company.

Mr. Walters of Lindsay, is pushing the contract to construct a break-water at Port Hope. The first section crib has been sunk.

Mr. H. J. Rainsford, over a year in the mechanical Superintendent's office, Port Hope, has been appointed general mechanical foreman of the Whitby & Port Perry, and Victory divisions of the Midland Railway. He will now reside in Lindsay, for which place he left on Tuesday morning.

TRUE CATHOLICITY.

A Roman Catholic Bishop in a Presbyterian University.

Bishop Cleary, of Kingston, occupied a seat on the platform at the recent Convocation banquet in Queen's University in that city, and delivered a stirring address, of which the following is the introductory portion :—

He expressed great pleasure at being present at the banquet, to honor as far as in him lay the Chancellor of the University, and to share the festive gladness of the several Faculties on the occasion of decorating their students with titles of honor. He concurred in the sentiment expressed by another speaker, that no man of cultivated feeling, could regard with indifference the efforts of young men for the improvement of their minds in the various departments of study and their preparation for the duties that shall hereafter devolve upon them when they take their place in society. He assured the Principal that whenever he chanced to meet one of those young men in the streets of Kingston wearing the academic cap and gown, his heart warms to him, and his mind turns with pleasant remembrance to the calm and happy days of his own college life, when he knew nothing of the solicitudes and troubles that belong to public duty. (Applause.) He represented by his presence not his own feeling and sentiment only, but also those of his Catholic congregation in Kingston, who, he was assured, would be not a little pleased by his expression of his good will and sympathy with the labors and literary triumphs of the Queen's University. (Loud applause.) He would further say that, unworthy though he was to be numbered among the Bishops of the Church, he officially represented an ancient and glorious Hierarchy, who throughout all ages and in the midst of gravest difficulties attending educational efforts, before the northern hordes of barbarians who had settled upon the plains of Europe had submitted to her civilization or the art of printing had yet been invented, had planned and encouraged everywhere schools of sacred and profane learning with a measure of success that can be appreciated by none so well as by the student of mediæval history. (Applause.) Yesterday he had listened with extreme gratification to the learned address of Chancellor Fleming, in which was traced the origin and progress of high education from the renowned schools of Alexandria in the first four centuries to the learned sanctuaries of Ireland in the sixth, seventh and eighth, and thence to the formal institution of universities in the period immediately following the establishment of the Christian empire of the West under Charlemagne. The Chancellor gave just and generous praise to the Popes and Bishops for their admirable zeal in the interest of these grand centres of intellectual activity and virtuous training of men in the Christian character. He (the bishop) was proud to say that the historic robes he wore to-night were the cynosure of learned spectators at the ceremony of blessing and laying the foundation stones of twenty universities between the days of Charlemange and Charles the Fifth. (Loud applause.) Principal Grant, whose lips utter vigorous thought and emit rays of light, had specified two characteristics of this university which attracted the Bishop's attention. The first was the "Catholicity of sentiment" prevading the institution. He (the Bishop) begged to say that he was there to-night because of his belief in the reality of that sentiment, and to mark his recognition of it. (Cheers.) He thought the Principal would bear witness that, on the occasion of his soliciting voluntary aid from the public to erect this noble pile of building, the Catholic people of Kingston extended to him cordial encouragement and gave substantial proof of their sincerity by liberal donations. (Principal Grant,—"Not one of them refused me.") (Enthusiastic applause.) This they did on the strength of their conviction that Catholicity of sentiment would govern the working of the University, and he (the Bishop) would take the liberty of adding that herein was a social compact.

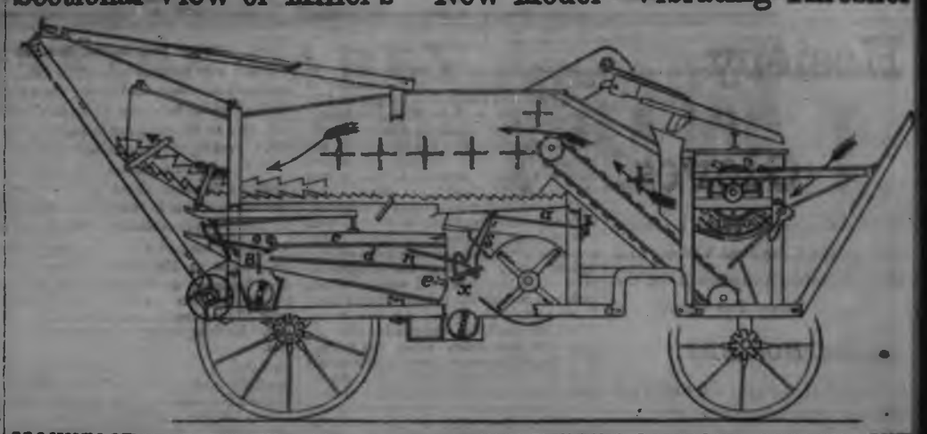
Sectional View of Miller's "New Model" Vibrating Thresher



MANUFACTURED BY THE JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, OSHAWA, ONT

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

Black Creek, Sept. 17th, 1883.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

Dear Sir,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly, HENRY M. WEAVER.

Descriptive Circulars, giving full information, sent free to all applicants.

Prince Albert, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

Sir,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly, JOHN McDONALD.

Ops, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

Sir,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing [illegible] for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model" is the best one I have ever seen used.

Yours truly, THOMAS WETHERALL.

Black Creek, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

Dear Sir,—I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth,—the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they have ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly, JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

What Sugar is to the Grocery, Scotch, Canadian and every-day TWEEDS are to the public serving Clothing House! That House is ours! Not a doubt of it! You can fairly test the character of a Store by the Articles that constitute a large part of its trade. We would like our entire Clothing business to be judged by the TWEEDS we sell and make up. To be absolutely certain every time is impossible, but close match of colours, weight and finish, with careful enquiry of customers as to wearing qualities, bring to our counters only such Goods as will recommend our Clothing House for JUST DEALING AND FINE VALUES.

We might sell a customer—if we kept such goods—a poor, weak-wearing Tweed, at a price above its value. If we did, it would be a poor satisfaction to meet that customer again. He'd tell us of it, and qualify his statement with remarks. But that's not our style. It don't pay.
